

The Lord 971

Chapter 971: Blood Contract

Zhao Fu was not very confident as to whether or not he would actually be able to obtain an entire Continent. All he could do now was wait and make preparations for a counter-attack from the Fish Scale people. After all, Zhao Fu was not 100% confident in these white magic formations.

The ambassador returned to the Fish Scale world and told the leaders everything that Zhao Fu had said. Hearing that Zhao Fu had directly asked for an entire Continent, they felt quite angry, because not a single person in the Fish Scale world owned an entire Continent. And yet, Great Qin had asked for a Continent without even doing anything; that was one-seventh of their territory, and they felt quite angry that such a demand was being made. They were not being taken seriously at all.

Those gifts, such as the five billion gold coins, treasures, and top-tier beauties, were all gifts that they had spent a lot of effort to gather. Not only had they suffered such heavy losses, but they had also given money, treasures, and women; how could they not feel angry?

Great Qin's Legatee had accepted all of those things, but he still was not satisfied; he still wanted those Cities, the captured people, and an entire Continent. He was simply going too far.

"Great Qin's Legatee is being too outrageous; putting aside all of the money, treasures, and women we sent over, he still wants an entire Continent. He might as well be robbing us!" a Fish Scale person said.

However, others quickly rebutted him, "Even if he is robbing us, what can we do about it? If we don't want him to destroy the Fish Scale world, why do we have to act so pitifully; we should just attack Great Qin and kill everyone in Great Qin!"

"What should we do? Do we really have to give him an entire Continent? How could we do that?"

"That's right, how can we cede an entire Continent? That's not a decision for us to make."

"If we don't want to cede a Continent, we'll have to defend against Great Qin's invasion. We can use gifts to stall them, but Great Qin can still attack at any time. Don't tell me you all want to die together."

“How about we go all-out against Great Qin? We’ll set up a large number of traps somewhere; worst comes to worst, we’ll die together with Great Qin. At least that way, we won’t have to suffer this kind of humiliation.”

The people in the hall continuously debated as to what they should do. If Zhao Fu had asked for less, they definitely would have agreed in order to preserve their safety. However, Zhao Fu had asked for simply too much, making it so that everyone’s opinions were quite divided. Some people wanted to compromise while others wanted to die with Great Qin.

A robed elder cleared his throat and coughed a few times. This elder was quite famous within the Fish Scale world, and hearing his coughs, everyone settled down and looked towards him.

The elder said, “I think we can agree to Great Qin’s Legatee’s demands. The Netherwater Continent is the Continent closest to the human world, and it is in great danger right now anyways. People are continuously escaping from there, and if we spread news that Great Qin will commit a slaughter in the Netherwater Continent, there will naturally be no people there anymore.

“That way, we can cede the Netherwater Continent to Great Qin but also increase everyone’s hatred towards Great Qin in order to make a counter-attack in the future.

“Moreover, the Netherwater Continent only has 5,000 or so regions, and because it is the smallest Continent, it will not be a great loss.

“We also received a piece of useful news: Those four billion people are not dead and have instead submitted to Great Qin. However, do you really think so many Fish Scale people would have completely submitted to a human? This is not very possible, and we can use them to destroy Great Qin in the future together. Furthermore, even though the Netherwater Continent will be given to the humans, the power will still be in our hands.

“Of course, the main issue is right now. As long as he signs a Blood Contract, one of the highest-grades of Contracts in the Heaven Awaken World, it will be almost impossible for him to break it, and the Contract’s power will be passed down with his bloodline.

“If we agree to his demands, the Fish Scale world will be safe for at least three years, and we will not have to worry about the threat of Great Qin. Will we not be able to find a way to deal with Great Qin in three year? When the time comes, we will pay them back ten times over.

“Given all of those considerations, I feel that we can agree to his demands. In the end, the Continent will still be ours, and Great Qin will be taken down by us.”

After hearing the elder’s words, everyone fell into their own thoughts. It seemed that they could only do this for now, or else how would they stop Great Qin? They could only cede a Continent, or else the entire Fish Scale world would perish. They did not want to die like this.

Over at the Southern Continent, Zhao Fu received their reply and was surprised to find that they had actually agreed. Because of the weaknesses of the white magic formations, he did not dare to attack the Fish Scale world at all. If he pushed them too far or showed any weakness, Great Qin would not be able to gain anything, so he had been prepared to bargain.

Hearing that they would receive an entire Continent just like that, Zhao Fu could not help but lightly laugh. His gains this time were simply too great and too surprising.

Zhao Fu had long since made plans regarding this. The Fish Scale world had seven Continents, and now that Great Qin was going to take the Netherwater Continent, the closest one was the Darkwater Continent, where Zhao Fu already controlled the largest system faction.

In three years, that faction would be able to conquer the Darkwater Continent. When that time came, the human world would no longer be threatened by the Fish Scale world. Zhao Fu would be able to focus on unifying the human world.

With two out of the seven Continents belonging to Great Qin, the remaining five Continents would have no power against Great Qin, which would have unified an entire world. That was the reason why Zhao Fu was willing to sign a Blood Contract.

Four days later, it was time to sign the Blood Contract. They met near the rift, and Zhao Fu brought his ten or so Generals while the other side had hundreds of people.

There was a magic formation here that prevented fighting, as the Fish Scale people were afraid of Zhao Fu killing them all in one fell swoop.

After meeting, the Fish Scale people gave a few fake smiles and politely chatted with Zhao Fu, and Zhao Fu responded in kind. They then discussed the contents of the Blood Contract, and after some negotiations, they came to an agreement.

The people from both sides cut their palms, causing blood to flow out and fly into the sky, fusing together to form a blood-red orb. It gave off an intense light, and blood-red words fell from the sky.

These blood-red words were the contents of the Blood Contract, and after displaying themselves, they once again gathered together before turning into countless blood-red runes that shot into the bodies of the people from both sides, forming the Contract.

As compensation for invading the human world, the Fish Scale world ceded land, gave money, treasures, and beauties, making them feel quite humiliated. However, they had at least preserved the Fish Scale world, and with this Blood Contract, they would have peace for three years.

Zhao Fu returned to Great Qin with a big grin on his face and started to go through the gains from this battle. They were quite shocking, and Great Qin had benefited greatly.

Chapter 972: Return the Southern Continent

First, there were the two Continents that Great Qin had obtained. One was the Southern Continent and the other was the Netherwater Continent. They now both belonged to Great Qin. No faction had been able to do such a thing yet; even though Great Qin was quite powerful, it did not have the strength to unify an entire Continent.

Gaining two Continents was simply incredible, and ordinary factions could not even dream of such a thing.

Apart from the two Continents, they had also obtained four billion Fish Scale people, the one billion captured humans, and 7,000 or so Cities.

It was possible that the one billion humans and 7,000 Cities were not everything that the Fish Scale people had taken, but the Fish Scale people had already taken a great step back and Zhao Fu did not want to push them too much; after all, all of this had been obtained through bluffing.

Now that they had signed a Blood Contract, he did not need to worry about the threat of the Fish Scale people. Even if there were more rifts, he would not have to worry.

The Southern Continent now belonged to Great Qin. If the Fish Scale people attacked again, it would be Great Qin responsible for defending. It would be impossible for Great Qin to stop another invasion, which was why Zhao Fu wanted to sign the Blood Contract.

As for the five billion people and 7,000 or so Cities, Zhao Fu did not plan to bring them back to Great Qin, and he instead had them reside in the two Continents. After all, he needed some of his forces to be stationed here instead of gathering them all at the Midland Continent. If they did not defend properly, it would be quite easy to lose these Continents.

Zhao Fu left the one billion humans in the Southern Continent. Because Great Qin had rescued them from the Fish Scale people and they had gone through horrible things, they were incredibly loyal to Great Qin.

Zhao Fu also left one billion Fish Scale people there and 2,000 Cities. The remaining people and Cities were stationed in the Darkwater Continent.

The human world was Great Qin's domain, so it did not matter if their force in the Southern Continent was not very strong. If there was any danger, Great Qin would be able to act at any time. However, the Darkwater Continent was quite far away, so they needed more defenses there.

However, Zhao Fu did not trust the Fish Scale people, and allowing the Fish Scale people to live in the Fish Scale world was like letting a tiger back into the mountains. Even though he used the Hidden Evil Pills, the chance of them turning on him were quite great.

As such, Zhao Fu had to change their thinking and truly make them part of Great Qin as opposed to being Fish Scale people. Only if they stood with Great Qin would he be able to use them in battle.

They had to first learn Chinese and Great Qin's culture, slowly changing them. He also had to prohibit any interactions with the other Continents, because if they could communicate with the other Fish Scale people, their hearts definitely would not remain with Great Qin.

As such, he had to change their thinking and make them feel that there was no hope in returning to the Fish Scale side; only then would they truly submit to Great Qin.

Moreover, for those who became truly loyal to Great Qin, Zhao Fu gave special benefits, as this would also influence others. Humans weren't the only ones who were self-serving and greedy; this was something common to all living creatures.

Three years was not a short amount of time, and it would be enough time to properly incorporate them into Great Qin. When that time came, it would be much easier for Great Qin to take down the Fish Scale world. After all, Great Qin's aquatic battle prowess could not compare to the Fish Scale people.

The Southern Continent was now an empty Continent without any people or Cities. As such, there was no need to do any clearing, and they could directly build a Great Wall and make this Great Qin's territory.

As for the Netherwater Continent, almost all of the factions had moved away. However, there were still a few Villages here and there, so they needed to be cleared out.

However, there were not many of these Villages, so it was quite easy to clear them out. Of course, Zhao Fu would not leave the entire Continent to the Fish scale people; Zhao Fu had Wang Jian take 100 million soldiers there and had them stationed there.

With the Blood Contract, Hidden Evil Pills, and Wang Jian stationed there, Zhao Fu did not have to worry much about the things in the Fish Scale world.

Now, he just needed to properly develop the Darkwater Continent and unify another Continent. If he could do that, things would be perfect.

When he thought of this, Zhao Fu gave a slight, happy smile. After dealing with these matters, Zhao Fu returned to Great Qin. By now, many factions had sent letters of congratulations, and even though Great Qin was not intending to help them, they had still stopped the Fish Scale invasion.

Zhao Fu handed all of the letters to Li Si; he had no interest in reading through them. He could already guess what they contained. Most of it would just be all sorts of flattery.

However, after a while, Li Si brought over 20 letters and said, "Your Majesty, these letters are asking for the return of the Southern Continent, as that was their Continent before. They request that Great Qin leave the Southern Continent, and they are willing to provide some compensation."

"Eh?" Zhao Fu could not help but wonder if he had heard incorrectly. Those people wanted him to give all those regions to them – were they idiots?

Back when the Fish Scale world had invaded, they had abandoned the Southern Continent and relocated to other Continents, allowing the Fish Scale people to conquer it. Now, they had the gall to say that it was their Continent and ask Great Qin to go away. Even though it would not be much trouble for Great Qin to leave, how could they do such a thing?

And as for the compensation, how could Zhao Fu be interested in that? Zhao Fu coldly laughed and said, "If they want it, they can take it for themselves; however, giving it to them is an other matter. If they are willing to submit to Great Qin, that's another matter. Great Qin only has one principle: either submit or perish."

Hearing this, Li Si felt a bit hesitant and said, "Your Majesty, the Southern Continent had 20,000 Cities that relocated to other Continents. If they join Qin Suppression to take back the Southern Continent, Great Qin will be facing a great threat."

Zhao Fu felt quite startled, as that was quite possible. 20,000 Cities was a great threat to Great Qin and was not something that could be resolved easily. Moreover, he could not use the same method he used against the Fish Scale people against them.

However, they would not dare to make any moves against Great Qin for now. After all, they did not know just how Great Qin had sent all of those Fish Scale people into retreat, and they were most likely worried that Great Qin would use those methods on them.

Right now, it looked like Great Qin's strength had greatly increased, but its situation had not yet settled down. It had not yet assimilated all of those people and Cities, and if they attacked, Great Qin would be in a tough spot.

It seemed that they could only quickly assimilate these people and make Great Qin truly powerful; only then would they not fear an assault from these people.

Right now, even though they wanted Great Qin to return those regions to them, Zhao Fu definitely would not agree. His stance was firmly, "Take it for yourselves or submit."

Chapter 973: Refine the Clan Armament

Those words made everyone originally from the Southern Continent incredibly displeased. Facing Great Qin's condescending and resolute words, they started to think about joining Qin Suppression to destroy Great Qin.

However, Great Qin was currently at its peak. It had just sent the Fish Scale world into retreat all by itself, and the Fish Scale other world had even given a Continent, money, treasures, and women as compensation.

As such, they did not even dare to try to resist Great Qin right now. Now that Great Qin was so powerful, they were quite terrified of Zhao Fu laying his hands on them, so even though they felt quite displeased, they still held it in.

However, everyone was still quite confused as to why Great Qin would compromise with the Fish Scale world instead of rushing over and destroying all of them.

Even though it was the Fish Scale world who had taken the initiative in begging for mercy, there would be much greater benefits in destroying the Fish Scale world. Because of this, many people could not understand why Great Qin had done this.

Most ordinary people did not think too much about this as they were now safe. They just did not want something like this to happen again.

Great Qin quickly cleared out regions as the entire human world enjoyed a time of peace again. Everyone lived harmoniously with each other, and many people started to praise Great Qin for chasing away the Fish Scale people, making it seem as if Great Qin was the pride and joy of the human race.

However, this only lasted for one month.

At first, some Chinese factions sent out a few waves of soldiers to test Great Qin. Even though they were easily destroyed by Great Qin, seeing that Great Qin did not attack them in response, they confirmed their guesses.

That immense pressure instantly disappeared. During this month, the Chinese factions had felt quite miserable, as they were always worried that Great Qin would attack them. After all, compared to the Fish Scale people, Great Qin would want to destroy them more.

On one hand, it would allow Great Qin to unify the Midland Continent, and on the other hand, the hatred between them that was simply irreconcilable by this point. This hatred would not disappear until one of them was gone.

However, after waiting a month, they found that Great Qin had simply been quickly clearing out regions and did not show even a trace of attacking them. This made them feel quite surprised, and it made them think about the matter of Great Qin not attacking the Fish Scale world.

This was incredibly suspicious; since Great Qin had such immense strength, why did they not destroy the Fish Scale world in one fell swoop? And why did they not unify the Midland Continent? With that sort of power, unifying an entire world would be no problem.

However, Great Qin had not done any of that, which was incredibly suspicious. Before, they had not dared to do anything, but after a month of silence, they could not help but test the waters, and they confirmed their suspicions.

They could now tell that the methods that Great Qin had used against the Fish Scale people would be ineffective against them, and this greatly reduced the pressure on them. Since Great Qin did not have such terrifying methods, they naturally did not fear Great Qin as much.

Many things that people did not dare to say started to be expressed.

“Why didn’t Great Qin destroy the Fish Scale world? They’re our enemies and killed so many of us, yet Great Qin spared them; they have to give us a reason. I’m not impressed at all.”

“That’s right; why didn’t Great Qin destroy the Fish Scale world? Hurry up and give us an explanation. Didn’t the Fish Scale world kill so many of us, and isn’t there great hatred between us? Putting aside you not taking revenge for us, you actually spared them and actually took in some Fish Scale people; are you even fit to be called a human? You’re a traitor!”

“I also think it’s quite unreasonable. The Fish Scale people gave compensation of land and money, but it all went to Great Qin; what about all those humans who died fighting? That money should be given to their family and friends; Great Qin, don’t be too selfish!”

“I’m not a fan of them taking in Fish Scale people; they’re the enemies of humanity and they’ll rebel sooner or later. Moreover, they’re stained with human blood. I don’t support what Great Qin’s doing at all.”

Some people who were dissatisfied with how Great Qin had done things started to ask Great Qin for an explanation and asked Great Qin to change their approach.

At the same time, some people started to question the way Great Qin had chased the Fish Scale people out.

“If Great Qin is so powerful, why did they not act from the start, resulting in two billion or so people dying? Those people can be said to have died for nothing. Would this have happened if Great Qin had acted from the start?”

“You also praised Great Qin before, saying that they were incredibly mighty, saved the world, and that they were the greatest defense of the human world. What a joke!”

Now that they thought of it, they realized that Great Qin also had some blame in so many people dying. If they had acted earlier, those people would not have died, and the Southern Continent would not have been conquered.

Moreover, many people guessed that the Fish Scale people only wanted to destroy Great Qin and that they would not destroy the human world. It could be seen that there was great hatred between them and Great Qin; it must have been that Great Qin had offended the Fish Scale people in some way, yet they had hidden behind the rest of the human world, resulting in the Southern Continent taking the hit. People started to claim that this was all a scheme by Great Qin, that they had killed so many people to obtain the Southern Continent.

Now, people had reduced all the things Great Qin had done to nothing and had instead made it seem incredibly wicked. Why were righteous people not allying together to punish Great Qin together? If everyone allied together, would Great Qin still dare to act like this?

The Southern Continent factions had hoped that Great Qin would leave their territory; if they did so, they would not blame Great Qin for their losses. However, Great Qin had to quickly give back their land.

If Great Qin did as it pleased and did not show the true owners of the Southern Continent respect, then they would have no other choice but to ally together and sanction Great Qin.

The Southern Continent factions all wished to return to the Southern Continent, because that was the place they were familiar with. That was also where their Legacies had come from, and it was their true home.

Another reason was that they were not well-received by the other Continents. The people from those Continents did not like outsiders staying in their territory. They wanted them to leave as soon as possible, or else they would be chased out. This was completely opposite to their attitude from before.

Great Qin did not make any response to this. Everyone started to condemn Great Qin, saying that it was a blight to the human world. The Southern Continent's large factions started to ally with the Chinese factions in order to punish Great Qin.

On September three, a bright and clear day, the Chinese factions allied with the Southern Continent factions and commenced their operation to take back the Southern Continent, while Great Qin also quickly responded.

Zhao Fu looked at the memorial in his hand, and his gaze became cold. He threw it to the ground and walked out.

Li Si respectfully followed behind Zhao Fu and asked, "Your Majesty, how should we act?"

Zhao Fu gave off a cold aura as he responded in a domineering tone without even turning around, "Refine the Clan Armament and destroy China."

Chapter 974: Buddhist Sect

In actuality, even if they did not attack, after clearing out the regions, Great Qin would make a move against the rest of China. After all, Great Qin would already be a Level 10 or so Marquisate Kingdom, and it would be no problem to destroy the rest of the Chinese factions.

Great Qin now had 14 billion people and 1.4 billion soldiers. This meant that Great Qin could now have 14,000 Basic General Seals, 1,400 Intermediate General Seals, 140 Advanced General Seals, and 14 Marquis Seals.

It also had 22,000 Great Cities and 4,521 Cities. At the same time, it also had countless Wyverns and Corpse Soul Commanders who had fused with City Lord Seals.

All of this together was a terrifying force. However, because the situation within Great Qin was not stable yet, Zhao Fu did not want to make a move. After completely clearing out all of the regions, Great Qin's overall strength would increase by leaps and bounds, making it much easier to take down the rest of China.

Through the Chinese factions' probing, they understood Great Qin's goal. Of course, they did not want Great Qin to be able to solidify its foundations and allow it to continuously develop; otherwise, they would be doomed.

As such, they had to act now. Otherwise, they could only wait for death.

Zhao Fu went to the City Hall and took the Imperial Ruler's Seal. Because the Imperial Ruler's Seal had been with Great Qin for quite a while, had acknowledged him, and had absorbed much of Great Qin's Fate, it did not show any resistance. As such, he could directly refine it without going through as much trouble.

Refining the Clan Armament would be a heavy blow to the rest of China; it was a blow to their bloodlines, while Great Qin would receive an additional Clan Armament, causing its bloodline power to become even more powerful.

Originally, Zhao Fu did not want to do this, because refining the Clan Armament would greatly affect all of China. Considering that Great Qin was part of China and that he could already use the Imperial Ruler's Seal, Zhao Fu had been hesitant to do this the entire time.

However, Zhao Fu did not show any more mercy, because he was going to unify all of China. Out of the countless worlds, their human world was still quite weak. The Fish Scale people had just invaded, and in the future, the Dark Demon world or the Grassi world might invade as well.

Only with the greatest power would they be safe. Moreover, because Great Qin was part of China, it would not be destroying China but re-unifying it.

Zhao Fu gathered his ten Generals, went to the Heaven and Earth Refining Formation, and started to activate the formation.

Boom!

A massive explosion rang out as a rainbow-colored pillar of light rushed into the sky, causing the clouds to swirl and for the heavens and earth to go dim. The Heaven and Earth Fate seemed to be guided by an invisible force and madly gathered, resulting in wild gales.

At that moment, everyone in China stopped what they were doing, because they started to feel a palpitation in their hearts. Their hairs all stood on end as a sense of crisis descended.

“What’s going on?” All of the Chinese players started to feel quite panicked, not knowing what was going on. However, all of the ability users and espers’ faces became pale, because they clearly knew what was happening – this feeling came from their bloodlines.

Only something incredibly important to China being in danger could make all Chinese players feel like this. This item was, without doubt, China’s Clan Armament.

China’s Clan Armament was in the hands of Great Qin, and since Great Qin was not in any danger, why was the Clan Armament in danger? The only possibility was that Great Qin was doing something to the Clan Armament.

Thinking about how Great Qin had made India’s Clan Armament its own, countless people’s expressions fell – Great Qin was destroying its ancestral heritage!

No one had expected Great Qin to do something so rebellious and unfilial; it was completely mad. That was China’s Clan Armament, the most important thing to all Chinese people; he was actually refining it to take it for himself.

This would greatly harm all of China. Whether they were people or entire factions, they would lose a large amount of Fate, and their bloodlines would also take a heavy blow, causing China’s overall strength to greatly weaken.

Of course, this would not have any effect on Great Qin, but others would be greatly harmed. Almost all Chinese people were enraged; how could anyone not be angry when their interests were being harmed in such a way?

All Chinese people started to condemn Great Qin, criticizing Great Qin for acting in such a rebellious and scandalous way. They were angry to the point of wanting to rip Great Qin to pieces, saying that Great Qin was selfish and evil and that Great Qin's Legatee did not deserve to be called a Chinese person.

Great Qin's actions almost caused everyone to explode with anger. If there was a vote to destroy Great Qin, it would have been a unanimous decision.

The expressions of the people from the Hundred Schools of Thought were quite grim, because they would be greatly affected as well. However, the other side was Great Qin. They were about to unify all of the Midland Continent, and if they acted against them, once Great Qin succeeded, what would happen to them? They might all be slaughtered.

The ones who were the most shocked and scared were the Dynasty Legatees. If the Clan Armament was refined, their Fate would be greatly reduced, and their bloodlines' power would become much weaker. Their overall strength would greatly decrease, and they were about to fight.

"We have to stop Great Qin!" Thinking about the terrifying consequences, countless people's expressions became quite unsightly. They did not hesitate and were determined to stop Great Qin because the Clan Armament was simply too important to China.

However, how could they stop Great Qin? Since the Clan Armament belonged to all of China and contained China's Fate, only all of China could stop it together.

All of the Chinese factions immediately called for everyone to resist Great Qin and stop it from succeeding. If they did not want to live under Great Qin's tyranny, give up their wives and daughters, or for China to disappear, they had to fight back.

After the matter of the Fish Scale world's invasion, almost everyone had expressed discontent towards Great Qin, if not anger. Great Qin's arrogant actions in not even bothering to make any explanations made them already quite furious.

Back then, not many people had wanted to get involved, because even though Great Qin did not do things in a good way, everyone was safe, so they did not want to blame Great Qin. However, things were different now – Great Qin was directly harming their interests.

How could they endure any further? Because of teleportation channels, news spread incredibly quickly, and with the various Chinese factions calling for everyone to be united, many people decided to resist Great Qin.

The Chinese factions also convinced a few Sects and Schools that were unhappy with Great Qin to join, such as the Confucians, Mohists, and Buddhist Sect. With them joining, the Chinese side had more methods to deal with Great Qin.

Chapter 975: Crystal Ball

Over at Great Qin, the rainbow-colored pillar of light gave off an enormous aura as it stood between the heavens and earth.

Countless traces of Fate continuously gathered, forming a massive vortex that covered the entire sky. From the distance, it could be seen that all of Great Qin was covered by a haze.

An extremely terrifying aura spread out from the sky, and the sense of crisis that the other Chinese people felt became even more intense. They felt as if they were about to fall off a cliff; their bodies became stiff, and their blood seemed to become cold.

At that moment, traces of Fate rose up from the ground all over China, flying towards Great Qin.

The vortex above Great Qin became larger and larger, and it began to slowly descend as if it was going to fall to the ground. An immense aura of suppression shook the surroundings, causing the scene to feel quite oppressive. The air seemed to have frozen, making people feel quite uncomfortable.

Now, the entirety of China seemed to be covered by a thick haze, and the terrifying aura could be felt everywhere as if the sky was going to fall down. The people from the other Continents looked over and could not help but feel shocked.

Back when Great Qin had refined India's Clan Armament, there had not been such terrifying abnormal signs. This was because this was China's Clan Armament, and China was currently the center of the world. It was understandable just how powerful China's Nation Armament was; it was not something India's Clan Armament could compare to.

Boom!

A shocking explosion sounded out as the Imperial Ruler's Seal within the rainbow-colored pillar of light violently shook before giving off an incredibly powerful aura. This aura was incredibly ancient and dense, and it gave off the pure aura of China.

The pillar of light gradually dissipated as the Imperial Ruler's Seal gave off boundless golden light. All of the Fate in the sky and all of the Fate on the ground formed two streams, one descending from the sky and one rising from the ground, entering the Imperial Ruler's Seal.

The Imperial Ruler's Seal absorbed a large amount of Fate, and the Fate in the surroundings started to liquify before solidifying into crystals, surrounding the Imperial Ruler's Seal and forming a crystal ball that continuously grew.

This was now the most important step of the refining, and at this moment, the Chinese factions started to act.

“Roarrrr!!” Dragon's cries sounded out throughout the sky. From other Continents, people could see different-colored pillars of light standing between the sky and the ground in China. There were also massive dragons in the sky, giving off heaven-shaking auras, creating an awe-inspiring scene.

All of the Dynasty Legatees, State Legatees and some other factions all exploded out with their Fate, trying to disrupt Great Qin and prevent it from refining the Clan Armament, or else they were doomed.

The commoners all cried out, “Great Qin is tyrannical and evil. With how villainous it is and how poorly it treats people, we will never submit to Great Qin...”

Their voices were incredibly loud and shook the heavens and the earth, sounding out throughout all of China.

Just this alone started to cause some changes. The Imperial Ruler's Seal within the crystal ball had been quite silent, but feeling every Chinese person's will, it started to tremble. A golden flame appeared as nine small golden dragons appeared around it.

Crack!!

A clear cracking sound could be heard as a crack appeared on the crystal ball in the sky, causing Zhao Fu's expression to change. He found that the Imperial Ruler's Seal was resisting, and even though it acknowledged Great Qin, it belonged to all of China.

Zhao Fu coldly harrumphed and rose to the sky, exploding out with a powerful aura. A black flame appeared around him as he pressed his hand against the crystal ball, sending his own Fate into the crystal ball.

Sensing Zhao Fu's Fate flowing in, the shaking Imperial Ruler's Seal once again quietened down and its resistance weakened. The crack on the crystal ball slowly repaired itself as well.

This caused the Chinese factions to feel quite startled. They did not hesitate and exploded out with their own Fates and invigorated their Legacies' power.

“Roarrrr!!” the countless dragons roared, giving off unyielding wills. They rushed into the sky, and the Chinese people, sensing that burning bloodline was growing cold, continued to loudly yell, saying that they would resist Great Qin to the death.

Traces of Fate rose up from the Chinese people's bodies, flying into the sky and fusing with the Legacy factions' Fates. They formed a massive will that seemed to reign over the heavens and earth, flowing towards the crystal all.

“Roarr...” Feeling this will, the Imperial Ruler's Seal once again gave off a powerful aura, and it once again shined with blinding golden light. Cracks appeared on the crystal ball, and within it, the Imperial Ruler's Seal had become an orb of golden light with nine golden dragons circling around it.

At that moment, the Great World Refinement created by the Heaven and Earth Refining Formation started to slowly disappear. The Imperial Ruler's Seal had resisted Great Qin's refining; the Chinese people had succeeded.

Zhao Fu felt quite furious, and he took out his Great Qin Seal, which gave off a boundless black light. Nine black dragons appeared from it, and a booming voice sounded out in all of Great Qin subjects' ears, “All Great Qin subjects, gather Great Qin's Fate!”

Great Qin's subjects all reverently knelt down, and traces of Fate floated up from their bodies and fused into the Great Qin Seal. A supreme aura burst forth from the Great Qin Seal, and Zhao Fu pressed down on the crystal ball, sending this power into the Imperial Ruler's Seal.

The Imperial Ruler's Seal's resistance once again decreased, while the Chinese side continued to vigorously resist. The Dynasty Legatees went all out in trying to resist Great Qin's will, and the countless Chinese people continued to yell.

The Buddhist Sect, School of Confucianism, and School of Mohism activated their formations, gathering vital energy in the heavens and earth that fused with the will that everyone else had created, strengthening the will as it entered the Imperial Ruler's Seal.

Boom!!

The Imperial Ruler's Seal once again gave off an even greater golden light, and its aura was incredibly intense. The nine golden dragons roared at Zhao Fu, forcing Zhao Fu to take a step back. The crystal ball cracked even more, and it seemed that if it cracked a bit more, it would collapse.

If this crystal ball was destroyed, the refining would naturally fail.

At that moment, the Imperial Ruler's Seal's resistance became too intense, and the nine golden dragons roared furiously at Zhao Fu. After all, the Imperial Ruler's Seal was China's Clan Armament, and it stood with the majority of China, which was opposed to Great Qin.

Bang!

An explosion sounded out as the cracked crystal ball finally shattered, and the abnormal signs caused by the Great World Refinement slowly disappeared.

Sensing these changes, the Chinese factions and people all cheered, yelling excitedly, "We defeated Great Qin! Great Qin really isn't this great; the Imperial Ruler's Seal stands with the rest of China, not Great Qin!"

Chapter 976: Second Refinement

Zhao Fu's expression was quite unsightly as he looked at the Imperial Ruler's Seal that had actually stood on the side of the rest of China. He felt quite furious, a wave of killing intent flowing out of his heart as he decided not to hold back anymore.

Boom!!

An extremely terrifying aura burst out of Zhao Fu's body, and the Great Qin Seal continuously trembled, giving off waves of even greater power.

An enormous flame erupted around Zhao Fu, spreading out to the 50 meters around him. It was hundreds of metres tall, and the terrifying shockwaves rippled out like wild gales. Bolts of black lightning rampaged around him, making it seem like an apocalyptic scene.

The Imperial Ruler's Scene was bathed by the black flames, but it continued to give off an intense golden light. The nine small, golden dragons around it made it so that the black flames could not invade it at all.

Boom! Boom! Boom!

Three massive stars, giving off boundless power, appeared in the sky and gradually descended, shaking the entire world and causing the heavens and earth to dim.

One was blood-red and gave off a disastrous aura, one was golden and gave off an Emperor's aura, and one was gray and gave off a ghostly aura.

The three massive stars all gave off different-colored lights and appeared in the sky. Those terrifying auras were like floods that swept throughout the entire world, making the entire world feel afraid and fall silent.

However, the abnormal signs did not stop there. Explosions continued to sound out as powerful auras continued to appear. The first was the Twelve Metal Colossi, giving off an intense bronze light; the second was a stone staff that gave off an immense destructive power...

Nation Armaments continuously appeared by Zhao Fu's body, causing his power to reach monstrous heights. It was as if the world was going to crumble, and even gods had to make way before him.

Zhao Fu's terrifying eyes gave off a trace of anger as he grabbed at the air, and a massive formless energy grasped the Imperial Ruler's Seal. The Imperial Ruler's Seal continuously trembled, and it gave off a golden light as it resisted Zhao Fu and tried to break free.

"If you continue to resist, We will turn you to dust!" a cold voice filled with ruthlessness sounded out, causing the struggling Imperial Ruler's Seal to quieten down and show some fear. The nine golden dragons looked at Zhao Fu in fear and huddled together, because they felt that Zhao Fu really would destroy them.

Boom!!

The Heaven and Earth Refining Formation once again activated and countless traces of Fate madly gathered and entered the Imperial Ruler's Seal. The Fate started to liquify and then solidify, and a crystal ball once again surrounded the Imperial Ruler's Seal.

Under Zhao Fu's immense pressure, the Imperial Ruler's Seal did not dare to move at all, allowing the Fate to enter it.

Abnormal signs once again appeared in the sky, and that heart-gripping feeling once again could be felt. The various Chinese factions were still celebrating, and at that moment, their expressions fell. However, they were not too worried, because the Imperial Ruler's Seal had sided with them.

Boom! Boom! Boom...

The various factions once again guided their Fate, and pillars of light shot into the sky as dragons once again appeared, giving off mighty auras.

"We refuse to submit to Great Qin's tyranny! We refuse to submit to Great Qin's tyranny! We refuse to submit to Great Qin's tyranny!..."

The countless ordinary people also loudly shouted, pushing their wills of resistance into the Imperial Ruler's Seal to have it also resist Great Qin. It was best for it to leave Great Qin's control and return to their hands.

Everyone had been filled with confidence, because the Imperial Ruler's Seal had chosen to stand on their side. They believed that they would succeed again, but they were disappointed this time. The Imperial Ruler's Seal did not struggle this time in response to their resistance and instead sent over a feeling of terror.

“What's going on? Why is the Imperial Ruler's Seal feeling terror?” The Chinese people's expressions fell as the factions continued to guide the Heaven and Earth Fate while the countless ordinary people continued to loudly shout, trying to make the Imperial Ruler's Seal resist and prevent Great Qin from refining it.

Si Ji, Liu Ye, Ji Shenming, and the others did not hide any of their strength, because this was already the crucial moment.

Dragons' roars continuously sounded out, causing China's aura to become incredibly chaotic; the weather also continuously changed, going from intense sunlight to torrential rain to thunderstorms.

Under this terrifying weather, countless beasts ran about in terror, trying to find places to hide.

After sensing those terrifying ripples from China, everyone else from the other Continents felt quite shocked. Great Qin and the rest of China were going through the final tussle; the winner would be the king and the loser would be the bandit. It was quite likely that after this, China would be unified; only people from China could cause a disturbance like this.

This time, the Chinese side was left disappointed – no matter how much they shouted or tried to guide the Heaven and Earth Fate to resist Great Qin, the Imperial Ruler's Seal did not respond, only emanating fear and terror.

Now, the golden light that the Imperial Ruler's Seal gave off was much dimmer, and under Zhao Fu's cold and savage glare, it did not dare to move at all, for fear of Zhao Fu reducing it to ashes. Moreover, even if it resisted, it would not succeed.

As the massive amounts of Fate gathered, a 100 meter wide crystal ball appeared in the sky, successfully entering the next step of refining, which was fusing Great Qin's Fate.

Zhao Fu grabbed at the air, and countless traces of Great Qin's Fate gathered and flowed into the crystal ball, and the Imperial Ruler's Seal received Great Qin's Fate in fear.

Seeing this, Zhao Fu said coldly, “Today you will become Great Qin’s Clan Armament. Before, Great Qin was part of China, and you were originally created by Great Qin. As such, you should not resist; Great Qin’s potential is far greater than that of those other people.”

The Imperial Ruler’s Seal was powerless to resist at this point, and it could only accept Zhao Fu’s words. It completely gave up on resisting and started to absorb Great Qin’s Fate.

Immediately, all Chinese people felt their bloodlines grow cold, and their expressions became incredibly unsightly, because in the end, they were unable to stop Great Qin from refining the Imperial Ruler’s Seal.

As Great Qin’s Fate continuously flowed in, the Imperial Ruler’s Seal started to go through changes. The aura of the rest of China began to disappear as Great Qin’s aura began to take over the Imperial Ruler’s Seal. In the end, the Imperial Ruler’s Seal was refined by Great Qin.

The crystal ball turned into dust and gradually dissipated, revealing the Imperial Ruler’s Seal within, which gave off an even nobler aura. It gave off brilliant golden light that shined down on Great Qin, and all subjects of Great Qin felt their bloodlines burn as their power gradually became greater.

The rest of China’s faces became pale and everyone coughed up a large mouthful of blood. Their auras became much weaker as if they had been heavily injured.

Chapter 977: True Attack

Zhao Fu grabbed the Imperial Ruler’s Seal, which was now Great Qin’s Clan Armament. Its consciousness also belonged to Great Qin, and no one else from China could affect it anymore. It now fully belonged to Great Qin.

Now that he had completed refining the Clan Armament, it was time to launch a true attack.

Zhao Fu coldly harrumphed. Great Qin had long since sent reinforcements to the Southern Continent, and there were only 20,000 City Lords attacking the Southern Continent. This was because most of their soldiers had already died while resisting the Fish Scale people’s invasion.

As such, Zhao Fu only needed to send 20,000 City Lords to defend. With the soldiers who were already there, it was impossible for them to retake the Southern Continent.

Now, what Zhao Fu wanted to do was conquer the center, west, and south of the Midland Continent, unifying China and the Midland Continent.

Now that China's Clan Armament had been refined, all Chinese people's bloodlines had taken a severe blow, and they were in an extremely weak state. As such, Great Qin's target right now should be China.

The plan was to attack the remainder of the Chinese regions, then attack the countries in the west and south before finally taking over all of the Midland Continent.

As Zhao Fu was refining the Clan Armament, Bai Qi and some other Generals had led an army of one billion soldiers to gather at the boundary of the Midland Continent's central area.

The soldiers were all clad in black armor and held gleaming weapons. They stood in orderly ranks, looking forwards and giving off austere auras. No one could stop such a massive aura.

Bai Qi, who rode on a tall Black God Horse, was at the front of the army, and feeling his bloodline increase in power, he smiled as he ordered, "Attack!"

Boom! Boom! Boom...

Rays of light giving off immense power shot out. These people were all City Lords, and they rushed into the Void Zone ahead. They stood in the air, looking at the Void Zone before taking out rhombus-shaped crystals and throwing them out.

Bang! Bang! Bang...

Shocking explosions rang out, and terrifying shockwaves blasted out. In an instant, all trees and boulders were annihilated, causing smoke and dust to fill the air.

These crystals were all Destruction Crystals that Great Qin had accumulated, and those 1,000 people were all Formation Masters who were adept in all sorts of formations. They did not need to slowly dismantle the Void Zone and could instead use pure power to destroy it.

Whether they were the restrictions in the sky or on the ground, and no matter how tough they were, they were all instantly destroyed.

The restrictive powers in this region all disappeared, and Bai Qi waved his hand downwards. The massive army started to march forwards in an orderly fashion, their footsteps sounding like thunder and giving off a shocking aura.

Bang! Bang! Bang...

The people at the front continuously destroyed restrictions, resulting in massive explosions. Apart from the Destruction Crystals, Great Qin had prepared many other methods to destroy restrictions. After all, they had been preparing to attack the southern side and western side for quite a while.

Great Qin army gave off a tsunami-like aura as they continuously flooded forwards, and they soon reached the defensive walls built by the Chinese factions.

Because the Clan Armament had just been refined, all Chinese people's bloodlines had taken a big blow, and the people defending on the defensive walls all had pale faces and extremely weak auras. Facing Great Qin's powerful aura, they looked incredibly terrified, and their legs trembled as their hearts became filled with fear.

China's various factions continuously hurried over, because the noise from destroying the Void Zones had been quite great; it was impossible that they did not know what was happening.

Even though they continuously headed over, there were many people retreating. Because of the Clan Armament being refined, they were all incredibly weak, only having around 50% to 60% of their normal strength. They understood that even at the peak of their strength, they would not be a match for Great Qin.

This time, the various Chinese factions really seemed to be doomed. Such a big piece of news could not be hidden, and the remainder of China fell into panic. The scene started to go out of control; some people went to resist Great Qin while others hurriedly ran.

“Kill!” Great Qin had already begun its assault, and the enormous army swept forwards like a world-ending tide, looking as if it could destroy everything.

Wyverns that were hundreds of meters long roared and flapped their wings, creating massive gales as they flew towards the defensive walls. They breathed out ferocious flames or icy blasts, mercilessly killing the people on the defensive walls.

There were also giants that were almost 100 meters tall, and they swung their heavy weapons towards the people on the defensive walls. Those people were completely defenseless and were easily reduced to meat paste, causing blood and bits of flesh to fly everywhere, creating a gory scene.

On the other side, there were countless spiders flooding forwards. The tall defensive walls could not stop them at all, and they easily climbed the walls and started to kill and devour the people on top. Their claws were as sharp as knives and were able to easily split apart bodies.

The defensive walls fell incredibly easily, and there were about 15,000 Chinese City Lords heading over.

Most of them were system City Lords and not very strong. They were also affected by the Clan Armament but not as much as the players.

Even there were 15,000 of them, Great Qin’s force was not any weaker. Seeing them arrive, Great Qin’s City Lords met them in battle, opening up a ferocious battle.

Bai Qi gave the order to unleash the Corps Formations in order to quickly take down this place.

“Roarr!” A massive wave of demonic qi rushed to the sky as a roar sounded out and a massive Demon King image appeared. It gave off an evil demonic qi as it rushed towards the Chinese City Lords.

Bang!

A massive flame shot into the sky, causing the temperature of the surroundings to rise dramatically. A woman made of fire brought with her countless flames as she flew towards the City Lords.

Boom!

An extremely cold aura spread out, causing the temperature of the surroundings to drop. A woman made of icy air appeared, creating a snowstorm as she charged at the City Lords.

The 23 Corps unleashed their Corps Formations, and their shocking auras shook the entire battlefield, causing the weather to change.

These were all creatures formed by the auras of millions of soldiers, so if the City Lords did not work together, they could be instantly killed.

After all, Great Qin's City Lords did not lose to them in terms of numbers, making it quite difficult for them to group together and work together. As such, the 23 Corps were able to easily start slaughtering City Lords.

A massive golden sword gave off a terrifying sword qi and instantly split apart five or six City Lords' bodies, the flaming woman used flames to burn City Lords to death, and the icy woman unleashed cold streams of air that froze many City Lords.

Chapter 978: Taoist

The Chinese City Lords were unable to retaliate at all. They were already weakened, and they did not have a numerical advantage. In terms of battle strength, they were far inferior to Great Qin and quickly fell.

Looking at the other City Lords being killed and how Great Qin had more or less taken over the defensive walls, the remainder of the City Lords could only choose to retreat. Their defeat was already inevitable.

With the City Lords retreating, the remaining soldiers on the defensive walls did not have any more strength to resist, and they too started running.

Everyone from the Chinese side started to retreat as quickly as they could; not a single person dared to remain. After hearing about this, the expressions of those still hurrying over immediately fell, and they started to run as well.

Great Qin had completely broken through the central area's defenses and started to enter the inner regions.

"Great Qin is attacking; what do we do?" After hearing about this, the countless terrified people became even more panicked. Before, they had held onto a trace of hope, as perhaps they could stop Great Qin. However, Great Qin had now broken through their defenses and were heading straight for them.

Now, countless people only wanted one thing, which was to quickly run. This was because the Midland Continent was about to be ravaged by Great Qin's army. Based on everything Great Qin had done in the past, things would not be good.

The human world still had three Continents: the Western Continent, the Eastern Archipelagos, and the Northern Continent.

These three Continents were the Chinese people's only choice. Only by going to one of those places could they escape death; otherwise, if they remained, they would have to submit to Great Qin.

All of China's various leaders were heavily injured; the price they had paid to make the Imperial Ruler's Seal resist Zhao Fu was not cheap, and the backlash from Great Qin refining the Clan Armament had been great. They had no strength to fight at all, and they could only run.

Otherwise, if they fell into Great Qin's hands, they would be dead without a doubt. After all, the hatred between them was irreconcilable. Even if they surrendered, Great Qin most likely would not accept their surrender.

After Great Qin's massive army entered the central area, it split into two armies, one heading west and one heading south. They had unstoppable momentum and continuously broke through region after region without any resistance.

The Chinese factions could only continuously run, as they could not defend against Great Qin at all.

Most teleportation channels had become useless, and countless people cried and shouted in terror, wanting to escape from here. Amidst the chaos, people rammed into each other, and the sounds were incredibly chaotic. Everyone disregarded everything as they ran for their lives. Their resolute aura from before was completely gone.

As Great Qin's army continued to surge forwards, watching for anyone who had not been able to run away yet, Great Qin's soldiers rushed up on their horses and swung their weapons, killing those who were running away. Blood flew everywhere as pained cries continuously sounded out.

Now that the real world had been destroyed, it was not just individuals running away but often families. There were many people holding their children's' hands as they ran away.

Great Qin did not show any mercy to these people, stabbing their cold weapons into their bodies. No matter how much they cried or pleaded, Great Qin continued to charge and kill.

Countless corpses littered the ground, regardless of whether they were male or female, young or old. They all became cold corpses, with pained and despairing expressions on their faces. Blood dyed the ground red, making it look like hell on earth.

"Fire!" Looking at the people running ahead, Great Qin's Archers drew their bows and stood in ranks before firing at the command of their General.

"Arghhh..." The arrows tore through the air before piercing into those people's bodies, causing blood to fly everywhere. Some people died immediately, others fell to the ground in pain, and others continued to run.

Great Qin's Archers continued to draw their bows and aim at the people running in fear. The arrows flew out, directly killing this group of people. Great Qin's soldiers ignored their corpses and continued to hunt down these escaping people.

Some people were incredibly scared and knelt on the ground, loudly saying that they wanted to surrender. However, Great Qin's soldiers showed no mercy at all and continued to kill them.

A person from the School of Taoism watched as a Great Qin soldier rode his horse and stabbed a mother through before dragging her body and stabbing towards her child.

That person could not watch on; his body flashed before appearing before the child. He grabbed the spear with one hand and stopped the attack. This Taoist's strength was quite powerful, or else he could not have stopped Great Qin's soldiers' attack.

Because of Qiu Fengzi, the Taoist who had realized Zhao Fu's identity in the real world, the School of Taoism had received the acknowledgement of Great Qin, so Great Qin did not attack those from the School of Taoism.

Currently, only two Schools had been acknowledged by Great Qin: one was the School of Taoism and the other was the School of Yin Yang; the School of Yin Yang was because of Xianru.

Both of these Schools had helped Great Qin greatly.

After seeing that his spear had been stopped and looking at the Taoist in front of him, the soldier did not back down despite feeling that the Taoist was quite strong. He shouted out loudly, "These are all criminals who have offended Great Qin's Majesty. You dare to stop us; are you seeking death?"

Seeing what was happening, a group of soldiers quickly surrounded this Taoist, giving off a trace of killing intent.

The Taoist's expression became quite serious. Even though he could easily deal with these ten or so soldiers, there were many more soldiers here. In the end, he would not be able to escape death, and he might even drag down the School of Taoism.

The Taoist bowed before saying in a low voice, "This lowly one does not mean to offend Great Qin; however, Great Qin is wantonly slaughtering the masses, regardless of if they are the elderly or children. Great Qin is also not accepting any surrenders; you all came from the same roots, yet Great Qin is being so ruthless and cold-blooded."

"Hmph, we're obeying commands from Commander Bai; everything else is unrelated to us. If you do not make way, don't blame us for not showing any mercy," the soldier said threateningly as his eyes became cold.

The Taoist did not look afraid. Looking at the soldiers surrounding him, he used his body to shield the terrified child behind him. A battle was about to erupt.

“Let them go. If there are people who are willing to submit to Great Qin, there is no need to kill them. I will explain this to His Majesty.” An enchanting voice sounded out from the sky. It was a peerlessly beautiful woman wearing a veil and violet clothes.

“Yes, Lady Xin!” Looking at the woman in the air, Great Qin’s soldiers obeyed and turned to find other targets.

The Taoist inwardly let out a sigh of relief and looked at Xianru. He could not help but marvel at her beauty. If it wasn’t for her, he definitely would have died, so he bowed towards her.

Chapter 979: Great Unification

Great Qin’s soldiers continued to give off a massive, ferocious aura as they continued to the rest of China. They were unstoppable, and all of China was dragged into battle.

The Chinese factions could not resist them at all and could only escape to the three other Continents.

After hearing that all of China had escaped in defeat, the countries at the western and southern side of the Midland Continent felt incredibly grim. If even the Chinese side was doomed, then Great Qin’s next targets would be them.

However, how could they stop Great Qin? The Chinese side had already lost, and if their combined force was weaker than the Chinese factions, what could they do?

The various countries sank into panic. Some people started to escape to the other Continents like the Chinese people, while some did not want to leave and vowed to protect their countries, others decided to submit.

After refining the Clan Armament, Zhao Fu took the eight Aquatic Beast Kings to the central area and had wanted to commit a slaughter and annihilate the Chinese factions in order to vent his anger and take revenge.

However, by the time Zhao Fu arrived, the Chinese factions had already escaped. However, they only relocated their Cities, leaving behind many residents and soldiers. After all, if they did not abandon these people, they would not have been able to leave so quickly.

Zhao Fu had rushed at thin air; in actuality, while the system City Lords had gone to resist Great Qin's invasion, they had already run away.

After all, the people from Qin Suppression understood that the Clan Armament had been refined, so they were doomed to lose. There was no hope at all, and they didn't have the strength to fight. As such, they could only run away, preserve their foundations, and develop again. As long as the mountain remained, there would still be firewood to burn in the future.

Since there was no hope at all, the Chinese factions were quite rational and chose to immediately leave.

As for those ordinary people who had chosen to believe in them, they did not care about those people at all. After all, it was now difficult to preserve even themselves, and they had even abandoned some of their residents and soldiers. Who would have the mind to think about those ordinary people?

After all, even if these ordinary people were all killed by Great Qin, they would not suffer any losses. As such, they did not consider those ordinary people at all.

The reason China had been so unable to resist was because all of the top-tier factions had retreated, leaving behind a pile of loose sand. They were like a herd of sheep in the face of Great Qin, a ravenous beast, which started to devour everything in its sight.

It could be said that most factions' losses were only so-so; the ones who suffered the most were the ordinary people. They were mercilessly slaughtered, and their corpses could be seen everywhere. All of China became a place of corpses, creating a shocking scene.

This order had been personally given by Zhao Fu. Everything that these people had done would be repaid in blood. Since they could not take revenge against the masterminds, they would deal with these accomplices.

In the end, China was completely conquered by Great Qin. Only then did the slaughter of the Chinese people gradually stop.

Because of the various Ministers' suggestions, Great Qin no longer slaughtered those who surrendered; those people could keep their lives. They all looked incredibly scared and servile; before, they had been shouting that they would resist Great Qin to the death, but now, they were all too happy to keep their lives.

After completely conquering all of China, Great Qin had once again unified all of China. Following this, Great Qin started to attack the countries around China.

By now, many of those people had escaped to the three other Continents. However, there were still many people who had stayed behind and vowed to fight with Great Qin to the death. An example of this was Russia.

Even though Oleg had already escaped, many Russian players refused to leave, as they were quite keen on fighting. Even though they were facing Great Qin, they did not show any fear, and they were instead quite excited for battle. Meng Tian, who was responsible for attacking Russia, could not help but feel admiration at these people's battle intent.

Following this, Great Qin started to invade Russia, giving off an immense aura as it thundered into Russia's territory.

Even though all of the Russian players were fearless and had high battle intent, Great Qin's strength was simply too great. In just an instant, all of Russia had been conquered by Great Qin, and 90% of the Russians had been killed.

On the Mongolian plains, five million Cavalrymen gathered, waiting for the arrival of Great Qin's army. When that happened, they would give a death charge.

The five million Cavalrymen galloped across the plains, giving off an incredibly sharp aura. They were like an unstoppable spear, and the scene would shock anyone who saw it.

Back when Mongolia had invaded China, these Cavalrymen had been China's greatest headache. After all, once they started charging, they were very difficult to stop. However, they were facing Great Qin.

Facing the Mongolian Cavalrymen charging at them, Great Qin did not directly face them in battle and instead sent out a group of Wyverns. Under their dragon's might, the horses became terrified and lost control. At that moment, countless flames and icy blasts swept out.

The Mongolian Cavalry was completely annihilated. In response to their intense resistance, Great Qin congratulated them by slaughtering the entire country.

Because Mongolia had been completely slaughtered, Kazakhstan was scared into submitting, not daring to resist at all.

These were the countries on the southern side of the Midland Continent. Over at the western side, Great Qin had to face more countries: Kyrgyzstan, Tajikistan, Uzbekistan, Afghanistan, India, Nepal, Bhutan, and Bangladesh – eight in total.

Even though there were many of them, they were all relatively weak. The only one that was relatively tough to deal with was India. Great Qin's army now began to invade the eight countries.

Immediately, Bangladesh, Bhutan, and Nepal, which were all smaller countries, immediately surrendered. Great Qin quickly entered Kyrgyzstan, Tajikistan, Uzbekistan, and Afghanistan, quickly conquering them and destroy those countries.

Last was India. Great Qin had no small enmity with India because the Maurya Dynasty had been destroyed by Great Qin, and Great Qin had also taken their women and refined their Clan Armament. This hatred was extraordinarily deep.

Great Qin's higher-ups took this quite seriously because India had a large population and they would most likely resist intensely. As such, there were more City Lords here to suppress them.

They had also sent over ten Corps to slaughter their way through India. India's forces rapidly decreased, and after Great Qin killed 60% of them, they finally became afraid and became willing to submit. Following this, India also perished.

This was the largest battle in the Midland Continent. It seemed quite short, but it actually lasted for one week. In the end, all of the countries perished, and the Midland Continent became unified for the first time.

Now, the entire Midland Continent became Great Qin's territory. With the Southern Continent and the Fish Scale world's Netherwater Continent, Great Qin now occupied three Continents. Its forces were completely unrivalled.

The people who escaped to the three other countries quickly allied together with the locals, forming a new defensive line. The three Continents now had a single goal, which was to make Great Qin stop attacking, or else they would fight back.

Chapter 980: Summons

Of course, Zhao Fu did not care about those statements at all. Now, the most important thing was to collect the spoils of war. They had now unified China and the Midland Continent. Even though many Chinese factions had escaped to other Continents, they were just shells of what they were before. Great Qin would destroy them sooner or later.

Great Qin was now the only faction within China, and it had become the official ruler of China. Almost all of China's Fate gathered at Great Qin, and Zhao Fu could now truly be called the Son of Heaven of China.

Not only this, the other countries in the Midland Continent had also been swept away by Great Qin. Great Qin had essentially established a never-ending Dynasty, but Zhao Fu's goal was not only this; his next goal was to unify the entire world.

However, for now, they had to properly digest these regions and factions. They had not even finished digesting all of the regions from before, and now that they had devoured so many more regions, if they kept going, they might just explode.

In the future, there would no longer be any large battles in China or the Midland Continent. The warring period of the Midland Continent had concluded, and Zhao Fu felt quite content.

Zhao Fu returned to Great Qin. They had successfully defended the Southern Continent from being re-taken, so the attackers could only return to the other Continents. The locals there did not try to chase them away because they needed the Southern Continent's power to resist Great Qin.

Most of China's factions had relocated to different Continents, but some had stayed, such as the Hundred Schools of Thought and various Sects. Even the Ancient Clans had remained, and they had all acknowledged Great Qin to be the true ruler of China; everyone else was a rebel.

At the same time, Great Qin continued to clear out any Chinese factions remaining, as well as anyone related to them, such as the Buddhist Sect, School of Confucianism, and School of Mohism.

Great Qin had already listed these three Schools and Sects as rebel Schools and Sects. Anyone who was related to them would be severely punished.

It was not because they were evil or taught anything wrong; it was simply because they had chosen the wrong side.

Now, it was time to calculate their gains from this battle. First were the regions. The central area of the Midland Continent had 1,000 regions, and the Fate and Spirit Qi there were incredibly dense. There was also an abundance of resources, and the quality of spirit medicines were quite high.

Next were the western and southern sides – each of them had 2,000 regions. There was also Russia's 700 regions, Mongolia's 300 regions, and Kazakhstan's 350 regions. On the southern side, the eight countries had a total of 1,400 regions. In total, this was 7,750 regions.

Apart from regions, there were also the Cities. Because most people had already relocated, Great Qin only obtained 10,000 Cities and four billion people, which included indigenous residents and players.

Now, Great Qin's total population reached 18 billion, and it had 1.4 billion soldiers. Of them, 900 million were Stage 1 soldiers, 13 million were Stage 2 soldiers, three million were Stage 3 soldiers, and 80,000 were Stage 4 soldiers.

Great Qin now controlled 27,570 regions, including the regions from the Southern Continent and Netherwater Continent. It had one Marquisate City, three Barony Cities, six Capital Cities, 25,000 Great Cities, 4,921 Cities, 5,660 Towns, and 189,489 Villages.

This kind of strength was incredibly monstrous, and no one was a match for Great Qin anymore. However, it still had not digested most of the regions; only after digesting them would this power truly belong to Great Qin and make it even more powerful.

Now, their task was to continue developing, clear out regions, and build the Great Wall. Zhao Fu did not have much to do, and seeing that the population was content, that the nation was powerful, and that the soldiers were ferocious, a smile appeared on Zhao Fu's face.

“Your Majesty, these are some memorials that have been submitted. This lowly one has finished collecting them.” A Minister respectfully handed over a few memorials.

Zhao Fu looked through the memorials and smiled before saying, “Summon them to meet Us!”

Because China was at the center of the Midland Continent, many people had not been able to escape and had been stopped by Great Qin. Even though they were of the same country, this often made the hatred between them greater. Zhao Fu had killed many Chinese people during the earlier stages and only stopped in the mid to later stages.

Now, there were about 700 million ordinary Chinese people left. It was time to meet his old friends.

“What? Great Qin’s Majesty – no, His Majesty – wants to meet us?” Hearing the orders from the soldier, a person within the group of people addressed felt incredibly shocked as waves crashed in his heart.

How could they not feel shocked? They were being summoned by Great Qin’s Emperor, the person with the highest authority in Great Qin. He was the Son of Heaven who had unified China and unified the Midland Continent; the Emperor billions of people had to kneel to in worship.

Now, he was personally summoning them; this was something that they had never expected. After all, their identities were incredibly ordinary, so how could they have some sort connection with Great Qin’s Emperor, who stood at the peak of the world?

They could not understand why Great Qin’s Emperor was summoning them, and they had no idea if it was a good thing or a bad thing. However, all of them were quite afraid. After all, the rumors said that Great Qin’s Legatee was incredibly ruthless and bloodthirsty, and the slaughter that Great Qin had committed caused the Midland Continent to become a hell on earth. They could still remember those scenes.

Human lives seemed to be as worthless as grass to Great Qin; the most feared faction in the world was definitely Great Qin, and every time Great Qin committed a slaughter, the corpses could form mountains and seas.

Would they be killed today? With how bloodthirsty Great Qin’s Legatee was, if they said something wrong, they would definitely die.

A young man said in fear, “Err, sir, can we choose not to go? I just want to be a commoner; I will submit to Great Qin and definitely won’t betray it.”

The others also expressed that they were willing to submit to Great Qin but did not want to go. After all, they felt that this summons was too dangerous and felt a sense of impending doom.

Zheng Dong sighed. Everyone present was teachers and students from their university, and thinking about how they had resisted Great Qin before, it was quite likely that they would be doomed. However, he stood out and said, “I’m the leader here; I’ll take the punishment on myself. We beg His Majesty to have mercy and spare the others!”

Hearing this, everyone else felt quite grateful; if Zheng Dong was willing to take the punishment for all of them, they would be fine. However, Zheng Dong’s outcome would be quite pitiful.

Everyone discussed among themselves; some said for Zheng Dong to go by himself since he was the leader, while others said that they should go together. After all, they had vowed to go through fortunes and troubles together and that they would be there for each other. Zheng Dong had treated them all quite well.

Looking at this raucous scene, the soldier yelled, “How dare you! Do you think you people can refuse a summons from His Majesty? Hurry up and pay your respects to His Majesty; those who refuse will be executed.”
