

The Nameless 99

Chapter 99 - Right?

Madeleine nodded. She was unwilling, but, she knew that all she had was her 9th level music will, because of her illness, she had never had the opportunity to learn another.

Although it was powerful, she had no cultivation to sustain movement techniques or other attacks. It was best if she didn't add to Dyon's worries.

"In the future, if you dare send me away when I can stand by your side, I'll never talk to you again."

Dyon smiled and kissed her forehead, "Of course."

The seeded geniuses trembled in anger watching this scene unfold.

Using wind will again, Dyon passed a practitioner level spatial ring to Madeleine.

"I don't know when I can see you again, but I don't want you to worry, so, I left you a few things. Inside, there's a communication device I created that amplifies human technology with dao stones. Considering we may end up being millions of miles apart, I wanted to make sure it had a proper boost.

"Using it, you can write me whenever you want. You worry too much about me, so, I thought I'd make this for you. Make sure you don't try to absorb the power from the stones, our bodies won't be powerful enough for that until we break through the Celestial Stage and enter the Dao Formation Stage. If I ever don't answer, know that it's because I've found a reason to use the remaining dao stones I have."

Dyon explained these things lightly, but if others known what he had succeeded in, they would be shocked.

The combining of technology and cultivation was something the Libro had turned Dyon away for asking about. Yet, it seemed that in these months, after expanding his knowledge on matter of the cultivation world, Dyon had been able to find a path forward himself.

But, Dyon wasn't very surprised by his success. Who in this cultivation world could possibly understand technology better than himself? It was only a matter of time.

"About the other things inside. I suspect Delia has a god level constitution because I witnessed her transformation at the opening ceremony. She's like a little sister to you, so she's a little sister to me too.

"I'm 60% sure she has either the Ice Queen or Infinite Ice Hell constitutions. It would be nice if she had the second, then she'd have a top 10 god level constitution as well.

"Finally, I also left you a cultivation technique that's perfect for you as well as some techniques," Dyon smiled, "As long as you feel the celestial will I left in you, I'm alive and I'm doing my best to come back to you as quickly as possible. It was a fluke that the aurora fire lily I gave you burned out, it shouldn't happen again."

Madeleine blushed when Dyon mentioned the celestial will, but still nodded.

"Oh! And take Eli with you, I don't want him to get caught up unnecessarily."

With a wave of his hands, a massive Celestial Deer formation appeared. He helped Madeleine and Eli on as a Black Hole appeared, darkening the skies. After giving Madeleine a final hug and smiling to Eli, he waved as they vanished in the sky.

Dyon stood with Cadmael, Ava and Venus, watching as Madeleine and Eli flew away.

Turning around, Dyon looked towards the legacy world opening formation with glowing eyes.

He could feel the dense killing intent behind him, but it just made his blood boil even more.

'I'll make this whole martial world mine. You wanted me to get a taste of it, right mom? I'll show you how filial I am. Watch me stand tall.'

“Dyon. Although I can promise not to actively try to kill you, I won’t be helping you either,” Spoke Caedlum in a detached voice.

Dyon smirked.

“I wouldn’t expect anything less,” Dyon turned to Ava and Venus, “I can send you two away as well. They won’t dare do anything while I’m here. Once we enter, we’ll be randomly separated and I won’t be able to protect you.”

Venus looked like she was lost in thought, but Ava looked right into Dyon’s eyes, “You know what happened to my brother, right? I don’t mean that he was killed, I mean who killed him and why?”

Dyon nodded.

“It isn’t smart for any of us to go in. It’s best if you wait with me for my father. Considering how you’ve helped me, he’ll protect you.”

Dyon shook his head, and grin appearing on his face, “I truly want to see how great these geniuses are. If I quit because of a little danger, I’d be letting down too many people.”

Ava looked at Dyon fiercely but could only sigh when she saw his resolution. Without allowing Venus a choice, Ava grasped an orb in her hand. The both of them disappeared.

Dyon raised an eyebrow, looking at the spot they had just been in before smiling at seemingly empty space.

Dyon hopped onto an array raising himself to the entrance of the black hole. His back was straight as his muscles rippled in excitement. The sword strapped to his back was vibrating along with him, almost excited that its master was as crazy as it was.

A devilish aura erupted from Dyon as his crystal covered black scales faded into and out of existence.

The crowd felt a shiver as they looked toward his back, their fists involuntarily clenching.

At the same time, the geniuses felt their hearts burning with battle intent.

ROOOOOAAAAARR!

The roar shook the skies, a mighty demonic qi surging toward the clouds above.

A massive illusory image of demon qilin appeared behind Dyon. Those of weaker cultivation immediately fainted, unable to control the flow of their own energies under the pressure Dyon's soul exerted.

Dyon tilted his head back in an almost devilish way, the grin on his face reflecting his shimmering white teeth. His eyes had blackened from their hazel color, his sword glowing with a crimson aura, almost like it was dripping blood.

“Me against all of you, right? You all want to kill me? COME THEN!”

Dyon leaped into the black hole with no hesitation, disappearing into an unknown world.
