

CHAPTER 94

CHAPTER 94 What Did You Do to My Wolf?

[Sexual Assault]

"Nothing," Brandy quickly lied, "she just woke up."

Matthew turned his full attention to Brandy. He gripped both sides of her face harshly causing her to yelp in pain. "What did I tell you about lying, Brandy?"

"Stop it! Leave her alone," Lily said.

"Really, Lily? You're still protecting her after everything she has done. But, for you, my love, I will let her go this time," Matthew said, and he then slung Brandy away from him.

"I am not your love," Lily stated. "And I am just defending my sister. You don't think I can't smell the mate bond on you. You're disgusting."

"You hurt me, Lily. What you're smelling is not a mate bond, but a slave bond. I told you that the only mate for me was you," Matthew responded, causing Lily to look from Matthew to Brandy in disbelief. Brandy didn't meet her gaze, which confirmed that Matthew was telling the truth.

"You dishonor her by doing this. Why? Why would you do this to her?" Lily exclaimed.

"Because she kept me from you. She made me suffer for so long. She needed to be punished," Matthew explained.

"Are you still going to stand here like Brandy put a magic spell on you and had you float into her pussy? Are you really going to sit here and blame everything on her? You were cheating way before you started sleeping with her. You were always a cheater," Lily snapped. "When are you going to hold yourself accountable for your actions? You did this to yourself. You made your choices and I made mine. I rejected you before you betrayed our mate bond. It didn't matter who you slept with. I was going to still reject you."

Matthew cocked his head to the side, his eyes cold and calculating. "I must say, I'm quite disappointed. I wanted you to be more appreciative of everything I have done for you, but it seems that you're still tainted by my brother. We will have to fix that."

Lily felt the air shift around her as Matthew disrobed. Her heart sank, knowing what he was going to do. Brandy stood transfixed in place in the corner of the room, eyes wide and unblinking.

"You will not touch me," Lily growled, feeling her claws within her fingertips.

"Stay away from me." But her voice had no effect on him. He loomed closer until he was just inches away from her face.

"Don't be afraid," he said softly, his breath hot against her skin. He moved to get into bed with her, but she swiped instinctively, slashing his face and causing him to curse in pain.

Lily jumped out of the bed and tried to rush out of the room but felt a sharp tug on her hair as Matthew yanked her back. He held her there while muffling any noise she could make with his hand over her mouth.

"Hold her arms," Matthew said to Brandy.

"No, I won't do that. I won't be a part of this," Brandy refused.

"As your master, you will do as I say!" Matthew commanded Brandy whose body began to move forward despite resisting the order as much as she could. Her hands shook as she clamped down on Lily's wrists and held them above her head.

Matthew then leaned down and whispered in Lily's ear. "You do not want to make me angry. I could do much worse than this. Now, you will be a good girl and accept my love. You will accept my mark and you will mark me back. We will fix this misunderstanding."

Matthew then proceeded to enter into her while she screamed and squirmed beneath him, her cries muffled by his hand. Brandy closed her eyes as she refused to watch. She found the strength to remove her hands from Lily to back away.www.NoVELWoRM.com

"Oh goddess, Lily, you feel so good," Matthew moaned as he removed his hand.www.NoVELWoRM.com

to grip her thigh painfully.

"I will never accept your mate bond, Matthew," Lily screamed defiantly. "You will never have me. You will have nothing."

Matthew paused for a moment, letting go of her hair and pushing back. He gave her a look of disbelief, then anger. Matthew struck Lily across the face. He continued to do so as he began to thrust into her harder, rougher, faster inside of her.

"You will accept it one way or another, Lily. This is happening," he growled into her face as he took what he wanted from her.

"Get off her!" Brandy screamed as she slammed the pitcher across his head causing Matthew to cry out.

"You bitch, I..."

Before he could finish, Brandy had already shifted. Her mouth clamped down on his shoulder, yanking him back and off Lily. She proceeded to bite and shake him. Matthew grabbed her by the scruff of the neck before throwing her into the wall.

"How fucking dare you!" Matthew snarled at her. He attempted to call onto Baldur to shift, but Baldur refused.

'No, I will not let you harm them anymore,' Baldur refused.

'You are my wolf. You will do as I say!' Matthew screamed at him, beginning to force Baldur to come forth. It was at that moment a syringe was plunged into the side of Matthew's neck. Pain coursed through his veins as he dropped to his knees screaming. He turned around to see Kenneth looking down at him in disgust.www.NoVELWoRM.com

"What did you do to me?"

"Only helping you fulfill your part of the blood pact," Kenneth responded. Matthew could feel Baldur howling in pain. His voice was growing fainter and fainter within him. "I don't understand. What did you do to my wolf?"

"You really should have pressed harder to find out what I wanted, Matthew," Kenneth scolded him. "I wanted you to give up your claim on Lily. I decided to make the decision easy for you by killing your wolf."

www.NoVELwoR@côM