

Meeting The One For Me

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 41-Audrey hugged Harper tightly. Her eyes were closed, and yet she still could hold back her tears. The next morning, Audrey took Harper to the funeral home to see me for the last time. That was why she had asked for Anne's body to be delivered from Sheysen Chy, Harper had cried and stayed up all night. Her eyes were so swollen that the doctor's opened them. But she was afraid Audrey would be worried about her, so she tried to pull herself together.

When she saw Anne's body, Harper had an emotional breakdown and wanted to run over to hold Anne. However, the staff stopped her.

The funeral director applied makeup onto Anne's face. They also dressed her well, which made her look like she was sound asleep.

Audrey embraced Harper who could hardly stand still. Harper opened her mouth and tried her best to say "Mom", but she couldn't make a sound.

Harper struggled but couldn't say the word, even as Anne was pushed into the cremator. While they sat on a bench waiting for the ashes, Harper soaked Audrey's clothes with tears. Audrey looked calm as she hugged Harper, but her bloodshot eyes couldn't hide her sorrow. They didn't know how long they had waited when a small urn with Anne's ashes was delivered to Audrey.

"Let's take Aunt Anne home!" Audrey told Harper, whose face was wet with tears.

Harper nodded tearfully.

Anne and Harper lived above the small store. They placed the urn next to a photo of hers on a shelf in the living room. Then, they sat at the dining table to discuss what would happen next.

"The semester is ending in a couple of weeks. You'll come to Cloudmill with me and go to school there next semester," Audrey said slowly, "From now on, you'll live with me." Harper nodded.

"As for the store downstairs, I'll ask someone to sell it. As for this house, we'll keep it. It'll be in your name." Harper quickly gestured, "Mom bought this house before she adopted me. It's for you! I don't want it!"

“Do you know the Yeomans family?” Audrey whispered, “I can’t keep the house if it’s in my name. Aunt Anne worked hard for decades to buy this house. She said it was where she belonged. We can’t let it fall into the hands of others.” Harper nodded solemnly.

Audrey reached her hand out to touch Harper’s head. “You have school tomorrow, and you didn’t sleep last night. Take a nap. I’ll cook and wake you up when it’s ready,” Harper pointed at the wound on Audrey’s head and signed, “You get some rest, I’ll cook.” Listen to me!” Audrey told Harper. Then, she got up and washed her hands to start cooking. She didn’t wait for Audrey to drive her out. She gestured, “I only feel at ease when I’m with you.” As she signed, her tears fell again. She quietly wiped them away.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 42-By the time Audrey was done cleaning the kitchen, Harper had fallen asleep at the dining table. Her face was bathed in tears.

She patted Harper’s head and covered her with a blanket. She noticed bruises on her skin under the cuff. Audrey furrowed her brow. She glanced at Harper before carefully pushing up the cuff a little more.

Before she could take a better look, Harper twitched. Audrey stopped in her tracks. She made a note to ask her about it when she woke up.

Audrey went downstairs and hung a “For Sale” sign in the shop window. Her phone rang “Louis asked for 1.3 million dollars in compensation. He said if it’s 1.3 million dollars, he would need half a year to settle the payment. But if we can accept the amount of 1.1 million dollars, he can settle it immediately.” Julian continued, “Louis’s personal suggestion is that if you can accept the compensation amount of 1.1 million dollars, it’s better to settle it now to prevent any future troubles, After all, it’s more secure when you take the money into your own hands.” “Okay. Thank you and Louis for your help.” Audrey hung up.

Nathan was hospitalized. His ward bustled with people visiting him all day.

“Nathan has been in constant disasters ever since that Audrey woke up.” “That’s right. You’re always in the hospital.” “Now that Audrey is so popular, don’t you want to do something about what they’re saying online? What if Amelia gets implicated?” “I remember when Audrey last badgered Nathan, the paparazzi almost exposed his relationship with Amelia. No one knows how those netizens found out about Nathan and Audrey's past, but everyone said Amelia was a mistress and that Nathan was a scumbag." "We're already suppressing it," Lucas replied, "However, the showrunners of 'Looking For Family' want some attention, and we're facing some difficulties." "It's okay if they found out. Isn't the woman who pushed Amelia at the airport Audrey's foster mother? If Amelia gets implicated, we'll reveal Audrey's relationship to that woman. Let's say that woman pushed Amelia for Audrey's sake. We'll see who can throw more mud at the other." Lucas frowned and disagreed.

Nathan was looking at the trending topics on his phone. He looked up and asked coldly, "And give the media workers a chance to make speculations? They'll say that I pushed Audrey's foster mother and caused her death. They'll send me to jail," Silence fell in the ward at once "That's not what I meant." The person who spoke awkwardly rubbed his nose. "I was just talking nonsense." "Alright. Nathan is tired, and I have to go back to work. Let's leave!" Lucas looked at his watch told Nathan, "We'll leave now. You have to take good care of yourself." As the crowd in the ward left, Nathan looked at the photo of Audrey shielding her body with a quilt on his phone screen.

The photo Anne had forced him to look at that night came to mind. He had caught a quick glance at it.

He had an arm around Audrey's shoulders, and the fingers of his other hand was running through her hair. The expression on his face was serious yet gentle.

He frowned and swiped at the phone screen with annoyance.

Those netizens were digging up information about Audrey. Nathan had already asked someone to suppress her popularity.

After all, when Amelia entered her relationship with Nathan, he hadn't divorced Audrey yet.

And yet, no one had linked Audrey to the incident when Amelia had gotten berated online by netizens four years before.

Even if she had been, it would have been drowned out by other comments too quickly. Nathan thought Ryan might have asked someone to keep the matter out of the spotlight.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 43-If the matter from four years ago was exposed, it would be hard to convince the public that Audrey's foster mother had accidentally pushed Amelia. Anne would be at the center of attention again.

Audrey and Ryan wouldn't want to see that happen.

Nathan was even more annoyed as he thought about Audrey.

When he discovered that Charles hadn't given Audrey the truth serum, he had wondered, "Did Audrey and Charles sleep together that night?" He didn't know. He had no impression of it at all.

Nathan didn't know how long it took, but he fell asleep with a mix of complicated emotions.

A gust of cold wind blew into the well-heated room through the open window.

The icy breeze gently blew over the tip of Nathan's nose and his long eyelashes as if touching a cold gemstone.

In his sleep, Nathan's fingers moved under the pillow.

In his dream, he was gazing at Audrey, She had fallen asleep on top of some pieces of paper. He couldn't help but reach his hand out to brush away her fringe.

He controlled his heavy breathing as he lowered his head slowly to get closer to Audrey's face. The faint smell of the gardenias made his heart beat violently.

He watched Audrey's long and thick eyelashes intently. When the tip of his nose touched the bridge of hers, it was delicate and cold. His cheek grew hot as if it was going to burn.

He stared at her full, pink lips. His hand gripped the back of the chair. His Just as Nathan's thin lips touched Audrey's cold lips, she suddenly opened her eyes.

The noise of birds chirping outside the window in the summertime and the loud hum of the air conditioner filled the air.

They looked at each other.

Nathan's brain turned to mush, and his heart felt like it was going to jump out of his chest.

He stood up suddenly and couldn't say a word. He rushed out the door and ran downstairs. The sound of his pounding heartbeat filled his ears.

The window was blown open by the icy wind. The windows hit the wall with a loud bang.

Nathan's eyes flew open at once. His violent heartbeat continued from his dream to reality. He breathed heavily as his throat felt dry and tight. He looked at the open window.

He wondered if it had been a dream or if that really had happened... Nathan couldn't lie to himself. He hadn't felt that way since losing his memories.

His phone rang, shocking Nathan back to his senses.

from his heart.

After calming down, he picked up the phone. He asked, "Is your leg better, sweetie?"

"How about you? Does it still hurt today?" Amelia asked with concern.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 44-"It still hurts," Nathan said with a smile. He spoke with a childish voice like he always did with Amelia, "It won't hurt if you come and see me," Amelia was amused and laughed. "It seems like you've recovered! I'll visit you when filming ends in a few days." "If you're not coming to see me, I'll visit you on set!" Nathan said gently.

On the other line, Amelia hesitated before replying, "When I've finished filming the show, if you're still willing to propose to me, then let's get married." She choked, "Anne's accident really shocked me. I was terrified when I watched the video. I was afraid that you had been hit by the car!" Her whole body shook when she watched the video. She felt lucky that Nathan wasn't the one who had gotten hit by the car.

Nathan felt distressed when he heard Amelia's voice. "Sweetie..." Amelia composed herself and said, "We never know what tomorrow will bring.

So, Nathan... I want to cherish what we have now! Audrey chose to give up and got the divorce, so you're no longer tied to each other! Like you said before, I'm going to put aside my morals and cherish every moment with you." Amelia spoke from her heart.

"Okay!" Nathan replied, "I'll prepare a grand proposal for you, and we'll make an unforgettable memory together." After hanging up, Amelia looked at the screen thoughtfully.

When she talked to Nathan about getting married, his reaction wasn't what she'd expected. She thought Nathan would be ecstatic and want to see her with a ring immediately.

Amelia forced herself not to dwell on it. She said to her assistant, Janet Rogers, "Bring me the script." Janet carefully removed Amelia's wig for the period drama she was filming, and handed her the script.

"You're only 24 years old, and your career is on the rise, Amelia. If you get married, you'll lose many fans!" Janet said gingerly. "And Yolanda may not agree to that." As Amelia's manager, Yolanda had been wholeheartedly supportive of Amelia over the years.

"I will speak to Yolanda." Amelia pretended she was taking down some notes on the script.

Amelia looked up at Yolanda in the mirror, confused.

Yolanda casually threw her bag on the dressing table. She picked up a water bottle and took a few sips.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 45-"Today the second son of EF Group, Matteo Russo, came to the company in person to discuss the endorsements. Everyone thought he was there for the award-winning actor, Quinton Lewis. But they said they needed a female endorser in Cascadia and mentioned your name!

“Rita’s manager promoted Rita. We’re all from the same company so I didn’t expose the shortcomings of the celebrities she manages. But she mentioned your secret love affair with Nathan, the son of the Franklin Group!” Yolanda put her hand on the dressing table and looked at Amelia with bright eyes.

“When she was done talking, Mr. Russo said that he was looking for Nathan’s girlfriend. He hopes Nathan’s girlfriend will be EF Group’s endorser in Cascadia!

This is like a novel brought to life!” Amelia looked surprised. She wondered if Matteo had come for Nathan.

That couldn’t be possible. The Franklin family was indeed the top family in Sheysea City, but how could a world-class luxury brand like EF Group have anything to do with the Franklin family?

“Be honest with me. Do you know he was the second son of EF Group when you saved him?” Yolanda asked.

“What?” Amelia was confused. “I saved him? I don’t even know the second son of EF Group!” As she spoke, she looked like she had remembered something. Her heart started beating faster.

An assumption came to Amelia’s mind, but she didn’t want to bring it up. She said, “If he said he’s coming to look for Nathan’s girlfriend, he might know Nathan. I’ll call and ask him later.” “That’s not it!” Yolanda furrowed her brows and continued, “Mr. Russo knows that I’m your manager. He even asked me to thank you. He said you saved him in Itaylio seven years ago but didn’t tell him your name. He saw your boyfriend pull you up to stop you from doing CPR before he passed out, and heard you say his name angrily.

“You were wearing a varsity jacket from Sheysea University. However, he didn’t know which university the varsity jacket was from, so he could only investigate based on Nathan’s name. He’s been searching for many years.

“Before Mr. Russo left, he said he’d like to have a meal with you in the next few days if you’re available.” Amelia tightened her grip on the script.

Nathan and Audrey were in a relationship seven years ago.

If it was in Itaylio seven years ago, it was probably when Audrey had gone there for a contest, and Nathan went with her.

Studying the bad look on Amelia's face, Yolanda made a guess. She asked softly, "Did Mr. Russo find the wrong person? Was it Nathan's ex-girlfriend? The one who woke up from a coma?" Amelia bit her lips and looked up. "Reject the endorsement, Yolanda. Mr. Russo found the wrong person!" "Reject the endorsement? My dear Amy! Don't you know what it means to endorse EF Group? This is a chance for you to rise! Once you become an endorser, you'll be a top star!" Yolanda leaned over to hold Amelia's shoulders. She said, "Amy, even though it's a bit unethical to say... Mr. Russo is looking for Nathan's girlfriend. You're Nathan's girlfriend. You're also a brilliant student from Sheysea University!" "But... "That ex-girlfriend of his isn't in the entertainment industry! She doesn't need this big break!" Yolanda put the water bottle down to persuade Amelia. She was afraid that Amelia would be too ethical and reject the endorsement.

After all, Matteo had wishfully thought that Amelia was the one who had saved him.

Amelia knitted her brows together and remained silent. There was a conflicted expression on her face.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 46-In the laboratory, Diego took off his latex gloves.

He announced, "I've been invited to a symposium for about half a month in March next year. I'll have to bring two people with me. Justin will stay to watch over the experiment. Please choose two people amongst yourselves and give me the list of candidates after the Christmas break.

"And there's another thing that I need to tell you Diego told his students that Audrey's foster mother had passed away. He told them to watch out for her when she returned.

That afternoon, Justin, Azure, and Daphne Childers called her.

Daphne knew that Audrey and Harper were going to live in Cloudmill, so she offered to help her look for a school for Harper. "My uncle is the principal of Cloudmill Junior High School. It's close to our university. Let me handle this!

Don't worry!" Daphne continued, "Audrey ... You don't have to care about anything on the internet. Professor Douglas told us about what happened at Sheysea University.

Everyone in the lab believes you're not who the Yeomans family says you are!" The story of the top student from Sheysea University who drugged a man and climbed into the man's bed had spread like wildfire online. Someone had found out who Audrey was and made the connection to "Autrey", who Donna had mentioned on the show.

Diego was worried about what the other students in the laboratory would think of Audrey. So he told everyone how Audrey had been in love with Nathan, protected him in the car accident, and had fallen into a coma for two years but found Nathan in love with someone else when she woke up.

Diego also put his reputation on the line to ensure that Audrey was a virtuous girl and not who they claimed she was on the internet.

Daphne burst into tears when she heard that. She thought that Audrey had a hard life.

"Okay. Thank you, Daphne," Audrey expressed her gratitude.

In the evening, Diego sent a message to the laboratory's group chat. He said that even though Cloudmill University would be closed for the holidays, they were to stay on campus because of the experiment's urgency. He had applied for a fund so they were all going to receive bonuses.

The group chat became lively at once.

Justin told Audrey that they had gathered some money for her. He was worried that she wouldn't accept it, so he asked everybody else to send messages in the group chat. Everyone flooded the chat with messages.

Audrey thanked them, accepted their generous gift, and replied to their messages.

Reading the relaxed tone of Audrey's messages, Daphne couldn't help but ask a question.

CutieDaphne: "I'm curious, Audrey. What recording did you send to the showrunners?" AzureSky: "Are you silly, Daphne? Can Audrey spoil it before the show airs?” Audrey responded, “It’s a recording of my call with the Yeomans family.” AzureSky: “Ignore her, Audrey! She’s going to find out on Friday. Take care of your family matters, and don’t worry about replying to our messages in the group chat. We’re waiting for you to come back.

HandsomeJustin: “I’ve asked on your behalf, Audrey. Even though you’re in a single dorm, your sister can come and live with you.” LittleDimple: “I wondered why Justin was so quiet for such a long time. Well done, Justin! Everyone please applaud! Justin is amazing!” AzureSky: “Justin is amazing indeed!” Audrey said, “Thank you, Justin.”

She stayed in Eastville for a week.

Anne’s shop was sold on Wednesday. She went to the bank on Thursday and deposited all the money into Harper’s bank account.

Audrey put her keys on the cabinet and looked at her watch. It was only 4:25 pm. Harper should have been at school.

A few knocks sounded on the door. Harper was asking Audrey to wait a moment.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 47-Audrey looked down at the water stains on the floor that led to the bathroom.

She frowned and remembered the bruises she saw on Harper’s wrist.

A suffocating idea floated in Audrey’s mind. Was she being bullied at school?

Audrey stood at Harper’s door, pressing her lips together. Her mind was in a mess. Eventually, she returned to the kitchen to get started on dinner.

Harper got changed and dried her hair, then strolled into the kitchen.

When she saw Audrey washing the vegetables, she helped her. She explained in sign language that she fell while carrying a bucket of water at school and had wet her clothes. So, the teacher had told her to leave early.

Harper’s eyes were clear and bright and didn’t look gloomy. Audrey felt relieved.

She returned to the vegetables.

“I’ve told your teacher that you won’t be at school tomorrow. We’re going to Cloudmill. You’re transferring to Cloudmill Junior High School next semester and there’s an interview tomorrow. If you pass the interview, you’ll need to do a few placement tests. But with your grades, you’ll get into one of the top classes.” Although Harper couldn’t speak, her hearing and other traits were good. So, the school still demanded to an interview with Harper to assess her condition.

Harper nodded and told Audrey not to worry.

Audrey saw the anticipation in her eyes. She smiled and touched Harper’s forehead to hers.

She was going to take good care of Harper so Anne wouldn’t have to worry about them.

On Friday, Harper went for the interview at Cloudmill Junior High School.

While Audrey waited for Harper at a coffee shop near the school, she called and reserved a private room at a restaurant. She planned to treat her colleagues from the laboratory to a meal that afternoon.

As she sent the invitation in the group chat, a middle-aged man in a business suit stood in front of her. He gave her a name card, and said, “Hi, Ms. Yeomans.

Mr. Lambert wants to see you.

The name on the name card was “George Lambert”, Audrey’s biological grandfather.

She was stunned. She looked up at the man in front of her. He had a warm smile on his face.

She started, “You are ...” “I’m Mr. Lambert’s assistant. My name is Edward Zook.” Edward stepped aside so Audrey could walk ahead. “Please.” In her memory, she had only seen George when he left in a car with her biological mother. George hadn’t even looked at her at the time. She wondered if he wanted to see her now because the show had affected her mother.

Audrey followed Edward to a car parked on the side of the road. She was filled with doubts and worries.

Edward opened the rear passenger door. George was sitting in the backseat.

George didn't even look at her. His expression was solemn.

"Have you ever considered going abroad?" he asked in a stern, cold voice.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 48-Audrey clenched her fists.

"I'm not considering it at the moment." "Rumors are spreading wildly on the Internet. Your current notoriety has affected Ryan in the Industry." George frowned. "Do you wish to drag the Lambert family into it eventually?" "I never thought about it like that..." "To protect Wanda, I've always claimed you're a relative from Ryan's original family." George finally turned to look at Audrey, his desolate eyes steely. "If Ryan continues helping you, it will arouse suspicion. Please don't bother him or contact anyone related to the Lambert family again." Audrey swallowed her words and agreed, "Okay, I get it. Don't worry, it won't happen again." Although Ryan helped her of his own will, she had accepted his assistance. It was irrefutable. Even if George hadn't come to her, she didn't dare see Ryan again after what happened that night.

Seeing that Audrey understood, George didn't say more. He didn't mind that she wasn't moving 'abroad.

As a condition for canceling the marriage with the Shaw family, he would send Ryan abroad to settle the cooperation rights for the company. The company's business would trap him there for a while, leaving him no time to care about Audrey.

"The password is six zeros." George handed her a card from his pocket. He continued, "I will settle the matter on the internet for you and suppress the hype." "Mr. Lambert," Audrey interrupted slowly. "I will resolve the issue myself. The rumors should subside after the broadcast of tonight's program. I promise not to implicate the Lambert family." She pushed the card back to him. "I can't accept your money. The Lambert family has helped me a lot over the years. I'm grateful. I wish you and your family health and peace. Goodbye!" As he was her biological grandfather, Audrey's well wishes were genuine.

She got out of the car and closed the door, then watched the black car leave.

Watching Audrey in the rearview mirror, Edward said to George, "Mr. Lambert, are we really not suppressing the hype on the Internet? Ms. Yeomans is currently the target of public outrage." Having worked for George for decades, Edward was well aware of Audrey's background.

"Since she doesn't want the help, let her handle it herself. As long as Ryan and the Lambert family aren't involved, let her be at the center of it all." George closed his eyes. Despite his callous tone, his gaze was complex.

Audrey's young features resembled Wanda's, though their personalities and demeanors were a world apart.

George was old when he had become a father to Wanda, so he had always doted on her. His overprotection had raised a kind and innocent person who was ignorant of the world. She was easily deceived.

On the contrary, Audrey's gaze was gentle yet firm. He found it familiar, like his wife's in her youth.

George looked out the window.

As long as his precious daughter wasn't involved, he couldn't care less about Audrey's life.

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 49-Azure hurriedly nudged Daphne, pointing to the fair and obedient Harper beside Audrey. The little girl's clear eyes were pure and innocent.

Daphne immediately realized that Audrey and Harper's deceased foster mother was a guest in the program. Azure was afraid Harper would feel uncomfortable watching the show.

The tactless Daphne smiled apologetically at Audrey. She cleared her throat and asked, "Which room are we in?" Harper tugged at Audrey's arm and made gestures. "Audrey, I want to watch it.

Mom is on the show." Her eyes were red as she smiled.

Audrey smiled and patted Harper's head. "Let's sit in the ball if there are seats.

Harper wants to watch it.' Harper nodded, Before their food was served, the program "Looking For Family" started. In the restaurant hall, all the diners turned to the TV screen.

After the weeklong wait, the anticipation for the program had grown immensely.

As soon as it was broadcast at 8:00 pm, viewership numbers soared. People also tuned in on all three major Internet platforms.

At the start of the program, the host, Ian, greeted the audience as the Yeomanses were cursing behind.

Anne stood at the back. Only half her body was visible. Her chest heaved in anger, and her face was grim.

Harper stared at her mother intently with damp eyes.

The program soon got into it, and the recording was played.

know "Audrey Yeomans, you shameless bitch! Aren't you good at hiding? Are you scared now that you we're on the program? Don't be ungrateful! We're kind enough to let you return to Sayeno Town to marry that cripple Claude ..

" recording fully demonstrated the calculations and viciousness of the Yeomanses.

The restaurant hall exploded into an uproar.

"Holy shit! That blew my mind!" Daphne couldn't help swearing.

The guests at a table behind them gasped in shock. "After being trafficked, she had been pregnant nine times and had given birth to eight children! Oh my God! Not to mention she was underage when she was abducted!" "What an evil family! Even after killing someone's daughter, they're going after her family's property!" On the TV, Anne seethed with anger after watching the Yeomanses' performance.

Apparently, Anne and the Yeomanses hadn't expected Audrey to come onto the show. The camera zoomed into their expressions.

On the show, Anne turned to look at Audrey, her eyes full of surprise and worry.

She called out to her, “Audrey!”

“Mom! Don’t be angry!” Tia rushed to Donna’s side.

“Are you going to anger your grandma and your dad to death? Get on your knees and apologize to your grandma now!”

Meeting The One For Me Chapter 50-Before appearing on the program, the Yeomans family had plotted to disclose Audrey’s name and university, as well as spread sexual rumors about her.

That way, she would be despised by everyone and unable to survive in Sheysea City. Only then would she have returned to Sayeno Town with them.

Sexual rumors were enough to ruin a woman.

With a few slanderous words, the victim might spend all her time and effort to prove her innocence to no avail. Even if the truth was revealed, the slanderer could probably get by with a weak apology.

Not to mention, Nathan had indeed shared Audrey’s photos around Sheysea University.

Donna slumped down on the floor, slapping her lap as she wailed, “Autrey was a good girl when she left home. What happened to her? A Sheysea University student has turned into a shameless bitch!

“She sold her body at school, and photos of her sleeping with men were spread everywhere! When we went to Sheysea University to look for her, we heard she had slept with every man in the school! How shameless!

“The Yeomans family’s reputation is ruined! I have such a hard life! Why is there such an indecent bitch in our family?” Anne turned pale with anger. She defended, “You ... How can a grandmother slander her granddaughter with such vicious words? You’re shameless!” “You bitch! I’ll beat you to a pulp!” With a ferocious snarl, Wayne stepped on the coffee table and dashed toward Audrey.

Alert and agile security guards swiftly held him down.

he knelt before Audrey. He begged, "Audrey! Since Mom is gone, please let me see Grandpa! He only has one daughter, and that's Mom. Now that she's gone, we should take care of Grandpa for her! I promise not to tell him about your scandals in the university!" While the stage was in turmoil, the camera panned across to dead silence in the audience.

Audrey calmly took the microphone from Ian. Her calm composure was out of place amidst the chaotic screaming on the stage.

Audrey's head was still in a bandage when she appeared on the program.

Once Audrey revealed her identity, people would stir up trouble with her nude photos.

"I had to go." Audrey smiled and appeased Daphine.
