Nicko's ATM card is a special edition. It's only created for those who has minimum a trillion dollars for wealth. At least that's what Nicko have seen on magazine.

"I will be able to gag them by this money," Nicko is thinking on his mind.

What's on his mind is totally right, the amount on his ATM will make the snobby Windsor happy. It will be easily for them to own branded things or go on vacation around the world anytime they want. Yet, he keeps his ludicrous mind away, "No, i can't do this. What will be any different for me with them, if i am doing this?"

Nicko is leaving the hospital right away and find the bus to go back on uncle's Howard villa. On the way to the bus stop, he sees a busy sports equipment shop. That was Mitchell Laurance a famous professional golfer over there. A bright idea is coming

"This really expensive, It wont be sold to you," The man with a tie is saying, he might be the shop owner.

The people around are giving an underestimate laugh by hearing that man said include, as Mithchell does.

"I plan to buy them," Nicko is saying and make them laugh harder.

"Hei young man! How could you buy all these things. A set of this golf stick is cost more than a million dollar," the shop owner is explaining and mocking on him.

"Hey boy, you'd rather go home. Do not humiliiate yourself," One of the shop visitor is saying. They keep on saying bad words to make him upset untill Nicko shows his magic card.

"Just tell me how much?" Nicko is asking once again and showing his special platinum card. A thing that may gag people and invite their admiration.

On the other hand, it only happened for a second, they laugh at Nicko once more. "Ha ha, are you trying to make us laughing by showing a toy card?" One of them is making a fun of him and making the others laughing.

"Forget about it, this young man must be stealing. How could a man like him buy all these things," Another person starts saying once again. "Right, you must be stealing. Get him!" the shop owner gives command to his guard.

Two big and muscular men come to Nicko and start to lock his hands behind. Nicko is trying to release himself and explain that the card is his own, but none of them trust him. They lock him more tight, hold him and give access to the other one to punch him.

As a punch almost touch Nicko's belly, the black suit men appear on the shop and come closer.

"You! touching the Young Master, you will die! " One of the black suit gang is shouting. The desperate Nicko turn his head on them, and shouts "Russell?"

The man who is named Russell is got a mission from Mr. Lloyd to watch over him. His ATM card is especially designed with a tracking chip which is accessible for the owner and their chosen. The purpose is to find out if the card is missing and Nicko will find it easily.

"You?" The shop owner is saying surprisingly because he knew who Russell is.
