Chapter 201

201 Griffin

I was happy, Ayla wanted to tell our families tomorrow it would make so many things easier on us. Lying when you're living in such a close community is difficult as we experienced when we were having our test- tasting dinner at Milo's. Telling our families would take the edge off a little bit. Then in two weeks, we could finally tell the rest of the pack. We could finally start celebrating, being pregnant, and announcing the wedding date. Now the rest of the pack would understand why we wanted to marry so soon.

I still shudder when I think back to the fight where Ayla told me she wasn't interested in marrying me like this. It made sense she wanted to go bridal shopping outside of the pack ground. Weddings aren't as common for us wolves as they are for people. So there aren't any bridal stores on pack ground, there are somewhere you can get evening dresses. White ones too and all those other shades that to me look white but have different names.

I should have known that there was no way that Ayla would not want to get one of those dresses. I should have known that she would want to go wedding dress shopping with her friends and family. We already had to rush the wedding, she wouldn't have minded getting married after our pup was born. I could just acknowledge it and it would still get my last name. But I wanted to be a family in every way possible before our pup was born. Of course, being as wonderful and amazing as she is Ayla agreed. And I was sure she was excited about starting our future together in yet another way too. Joking about how we took ages to mark each other, and would now have a shotgun wedding.

What caused her to be mad with me was that I figured it was a smart idea to tell her she could not go shopping for a wedding dress out of the pack ground. I don't know what came over me. Or actually, I do, ever since Hannah was made rogue there have been rogue sightings. Up until Cynthia started working outside of the pack ground. We suspected the rogue sightings were Hannah trying to find her way in the human world. The timing just was a little off and I was the only one who said it. Even my parents didn't think it was as suspicious as I thought it was. Feeling alone in my worry made me lash out. I could still hear the things Ayla told me.

"If this marriage is all about you, and how you want it. What's the use in even getting married? We are already mated, this marriage is nothing other than a celebration to show the love between us. It's not all about you!" It had been so long since she raised her voice at me.

The worst thing was that this time she had a good reason too. I had gotten so tired of telling people, I was worried. Only to hear them tell me that it was in my head. That I needed to take care of myself since this must be the trauma speaking. People were quick to point out how badly I had been coping with Ayla being kidnapped. They were all so quick to push aside my worries about me not coping well again. That I stopped speaking of it. It was what caused me to tell Ayla, I would not let her go out to get a dress. Instead of voicing my concerns. And when I finally did it came out all wrong.

"Because shit still isn't safe, I don't care that no one sees it. I love you with all that I am, you and our pup. I don't care if no one not even you is on my side. I won't risk the two of you and you will not leave the pack ground alone until I can be sure it's safe out there." The second the words left my mouth I knew how wrong I was.

The thing that really made my heart stop was Ayla taking the ring off her finger.

"I love you Griffin, I always will and on most days you are the best mate I could ever wish for. Lately, you've changed you're becoming too obsessed with my safety and you are taking parts of my life away away from me. Parts I am finally getting back after w me. Parts I am finally getting back after what David has done to me. You will never deem it safe enough for me to go out ever again. I wanted to marry like my grandparents had done, and everyone after them. To honor my human heritage, to be able to say I am Misses Taylor when we are among humans. Since you will never let me be again, there is no need to get married” She didn’t sound angry anymore, she sounded sad and broken.

Defeated even and it broke my heart, I needed to fix it. And I did right away, not planning surprises with the big gestures she feels uncomfortable with. No, I just ran after her, grabbed her hands, and aah. fropt efher again. Teiggimertd Be er not to do t ‘Mold her all about my insecurities. I considered being overly cautious even if I still wanted to trust my gut feeling. I wanted to trust my instincts it is one of the things that set as apart from humans. That we still have survival instincts. Instincts that I have ignored only a handful of times and every time I did something bad happened. Just like I expected, but ignoring my instincts now meant that Ayla would still want to be with me. Still wants to marry me, that’s a risk I need to take. “You need to be sure Griffin, I never meant you could not still have your own opinion when we fought. I just didn’t agree with one decision you tried to make for me.” Ayla was talking to me and it snapped me out of my thoughts.

As a matter of fact, Ayla now asking me if she could tell our families about the pregnancy two works sooner. Wasn’t just good news because I was happy to tell them. It was the perfect excuse for

202 Ayla "I'm going to be honest with you, Darling." | knew Griffin had something on his mind. Still, this time he was going to tell me, so this time | was going to listen not judge him.

"| just love the idea of being close to you when you're not on the pack ground. | know that you don't want me to be overprotective. That you don't think there still is any threat. And | want you to feel that way. To feel safe, but | don't and to see nobody else feels the way | do it scares me. | won't bother you at all | promise, we can take separate cars back. | won't mind link or text you. Unless you let me know you need me, that's the only thing | want to feel like | can be there for you if we need to." | can hear how scared he is, both for my safety and to disappoint me.

| regret taking off my ring during that fight, mostly because of how deeply it hurt him. While | didn't feel as threatened as Griff but as mates we needed to take care of each other. Make each other feel safe and loved, so | would not protest this. | would not tell him it was silly of him.

"I'd like that too, baby, again | feel safe enough as it is. But having you closer feels even safer. Plus Dad and Grandpa will love being able to get a matching suit." | honestly tell him, drawing my nails over his scalp the way he loves so much.

He instantly relaxes, hugging me close and that is how we end up falling asleep. We were cuddled up together and if finally felt like we were getting back to how we were. How we were supposed to be. | knew we were struggling a bit now, but it was because we both needed to come to terms with a lot of shit. As long as we have each other though we will be alright.

“What's the matter, Darling?” Griffin’s arms wrap me from behind me, his stubble scratching my skin where he nuzzles my mark. They're all comforting me, | feel stupid for feeling a little down that some of my favorite jeans do not fit me anymore. | am not showing yet, since | am only ten weeks pregnant. My stomach is just a little bigger, not enough to see but enough for my jeans to be uncomfortable. | wanted to wear the. cute top, my mom sent me the other week. | cannot if | don't have jeans to wear with them.

“I'm bloated, soon | will be like a ball short and round. | just want to wear my cute new top. | have been wearing dresses this week just because they fit my stomach.” | sigh, | have always been one for wearing jeans and tops.

| like my dresses on occasion but | am not one to wear dresses daily. Especially when | have a function now that requires me to wear dresses so often. Griffin just kisses the top of my head and walks off. For a moment | feel like he has nothing to say to reassure me. Because | am bloated and getting fat. But he is back seconds later with a hair tie. Kneeling in front of me he ties the hair tie to the button of the jeans | am wearing but couldn't close. He pulled the tie through the buttonhole and attached it to the button again. Closing my jeans he kisses the waistband. Moving up placing kisses over my stomach. Swirling his tongue around my belly button.

“You're not bloated, you're not going to be like a ball. What you are is drop-dead gorgeous. The fact you are carrying our pup is only going to make you more beautiful.” If it had not been for his kisses, for the line his skillful tongue traced over my bare skin.

Then his words would have surely made me want him. When got up | noticed he wasn't fully dressed yet either. Normally the sight of him in a dress shirt, boxer shorts, and socks wouldn't get me going. But his kisses, his tongue had turned me on, my desire only fueled by his words. Now the smell of his arousal mixed with mine, his erection making his shirt fall in a weird angle. Emphasizing how hard he was for me. Made me rub my thighs together desperate for some friction.

“Darling we can’t, your” He started as this time | was the one to kneel down in front of him, freeing his hard cock from his boxers. The second the tip of my tongue traced a path from the base to the tip of his cock. The only thing he managed to mumble out was “Oh fuck” as his hand wrapped in my hair.

Hollowing my cheeks | worked to take every inch of him. | missed Griffin pulling my jeans and panties down and lying on the floor next to me. Then ride me, baby, why use your hand when you can use my body to come? Chapter 203

There has hardly been enough time for me to show Ayla how crazy I still am about her. How attracted I still am to her, and will be to the day I die. We had been so busy and the stress of it all had caused a few arguments between us. When I kissed her stomach I meant to reassure her. I just could not help swirling my tongue over her stomach. That really was getting a little less toned. Just as I could not stop myself from getting hard from being so close to her. Because of the feel of her soft skin against my tongue and lips. And above all the smell of her arousal mixing with mine.

I tried to be the wise one even when she knelt down in front of me. I was lost at the first touch of her tongue. I could no longer remember why we needed to hurry. It's been so long since we were able to touch each other like this. It was like I was starved and she was offering me a buffet. She was moaning with me, every moan vibrating against my

Cock and like this, I would come in no time. Her getting turned on by the fact she was pleasuring me was exhilarating. It made me want her more, want to feel more of her wrapped around her cock than just her pussy. And then she wobbles slightly. Causing me to pull her hair harder but I knew she would only like that more.

When I saw she slipped her hand inside her jeans, touching herself. Because she could no longer contain it, because she was as desperate for her release just from giving me a blowjob was the last push. I didn't care about being late anymore. I needed to be inside of her again. I rushed her out of her jeans not because | still realized | was in a hurry to go somewhere. No, because her needy whines that she wanted me, needed

And it now was the final straw, the reason my orgasm followed her. | grew hard again before we even had time to catch our breath. This time | got up to jump under a short cold shower. We needed to rush to Isabella and Rodrick to get to the airport in time. Rodrick gave us a knowing wink. But it was fine, we were on time and if anything my parents—in-law were happy to see how strong we still were. Isabella had an idea of why we wanted to have a family lunch. So she was teeming with excitement, to the point where Rodrick asked her what was going on with her twice.

“Nothing sweets, I'm just happy to spend time with my family. You know how much | loved my family. My big family” Isabella beamed, making me giggle and making Rodrick shrug in confusion.

He looked at Griffin for help, but my wonderful mate stared straight ahead. Like he didn't see his father's unspoken question. Even talking about work and politics to stop Rodrick from asking too many questions. And with the drive to the airport being short. Soon there was no room to ask any more questions. We got lucky my parents and grandparents loved Rodrick and Isabella. And the rest of the royal family. With me being Griffin's mate and Dan being Krystal's mate it was good both families loved each other.

Still, ever since my kidnapping every one was a little on edge with unexpected situations like this. And | hated it, maybe us surprising them with this news would be their new references. Where they would think back to this joyous they when there would be an unexpected situation.

But like his son, he would do everything for his mate. And his family, and | was incredibly lucky, because not only did the families get along great. Rodrick and Isabella loved me as their daughter. Amidst all the chaos, of needing to recover in a pack | had not bounded with yet. They were a lifeline. | loved my parents and we had a great relationship. But the reality of my life now was that | could not see them every day. When my pregnancy progressed and | would go on pregnancy leave my mother could not be here for me every day. | know Isabella could be and she would be just as supportive.

“We just wanted to surprise you with a family lunch,” Griffin said, | was happy he did. With an even voice too as if he was almost unbothered by it.

“Then it’s a good thing your family decided to surprise you too” A familiar voice that | hadn’t heard for far too long sang over the arrival hall.

“Aunt Katie, what are you doing here?” | jumped into my aunt’s arms. She was my father’s older sister. She was the second child, her mate was French. She had been extremely lucky to have met him. Pierre was the Alpha of one of the biggest French packs. Of course, Aunt Kate moved to his pack. The family missed her terribly but traveling between France and the States was difficult.

“Your aunt missed her family, especially after all that happened,” Uncle Pierre told me. | had always liked him.

Back when we were kids we would go to France and stay at the Lune des Pins pack for three weeks. We slept in the pack house and those summer holidays were one of my best childhood memories. As busy as they were as the Alpha and Luna of the pack, they always made time to do things with us and my three cousins. We still e-mailed and texted a lot. We even video-called sometimes. | would have called them to tell them the news of my pregnancy. Now being able to tell them as | told my parents and grandparents was amazing.

“If this is a family lunch then where are the others?” Kate asked.

| looked at her big pregnant belly, It was so good to know that our pups would be close in age. Even with the distance between us now that we were living in separate packs. They would grow up together. We had traveled back and forth so often, and while | never wanted to take advantage of the perks that came with being the future Queen. It did make it easier to keep seeing my family.

“He’s already at the restaurant so are the others” | answered my little sister.

My voice cracked because | was nervous. | knew my family would be happy about the news. They would celebrate the news with me. But still telling them about my pregnancy made it so real. Grandma seemed to notice, but she didn’t say anything. She just took her hands in mine and squeezed it.

Something was off, when we entered the restaurant all eyes were on me. On us, like they knew what we were. Griffin however was so very relaxed that he eased my worries. He always does, He doesn’t need to use his words to do so. He doesn’t even need to touch me, even if it helps when he does. Just his presence and his comfort would always be

Everyone was so happy for us like I knew they would be. Lunch was filled with talk about babies and families. Kate and Tim were ecstatic to know our pups would grow up together, close in age. They already started planning a family trip after both the first birthdays. Griffin seemed excited about the idea. And it made me feel like he was finally feeling more comfortable. Not as scared of something being out there to get to us as much anymore, and I loved it. I was having so much fun that I never realized after the main, no one came down to ask if we wanted a dessert. Not until a group of waiters came walking up to us. Carrying a huge pastel blue and pastel pink cake.

There was a black velvet box on the tray with the cake, that the waiting staff placed in front of me. “Thank you for another dream come true” was written on the cake in silver cursive letters. I looked at Griffin through a hazy gaze, my eyes brimming with tears. Happy tears, because I was so grateful for how amazing this man was. He made me so happy, I was so glad I finally gave in. That he didn’t give up when I tried to push him away. To a wolf, nothing is worse than being rejected by their mate. that. It was me who should be thanking him every day for all he had done for me. All that he has given me. But instead, he was thanking me at every turn. Like the sweetheart he is.

“Come on Sweetheart, open the gift then” Grandma prompted me because she was excited to see what Griffin had given me.

And she was not the only one, my hand trembled as | unwrapped the ribbon tied around the black velvet box. In it was a beautiful silver necklace of a moon peaking out from behind the branches of a tree. | had seen necklaces like these that had the Tree of life on them. This necklace however had to be custom-made. Not only because of how intricate and elegant it was. But because the tree in front of the moon was the great white oak. My original pack was named after. The same tree my grandfather had tattooed on his arm. Two of the branches were adorned with my Griffin’s birthstones. The other branches had diamonds in them.

“Griff, this is beautiful | don’t know what to say” | choked out getting emotional again.

“Iam glad you think so, Darling. Every time we have a pup you can take out a diamond and replace it with their birthstone. They and | will have a piece of jewelry made with that diamond in it on their sixteenth birthday.” Griff explained more of the meaning behind this amazing gift.

It left me sobbing, unable to hold back my tears. Griffin hugged me, telling me how much he loved me again. How happy he was about our future together. telling me to take the entire afternoon to go shopping. My wedding dress appointment wasn’t for another two hours. He suggested | would get some clothes that would fit me better. Some maternity clothes perhaps. He didn’t

Griffin well and truly showed me how beautiful he still thinks | am. His opinions are the only one that matters. Not to mention the fact that he was right. | was not getting round or fat, | was carrying our pup. And | should feel proud and honored to do so.

| smiled when Dad, reached for his back pocket. | knew what he was going to do. He never liked giving gifts if he was not 100% sure it was something the other person liked. He would always get out his credit card and tell us to get ourselves something nice because we... whatever it was he wanted to give us something for.

"Here, sweetheart, get some maternity clothes and something for the pup. You made your old man so proud and happy do you know that?" He asked, and despite how generous he was | couldn't stop a small giggle from escaping me.

"| know Dad, and | am sorry for laughing at you it's just" "You always do this" Mom, Kate, and Dan answered for me as if they rehearsed it.

Dad laughed along with us, while Rodrick expressed what a smart man my dad was. Because he always spends hours trying to find a gift not knowing what to get people.

“Darling, don’t you deserve this we’re still hoping for a big family right. So who knows how often you will get to wear these clothes” Griffin mind linked me.

Seemingly knowing exactly what was on my mind without even being here with me. Mind linking when we were amongst humans was risky though. It left you unable to see anything for a few seconds. That wasn't the thing that stuck out most though. Our eyes would glaze over. Grandma has mentioned before how much it stands out when she still didn't know she was a human. We are already a big and somewhat rowdy bunch. All with tattoo's of our partners on the exact same place on our bodies. There really is no need for us to stand out more than we do. The content is on Read the latest chapter there!

When I get my vision back, I smile brightly, Figuring the fact that Mom and Jessa are holding me like they are afraid I would faint any second

now. Until I blink. Right then: person standing in front of me. They must have seen I just mindlinked, and while I am not alone I suddenly feel scared again. Hoping nothing bad will happen to me so I can go back to Griffin and tell him how sorry I am for doubting him. How right he was about all of this still not being over. About the threats there still are from wolves I deemed not to be a problem to me anymore. The content is on Read the latest
