

Read Novel The Prince Who Was Raised In Hell Chapter 371

The Prince Who Was Raised in Hell Chapter 371-“So fast!”

Ozul and the others were shocked. At that moment, their sight was filled with countless silhouettes. That kind of terrifying aura that instantly swept over was like the momentum of a ferocious tiger descending a mountain. For a while, it made their souls sway and unable to control themselves.

“Watch out!”

Ozul, the strongest among them, came to his senses first. As he shouted, he slashed at the oncoming afterimages. “The Deadly Cuts!”

Swoosh!

The curved longsword swept across like a viper that came to life, and a few Caspian’s afterimages were instantly shattered.

“He’s not here!” Ozul’s eyes flashed, and he hurriedly warned the others.

“The Cobweb Skyhooks!” Liliana turned her body at an unbelievable angle. Then, the curve hooks in her hands layered, and she waved them hard. In an instant, the harsh light spread and overlapped one after another, intertwining into an inescapable net that shrouded the afterimages that rushed to her.

The afterimages that were trapped by the harsh lights were immediately cut into countless pieces, and they immediately disappeared as the wind blew.

“He’s not here either!” Liliana yelled.

“If that’s the case, you won’t be able to escape!” Lennon roared, and the surrounding air seemed to surge and tumble everywhere as if they were boiling. Not only that, but his body seemed to be bigger than before, and he hit the silhouette in front of him.

Bang!

A silhouette was blown up.

Bang!

Another silhouette was beaten.

The arms that Lennon swung were like giant trees sweeping across, and the afterimages burst at touch. Soon, only one phantom was left in front of Lennon.

“It’s you!” Lennon’s body showed agility unexpected from his body shape as he stepped forward, opened his fingers that seemed to extend infinitely and were unavoidable, and directly grabbed the phantom.

Clank!

There was a sound of impact in the air. Then, the last silhouette swayed slightly, but it did not disappear. The spear in the figure’s hand was already captured by Lennon!

“Ha!” Lennon appeared proud, whereas the rest of them were relieved as they looked at Caspian angrily.

Lennon grinned and boasted, “Brat, those that were caught by me never survived. Do you know why I’m nicknamed the Mountain-breaker? Because I...”

“Because you’re about to die,” Caspian coldly interrupted Lennon. After saying that, Caspian turned his Ghoul-Locker Spear slightly.

Swoosh!

In that instant, the back of Lennon’s hands seemed to be pierced by sharp thorns, and blood gushed out of the wounds. In the split seconds, both of Lennon’s arms dripped with blood, and it was a terrifying sight Lennon watched dumbfoundedly at his hands, completely puzzled at what just happened. The rest of them were stunned by the change of events too.

What were those spikes?

In the end, the excruciating pain spread from Lennon’s arms, and he wailed miserably as he anxiously let go and retreated.

“Trying to escape?” Caspian let out a long laugh and stepped out with speed twice as fast as before.

That guy was playing a trick! This was everyone’s immediate reaction when they saw the scene. However, there was no point in dwelling on this matter. In the blink of an eye, Caspian rushed toward Lennon and stabbed out with his spear.

“The Firmament’s Ghoul-Locker Spear!”

“You can’t break my defense!” Lennon was flustered, and he roared madly, raising his hands to block himself with his thick and sturdy arm-guards. When the arm guards overlapped, they were just like steel that ordinary sharp weapons could not even leave a mark on them.

“Is that so?” Caspian’s mockery sounded.

The next second, Lennon felt as if a cannonball hit him. The terrifying force that could shatter the sky dashed over, blasting Lennon’s arm guards into pieces with a loud bang.

Among the flying fragments, countless bloodlines shot out from Lennon’s arm, making shocking arcs in the air. As for the burly Lennon, he flew out dozens of meters away and heavily slammed onto the ground, causing the earth to crack and send rubbles flying everywhere.

At a glance, Lennon’s bloody arms appeared terrifying as his flesh was ruined too. Then, Caspian stood steadily, holding the Ghou-Locker Spear. Caspian looked at Lennon with a scornful gaze and said lightly, “Can’t break your defense?”

Lennon struggled to get up, and when he heard Caspian’s words, rage surged in his heart, causing his chest to undulate violently. Then, suddenly, he threw up a mouthful of blood, and the hatred, anger, and gear appeared in his eyes.

Lennon did not even dare to say anything.

“Lennon’s actually...” Liliana mumbled, and the curved hooks in her hands trembled slightly. With just an attack using his spear, Lennon’s formidable arm guards exploded, and Lennon was also blasted away.

That fear made Liliana feel an unprecedented fear. The other two people’s faces were immediately ashen.

Caspian was only a peak first-stage Pulse Control Realm cultivator, yet he was much stronger than them. Even though they were long famous in South Earlington, they could not help but become unconfident.

On the other hand, the Heavenly Stars Sect’s disciples appeared as if they had a weight off their minds. Although they did not know how Caspian managed to ascend to the peak first-stage Pulse Control Realm, it could be seen that his strength improved even more after his ascension. Not only that, those cultivators in the same realm as him would be his rare opponents.

As time slowly passed, the Heavenly Stars Sect’s disciples were only ten minutes away from detoxifying the poison in them. At that time, none of those notorious cultivators could dream of escaping if the disciples all worked together.

Ozul and the others had a never-seen paleness on their faces, and such an expression appeared on their opponents' faces in the past. The feeling of despair almost made them suffocate.

“You’re a bunch of good-for-nothings!”

A thunderous roar suddenly sounded from the other side of the cave. At first, the voice sounded as if the speaker was still far away, yet at the end of the sentence, the voice was only inches away.

Two silhouettes appeared at the same time in front of Ozul. When they saw those two, they seemed pleasantly surprised. However, Caspian’s eyes flickered, and he looked at the two almost identical faces that appeared. Then, he uttered, “Since four of the South Earlington’s top ten bandits are here, I expected that the Tiger and Leopard Brothers, ranked first and second, will be here...”

Hearing that, the initially relaxed Heavenly Stars Sect’s disciples suddenly felt as if a giant enemy appeared, and some of them trembled.

Read Novel The Prince Who Was Raised In Hell Chapter 372

The Prince Who Was Raised in Hell Chapter 372-Tigreal Johnson! Leo Johnson!

Those were the two figures ranked first and second in South Earlington’s top ten bandits.

Not only did they kill the most on the list, but they also had the worst reputation.

Moreover, those two were twin brothers.

Besides that, they were once disciples of a certain sect.

Hence, they were truly cultivators of the sects, unlike others who were individual cultivators, and slowly progressed to where they were now.

Many rumors were going on with those two brothers.

Nonetheless, the information that the Heavenly Stars Sect’s disciples understood was naturally the most reliable.

The two brothers were gifted and talented children, so they were chosen by a sect and trained as key disciples at a young age.

However, their hearts were not in the right place.

To improve their strength, they would even raid and rob houses, as well as kill civilians and cultivators.

Not only that, they would deceive anyone just to get more cultivation resources.

Finally, their identities were revealed when they ambushed a caravan escorted by cultivators.

When the news reached their sect, the brothers simply killed the little sect as in for the penny, in for the pound.

Since then, they have completely embarked on the road of murders and robberies.

Compared to Ozul and the others, Tigreal and Leo were countless times more merciless.

Either they did nothing, or as soon as they attacked, they would destroy the whole family or massacre the entire sect.

Earlington of Efrac had a lot of sects, but those like the Heavenly Stars Sect or the Dark Moon Sect were fewer.

Moreover, the smaller sects usually only had seniors or elders levels who reached the Pulse Control Realm.

Not only that, it was only the first-stage Pulse Control Realm.

Hence, if such a small sect fell into the Johnson brothers' hands, it would surely be bullied as they wished.

Additionally, as the two were trained as the key disciples of the sect, they had a good understanding of the messaging techniques between sects.

With that knowledge, they were able to avoid the interception and assassination by the cultivators sent by other sects.

There were also times that they used the information against the cultivators sent to kill them by turning the situation around and murdering the cultivators instead.

Besides that, there was even a time in South Earlington when the Johnson brothers' notoriety became a means for the elders in the family to warn and frighten the naughty younger ones.

It was like, "If you don't sleep now, the Tiger and Leopard Brothers are going to catch you", or "If you don't practice harder, you'll not be able to run away from the Tiger and Leopard Brothers if you meet them."

Many disciples present heard similar warnings since they were young, and it could be said that Tigreal and Leo were their childhood traumas.

However, now that they met them in person, the disciples swiftly felt the brutal, cruel, and bloody aura the two brothers emitted.

Caspian narrowed his eyes slightly, looking at the brothers up and down.

It might be because they ran all year round, the two brothers seemed exhausted.

Behind the fatigued look, there was a ferocious aura.

There was a scar on Tigreal's cheek, made the elder brother appear more fierce.

On the other hand, Leo, the younger brother, looked more gentle, but those cold twinkling eyes made anyone shudder at first glance.

"What a bunch of trash!" Tigreal looked around and saw the tragic-looking corpses.

Then, he noticed Lennon's bloody arms, and Tigreal could not help but scold again, "You have a group of people with you, yet you can't even defeat a cultivator of the same realm! What's the point of having all of you around! You all almost ruined a great thing!"

"But..." Just as Liliana was about to argue, Tigreal directly slapped her.

The loud slap immediately left a bright red palm print on Liliana's cheek.

Even though her lips were still moving, she did not dare to utter another word.

Then, she covered her face and retreated.

"If you can't win, you can't win.

Stop giving useless excuses." Leo's cold gaze swept at them.

In that instant, the remaining people who wanted to defend themselves quietly lowered their heads.

Although ranked among the top three of the top ten bandits, Ozul dared not say anything in front of the brothers who ranked first and second.

"Thankfully, we came here in time.

Otherwise... Humph!" Then, Tigreal suddenly changed the topic, "If you trash die, it's nothing to be sad about.

You can't even handle such a small thing, so I won't put hope in you for the future big deals."

The unabashed humiliation immediately caused Ozul and others to be dissatisfied.

Nonetheless, they were aware of the two brothers' cruel means, and they could only bear it even though they felt aggrieved.

As they could not vent their resentments on the Johnson brothers, they passed it all to Caspian.

In their hearts, Caspian was cut into countless pieces a few times.

"Humph.

There's a group of Heavenly Stars Sect's disciples, but only one can fight.

Since that's the case, let's end it quickly.

I have more important things to do later." Tigreal turned around and looked at Caspian.

Tigreal's emotionless gaze was as if Caspian was not a cultivator but just an ant that could easily be crushed to death with a finger.

"You're right.

Let's settle this quickly.

For example, you both can attack together." Caspian sneered.

"I'm curious as to what interest brought six of the top ten bandits to join hands."

"The dead don't need to know!" Leo growled.

No one saw his legs move, but Leo's figure was just like a ghost or long snake, "sliding" toward Caspian.

When he got closer, Leo waved his arm, and a sharp blade light like lightning that tore the sky whizzed out from his sleeve and slashed toward Caspian's forehead.

The blade's speed, force, and angle were not on the same level as the previous people.

In that instant, Leo's attack felt unavoidable for Caspian.

"The Ursa Major's Blurred Shadows!"

The light in Caspian's eyes condensed, and he immediately stepped out as he swept the Ghoul-Locker Spear across.

Clank!

In the crisp sound, sparks blasted everywhere.

Leo took a few steps aside, and a surprised look appeared in his eyes.

Then, he looked at the longsword in his hand, which had a few gaps, and Leo uttered through gritted teeth, "An almost spirit tool!"

Seeing that Caspian was even with Leo, Ozul and the others widened their eyes and gasped.

Caspian stabilized himself, and he looked at Leo with a cold gaze.

The oddly shaped longsword in Leo's hand was not ordinary.

Otherwise, it would be broken by Caspian's Ghoul-Locker Spear.

Nonetheless, the two brothers slaughtered at least five small sects over the years, and no matter how small a sect was, they would surely have some valuables.

Besides, it was normal for the brothers to encounter strange adventures and get great weapons.

"An almost spirit tool? It seems that our trip this time has unexpected gain." Leo looked at Caspian and snorted.

Then, his face suddenly darkened, and he raised his hands and slashed at the Heavenly Stars Sect's disciples not far away.

"I'll kill them first and slowly torture you!"

Read Novel The Prince Who Was Raised In Hell Chapter 373

The Prince Who Was Raised in Hell Chapter 373-Caspian's expression suddenly turned cold, and he stepped forward with the Ursa Major's Blurred Shadows.

Then, without detours, Caspian rushed straight toward Leo.

As the toxins in the Heavenly Stars Sect's disciples were yet to be cleared, they could only stay in the defense array.

Nonetheless, the defense array could withstand several attacks from ordinary cultivators like the cultivators in black, but it definitely could not block Leo's.

Moreover, Caspian's plan, in the beginning, was to use the defense array just in case, and he did not expect it to withstand this bunch of people's attack.

"Stop him!"

Seeing that Caspian dashed over, Leo grinned.

His eyes that flashed with harsh lights said, "I knew you'd come over."

Ozil, Liliana, Lennon, and Harvey immediately attacked Caspian.

"The Cobweb Skyhooks!"

"The Deadly Cuts!"

Harvey, who stood behind everyone, also flicked the array flag in his hand, shouting, "The Groundbreaker Ice Cones!"

Swoosh! Swoosh! Swoosh! Swoosh! Swoosh!

In that instant, thundering noises seemed to pierce everyone's ears.

Rays of cold light intertwined with one another, forming a giant net falling toward Caspian.

In the cold lights, a series of jagged black lines, like a poisonous snake waiting for an opportunity, violently appeared from Ozul's longsword, shooting at Caspian in all directions.

Not only that, but the ground under Caspian's feet also trembled suddenly, and ice cones burst out of the earth, piercing toward his feet as if they were about to make a hole in his soles.

Caspian used the Ursa Major's Blurred Shadows to shorten the distance, quickly avoiding them.

However, if he dodged, he would not be able to stop Leo anymore.

At that time, the sword light in Leo's hand pressed against the defense array's light.

The poor light received such a heavy blow that its surface shook like waves, and it immediately dimmed.

It appeared as if it would burst and shatter at any time.

Caspian gritted his teeth, and his eyes flashed with a fierce light as he roared, "The Firmament's Ghou-Locker Spear!" Then, he turned a blind eye to the sharp ice cones on the ground, smashing them with one foot and exploding them into dust.

Boom!

The spear violently shot out.

In that instant, the tip of the spear rolled up a terrifying spiral, and the surrounding air seemed to be collapsing inward.

Next, the rays of cold lights that Liliana created immediately distorted, cracked, shattered, exploded.

Liliana's face immediately changed.

As she never faced Caspian before, she was shocked to discover that the opponent's strength was more incredible than she imagined even with the little encounter.

"Oh no!" Liliana's heart trembled, and she hurriedly withdrew her hands, wanting to retreat.

However, Caspian suddenly showed an eerie smile.

"Lightning inscription."

In that split second, Liliana felt as if she was shocked by electricity, causing her entire body to numb, and she could not move!

"You're digging your own grave!" Ozul roared, and his heavily-makeup face appeared heinous.

The black light on his twisted longsword suddenly brightened by tenfold, and it all blasted at Caspian.

"The Starlight Overlord!"

Crackle and rattle!

The rays of black light cut Caspian's body, and there was a sound of impact as countless steel bars hit hard in the air.

Yet, even with the Deadly Cuts, there was not a single scar on Caspian's body!

Caspian's unreasonableness shocked Ozul so much that he immediately stopped in his act.

Ozul never expected that Caspian would not avoid his attack, even directly facing it, wanting to kill Liliana.

He could not believe that Caspian's body could block his sword lights.

Was this guy a body refiner?

However, even if Caspian were one, there was no reason for him to be able to block Ozul's killer attack!

Just when Ozul was frightened and angry, Caspian's Ghoul-Locker Spear already spread out a rolling black tide.

The black light stretched and expanded in mid-air, turning into the shape of an eyeball.

Facing the black eye-shaped thing, Liliana felt like being stared at by death and as if her soul drifted into an empty universe.

The emotions of loneliness and despair filled her entire chest and entire soul.

Swoosh!

The next second, the shadow of a spear blasted out from the middle of the eyeball, piercing through Liliana's abdomen in the blood shower.

When the entire spear came out through her body, a fountain of blood gushed out along with the spear.

Liliana's expression was blank, and she completely forgot to resist.

At that moment, she felt her body getting colder as if she fell into a cold and bottomless abyss.

"B*stard! "

Seeing that Caspian pierced Liliana, Ozul was immediately angered and embarrassed.

Then, his pale face was immediately reddened.

Soon, a purple-black light suddenly appeared on the surface of Ozul's curved longsword, and a fierce light burst into Ozul's eyes.

"The Abyssal Anaconda!"

Ozul shook the longsword in his hand, and the purple-black light suddenly swelled and spread.

Next, a thick black beam of light turned into an anaconda, opening its mouth and swallowing Caspian.

The Abyssal Anaconda was obviously formed by the inscription pattern on Ozul's longsword, and it was also his fatal skill.

The giant anaconda formed by the light beam was lifelike, and the scales on it were even reflecting rays of cold lights.

Not only that, the anaconda had a mouthful of fangs like daggers.

Then, it slammed its mouth at Caspian's waist, knocking him away and slamming him to the ground.

Next, it closed its mouth.

The ground trembled with a loud bang, causing dust and rubbles to fly everywhere.

Everyone's heart skipped a beat.

Unfortunately for the Heavenly Stars Sect's disciples, they could not move as they wished, and all of them appeared nervous.

Ozul also appeared anxious, and he wondered if his best shot could heavily hurt Caspian.

As for Liliana, who laid in a pool of blood with a hole in her abdomen, no one paid attention to her anymore.

There was no movement in the smoke and dust.

The corner of Ozul's brow twitched, and there was a hint of relaxation in the twisted and rigid facial features.

It seemed that it worked?

Then, suddenly, there was a faint sound coming from the dust.

The next second, a tall figure with a spear in his hand appeared, and the image became clearer in the blink of an eye.

"Ah!" Ozul gasped and mumbled, "How's this possible..."

There was a level seven inscription on Ozul's longsword.

With a single blow, it would create a force of almost 2500 kilograms, and a massive rock would also be instantly shattered.

However, why did Caspian seem unharmed?

Not only Ozul, but Tigreal and Leo's eyes also flashed with brilliance.

The smoke scattered, and the sound of clothes being ripped came.

Caspian appeared in front of everyone with his hair a little messy.

He cast a cold glance at Ozul and others with his piercing eyes, and he sneered.

"Trying to outnumber me? It seems you're all still weak!"

Read Novel The Prince Who Was Raised In Hell Chapter 374

The Prince Who Was Raised in Hell Chapter 374-When Ozul saw the unharmed CaspianCaspian, he could not help but exclaim, "How's this possible?!"

Was the guy made of steel and iron?

Even if he was not severely injured, where were the traces of the snake bites! Ozul knew well of the power of his inscription.

In addition to the momentary forceful impact, the anaconda's mouthful of fangs was comparable to a high – rank weapon's full blow.

If an ordinary first-stage cultivator were bitten, countless holes would appear on their body.

However, CaspianCaspian... Ozul's gaze fell on CaspianCaspian, and he was shocked to notice that CaspianCaspian's long robe was already torn apart by himself, but there was a small armor inside.

When the Heavenly Stars Sect's disciples saw the close-fitting armor, they were stunned.

Soon, OmarOmar shouted, "The Puritan Armor!"

Other people might not have recognized it, but OmarOmar remembered the armor well as it was given to CaspianCaspian by the Heavenly Stars Sect for defeating him! It was apparent that CaspianCaspian relied on the seventh-grade tool to block the fatal attack of the anaconda's fangs.

At a glance, they could see about six deep depressions on the armor's surface, which was caused by the snake's fangs.

If CaspianCaspian did not have the Puritan Armor, he would surely suffer from the bites.

"You... You..." Ozul stuttered.

He did not expect CaspianCaspian to have such a defense tool, and he fumed with rage.

"Ha! That was pretty interesting, but it's over now!" Seeing the scene, Leon snorted and directly waved his sword, slashing at the nearest Heavenly Stars Sect's disciples.

As the defense array completely exploded under his violent attack, many Heavenly Stars Sect's disciples were like a group of helpless lambs, completely exposed in front of him.

"The Ursa Major's Blurred Shadows! Alkaid!"

In that instant, CaspianCaspian's speed was increased to the maximum, and his figure appeared like a shuttle passing through the void.

The Johnson brothers were stunned by CaspianCaspian's delicate body movements.

Seeing that, Leo immediately quickened his slash.

CaspianCaspian also did not hesitate to use his Ghoul-Locker Spear as a javelin and swiftly tossed out.

Swoosh!

In the blink of an eye, the spear appeared before Leo, and the sudden strong wind seemed to have locked his soul in place, oppressing his vitality.

Leo secretly cursed and hurriedly turned his sword around, blocking the Ghoul-Locker Spear's fatal attack.

If Leo did not do that, there would already be a hole in his head.

Leo forgot how long it was since he met such a flustering situation.

Not only that, it happened in front of the bunch of people that he called trash, making Leo burn with rage.

However, before Leo could curse out loud, CaspianCaspian already bolted toward him in a frenzy.

“The Thousand Dragons Warfare!”

CaspianCaspian accelerated, suddenly stopped, turned his waist.

Then, as if he were a crack of thunder violently slamming to the ground, a huge and majestic storm spread to the surroundings.

Soon, a roar echoed in the space.

Leo was shocked, and his instinct alerted him to directly place the longsword in front of him as a shield.

Bang! Clank!

In that instant, Leo felt as if a violent behemoth slammed him, and he immediately flew out.

The longsword in his hand immediately curved and shook intensely.

The vibration spread toward his arm and caused it to hurt severely as if his hand was about to break, and half of his body was numb.

“Leo!” Tigreal immediately shouted out of anger.

CaspianCaspian just landed when he heard Tigreal’s scream, and he instantly felt a ray of cold light aiming at his neck.

The merciless aura immediately enveloped him, and Tigreal’s sword light seemed to bring a bloody battlefield to him.

However, CaspianCaspian could not dodge his attack at all.

If he used the Ursa Major’s Blurred Shadows, the Heavenly Stars Sect’s disciples he blocked would all die! Then, CaspianCaspian gritted his teeth, and his eyes flashed with harsh lights.

Next, he turned around and blasted out with his fingers as he blocked the sword light with his body.

“The Strangulation of an Angered Dragon!”

Both sides would suffer, but CaspianCaspian had no other way!

If he took a step back, all of his companions would die.

As he blocked the Heavenly Stars Sect's disciples with his body, he gritted his teeth hard that they were about to break, and tears flickered in his eyes.

Just a little bit more... Just a moment away, and their toxins would be removed! The Heavenly Stars Sect's disciples felt unprecedented self-hatred, and they wondered why time ticked so slowly.

Tigreal seemed to have understood that CaspianCaspian would not retreat, which was why he took advantage of it.

Soon, the harsh light in his eyes burst, and the sword light exploded.

Swoosh! Clank! Bang!

The sword light and blood light intertwined, exploding in the air.

The sharp sword light was so dazzling that others found it hard to open their eyes, whereas the blood mist that exploded out of the sword light was enveloped in mysterious and indistinct colors.

CaspianCaspian took a few steps back, and each step left a deep footprint in the ground.

The sword light deeply slashed the chest of his Puritan Armor, and the entire armor was almost split in half.

Blood seeped out from CaspianCaspian's skin and poured out from the incision where the armor was broken.

Soon, it was all stained red.

If it were not for the Puritan Armor blocking the attack, CaspianCaspian's cut could almost split him in half.

Tigreal also backed away several meters.

Five deep finger marks appeared on his right arm holding the sword, and blood gushed out uncontrollably.

Bones could even be vaguely seen in the gurgling blood.

It was apparent that Tigreal underestimated CaspianCaspian's strength.

At the same time that CaspianCaspian was heavily injured, his arm was also severely wounded too.

The excruciating pain continued to stimulate Tigreal's nerves, and he fumed with anger as he shouted, "This guy can't move anymore! Everyone, go! Kill them all!"

Seeing that CaspianCaspian covered his chest and blood oozed out from his fingers, CaspianCaspian appeared as if he was badly injured and could not move.

Ozul and Lennon glanced at each other and immediately took the initiative to attack him.

As Lennon felt humiliated as he was badly beaten by CaspianCaspian before, he decided that it was the opportunity to avenge himself.

Hence, he was first to rush toward CaspianCaspian with his five fingers spread out, sweeping at CaspianCaspian.

"I'm going to twist you like a dough!" Lennon let out a roar just as he was about to catch CaspianCaspian.

Almost simultaneously, a thunderous sound came, and a green sword light suddenly whizzed from a distance.

The speed of the sword light was astonishingly fast, and almost no one at the scene could react.

The next second, Lennon's right fingers were cut off by the sword light.

Then, the five thick fingers flew into the air with blood.

A cold voice sounded from behind the Heavenly Stars Sect's disciples.

"Are you bullying us because you think you've outnumbered the Heavenly Stars Sect? Or did you think that you're the only one joining forces?"

Read Novel The Prince Who Was Raised In Hell Chapter 375

The Prince Who Was Raised in Hell Chapter 375-The sudden change in the situation made Ozul immediately pause in his tracks.

On the other hand, Harvey also suddenly stopped lifting Liliana, whereas there was a look of surprise in the Johnson brothers' eyes.

The atmosphere in the entire scene seemed to become stagnant.

The only thing still moving was Lennon, who covered his blood palm as he screamed in pain and retreated.

At that time, the green longsword nailed to the ground, still buzzing, and the blood on the blade was shaken away, turning into a blood mist that shrouded the edge.

There was a thin chain at the sword hilt, extending to the darkness behind the Heavenly Stars Sect's disciples.

Soon, a figure emerged from the darkness.

"Xander Faris!"

When they saw the person coming, the Heavenly Stars Sect's disciples were pleasantly surprised.

The one who slashed off Lennon's fingers was the best apprentice in the Heavenly Stars Sect, Xander!

Xander never appeared since the beginning of hunting the monster.

There was even a time when everyone doubted whether Xander came to the Hopeful Woman Mountain as no one saw him.

Nonetheless, his arrival dispelled everyone's doubts.

On the Heavenly Stars Sect's side, Caspian was already heavily injured.

Initially, the Johnson brothers thought they could kill everyone in front of them if they swarmed at them.

However, there was another strong support for the Heavenly Stars Sect!

Compared to Caspian, who just appeared in the past six months, Xander was much more famous than him.

When they saw Xander, the faces of several people, including the Johnson brother, immediately changed.

"There's another troublesome guy." Leo's eyes flashed with a harsh light.

Even though Tigreal managed to severely injure Caspian in the battle just now, they suffered quite a loss.

After all, Caspian almost broke Leo's weapon, and it was now a scrap iron.

As for Tigreal's arm, the deep wound still bled.

Xander's appearance immediately stirred the Heavenly Stars Sect's emotions.

"Xander, go and check Casper! He's heavily injured!" Someone screamed out in the crowd.

Xander nodded, walked toward Caspian, and stood next to him.

However, Xander did not look at Caspian but just lightly said, "Casper, how long are you going to put on this act?"

"Act?" The Heavenly Stars Sect's disciples were dumbfounded.

Even the Johnson brothers, Ozul, and the others were stunned.

Under everyone's surprised gaze, Caspian chuckled and swiftly raised his head, smiling.

"Xander, you've seen through it?"

Looking at his complexion, it did not seem as if Caspian was heavily injured.

However, once Caspian removed the hand covering his chest, Tigreal's eyes flashed with anger, and he exclaimed, "This is impossible!"

He saw that Caspian's chest was so deeply wounded that he could see bones.

However, there was only a faint line on Caspian's skin.

Moreover, Tigreal was sure that Caspian did not consume any panacea or precious medicines to heal his injuries.

So, how did the guy's injury heal so fast!

Caspian smiled, but there was frost in his eyes as he glared at Tigreal.

There was no way they could understand the Immortal Demon Physique's power!

To increase his recovery from cuts caused by swords, Caspian crazily slashed himself tens of thousands of times in the Time Warp Zone.

If it did not allow him to recover from his sword injury quickly, what was the point of the effort Caspian spent, the pain he endured, and the gifts left by his mother?

“I wanted to hit them by surprise, but now that you’re here, it’s even better.” Caspian smiled and wiped away the bloodstain on his chest.

Then, he tore the broken armor away.

There was no scar on his chest, and even the faint mark before disappeared.

Everyone gasped at what they saw, and they looked at him as if he were a monster.

Even Lennon, who lost his fingers, forgot the pain or to howl.

Instead, just like a fool, he stared at Caspian dumbfoundedly.

“How long do you need to recover fully?” Xander glanced at Omar.

“Three minutes,” Omar instantly replied.

“Same here,” Maya said.

Solana only nodded, but judging from her situation, it should be the same.

Nonetheless, their speed was the fastest among everyone, and the rest would have to wait a while.

“Three minutes? That’s more than enough time to kill all of you.” Leo grinned and took out another longsword from his storage bag, pointing it at Xander.

Tigreal also took out a bottle and poured the powdered medicine on his wounds.

Then, he consumed a precious pill.

During that process, Tigreal’s eyes never left Caspian as if he went to tear him alive.

Xander raised his chin and said to Caspian, “Casper, pick one.”

“I’ll pick the guy who’s staring at me.” Caspian looked at Tigreal.

“He sneaked an attack at me just now, and I want to beat him up so badly that even his parents won’t recognize him.”

When Tigreal heard that, the corner of his brows twitched nonstop, and the anger in his heart erupted like a volcano.

Then, he roared, “Harvey, the Black Mist and Ghost Array!”

Harvey shuddered, but he reacted immediately, flicking the formation flag with his fingers.

At the same time, he grabbed a few array maps from his storage bag, activating them with full force.

In a flash, the light in the entire cave dimmed as if they entered the night.

One could not even see their fingers in such an environment, let alone their opponent!

“Go to hell!”

An angry yell sounded in the dark.

In the next second, there was a sound of impact, grunts, and explosions as if heavy items fell to the ground.

Nobody could see what happened, but the voice indicated that the fight began.

Due to that, everyone was even more anxious.

Then, just when everyone was like a cat on a hot tin roof, the darkness suddenly burst open like a black cloth that was ripped open, and light reentered the cave.

Tigreal was incensed, and he turned around, shouting, “Harvey, I asked you to...”

Before he could finish his sentence, Tigreal was stupefied.

The others also turned their heads as they were puzzled, and they were all stunned.

Harvey was pierced from the back by a black spear, stabbing out of his chest. The next second, blood gurgled out and exploded into blood mist in mid-air.

There was a look of disbelief on Harvey’s face.

With eyes and mouth wide open, his hands holding the formation flags and array maps still slightly trembled.

He was no longer at the spot where he stood before, and it was obvious that Harvey knew that Caspian could easily kill him if he stayed where he was.

Hence, as soon as he activated the formation, he decisively escaped.

However, Harvey did not expect that Caspian was so fast, let alone find him immediately.

“How... How can this be...” Harvey uttered with great difficulty and spat out a mouthful of blood.

Read Novel The Prince Who Was Raised In Hell Chapter 376

The Prince Who Was Raised in Hell Chapter 376-Harvey murmured something, which also represented everyone’s thoughts at the moment.

The Black Mist and Ghost Array was not as simple as reversing the day and night in the area, but it was an array that engulfed all the lights in the place.

Even if a torch was lit in that situation, the light of the torch could not be radiated.

Hence, anyone within the area of the formation would be completely blinded, and they could only rely on their hearing.

However, Harvey’s movement was so careful that it was even lighter than a mosquito raising its leg, which was why he was baffled how Caspian found him.

At that moment, blood gushed out of Harvey’s nose and mouth, and he felt as if he was about to die.

As for the Johnson brothers, Ozul, and the others, their eyes twitched when they saw the tip of the spear piercing out of Harvey’s chest, and they felt their throat tighten.

“My strength is much greater than you imagined.” Soon, Harvey heard Caspian’s arrogant voice, and his eyes immediately constricted.

Harvey instantly understood the meaning of Caspian’s words.

He had other abilities! Finding him was just one of them! Unfortunately, only Harvey heard Caspian’s words, and it was impossible for him to warn Tigreal and the others.

“I’ll just let you know that I found your location through perception.” As soon as Caspian said that, he did not wait for Harvey’s reaction and immediately shook his Ghoul-Locker Spear.

The terrifying force instantly vibrated the air, making waves.

Then, Harvey’s body was torn apart with a loud noise, and his thick blood exploded in mid-air, splattering on the ground with his flesh and organs like it rained blood.

Since Harvey was dead, the formation would never appear again, and the advantages of Tigreal’s formation would only last less than three seconds.

When Tigreal saw Caspian's mocking smile, his face flushed, and he was almost crazy from anger.

"I'm going to kill you!" Tigreal shouted.

He shook the longsword in his hand and slashed at Caspian.

On the other side, Leo suddenly moved, and he wanted to sneak an attack at Caspian from the side with his ghostly body movement.

However, just as he was about to move, a ray of green sword-light aimed at his neck.

Leo's heart trembled, and he hurriedly avoided it.

Although his reaction was fast, the sword light still stuck to his neck, drawing a thin bloodline, causing Leo to be shocked and angry.

If he were slightly slower just now, his neck would have been chopped off.

Then, Leo angrily turned his head and quickly found Xander standing not far from him, holding the green longsword as he said coldly, "I'm your opponent."

Leo noticed that Tigreal fought with Caspian from the corner of his eye, and he gritted his teeth, shouting, "Hey! You bunch of trash! Hurry and help out!"

Ozul and the others trembled, and they hurriedly rushed to help.

Lennon was still the first to bolt forward.

The shame and anger he experienced on the trip to the Hopeful Woman Mountain were indescribable.

As the cruel figure ranked fourth among the top ten bandits in South Earlington, his reputation suffered significant damage at that time.

Thus, despite having all five fingers chopped off, leaving only a bare palm, Lennon still held in the immense pain and roared, charging forward.

He must use the blood of his enemies to wash away the humiliation! Otherwise, he would lose his current ranking even if he managed to return safely.

Each step he took shattered the ground, and Lennon gritted his teeth as he rushed at Caspian.

With just a few meters between them, Lennon clenched his left hand and blasted through the air like a Sledgehammer.

He was confident that even if he could not hit Caspian, Lennon could create an opportunity for Tigreal to do that as long as he distracted Caspian.

However, just as he blasted a punch and a burst of air formed on his fist, a gust of fragrant wind flew by.

Next, a tiny fist suddenly appeared in front of him, facing his fist and punching out.

One of the two fists was big and wore finger cots, flickering with a terrifying light, while the other was pale and small with delicate skin.

At a glance, it was as if a giant watermelon collided with a shiny apple.

Lennon did not seem to doubt, and he wanted to blast the person who rushed toward him into pieces.

That punch would justify his title as the Mountain-breaker!

Lennon heard the words slowly uttered by the thin girl in front of him, "The Imperial Jail Deity Physique!"

Even though it was only five words, Lennon sensed an astonishing power of terror broke out.

Soon, Lennon felt as if he was among countless blood-stained bones, and every skull under him stared at him with a hollow gaze.

In some of the bottomless eye sockets, a poisonous snake would appear from time to time, hissing at him.

That kind of fear and despair from hell terrified Lennon, and his hands and feet turned cold.

Then, he felt an extremely frightening power coming, and the sea of bones Caspian saw exploded and turned into powder.

The entire hell was shaken, swayed, turned upside down, and broken.

Lennon widened his eyes in disbelief.

The thin girl and the delicate fist blasted such a formidable force!

Before he could even scream, Lennon watched as the finger cots on his hand exploded.

Then, just like sharp blades, it swept into his fist, twisting his left fingers and palm into pieces.

The girl's tiny punch immediately blessed his left hand, even shattering the bones of his wrist.

Next, Lennon's huge body suddenly fell and flew out, blood poured out of his bare wrist, and he appeared bloody.

Standing in place and letting out a sigh of relief, Solana turned her head to glance at Caspian.

Then, she turned her gaze back to Lennon and raised her exaggeratedly massive ax as Lennon stared at her in terror.

"I'm your opponent! Don't bother my teacher!"

Lennon felt as if he was about to wet his pants.

What type of monster was that woman!

Not far from them, Ozul and Liliana watched the scene dumbfoundedly.

They researched the strength of the Heavenly Stars Sect's disciples for a year before setting the trap in the Hopeful Woman Mountain.

However, they never dreamed that in the second half of the year, the Heavenly Stars Sect would have such disciples whose strength was far beyond their imagination.

Lennon kicked his legs and retreated, pulling a thick and long trail of blood on the ground.

Looking at that, Ozul and Liliana felt as if their hearts were about to jump out from their chests.

Suddenly, their vision was blurry.

Then, they turned around and found that Omar and Maya were already in front of them.

Holding the Triple Blades of Fire, Ice, and Wind and the Phoenix Sword, the two looked at their opponents and said, "I'm your opponent!"

Their eyes flashed with eagerness, and they wanted to fight them for a long time.

Read Novel The Prince Who Was Raised In Hell Chapter
377

The Prince Who Was Raised in Hell Chapter 377-About five minutes ago, it was six against one.

Three minutes later, it was five against two.

Now, it was five against five.

No one believed that it would be turned tables.

Lennon still disbelieved with the situation.

Xander chopped off his right fingers, Solana blew up his left hand with a punch, and his famous arm guards were shattered by Caspian earlier on.

Hence, the actual situation now was four against five.

What was even sadder for them was Caspian pierced Liliana's abdomen, and her strength significantly dropped.

Thus, it was more accurate to say it was three against five.

The winning side was completely reversed.

Furthermore, there was one thing that made the Johnson brothers feel extremely distressed.

Not long after, the toxins in the Heavenly Stars Sect's disciples present would gradually be cleared, and they would recover their combat strength.

When that happened, the Johnson brothers would not be able to flee even if they wanted to.

At the thought of that, the Johnson brothers panicked.

In the life-and-death battle, any trace of distraction might lead to fatal danger.

Moreover, they faced the strongest first-stage Pulse Control Realm, cultivators.

"The Firmament's Ghoul-Locker Spear!" With a long roar, Caspian suddenly shook his long spear.

Tigreal watched dumbfoundedly as the tip of the spear separated from its shaft, and many spikes appeared on the surface, like a meteor hammer, slamming at him.

Tigreal always thought that Caspian would strike a fatal blow at him with his fierce marksmanship.

However, Caspian suddenly changed, catching Tigreal off guard.

Then, the longsword in his hand was knocked away, the bones in his arm were broken with a loud cracking sound, and he stumbled backward.

Next, Caspian used the Ursa Major's Blurred Shadows and stepped out, pointing at Tigreal from afar.

"Pointing to the Stars!"

Boom!

Tigreal's sight was covered by a blood-red light.

"Magic!"

In the dazzling blood-red light, Tigreal let out a miserable scream and was immediately beaten.

His chest sank in an instant, and there was a crackling sound of bones.

Soon, blood spurted out from his mouth and nose, and his body hit the earth heavily.

Then, after smashing a big hole in the ground, his body bounced up and rolled a few times on the floor.

When Tigreal finally raised his head, there was no arrogance and pride on his face anymore.

Instead, Tigreal's face was ashen, and it was filled with fear and regret.

Leo was taken aback when he saw Tigreal was blasted away with just a single move.

Unfortunately, he also gave Xander a chance to attack him.

The green sword-light drew an eerie harsh glow in mid-air.

"The Humming Twilight Slash!"

The green sword light was just like a spoonful of boiling oil poured on a raging fire, and it immediately exploded on Leo.

Then, the sword light with a deadly aura emitted a coldness as if winter was coming, and all vitality would be wiped out.

In the blink of an eye, blood splattered from Leo like fireworks, and he let out a miserable wail as he flew out, slamming heavily on the ground.

Not only that, his clothes were torn to pieces, and his wounds bled furiously.

At that moment, he looked extremely battered and pitiful.

Seeing that the Johnson brothers were not even a match for them, Ozul and the others' hearts fell into a bottomless pit, and they felt that danger was incoming.

Next, Lennon's head was chopped off by an ax, which became the last straw that overwhelmed them.

No one knew if Solana was deliberately mimicking Caspian as she was also purposely hacking people's heads instead of other parts.

Among the Heavenly Stars Sect's disciples present, they already nicknamed Caspian the Skullcrusher.

If Solana continued doing that, they would also name her "Solana the Beheader".

Ozul and Liliana trembled when they saw Lennon's burly figure slammed to the ground, splashing a large amount of blood.

In that instant, Omar and Maya caught a loophole.

One of them was slashed across their chest, almost ripping them open.

On the other hand, the other person was cut from the left shoulder to the right rib, leaving a terrifying sword mark and almost splitting them in half, leaving the whole body bloody.

At that time, Leo seemed to have decided on something, and he took out an array map from his chest.

Usually, ordinary array maps were either white or pastel yellow, but the one was as green as grass.

When they saw the array map, Caspian and the others were shocked.

"Momentary Teleportation Array!" Maya exclaimed, "They have such a thing!"

As the name suggested, the Momentary Teleportation Array could immediately send a cultivator to a certain location once activated.

Such a formation was necessary to save lives as it would usually send a desperate cultivator to a place of ease.

Nonetheless, precisely because of that, the Momentary Teleportation Array was difficult to produce, and it was even more challenging to get one.

Even the Heavenly Stars Sect that was proficient in formations would not place the arrays in the Astrea Pavilion and let disciples redeem them with sect contribution points.

Hence, if the disciple wanted it, they would be only rewarded with one once they made an outstanding contribution.

Whether it was Caspian or Omar, or even the best among the apprentices, Xander, none had the Momentary Teleportation Array.

As for why Leo had it, the reason was straightforward.

He accidentally obtained it while slaughtering other sects.

“Stop him!” Xander’s eyes flickered with murderous intent.

The Momentary Teleportation Array could be activated in a flash, and it could send more than one person away.

When the formation was formed, any cultivators within the range would be sent away.

Currently, the four people who were still alive stood close to each other.

Thus, if Leo seized the opportunity, they could all be sent away, leaving Caspian, Xander, and the others to fight for nothing.

When Xander shouted, Caspian and the others who knew the situation hurriedly rushed forward.

At that moment, they did not hold back and launched a storm of fatal attacks at their opponents.

Leo and the others knew that they tried to be the fastest, and it seemed that Caspian and his friends, who were more alert, were faster.

“B*stards!” Tigreal gritted his teeth hard in anger.

At that time, Leo’s eyes flashed with a cunning light.

When he activated the array map, he immediately reached out to Tigreal.

“Tigreal, let me block them! You should bring the others and leave first!” Leo sounded determined and sincere, which stunned Tigreal.

Then, he grabbed Leo’s hand, and a complicated look appeared in his eyes.

Never would Tigreal dream that his brother would choose to sacrifice himself just to save his life at the moment of life and death.

Tigreal was so touched that he almost burst into tears.

“Don’t worry, my beloved Leo.

I’ll surely avenge... B*stards!”

Before he could finish his sentence, Tigreal’s face was filled with rage, and he cursed angrily as he felt a strong force coming from Leo’s hand.

Then, as Tigreal was caught off guard, he was immediately pushed toward Caspian and the rest.

Tigreal finally noticed the harsh light flashing in Leo’s eyes.

“Tigreal, don’t worry.

I’ll surely live on well for you...” As soon as he said that, the formation was activated.

Soon, a ray of white light formed a flat shape, spreading toward the surroundings.

Read Novel The Prince Who Was Raised In Hell Chapter 378

The Prince Who Was Raised in Hell Chapter 378-Tigreal even had thoughts of tearing Leo apart.

Compared to his rother leaving the chance of survival to him, Tigreal would never have expected that Leo would treat him that way.

However, Tigreal’s thoughts would only remain as thoughts.

The next second, the dazzling sword lights all slashed at his back.

Soon, Tigreal’s eyes widened, and his whole body was swollen, double the size than before.

Just like an inflated ball, blood gushed out wildly as if Tigreal would be drained in a split second.

Nonetheless, due to Tigreal's block, Leo and others finally got the chance to survive.

Then, the Momentary Teleportation Array's light swiftly enveloped Leo, Ozul, and Liliana.

In less than two seconds, they would leave the place safely.

Then, Leo grinned and glared at Caspian and the rest with indignation.

Xander, Omar, Maya, and the other Heavenly Stars Sect's disciples that watched the scene felt unhappy.

That was such a pity...

If they could kill the three people, not only would they be generously rewarded in the Heavenly Stars Sect, but more importantly, they would eradicate the entire South Earlington disaster, bringing peace to everyone.

As everyone secretly lamented, Caspian suddenly dashed toward Tigreal, turning over and kicking out.

"The Thousand Dragons Warfare!"

The tremendous force hit Tigreal, and just like a cannonball out of its chamber, Tigreal's corpse headed toward the dissipating formation light.

None of them realized that Caspian quietly placed something inside Tigreal's body.

Tigreal's broken figure rubbed against the air, causing a hot billowing air current.

Then, as Leo and the others watch in shock, Tigreal's corpse rushed within the area covered by the formation.

Soon, the light flashed, and they disappeared.

Seeing the empty area after Leo and others disappeared, Xander and others looked at Caspian in confusion.

They did not understand why Caspian kicked Tigreal's corpse back to them, especially when Tigreal's head worthed a fortune.

When Caspian saw everyone's expression, he chuckled as he explained, "I bet they're suffering too..."

After saying that, Xander and the rest were shocked, and they were all impressed by Caspian.

They never expected that even though everyone gave up, Caspian still managed to find a way in a split second.

“It’s unfortunate that we won’t get their rewards.” Omar finally relaxed, and he returned to his usual self.

“There are plenty of chances in the future.

As long as we can confirm their lives and deaths, we’ll surely be rewarded,” Caspian comforted, smiling.

Then, he pointed at Harvey and Lennon’s corpses.

“Look, we still have two over here.”

“But you and Solana killed them, and it doesn’t concern me at all.” Omar appeared dejected.

***

At that time, about 30 kilometers away from the Hopeful Woman Mountain, the space suddenly distorted, and a whirlpool appeared.

White light burst out from the whirlpool, and the light suddenly spread.

The next moment, several human figures with a rain of blood fell out of it to the ground.

However, rather than saying a few figures fell out, it was more accurate to say a wave of blood washed Leo, Ozul, and Liliana out of the whirlpool.

Then, the three of them slumped to the ground with blood all over.

As they lay in the pool of blood panting, they appeared as if they were just fished out of a sea of blood.

Nonetheless, none of them moved that time, and they just quietly enjoyed the joy of escaping death.

Finally, after some time, Leo was the first to struggle and get up.

He knew that although they temporarily left the Hopeful Woman Mountain, they were still in danger.

With the remaining strength, they would definitely be badly beaten even if they met some weak sect's disciples.

The safest way at the moment was to leave here quickly.

Even though the plan failed entirely at the time, it was not a complete loss.

At least they knew that the Heavenly Stars Sect disciples were stronger than they imagined.

They exchanged a few lives to get the result, and they could not care less about the rewards anymore.

The only hope they had was not to be punished, and they would feel fortunate if that happened.

Seeing that Leo stood, Ozul and Liliana also struggled to get up.

Just as he took a step, Ozul suddenly tripped, staggered, and almost fell.

Then, they lowered their heads to see what it was, and they were immediately shocked.

Ozul tripped on Tigreal's corpse.

At that time, the Heavenly Stars Sect's top apprentices all blasted Tigreal, and his organs almost instantaneously exploded, killing him immediately.

Hence, most of the blood on the trio was Tigreal's.

Seeing that Tigreal died with a remaining grievance and stared at him with a face full of resentment, Leo felt guilty, something he never felt before.

After all, Leo did not even think twice about using his elder brother as a shield to block the attack.

However, there was nothing he would not do as long as he could survive, especially when he was ranked second in South Earlington's top ten bandits.

If they were re-ranked now, Leo would be the first.

Leo cursed at Tigreal and kicked his own brother's corpse away.

"Just die peacefully already! What are you looking at! Such bad luck!"

As Leo was heavily injured before, his kick was weak, and he only managed to turn Tigreal's body over.

At that time, a fist-sized item stained with blood fell out from the wound on Tigreal's back.

Leo took a glance and ignored it.

However, Ozul was stupefied when he saw the thing, and it was as if he saw a ghost during the day.

Soon, Ozul's face was ashen, and he started to tremble.

"What's wrong with you? It's just a corpse, but you're already scared sh*tless," Leo chided.

The next second, Ozul screamed at the top of his lungs, "The Killer Waves... The Killer Waves and Earthquakes Mine!"

"What?!" Leo and Liliana, who just started walking, were stunned.

They looked at the item that fell out of Tigreal in disbelief, and they instantly recalled Caspian's kick at the last minute.

"Did he... Did he place it there?"

The three people's minds went blank. When they looked over again, the Killer Waves and Earthquakes Mine slightly shook, and a terrifying momentum suddenly condensed, about to erupt at any time and to destroy everything around it.

"Sh*t!" Leo's face immediately turned ugly, and he quickly rushed out.

Ozul's face was twisted, and he fell to the ground, while Liliana only managed to turn around.

The next second, a frightening explosion set off a violent storm.

Read Novel The Prince Who Was Raised In Hell Chapter 379

The Prince Who Was Raised in Hell Chapter 379-In the mountains more than 30 kilometers away from the Hopeful Woman Mountain, the explosion set off a tremendous force in that limited space.

The ground was torn, overturned, and shattered.

The surrounding rocks were completely blown into dust and sunk as if they were slammed by a giant hand.

The shock caused by the explosion subsided after about an hour.

At a glance, the area seemed to have been plowed a few times, and no one could tell what it looked like before.

Another four hours passed, and the sun was about to set soon.

As the setting sun spread out, the mountains appeared as if they were smeared with eye-catching blood.

After a while, as the sound of rustling came, the two figures climbed up from the gravel and sand with difficulty.

Then, they supported each other with great difficulty and slowly left and disappeared at the end of the setting sun.

Another night passed, and dozens of figures appeared outside the mountains as the day broke.

They walked forward cautiously, and soon they saw the tragic scene, making those Heavenly Stars Sect's disciples to be stupefied.

Nonetheless, they recovered their senses after a while, and under the leader's order, they hurriedly looked for clues in the area.

Later, Tigreal and Leo's death were confirmed based on the remains in the area.

However, there were no signs of Ozul and Liliana's death.

Even so, it was enough to amaze people as the infamous Johnson brothers were wiped out for so many years.

By the time the news reached the Heavenly Stars Sect, it was five days later, and Caspian and the rest had already returned to their sect.

With the departure of Mirage White Tiger and Harvey's death, the powers that controlled the miasma of Hopeful Woman Mountain disappeared completely.

Caspian and the others stayed in Hopeful Woman Mountain for another day and left when the miasma dissipated.

The Johnson brothers and the others planned the trap using the monsters, and there was no need to doubt that.

Hence, Caspian and the rest immediately informed the sect's elders and let them report it to the senior levels.

If the incident were serious, it would definitely arouse the attention of the senior management of the sect.

Judging from the Johnsons brothers and others' layout, they wanted to wipe out the Heavenly Stars Sect's outstanding apprentices.

Nevertheless, a group of individual cultivators who relied on robbing homes and stealing resources to improve themselves would not plot against the sects unless their brains were damaged.

Moreover, the group aimed at the Heavenly Stars Sect, a mighty figure.

Even if Tigreal and Leo were experienced in killing sects, those were limited to very low-level small sects, and the experts in those sects were probably no better than Evergreen Town's Lawrence family.

If they provoked the Heavenly Stars Sect on impulse, its elders did not need to take action.

Instead, the sect would arrange an outer disciple to handle them easily.

Hence, only an idiot could not tell that the group of people were most likely pawns, and someone else was behind them.

The person hiding behind the scene was the most worthy of attention.

Since they managed to order the usually arrogant and unruly bandits and even made them provoke a sect, the stakes in the matter were surely enough to make anyone shudder at a careful thought.

Nonetheless, Caspian did not need to rack his brains about those details as those would be handled by the Heavenly Stars Sect's senior levels.

Instead, the only thing Caspian needed to do was to describe his own experience and provide clues and information to the sect.

Then, he could happily receive his reward.

However, what was surprising was the elders only looked for Caspian, Xander, and the others to ask some questions separately on the day they returned to the Heavenly Stars Sect.

Apart from that, the matter seemed to have drowned in the ocean.

A few more days passed, and no more news came, nor did anyone look for Caspian again.

Caspian did not overthink as he believed the sect had its concern.

Hence, his entire focus at the moment was on the Mirage White Tiger's cub.

Fortunately, it was a monster as it would need a lot of sleep after being birthed, and it could just sleep without eating or drinking for several days.

If it were an ordinary wild beast, it would need to drink milk every day, which alone was enough to stress the inexperienced Caspian.

At the moment, Caspian could not simply show Little Candy to anyone yet.

As the existence of the Mirage White Tiger was replaced by the other monster, not only would he find it hard to explain Little Candy's origin, but he would not know how the Heavenly Stars Sect would treat the matter.

After all, the Mirage White Tiger was ranked among the top ten of the magic illusion monsters, and it was naturally good at illusions, which was extremely useful for the Heavenly Stars Sect's disciples who focused on formations.

Raising a Mirage White Tiger would not only help improve the strength of the formations, but it would also greatly help with the owner's safety.

It was difficult to capture an adult Mirage Tiger, but it was even more challenging to make it surrender once it was caught.

However, it was different now.

If a human raised the newly-born cub, they would easily form a deep relationship.

Due to that, Caspian was worried that the Heavenly Stars Sect would take Little Candy away.

Moreover, he promised the adult Mirage White Tiger that he would take great care of Little Candy.

Since he said that, Caspian would surely do it. Besides, he received a drop of White Tiger's blood essence as a return from the monster.

So after thinking for a long time, Caspian decided to keep Little Candy in the Earring of Echo first and then released it when there was no one around.

Although Little Candy slept most of the time and had no sign of waking up soon since Caspian got her, she would surely look for food once she woke up.

As a cub, Little Candy could only feed on milk as her teeth were not fully grown.

Hence, Caspian was back to the original problem, he had to find milk.

As a normal man, Caspian naturally could not produce milk.

After thinking about it, he decided to go to the village outside the mountain to buy a sheep.

When Caspian went out, he bumped into Maya.

Maya was surprised to find that Caspian looked for a goat, but she did not ask much.

As Maya was free, she suggested joining Caspian on that trip.

Coincidentally, Caspian needed Maya's help.

After all, he still did not understand the surrounding environment well after arriving at the Heavenly Stars Sect.

With Maya's help, he would save up a lot of trouble.

be

Read Novel The Prince Who Was Raised In Hell Chapter 380

The Prince Who Was Raised in Hell Chapter 380-On the way down the mountain, Maya, and Caspian talked about what happened in the past few days.

The most important matter was that the Johnson brothers' death was confirmed.

When Caspian heard that they only found the Johnson brothers' destroyed limbs, but there was no one else, he was shocked.

Soon, he sighed regretfully.

"If that's the case, Ozul and Liliana still managed to flee..."

Maya also sighed.

"They escaped even the Killer Waves and Earthquakes Mine's explosion... They're really lucky."

Nonetheless, Caspian and Maya were not worried that others would take their credit for killing those two.

First of all, when Caspian and the others protected everyone and fought with the Johnson brothers and the others in the Hopeful Woman Mountain, dozens of Heavenly Stars Sect's disciples were watching.

Then, that was Caspian, Xander, and the others' credits, and if any of the apprentices lied, they would immediately be killed by the sect's elders.

"There's no other news about the matter, but the rewards for killing the Ninth Sacred Sect's disciples, Tigreal, and the rest should be given out in these few days, ll Maya appeared excited, "I wonder what's included."

"No matter how many rewards we'll get, isn't nothing more than the ones on the bounty list? Is there anything else?" Caspian's eyes flickered.

"You're right," Maya nodded, "Our rewards will surely include those on the bounty list, but the situation at that time is special.

After all, we wiped out dozens of Ninth Sacred Sect's disciples, and among them were the top five apprentices.

Not only that, but we've also severely injured and killed a few South Earlington's top ten bandits.

It's rare to achieve such major achievements, so, normally, we'll get additional rewards."

When Caspian heard the explanation, he immediately understood.

The situation was the same as when he led the army to battle before.

The task was to block the opponent's reinforcements, but Caspian also slashed the opponent's chief while completing that mission.

Hence, he would naturally be rewarded more.

As the two of them chatted, they walked down the mountain.

At that time, a slender figure walked on a path in the distance.

Solana seemed to have sensed something, and she looked over.

Then, she found Caspian and Maya walking down the hill.

Solana watched quietly as Caspian walked away, and her gaze was profound and unreadable.

Nonetheless, she stood there until Caspian disappeared from her sight before continuing on her journey.

Soon, a few apprentices walked past Solana, and they cursed angrily as they walked.

As they passed by Solana, their ruthless commentaries reached her ears.

“Did you hear? Casper’s in the limelight again!”

“Right! Tsk tsk! He’s so amazing.

He’s only been in the Heavenly Stars Sect for about half a year.

It’s crazy!”

“I bet he’s getting a lot of rewards for his great contributions.”

“Sigh... There’s no point in comparing us to him, but I’m still so jealous.”

“What’s there to be jealous about? If it weren’t for his relationship with Maisie, he wouldn’t be in this position! You know who’s Maisie, right?”

“Maisie Pine?”

“That’s right.

I wonder what he did to win Maisie’s favor... Then, he received so many resources from that and improved so quickly.”

“So he turns out to be a man that’s living on a woman?!”

Those words contained unabashed jealousy and mockery.

Those unaware of the truth might think Caspian and those disciples had a deep hatred that was worth being ridiculed by them behind his back.

Solana paused in her tracks, and she looked at the few people who just passed by her.

Those disciples were already in the peak first-stage Pulse Control Realm, and Solana could not help but wonder how long they had been stuck in that realm.

With no sign of progress and seeing that Caspian quickly catching up to them, they naturally had a deep resentment for the rising star.

After pondering for a moment, Solana quietly followed those few disciples.

First, the disciples went to the Astrea Pavilion, seemingly to exchange things.

Then, they walked around the Heavenly Stars Sect, sending off a few of them.

During the entire journey, Solana kept following them from a distance, quietly and with no expression on her face.

More than two hours later, they appeared to be done with their errands, and the remaining disciples returned to their courtyard.

When the last person entered the compound and was about to close the door, a white and slender palm suddenly stopped him.

The few disciples were puzzled and surprised as they watched Solana walk into the courtyard, close the door, and lock it.

Then, Solana turned to face those disciples, buttoned the cuffs of her dress, folded her hands, and bowed slightly.

When she raised her head again, her eyes were still calm.

Suddenly, she said, "I'm Solana Gibson, a mid-level first-stage Pulse Control Realm cultivator, and I'm here to challenge all of you."

***

During that period, Caspian and Maya went down the mountain to buy the goat.

There were many towns around the Heavenly Stars Sect.

Although they were cultivators, their daily expenses in the sect were still a lot.

After all, there were only a few cultivators who could rely on devouring the essence of the world to maintain their body functions.

Most of them would still need to eat and drink, and it would never be enough if they relied on the animals raised by the Heavenly Stars Sect.

The Heavenly Stars Sect had a special entrance to manage the daily transportation of ingredients from down the mountains.

Due to that, Caspian and Maya quickly bought the goat he needed.

Caspian did not understand Little Candy's appetite.

Hence, Caspian decided to get three goats instead, just in case.

That way, even if there were a shortage, the three goats would be able to support the situation for a moment, and Caspian would have time to get more goats.

Caspian naturally would not place the three goats into the Earring of Echo in front of Maya.

Hence, he took a willow twig and drove the three goats up the mountain path.

However, it was unsuitable to return from the Heavenly Stars Sect's main gate, so Caspian and Maya detoured slightly and went up from the side of the mountain.

Although it was a side gate, the entrance was still more glamorous than other sects' main entrance as the Heavenly Stars Sect was still the celestial giant of Earlington of Efrax.

However, as he climbed up the stone paths, Caspian saw a young man kneeling not far from the entrance.

The person appeared to be in his twenties, but Caspian knew that it was just a trace of the hardships of life on his face, and his true age was estimated to be around seventeen, not much older than himself.

Caspian was in Heavenly Stars Sect for so long, and despite rarely walking down the hills, that was the first time he met such a situation.

Seeing that the other party was clearly exhausted and trembling but still stubbornly standing there, Caspian curiously asked the guarding disciple what went on.

"Oh? That guy is Samson Clifford." When the guarding disciple said the name, there was a strange expression on his face.