The Prince Who Was Raised in Hell Chapter 751-“Let’s go!” He glared at the pile of rubble and turned to wave at the female cultivator.

Both of them looked terrible at this moment.

Although because of the suppression of the realm and the opponent’s lack of strength, they did not spend much effort to kill this opponent, from a stalling time point of view, they still let the other party succeed.

“It doesn’t matter.

We can chase as far as we can,” The male cultivator thought for a moment and said, “Anyway, Hugo is dead.

If someone really is to blame, we will push the blame on Hugo.

That’s all.”

“If it doesn’t work, then just do it,” The female cultivator nodded.

In this way, if they could catch up with those who had escaped, then the credit would belong to them.

If they couldn’t catch up with and the mission failed, it would be easy and they would push the blame on the dead Hugo.

The credit was for them, and the responsibility was for the dead.

It was perfect!

The two looked at each other and turned to chase after Emmett Breathnach and Jessica.

But just as they took a few steps, the male cultivator suddenly frowned and stopped.

“What’s wrong?” asked the female cultivator, puzzled.

The male cultivator turned around and looked at the rocks.

The pile of rocks was two floors high.

Large pieces of rocks and dust were piled up together.

At this moment, there was still lava that was gradually cooling.

In this case, even if he was suppressed, he might not be able to turn over.

Thinking of this, the male cultivator shook his head and said, “It’s okay.

Let’s go!”

However, after taking another step, they walked less than three meters.

Suddenly, a tremor came from under their feet.

Bang!

This sound was particularly dull, but it was extremely powerful, as if the heartbeat of a person had been magnified hundreds of times.

This time, both the male and female cultivators looked surprised.

They looked at each other and turned to look at the rocks.

Just now, they clearly felt that the muffled sound came from the rocks.

“Impossible...” The male cultivator muttered to himself.

He wanted to say that he must have misheard.

But he also knew that it was almost impossible.

He might have heard it wrong, but they would never have heard it wrong at the same time.

Looking at the rubble, the female cultivator gradually frowned.

“Could it be...”

“Impossible!” As soon as the female cultivator spoke, the male cultivator interrupted her.

“It must be the sound of stones falling from somewhere just now,” the male cultivator said.

The female cultivator thought for a moment and said, “Maybe it’s possible.”

The two waited for a moment.

The muffled sound did not come again.

Their uncertain hearts gradually relaxed.

The two of them couldn’t help but smile at each other.

They felt ridiculous and a little ashamed of their panic just now.

Two third stage of Pulse Control Realm experts killed one second stage of Pulse Control Realm, yet they still suspected themselves.

It was ridiculous.

The other party was obviously dead.

What was there to doubt?

The two of them smiled and prepared to turn around again.

This time, they would no longer doubt or look back.

But just as they were about to turn around, the two-story pile of rubble suddenly became bright like a huge lantern.

It was not only bright, but also transparent.

In an instant, it was like a translucent red sun appearing in the ruins.

The two cultivators turned red with the fiery red light.

Two long black shadows were pulled out from the ground behind them.

The red and black were distinct.

The male cultivator was stunned.

The female cultivator was also stunned.

At this moment, in front of them, the whole pile of stones had turned into red-hot iron.

The terrifying heat was constantly released.

The next moment...

Bang!

The same voice came again.

But this time, with the sound, the pile of stones also slightly bulged.

It seemed that something was about to break out of it.

Feeling the rising momentum in the rubble, the male cultivator's eyes turned from confusion to dullness.

He murmured, "How is this possible..."

Bang!

Another bang sound.

This time, the hearts of the male and female cultivators jumped violently.

Looking up again, they found that there were cracks on the surface of the rubble along with the stone piles.

There was a golden light in the crack.

It was dazzling and shining.

It meant freshmen.

A blazing aura constantly seeped out from the rubble.

The surrounding void seemed to be on the verge of collapse.

The male and female cultivators looked at each other.

At this time, there was no need to say anything and they knew what to do.

“Earth Surging Dragon Sword!”

“Star Reflection Arrows!”

The blood-red sword radiance and the jade-green arrow radiance met and slammed against the rubble like a huge wave.

Swoosh! Boom!

The rubble instantly exploded. However, this time, it was as if something finally broke through the obstacles and took the initiative to explode from the rubble.

The golden red light formed a beam of light that shot straight into the sky.

The sword light and sword radiance were instantly swallowed up.

“What the hell is this?” The male cultivator couldn’t help but let out a loud roar when he felt the golden-red light emanating a shuddering aura.

His eyes narrowed.

In the center of the exploded rubble, something seemed to be stretching out in the scorching light that was almost impossible to look straight at.

At the same time, they heard a cry.

Swoosh swoosh!

The raging flames instantly transformed into a pair of huge wings.

The whistling flames were the noble feathers on the wings.

“That’s...”

At this time, the female cultivator stared ahead and exclaimed.

The male cultivator also hurriedly shifted his gaze and looked forward.

Below the Phoenix Phantom were the ruins in the middle of the rubble.

Now, a young girl was standing there.

She held a long sword with golden light and red light.

An unprecedented majestic aura rose and fell as she breathed.

At this moment, she seemed to have come back with the power of rebirth.

'Phoenix... Phoenix Nirvana?!' The male cultivator was speechless.

He could only think of this word in his mind.

Soon, he came to his senses and glared at the front, shouting, "What's going on?"

In the middle of the exploding stones, Maya Kaye stepped on the flowing flames with faint excitement in her eyes.

"Didn't you say that I should come to stop you after I know the magic? Now, I'm coming!"

"Hiss," The male cultivator gasped.

At this moment, he could clearly feel that the girl standing in front of him had not changed her appearance, body shape, or even her voice.

However, the aura seemed to have turned into another person.

An unprecedented power seemed to have been awakened in her body.

"Who the hell are you?!" The female cultivator could not help but ask harshly.

Because the current situation was really incredible.

Maya smiled and unsheathed the Phoenix Sword in her hand.

"I'm still me.

But now, I am complete."
