

The Queen 136

Chapter 136: Staying In The Hotel

Su Cha nodded. It wasn't as if she were moving house, she only needed to prepare a few things for the college entrance examination, so of course she could leave any time.

She went in to get her things, and she felt a deep gaze from behind her. That gaze was unpleasant, Su Cha could feel, it was from the man dressed in black with sunglasses brought by Bai Kun.

He was Bo Muye's subordinate – Su Cha didn't know where his hostility came from, but she didn't care too much.

After all, not everyone deserved her attention.

When going out, Su Cha only brought clothes to change into. Bai Kun reached out and wanted to hold it for her, but Su Cha avoided it deftly, "I'll carry it myself, it's just a few clothes."

Bai Kun smiled kindly, and did not force it.

The man in black took another deep look at Su Cha, the atmosphere somewhat tense. Bai Kun reached out and nudged the man in black, and smiled at Su Cha. "Miss Su, I've forgotten to introduce you. This is Chen, a bodyguard of the young master's."

Su Cha nodded in acknowledgment.

Bai Kun didn't make detailed introductions. It was only something he needed to mention and as long as everyone understood that was good enough.

Bai Kun sent Su Cha to the hotel near the college entrance examination venue. Since Su Cha was taking the college entrance examination at No. 6 High School in Yonggu Town, Bai Kun booked the best hotel for her.

Seeing Bai Kun's busying himself with helping her check-in, Su Cha, who wasn't used to this treatment, entered her room with the room card and said to Bai Kun, "Thank you, I've really troubled you."

Bai Kun was very polite. “Miss Su, this is what I should be doing.” He smiled brightly at Su Cha and waved. “Miss Su, do your best for the college entrance examination.”

Sucha nodded: “I will!”

Since Bai Kun was male and was Bo Muye’s subordinate, it was naturally not so suitable for him to enter. After closing the door, Bai Kun’s smile vanished a little. The man in black, Chen, who had not spoken this whole time, then opened his mouth to speak, “If the young master saw you behaving that way just now he’d have your skin all peeled off.”

He even dared to smile at Su Cha so brightly.

Bai Kun shrugged his shoulders. “Isn’t this because the young master’s is absent? Anyway, I only greeted and encouraged her normally. Look how courteous and polite Miss Su was, I can’t see where the problem you were talking about is.”

He then patted Chen on the shoulder. “Sometimes you shouldn’t think too much. If she really wanted to do something to the young master, her opportunities are countless. Besides, the information has been checked thoroughly and there is no problem. What are you still concerned about?”

Chen looked at him with deep meaning. “Then why do you think she suddenly changed her mind and was willing to be with the young master?”

Bai Kun froze for a moment, before saying as-a-matter-of-factly, “Young Master is so handsome, isn’t it a given for her to change her mind?”

Chen: “...”

The two of them walked while Bai Kun patted his back. “I already told you to stop overthinking it, if there truly was something wrong would Young Master not know? No matter how patient Miss Su is, would she ever be able to do something out of the Young Master’s grasp?”

Chen: “...”

It seemed that he didn't answer anymore, and the two went further and further until they went downstairs and disappeared.

In the room, Su Cha put her things away and sorted it out a little, before browsing through college entrance examination questions with the computer that came with the room.

Bo Mui's bodyguard who was hostile to her flashed through her mind, although she vaguely felt that this person was familiar.

Soon, Su Cha, who was immersed in browsing through questions and no longer thought about it. At night, she received a call from Mr. Su.

Chapter 137: Icing On The Cake

"Su Cha, are you taking the college entrance examination tomorrow?"

After the previous incident, Mr. Su hadn't called Su Cha.

He received the 5000 yuan Su Cha had transferred to him via WeChat.

Su Cha showed no emotion, and answered plainly, "Yes."

Did he also need to ask when her college entrance examination was?

Mr. Su felt a little awkward with Su Cha's cold attitude, but he still said what he wanted to say: "Don't be too nervous during the exam, just do your best and perform as usual. Even if you fail it is alright, as long as you can get into college. There's nothing special about the Imperial Capital, you really don't need to go again."

Originally thinking Su Cha would rebut like the last time, he didn't expect Su Cha to only say, "Yeah, I know. Do you have anything else to say?"

The atmosphere froze for a moment.

Faced with Su Cha's indifferent attitude, it seemed that she could do without her father's existence.

He sighed. "It was all for your good..."

It seemed that all parents always had this line.

Su Cha wanted to laugh. She wanted to know what exactly Mr. Su thought was good for her.

If it was genuinely for her own good, for an important date like his daughter's college entrance examination, he shouldn't be unsure about it and have to ask her right?

If it were for her own good, he should not have left her alone in Yonggu Town, only taking his current wife and younger brother to stay in another distant city.

Su Cha clearly knew to be grateful to Mr. Su for raising her, but she couldn't be bothered with his methods.

If she did not crave so much for affection and hope too much to be protected, perhaps in her first life she would not have stayed so stubbornly beside Zhai Yao.

It was probably when Zhai Yao first got close to her, that he gave her hope she had never experienced before.

She was like a person floating on the sea, holding a piece of dead wood and thinking that it was the last hope, holding on to it firmly and turning a blind eye to other sources of hope along the way. Eventually, the dead wood rotted and she paid the price with her life.

Thinking of this, Su Cha's breathing became slightly heavier. She closed her eyes and tried to calm herself in order to avoid saying something overboard. Su Cha said directly, "I have to review, my time is tight, I have already returned your 5000. At the time, I promised to pay you back twice the amount. I'll give you the remaining 5000 a little later."

Mr. Su was suddenly a little dumbfounded. "What? Didn't I tell you not to pay me back? Wait, you've returned my 5000?"

Su Cha raised her eyebrows. “I transferred you 5000 on your WeChat, and you also accepted it. Dad, are you not admitting this transaction?”

“I haven’t received any notifications from you!”

Mr. Su suddenly seemed slightly agitated. “You didn’t send me a message, how could you transfer money—”

The voice abruptly stopped. As if he had suddenly thought of something, Mr. Su loudly asked someone to his side, “Yan Fang, did you read my WeChat message?!”

Yan Fang was his current wife’s name.

Upon hearing this, Su Cha felt a little annoyed. She didn’t want to listen to the family quarrel there, so she promptly hung up.

Regardless of whether the money was received by Mr. Su, Su Cha had already returned it, and wouldn’t bother much anymore.

Of course, the college entrance examination was her priority. Even Wu He sent a message, for her to do well in exams, and not be distracted by happenings on the competition ground.

After all, to these third year high school students, they studied hard for 12 years just to get to experience this day. With other options, studies would only be icing on the cake for Su Cha – the benefits she could reap entering the entertainment circle with a reputation as a stellar student would definitely be great.

Chapter 138: Cha Cha, I’ve Come To Take You Home

On June 7th, China’s annual important day arrived.

The college entrance examination.

Each examination venue began to hoist banners while armed police began to patrol everywhere to ensure the security of the college entrance examination.

Many parents accompanied their children to the exam venue. They stayed outside, their expressions a mixture of anxiety and anticipation.

To many, their children's college entrance examination not only concerned their fate, but also the expectation of many parents for their children's life.

In this world, the college entrance examination was an essential factor on the road to success.

Getting good grades and entering a good college was perhaps the best proof of their hard work.

Different environments would bring up different kinds of people.

While entering the examination venue, seeing the hustle and bustle of the parents outside, complex emotions flashed through Su Cha's heart.

In her first life, she simply did not have the opportunity to take the college entrance examination. For her, her life had been ended a month before that day.

And now, it all started again.

The sun in June could not withstand the fierce enthusiasm that came with the college entrance examination. Before Su Cha turned off her phone and handed it over, Bo Muyi sent her a message.

'Cha Cha, do well, I believe in you.'

This sentence was the biggest comfort for Su Cha who had come alone for the college entrance examination.

Her lips slightly curved upwards. In this life, it was not only her own life that has started again. With Bo Muyi, everything was sufficient.

After passing the security check and finding her examination room, she sat down. The college entrance examination that would decide her fate was about to begin.

But when Su Cha entered, a commotion stirred in the examination room.

On the one hand, Su Cha was so beautiful it caught the eyes of people. On the other hand, Su Cha had an imposing manner and looked rather familiar.

There were definitely people who had paid attention to “Dream in Progress” among the young people present in the exam venue, but at this time it had not been officially broadcasted. Only one or two truly found Su Cha familiar-looking.

The college entrance examination was a crucial moment, not many could ponder this matter carefully.

At 9 a.m., the language subjects officially started.

After completing paper after paper, Su Cha’s mentality became very calm. She was not nervous at all. Although she used to have bad grades, her mentality was always very stable. No matter what exam it was, she was never nervous.

Even the college entrance examination.

Especially since now she had had sufficient certainty towards her grades.

After completing a set of questions, Su Cha didn’t feel any pressure. She would never lose marks for sections such as fill-in-the-blanks and poem verses for language. However, sections like reading comprehension which involved subjective answers would require her to explore the best way of answering, together with writing compositions.

After the exams, she simply had some food and took a break. In the afternoon was math.

The next day was liberal arts comprehension and English.

When the exam was over, it meant that for this batch of third year high school students, their life of studying tirelessly for twelve years was officially over.

Perhaps some would choose to do it again, but for most people, the moment they walked out of the exam venue, they were excited – some even wept with joy.

Maybe some felt they did not do well in the exam. The moment they saw their parents, they felt wronged.

Su Cha stood outside the examination venue, looking around, her heart momentarily feeling somewhat empty.

Everyone had somewhere to go, or could run into the arms of their parents. Only she had to hesitate to think about where she should go next.

It was at this moment, Su Cha felt that the surrounding air seemed to fall silent for a moment, and everyone's gaze was all locked in one particular direction – no one could hide the admiration which filled their eyes.

“Cha Cha, you've worked hard, I've come to take you home.”

Su Cha turned. A tall, lofty man stood beneath the sun, his handsome face smiling gently at her.

In this lifetime, Su Cha would never forget the beauty of this scene.

Chapter 139: Cha Cha, Only Look At Me

Su Cha ran into Bo Mui's arms, touched.

“How is it you came?”

Her voice was strangely tender. Burying herself in his embrace, she lifted her head to gaze up at him.

Bo Mui also wrapped his arms around Su Cha's waist, lowering his head to reveal a gentle and intoxicating smile. “Today you've finished the college entrance examination, how could I not come on such an important day? Our Cha Cha has worked hard! What do you want to eat? I'll take you to eat at noon.”

Su Cha smiled. Not answering, she first buried her face in Bo Muyi's arms.

People around looked dumbfounded at such a scene.

Mainly parents were dumbfounded.

Woah. The college entrance examination just ended. Usually parents come to pick up their children, but this boyfriend comes to pick up his girlfriend?

Too wild, the college entrance examination just ended!

However, many people couldn't help but marvel – it was enough that the girl looked good, but the man simply was the best among men.

He was merely standing there and no matter how beautiful his surroundings were, they all paled in comparison.

Not to mention in the current surroundings were all ordinary men with average looks – the disparity was simply too cruel, they were mercilessly eliminated.

Suddenly many men had the impulse to stab Bo Muyi with a knife.

The restless adolescents all wanted to squeal upon seeing Bo Muyi, especially when they saw him pulling the slender girl into his arms.

At such a time, they actually showed off so much affection!

Any longer and they would create a scene. Su Cha noticed someone taking her handphone out to film her and Bo Muyi, making her slightly uncomfortable.

She was not uncomfortable with her appearance, but felt uncomfortable with Bo Muyi's actions being filmed, as if she hoped only she could see Bo Muyi.

Such a thought surprised Su Cha. When had she become so monopolistic?

However, she only had this quick thought. She was way more accepting than Bo Mui, but now she finally understood a little of Bo Mui's thoughts.

Sometimes, they really wanted to hide the other party, so they could only be seen by themselves.

She and Bo Mui didn't stay too long, and soon got into the car parked by the street.

Seeing Bo Mui and Su Cha getting in the car together holding hands, Bai Kun fumbled to find words. After all, he also saw what happened clearly on the street.

He was relieved the young master finally knew not to only show off their affection to them – his subordinates, but also dragged others in together.

Seeing Su Cha, Bai Kun grinned. "Miss Su, congratulations on finishing your college entrance examination."

As soon as he finished speaking, Su Cha looked at him with a light smile. "Thank you."

It was just two simple words that didn't seem to carry emotions, but Bo Mui's gaze suddenly became fierce. He glared at Bai Kun, and at the same time he reached out and turned Su Cha to face himself. "Cha Cha, only look at me."

Su Cha: "..."

She suddenly felt a little amused, but she nodded obediently and let out a soft "mm", Bo Mui also relaxed his expression.

Bai Kun: "..."

Young Master simply... Even a normal greeting looked to him as if he was plotting against Miss Su.

But whatever slander in his heart stayed in his heart – Bai Kun dared not say a word, and carefully drove away.

Chapter 140: You Have Me

Bo Mui took Su Cha to the fanciest restaurant in Yonggu Town.

They could not find any place better. Su Cha had little memory about the foods in Yonggu Town.

Bo Mui and Su Cha sat together in front of a large glass table. After they ordered, Su Cha received a message from Wu He.

“Su Cha, it’s my treat after the exam. Where are you now?”

Su Cha smiled and replied quickly, “Sorry, Sister Wu He. I’ve got a treat today. I’ll treat you tomorrow.”

Although she had put down her phone right after, she still heard the man asking jealousy, “Cha cha, who is it?”

Bo Mui had seen the name but did not know who Wu He was.

“It’s Sister Wu He, the big sister who has introduced me to Dreams In Progress. She has helped me a lot.”

Su Cha said briefly. It was not easy for her to comment on a person like this, so Bo Mui instantly got the message.

“Really?”

He remained cold.

He felt unhappy that she could also be special to Su Cha.

Su Cha gave him a glance and chuckled, “Are you jealous of her? Come on!”

Su Cha touched Bo Muyi's cheeks gently. Bo Muyi put on a deep and serene look and bit her fingertips.

He did not really take a bite, but slightly touched them with his teeth. Su Cha took her hand back immediately after the touch. It was too itchy and amorous.

Bo Muyi lowered his head a little and gave her an alluring look, as if he was going to burn her into ashes.

Meanwhile, the waiter came to serve the dishes and broke the silence. Su Cha chuckled and dabbed on Bo Muyi's chest, "Time to eat."

After the waiter served all the dishes and walked out respectfully, Bo Muyi moved close to Su Cha and whispered, "Cha cha, I want to eat you."

His voice was so sensual that it could drive people crazy.

But what he said was too erotic. Su Cha threw a piece of pork rib into his mouth to stop him, "No talking while eating."

Bo Muyi hummed and ate the pork rib as it was given.

He appeared to be a baby and forgot how to use his hands when he was with Su Cha. Su Cha had to feed him. Otherwise, he would take Su Cha's own food.

Since nobody could see them, Bo Muyi would stop at nothing.

Su Cha found it troublesome. If she had known that he would behave like this, she would never feed him breakfast.

After they both finished eating, Bo Muyi revealed his intention, "Cha cha, now that you've finished the national college entrance exam, do you have time to go to the Imperial Capital with me?"

"It has to wait. I will attend the contest on the 15th. It might not finish until July. The result of the exam will come out on July 22nd. After it, I might have to visit my father...."

Su Cha saw Bo Mui put on an indifferent look when she mentioned her father. He pulled her sleeves after she finished, “Cha cha, he is mean to you. You don’t have to take him for a father. You will be fine with me.”