

The Queen 241

Chapter 241: I Want to Be with You Forever

Outside the Lookout Pavilion.

The low-key and luxurious Bentley drove into the main entrance but was stopped halfway.

Feeling the slight vibration of the car, the man who was resting on his forehead opened his eyes slightly. "We're here?"

When the driver took a closer look, he realized that there was no emotion in his eyes. It was empty and scary, like a pool of stagnant water.

There was a hint of hesitation in the driver's voice as he said, "Miss Tong is blocking the way."

The man narrowed his eyes.

At the same time, someone knocked on the car window and said vaguely, "Brother Mui..."

Her voice was full of affection as she pretended to be innocent.

A strong murderous intent flashed in Bo Mui's eyes. The driver rolled down the car window. Tong Ran could not help but feel her heart flutter when she saw the shocking face gradually revealed within the car. Her eyes were already filled with infatuation. "Brother Mui..."

However, the man's cold and heartless words made her feel like she had fallen into hell. "If you don't drive away from here, I'll kill her."

Tong Ran's eyes widened instantly.

At the same time, what terrified her the most was that the driver did not hesitate to carry out Bo Mui's orders. The car continued to drive at a slightly slower speed. Tong Ran did not expect the driver to really drive. She jumped to the side in shock, then the car suddenly sped up and entered the Lookout Pavilion.

If it wasn't for the fact that she had dodged in time, even if it wasn't a big deal, her palm would have been broken.

Tong Ran's face was pale. When she saw the car enter the pavilion without mercy, she thought that it was as heartless as the man's eyes had been.

Tears welled up in her eyes and she felt wronged.

If other men were to see this expression, they would be heartbroken.

The two bodyguards stood at the door.

Even though they maintained their cold expression, they still cursed in their heart.

However, this was natural and part of their duty as guards. After all, Tong Ran was the biological granddaughter of the old lady, but unless Tong Ran threw a tantrum here today, they would not care about her.

Not long after Su Cha entered the bedroom, Bo Mui returned.

When Su Cha saw Bo Mui, she ran over and hugged his tall body. "You're back?"

Her voice was as soft as usual. As he listened carefully, however, there seemed to be something else.

Bo Mui's eyes darkened. He touched Su Cha's hair and asked in an intimate and low voice, "Cha Cha? Are you unhappy?"

He always felt that the person in his arms was not very emotional.

Well...

There were too many things that happened today. Su Cha had just finished digesting it all and was not in a good mood. She did not intend to hide it from Bo Mui. "I found my mother today, the one who is my father's ex-wife. She told me some things about the past. My biological father left me because he wanted me to receive treatment."

Bo Mui's expression darkened, and a strange light flashed past his eyes. However, his expression changed quickly, and since Su Cha was in his arms, she naturally did not notice it.

He did not say anything but hugged Su Cha tighter.

"Actually, that's nothing. The main thing is that I now know about your parents."

Bo Mui was stunned.

The person in his arms raised her head. Her eyes seemed to be misty. "I'm sorry..."

Bo Mui remained silent for a long time. "This is none of your business."

After he finished speaking, Su Cha hugged him. "I may be too late, but I wanted to tell you now..."

"I want to be with you forever."

Chapter 242: Remember What You Said Today

These simplest of words were filled with sincerity.

She had forgotten exactly when her feelings for Bo Mui had changed.

Perhaps back then, she had already felt something for Bo Mui.

A man like Bo Mui would always have people fantasizing about him based on his appearance.

However, those fantasies were perhaps born merely of wishful thinking.

Su Cha could not believe that Bo Muyi would fall in love with her. She felt that it was unreal, so she'd instinctively rejected him.

Then came the final confirmation, and she had paid an irreversible price.

It was such a wonderful life. She now had a chance to set things right again. From the moment she agreed to be with Bo Muyi, she might let others down, but never this man.

In the first life, you sacrificed your life to love me.

In this life, I will treat you as my life and will never give up.

She saw Bo Muyi's thin lips trembling.

A man like him did not get too fazed by anything, no matter what happened. He would let emotions show occasionally only in front of Su Cha.

But those times were very rare.

After Su Cha finished speaking, she saw a flash of light in the man's eyes. It was as bright as day.

"Cha Cha..."

He did not know what to say, nor what he could say.

For a moment, she started to grow ambitious.

It seemed like the things that she had been looking forward to were finally showing some results.

He looked at Su Cha like that, from her eyebrows, from her nose to her red lips.

It was as if he wanted to use his eyes to carefully draw Su Cha's entire body and make a picture that would keep her preserved forever.

There seemed to be a hint of madness in the depths of his eyes, which could make one afraid.

However, Su Cha did not feel this way.

She moved her head closer to Bo Muyi and was careful.

When her lips touched his lips, the slightly itchy feeling brought a different kind of satisfaction.

At that moment, the man who had remained silent suddenly approached Su Cha.

It was like being in a raging storm.

He continued to control himself. Under his madness, he was as gentle as ever. However, compared to before, he could not calm down at all.

"This is what you said, Cha Cha, remember what you said today."

In the end, before he lost his mind, he had whispered this gently into Su Cha's ear with a hint of bloody stubbornness.

When Su Cha woke up, it was already the second day.

She received a call from Le Anqi, who said that she had arrived in the Imperial Capital and asked Su Cha out to play.

However, Su Cha still had to go to class. Thinking about what happened with Dai Xiaofu, she arranged to meet Le Anqi at her office.

“Su Cha!”

Seeing Su Cha, Le Anqi, who was wearing a hot t-shirt and a hot pair of shorts, displayed her good figure.

After the third year of high school, everyone seemed to have let loose. Le Anqi started to dress casually.

“Did you draw lots?”

Su Cha nodded. “I did. You went too?”

Le Anqi nodded happily. “I went there yesterday, but I had something to do so I didn’t ask you out. Where do you live now? Didn’t you report to school?”

The two of them headed to the floor where Dai Xiaofu was. Le Anqi started to ask about Su Cha’s recent stay in the Imperial Capital.

Chapter 243: Together

Su Cha simply brought up the matter of her staying in the Imperial Capital, clearly stating that she was staying at her boyfriend’s house.

After all, if she did not say it and Le Anqi said that she wanted to stay over, Su Cha would not be able to decline. She might as well say it openly.

Le Anqi almost choked on her water. “Are you cohabiting?”

Su Cha stayed silent for a few seconds. “I guess so.”

“Oh my god, Su Cha, are you crazy?!”

Le Anqi’s eyes widened. If not for the fact that there were people around the building, Le Anqi would have asked Su Cha what she was thinking.

“You even taught me not to mess around, but how old are you?! You’re only 18 years old and you’re living with your boyfriend? Besides, you’re going to enter the entertainment industry in the future. If you sign with a management agency someday, would the agency allow you to continue being with your boyfriend?”

After all, Su Cha was only 18 this year.

“Don’t worry about this. I have a solution.”

Su Cha was not as agitated as Le Anqi. She continued calmly, “Nothing will happen. My boyfriend’s matter will not affect my entry into the entertainment industry.”

The old lady had mentioned that there was no need for Su Cha to worry about some troublesome matters. This must include her relationship with Bo Mui.

Even if the entire Imperial Capital knew that she was dating Bo Mui, the media would never expose her.

Su Cha was not worried about this.

“You’re right!”

Le Anqi did not even know who Su Cha’s boyfriend was, so she naturally did not know Bo Mui’s background. “But I think you should be careful. After all, the paparazzi are so scary these days, even your eighteen generations of ancestors can be dug up. We are participating in the competition, so you should be careful...”

Su Cha gave Le Anqi a look of amusement. “You’re worried that my boyfriend and I will be exposed. Why aren’t you telling me off about how my boyfriend and I are living together?”

Le Anqi stammered, “About this... You’re already an adult, you can decide your own matters, why would I have any objections? It’s you... Be careful, don’t do anything you shouldn’t.”

Le Anqi blushed.

Su Cha instantly understood what Le Anqi was referring to.

However, ever since he came to the Imperial Capital, Bo Mui had been more careful.

Anyway, he would take safety measures.

Moreover, Su Cha knew very well that although her cultivation technique did not affect her pregnancy, she was still in the early stage. Her body was strange and it was not easy for her to get pregnant.

She was not worried about these things.

Nothing had started yet. Even if she wanted to bear a child for Bo Mui, it was definitely not at present.

Judging from Bo Mui's attitude, he did not seem to like children...

"Don't worry."

Su Cha couldn't help but laugh. "I didn't even make the connection to such matters. Why are you thinking about some random things?"

"How can that be considered random?"

The two of them had reached the floor where Dai Xiaofu taught. Le Anqi could not help but scratch Su Cha's waist. "Why didn't I see that you were so bold before...?"

In the past, Su Cha was synonymous to being quiet. No one had been able to tell that she was actually so bold.

She started living with her boyfriend as soon as she became an adult.

Of course, if Su Cha had been the real Su Cha in the past, she would not be like this. However, since she was reborn into this life, she had every intention of making it up to Bo Muyi, so she would not hold back in these aspects.

Although she was only 18 years old, her mental age was unknown.

Chapter 244: Chaos

“Who is the music teacher recommended by Teacher Quan?”

After Le Anqi finished talking about Su Cha, she walked out of the elevator and looked outside curiously.

Su Cha: “The teacher is my mother.”

Le Anqi: “...”

What did Su Cha say?

Le Anqi suspected that she had heard wrongly.

However, Su Cha had already walked straight into the classroom. There were more people in class today than yesterday. Dai Xiaofu walked out in a black-and-white checkered dress. When she saw Su Cha, she revealed an obvious smile. “You’re here? Let’s continue with yesterday’s lesson.”

As she spoke, she saw Le Anqi wearing a puzzled expression. Su Cha took the opportunity to introduce them. “Mom, this is Le Anqi, my friend, as well as another participant in the competition this year.”

Dai Xiaofu was stunned when she heard the word “mother.” However, she immediately understood something and said with a faint smile, “If that’s the case, you two can study together.”

After saying that, she walked into the classroom. Su Cha followed her and Le Anqi came up to her. She was shocked. “Why is the music teacher recommended by Teacher Quan your mother?”

Su Cha pondered for a while. “Actually, I didn’t know about it in the beginning. My mother and my father divorced very early. I didn’t contact her much, so...”

Actually, Su Cha had had no choice.

Su Mingzhe was not her father, and so not many people knew that Dai Xiaofu was not her mother.

If she could not explain it clearly, there were many things that others would not be able to understand about the situation.

Naturally, the explanation had to be based on their past relationship. Even if Dai Xiaofu was not her biological mother, she was still Su Cha’s mother in name.

Dai Xiaofu naturally understood Su Cha’s meaning immediately.

Le Anqi was a little conflicted when she heard that. The coincidence aside, there was still the fact that Su Cha’s mother did not look like Su Cha.

Her mother had a gentle temperament, but she did not look outstanding. She did not look at all like Su Cha.

However, Le Anqi had never seen Su Cha’s father before. Could it be that his father was very good-looking?

Le Anqi looked at Su Cha’s perfect and exquisite profile and fell into deep thought.

Su Cha could guess what was running in Le Anqi’s mind, but she did not explain anything. She brought along Le Anqi to learn music from Dai Xiaofu.

Dai Xiaofu was indeed good at teaching. It could be seen that she was very professional. She could point out many of Su Cha’s problems accurately and give Su Cha a lot of feedback. Le Anqi was just here to join in the fun and was dragged into the class. After a day, Le Anqi had acquired some understanding of singing skills.

It was not just music; Xiaofu was also good at musical instruments. Most of the students who came to her class were children from wealthy families. It was obvious from their clothing.

Dai Xiaofu was also giving piano lessons that day.

Le Anqi and Su Cha were quite curious to be in the middle of a group of children. A group of little children surrounded Su Cha after class, saying that she was beautiful and sweet.

Su Cha smiled.

In the afternoon, Dai Xiaofu taught Su Cha and Le Anqi some basic skills. The two of them were then left alone in a small classroom. When they were halfway through their practice, they suddenly heard a “boom” from next door. Soon after, a girl’s scream and children’s cries could be heard.

Su Cha and Le Anqi paused. The two of them rushed out of the classroom and saw the commotion coming from a classroom full of musical instruments and music books.

At this moment, the room was in a mess. A huge bookcase had fallen down. The books were scattered all over the place. Beside them was a bunch of musical instruments, surrounding a group of children who were crying loudly.

Chapter 245: Rescue

The scene was chaotic.

Le Anqi was stunned.

Su Cha had seen the girl who played the piano under Dai Xiaofu’s teaching. She covered her mouth and shouted in panic, “There’s someone else below, there’s a child below!”

She was completely dumbfounded and did not know what to do.

No wonder the surrounding children were crying.

Su Cha's eyes narrowed as she saw a large pile of musical instruments behind the bookcase. The bottom of the bookcase was completely covered by fallen books. The surrounding air was filled with children's cries, and it was impossible to hear if there was anyone below.

The children were in a flurry as they cried. However, the bookcase was too big.

Given the size of the bookcase, it could not have fallen so easily.

Su Cha and Le Anqi hurried over. Su Cha carried the children who were digging the books away and Le Anqi started moving the huge bookcase.

However, the bookcase did not budge at all. The frightened female student also came forward to help.

She did not know where Dai Xiaofu went during the chaos.

The cries around them became louder and louder. Su Cha uncovered a child's arms and realized that there really was a child under the pile of books. The whole person was buried under the bookcase and could not be seen. Only one hand was revealed, and the bookcase was pressed on his body.

Le Anqi and the female student tried their best but to no avail. The female student started crying.

As she cried, the situation became more uncontrollable.

Time waits for no one. Su Cha's face darkened as she pulled her away gently. "Let me do it, move aside."

At the same time, she frowned at Le Anqi. "Anqi, help me carry the other side."

Actually, Le Anqi was useless.

She was too weak. Su Cha only needed Le Anqi to put on a show.

Le Anqi did not understand these things. When she heard Su Cha's words, she immediately held a corner of the bookcase nervously.

The female student at the side cried, "I'll call someone over, I'll call someone over!"

She ran out in a panic. Su Cha used her hand to prop up a corner of the bookcase. After giving it a try, her heart sank. She gritted her teeth and exerted her strength.

"Boom!"

The thick and sturdy wooden cabinet was moved by this force!

Su Cha's hands started to tremble.

This was a bookcase made of solid wood. An adult man could only barely shake it with all his might. She had already given her all.

If not for the rapid increase in her strength, she would not have made a difference.

A corner of the bookcase was moved away, and parts of the child buried underneath were revealed in the shadows. Such a large bookcase could basically kill anything it had smashed down on, but the child's luck was too good. The books that fell from the bookcase actually formed a small natural defense for him. The bookcase smashed onto the pile of books, and nothing had happened.

However, the child still suffered a huge blow and fainted.

It was only through the clothes that one could tell it was a little boy.

Su Cha's originally gloomy face started to show a hint of pain. She forcefully moved the bookcase up and used her shoulder to support it. The sweat on her forehead seeped out almost instantly. She said in a low voice, "Anqi, quickly, carry him up!"

Le Anqi panicked. "Can you hold on if I let go?"

Su Cha: "...Hurry up!"

Le Anqi shivered and did not dare to delay. She let go of her hold and quickly dragged the little boy from the floor.
