

The Queen 261

Chapter 261: A Storm Is Coming

“I know he hasn’t come back.”

Su Cha knew what was going on the moment she went out. When she saw Ah Chen, a deep look appeared in her eyes.

Then, she looked upstairs.

There was no movement.

The eaves of such a tall building did not look like they could be climbed so easily.

Ah Chen’s expression changed slightly. “Miss Su, is there a problem?”

Su Cha curled her lips. “It’s nothing. I’m going out for a walk.”

With that, she walked past Ah Chen and went to another courtyard.

There were no restrictions on her within the Lookout Pavilion, so she could enter and leave without any scruples. Over the past few days, she had not been to any other part of the pavilion apart from this area and to the old lady’s.

As he watched Su Cha’s retreating figure, Ah Chen’s eyes darkened.

Bai Kun appeared from the other side and was surprised to see Ah Chen standing at the door. “Why are you standing here?”

Ah Chen answered directly, “Miss Su went to visit other courtyards.”

Bai Kun replied, “Oh. You’re not going with her?”

Ah Chen shook his head. There was finally a slight change in his poker face. “Miss Su is not an ordinary person.”

Bai Kun: “Why do you say that?”

“I was standing upstairs looking around just now. Miss Su seemed to have noticed it. She was in the room at the time. When she came out, she glanced upstairs.”

Bai Kun raised his head to look at the roof. In silence, he measured the distance between the roof and the ground and asked, “Did you make a big movement?”

Ah Chen frowned. “No.”

He was sure that he did not make any noise, but Miss Su still looked up at the ceiling, which to him was inexplicable.

Bai Kun was deep in thought. “You think too much. Miss Su is just an ordinary person.”

Even if Su Cha had other capabilities, she was still a participant in an entertainment show.

There were some things that even their young master had not told her about, things that were not suitable for Miss Su to know. It was already an unimaginable matter for ordinary people, and Miss Su would even more not be able to come to terms with it.

Bai Kun was also aware of Ah Chen’s skills. He knew what he was doing and was one of the strongest secret guards around the young master. The family had raised him since he was young and had sent him into service after he became an adult.

He’d now been assigned to follow Miss Su to protect her, but she did not seem to notice it. Bai Kun did not believe that Su Cha could detect Ah Chen’s existence.

Ah Chen was probably being too sensitive.

Ah Chen frowned.

He did not believe Bai Kun's words.

Martial artists had the sharpest senses. It was not easy for him to become the strongest secret guard around the young master.

He had always felt that there was something wrong with Miss Su, but now that she was in the young master's good graces, he could not say anything about his suspicions. Although he thought so, he would not say it out loud.

His life's mission was to protect Bo Muyi, the heir of the Bo family. It was a matter of course that he cared about his safety. He would keep an eye on any negative factors.

Which meant he needed to get rid of her!

Bai Kun patted his shoulder. "That's enough. It's fine as long as Miss Su is in the Lookout Pavilion. The Tang Sect came to look for the young master because of the traitor last time. Also, the disciple of the old Alliance Master has been transferred back to the Imperial Capital. The person who was supposed to take over the position of Alliance Master has not been found. It has been a storm lately. Let's just be careful."

Ah Chen paused and asked, "Will the family send newcomers over?"

Bai Kun was also a little worried. "There's a high chance that they will, and there might be a few old ones. After all, the Martial Union's Alliance Master position has not been revealed yet, so there will always be people who want it."

Ah Chen frowned, looking a little irritated.

Chapter 262: They Are All the Young Master's Pets

Su Cha circled around the Lookout Pavilion but did not reach the end.

She had merely picked a random direction and then came to a conclusion. The size of the Lookout Pavilion was beyond her imagination.

Other than the modern architecture in the front part of the place, most of the buildings in the back were modern. There were also many servants.

When she arrived in a certain area, Su Cha saw what appeared to be a large garden. There were many electrical grids surrounding it, and a door at the entrance was tightly closed. There was a sign hanging on it: Beast Zone, Entry Prohibited.

She paused.

The garden looked huge, and it was impenetrable. In the depths of the garden, there seemed to be a ferocious gaze that was staring right at Su Cha.

Su Cha stood at the door and looked around for a while, but she did not go in. After a while, she heard the dense forest in front of her suddenly produce pitter-patter sounds.

At that moment, a stand of trees was pushed aside. A ferocious and overbearing beast rushed out. It was as if it had silently launched a deadly attack as it jumped directly toward the electric net.

However, it seemed to have some concerns about the power grid. In the end, it stopped in front of the power grid and did not move.

Only then did Su Cha see that it was a lion.

This lion was a male. Its fur was smooth and tall, and given how its entire body was clean, it looked like it had been well taken care of.

However, it still possessed the bloodthirsty wildness that only ferocious beasts had. It was as if it was being raised by someone, but it took every available chance to preserve its aggressiveness.

The lion's golden eyes were focused on Su Cha. It did not show any signs of opening its mouth to intimidate her. It just moved leisurely in front of her through the power grid. It did not seem to be aggressive at all. Instead, it made people lower their guard.

No one in their right mind would lower their guard against a wild lion.

Su Cha narrowed her eyes in surprise.

She never expected that rearing large beasts in a place like the Imperial Capital would be allowed, and it was the king of the beasts, at that.

But that seemed understandable in the Lookout Pavilion.

It was obvious that this was something Bo Muyi would do. If not him, then was it the old lady who had such a fetish? Su Cha did not believe it.

She had thought that Bo Muyi had a strange personality, but she did not expect that he could even rear wild beasts.

Ordinary people would have peed their pants when they saw the lion, but Su Cha found it interesting.

She could feel that the lion was not the only one looking at her from the depths of the garden. In other words, Bo Muyi had raised something else.

“Miss Su.”

Ah Chen suddenly appeared again. Su Cha turned her head, and Ah Chen saw the lion walking leisurely behind her. Su Cha’s face was calm, and the fear that a young girl should have had was not there. He became even more suspicious.

However, he did not show it on his face and said directly, “This area is where the young master’s pets are being raised. However, these pets are not used to people. Miss Su, it’s better for you not to approach them.”

A beast that normal people would not raise was being called a pet...

“I know.”

Su Cha smiled as if she understood the danger, but she also appeared to be a little naive. “Is there anything else other than this lion?”

Ah Chen paused and lowered his head respectfully. “There are two lions. There is a wolf in the middle enclosure, and there are also tigers and leopards.”

Most of them were large, brutal, and ferocious beasts, but Bo Mui could still survive if they were to fight to the death.

Su Cha turned to look at the lion.

As if it had heard its name, it suddenly stood up and placed its claws on the door. It stretched its huge body out and squinted its golden eyes at Su Cha. It seemed to be seducing her.

Chapter 263: It's Great That You Like Them Too

Su Cha squinted.

It was obvious that the lion was not a tame pet. It was obviously trying to lure Su Cha over and attack her.

Ah Chen observed untruthfully, “It seems that Blue Sky really likes Miss Su.”

Su Cha turned around and smiled. “If this one is called Blue Sky, is the other one called White Cloud?”

“Yes.” Ah Chen put on a poker face and stated the others' names. “The wolf and the leopard are called Grass and Greenland, and the tiger is called Wood.”

Su Cha: “...”

Su Cha had a complicated expression on her face. “Did Mui pick those names?”

Ah Chen nodded silently.

There was a strange silence. Then, Su Cha pretended that nothing had happened. She ignored the lion by the wall and turned to leave.

Seeing her leave, Ah Chen naturally followed her.

Before she left, she turned around to look at Blue Sky. Blue Sky's huge body was lying down again. It sat there leisurely as it watched them leave. When Ah Chen looked at it, Blue Sky let out a low roar. Even though it was very quiet, it sounded very scary and aggressive.

Bo Mui had just returned to the small courtyard.

The man's cold face softened when he saw Su Cha. He walked up to her and held her hand. “Why didn't you come to me just now?”

“It's not convenient for me to disturb you if you're discussing something. I toured the Lookout Pavilion instead.”

Su Cha held his hand as they entered the house. She took the opportunity to ask about the beast area. “You actually have pets, huh? Other people have cats and dogs, though. Why are you raising lions and tigers...?”

“Did you see them?”

Bo Mui's eyes brightened at first, then he said gloomily, “I was afraid that you would be scared, so I locked them up.”

“I'm not afraid.”

Su Cha said directly, “But ferocious beasts can hurt people, especially in a residential area. It’s only right that you’ve locked them up.”

“They didn’t have to be locked up like this before.”

Bo Mui explained to her, “Blue Sky and White Cloud have a sense of propriety. Under normal circumstances, they would not hurt humans. Besides, there are secret guards everywhere in the pavilion. They can control them. I was just worried that you might be afraid, so I locked them up.”

Under normal circumstances...

Su Cha could not help but wonder what “under normal circumstances” looked like. After all, the lion she saw was obviously untamed.

No matter what, it was a dangerous beast.

Su Cha thought about it for a while and said, “I’m not afraid.”

She would have been afraid to death if she saw those ferocious beasts before, but now, she was really not.

Bo Mui’s eyes lit up. “Can I release them, then?”

“...” Su Cha felt that he shouldn’t, but seeing Bo Mui’s expression, she hesitated. “I don’t know.”

They used to roam around freely before. If Bo Mui felt he knew what he was doing, she would let him be.

“Okay.”

Bo Mui was very happy. He hugged Su Cha’s waist and whispered, “What I like is different from what ordinary people like. I was afraid that you wouldn’t like it either, so it’s great that you do. Blue Sky and White Cloud are very obedient. You will definitely like them.”

Su Cha: "..."

She only said that she was not afraid; she never said that she liked them.

Normal people would have a natural fear of ferocious beasts, but while she was not afraid, that did not mean that she liked them.

But seeing Bo Mui's expression, Su Cha could not say anything.

Chapter 264: Do Not Touch It

Su Cha thought that it would take at least a few days for Bo Mui to release the lions.

But when she woke up the next morning, Su Cha felt that something was amiss.

She could smell something different. It did not seem to be Bo Mui's scent.

She opened her eyes and met a pair of golden eyes.

A lion that was twice Su Cha's size placed its front paws on the edge of the bed and looked at her quietly.

Su Cha: "..."

Blue Sky: "..."

The woman and the lion looked at each other silently. Su Cha was still a little sleepy and called out, "Blue Sky?"

It looked like the one she saw yesterday.

Blue Sky tilted its head while Bo Mui walked in wearing his pajamas. He was excited to see Su Cha and Blue Sky looking at each other.

“Cha Cha, Blue Sky seems to like you a lot.”

He walked over and lifted Su Cha, who had just woken up, into his arms. Su Cha hesitated and looked at the lion. “How can you tell?”

Was it just because this lion did not bite her?

Bo Mui held Su Cha with one hand and touched Blue Sky’s mane with the other. Blue Sky was a big one, and it was the fiercest lion among all the wild beasts. At this moment, as Bo Mui petted it, it squinted its eyes in enjoyment. It even tilted its head and raised its paw.

It looked more like a dog than a lion.

It was not living up to the name of its species.

“If Blue Sky didn’t like you, he would be fierce with you. However, he has been raised by me since he was young and is very attached to me. He must have sensed my scent on you, so he won’t hurt you. If he gets close to you, it means that he likes you.”

As soon as Bo Mui was done speaking, Blue Sky behaved as if it understood his words. Its head was about to move toward Su Cha, but before she could react, Bo Mui, who had been stroking the lion gently just now, immediately turned hostile. Without hesitation, he slapped Blue Sky’s head. “You can like her, but you can’t touch her!”

Blue Sky, who had been slapped by Bo Mui, seemed to be a little aggrieved. It let out a low cry and immediately lay down on the bed without looking at them.

Su Cha: “...”

She thought that Bo Mui had changed since he was not jealous that a lion liked her.

From the looks of it, though, while a lion might only be an animal that he had given some special privileges to, he still held a possessive streak in the end. It wasn’t allowed to touch her.

His attitude changed quickly.

Su Cha thought for a while. Normally, ferocious beasts would fall out with their masters in such situations. They might just bite the latter's neck. Yet Blue Sky was so aggrieved; if other lions were to see it, they would probably strike off its status as a lion.

Although it was a ferocious beast, Su Cha found it pitiful. She extended her hand. "May I touch it?"

"No."

The overbearing man grabbed Su Cha's hand and bit her ear. "Just touch me."

Blue Sky probably felt that its master was an eyesore who would not let its mistress touch it, so it stood up and left.

Seeing it leave, Su Cha pondered for a while and asked, "Will it run around when it goes outside?"

"No. It knows its range. After some activity, it will follow Ah Chen back to the Beast Garden."

Just as he finished speaking, a scream and a fearful voice came from the courtyard, "Why did my young master let you out again?!!"

Then, Blue Sky shouted excitedly.

It seemed that it had finally found something fun.

Su Cha knew that the voice belonged to Bai Kun.

As expected, this was the reaction a normal person should have when facing a ferocious beast.

Chapter 265: The Prelude to Going Viral

Hearing Bai Kun's scream, Bo Mui walked out first.

Su Cha also got up and went to wash up. When she went out, she saw Bai Kun in the living room with a conflicted expression.

Su Cha walked over with a faint smile. "Are you afraid?"

Bai Kun had been by Bo Mui's side for a long time. By right, he should know Bo Mui's personality. Shouldn't he know that he was raising these things?

Bai Kun's face was trembling. "Miss Su, you must be joking..."

Who wouldn't be afraid of ferocious beasts?!

Even if Bai Kun had been by Bo Mui's side for a long time, he was still a normal person. He was not as strong as Ah Chen and the rest. He was just a weak civilian. Why wouldn't he be afraid of a lion?

He had not lost his mind!

Su Cha could not help but smile as she looked behind him. "Where's Blue Sky?"

"It followed Ah Chen back to the garden."

Seeing how calm Su Cha was, Bai Kun could not believe it. "Isn't Miss Su afraid?"

"What should I be afraid of?"

Su Cha was amused. "Actually, Blue Sky is quite cute."

And it would feel wronged if she feared it.

Bai Kun: "..."

He finally understood why the young master liked Miss Su.

Are these two even human?

Bo Muyi changed into a suit at the back.

His white shirt was buttoned up meticulously and his tie was done neatly. This made him exude the tempting aura of being strict and abstinent.

He was not old, but he had the charm of an older man. His handsome face was like a gift from heaven. With his suit jacket slung on his wrist, he adjusted his tie and looked at Bai Kun with his deep eyes. "What were you talking about?"

His beauty might be intoxicating, but it was like cold winter words had poured on Bai Kun when he spoke. Bai Kun sobered up and felt bitter.

He had just been scared witless by a lion and now he was being treated like this.

But so what? That was the kind of person the young master was.

Su Cha responded first. "We were talking about Blue Sky."

Hearing Su Cha's words, the man smiled and walked toward her. He planted a kiss on her forehead. "I'll be going now."

Su Cha nodded obediently. "Okay. Work hard."

It was probably because of some important matters that Bo Muyi needed to go to work today.

After they left, Su Cha focused on her embroidery and went on the Internet. She kept the price at 2000 yuan, the same as before.

Once she had started to change the materials, the price would increase.

Before this, she had taken a look at the video on LovMusik. Her popularity had been rising steadily, but not to the extent of causing a sensation. However, after Su Cha had scrolled for a while, she actually saw several videos of her on the subway.

Not only did the video from the original uploader become popular, but many LovMusik users had also shared it with others while asking for Su Cha's contact details.

Actually, there was not much sincerity among these people. It was because the video had become popular that people wanted to latch on to the hype. However, it could not be denied that Su Cha had become more popular because of that sudden incident.

LovMusik's current popularity was not to be underestimated. After the video was uploaded on Weibo, some people uncovered her identity and found out that she was a contestant in Dreams in Progress. She was also a runner-up in Yonggu City.

Now that she had suddenly gone viral, although her popularity was not real, she had at least become well-known. Among those who'd learned her identity through the LovMusik video and gone on to listen to her singing, many became her fans and followers.
