

The Queen 31

Chapter 31: Muyi, Please Do Not Disturb Me While I'm Studying!

Su Cha took out her own textbooks and started to do some revision.

She had just borrowed money from her father, so she did not plan to work during the weekend. The main agenda, for now, was to make full use of her time to study hard.

There was still a month to go until the national college entrance examination. Su Cha decided to go all out and at least get accepted to a good university, which would give her bonus marks in the entertainment industry.

As he saw Su Cha taking out her textbooks, Bo Muyi did not want to disturb her.

At least he knew that Su Cha was about to sit for the college entrance examination.

There was a small desk next to Su Cha's bed. She sat there and cracked open her book. It had already been decades, so she should have completely forgotten about the knowledge in the textbook. However, surprisingly, when she skimmed across the key points in the textbook, her mind became clearer; she could understand the knowledge without further explanation. It seemed that her mind was sharper than before.

And even for the points that were hard for her to understand in the past, after a few extra analyzations, Su Cha found out that she could grasp them immediately.

For example, mathematical formulas. As long as she took a good look at the examples and practiced it several times on paper, Su Cha found that she could remember how to apply all of them. Thus, all she needed was a firm revision of the formulas.

Such an ability was crucial in the third and final year of high school.

Su Cha knew very clearly that it was definitely not the level that she had before. It was obviously an improvement.

She had also scored well in her first life, but she could not reach the point where she could understand all the key points so quickly.

Could it be that her previous life had given her such a huge advantage?

After practicing martial arts, her physical fitness had improved, and her body became even stronger. Has it all been preserved in this life?

If that was the case, then this advantage given by God was so amazing!

Bo Mui had been watching Su Cha quietly by the side. He saw Su Cha occasionally wrinkling her brows when she studied. Sometimes, confusion was expressed, but it quickly changed into enlightenment and realization when she understood the concept. All the changes in her expressions had brought no small amount of amusement to Bo Mui.

Being able to look at Su Cha through this perspective, was definitely something he had never thought of before.

Perhaps he had thought of it before, but never believed that it would become a reality.

The girl with a white porcelain face was in front of him. She looked so adorable even when she was solving mathematical problems while resting her head on her hand. Bo Mui could not hold back. He drew close to her, sniffing her scent gently, and kissed her suddenly on the cheek.

Su Cha felt the gentle and warm peck on her face. She turned to register Bo Mui's face, which brightened up her spirits.

She chuckled and placed both of her hands on Bo Mui's shoulders. Then, she leaned over and kissed his thin lips.

They were too close to each other, and the ambience was too nice to not do it.

Bo Mui was a little stunned. He then reacted, turning passiveness into assertiveness. Holding the back of Su Cha's head, he then deepened the kiss.

The young girl was not well-versed in the art of kissing. He had already realized it last night. He was not very good at it either, but by following his instincts, his learning ability was better than Su Cha.

This wonderful taste could easily cause people to be immersed deeply in it, especially when it is those whom they love deeply.

The wonderful feeling that seeped into the bones was really indescribable and beyond words.

Even the atmosphere surrounding both of them became intimate.

It seemed that in certain circumstances, one could not help but follow their instincts. Not only that, Bo Mui was obviously a bit addicted too. His hands tightened their hold on Su Cha. In the midst of all her emotions, Su Cha could feel that her body was getting softer, and a tingling feeling spread through her body, which made her shudder.

She immediately got ahold of herself, broke the kiss and slightly moved her head to the side while she hugged Bo Mui. After calming down, she said, “No, I’m a good student. Right now, I need to study hard. Mui, don’t hinder me from studying!”

Spoken like a true goody-two-shoes.

Chapter 32: Can I Stay Here?

Bo Mui did not have a good rebuttal for that statement. Instead, he just hugged Su Cha back tightly as he said, “Okay.”

Whatever Cha Cha said was right.

The doorbell sounded at just the right time.

Su Cha patted Bo Mui’s back and resumed her sitting position to continue her studies.

She must not be tempted by his beauty.

Bo Mui stood up and went to open the door.

It was most probably Bai Kun.

As soon as the door opened, it turned out to be exactly Bai Kun. He was holding a packed food container. With a smile on his face, he said, "Master, here's your meal."

Bo Mui nodded. By this time, he had already recovered his usual indifference. When he reached out to accept the food, he suddenly ordered, "Go back first and pick me up tomorrow morning. I won't be going back tonight."

Bai Kun froze for a moment and nodded immediately. "Yes, sir!"

The door was then closed in his face.

The young master is indeed ruthless and ungrateful, ignoring the hand that feeds him.

Bai Kun sighed in his heart. When he thought of the young master who would sleep here for the night, he felt distressed.

The young master had already fallen so deeply for her!

Bo Mui returned to the bedroom. Then, he slowly and elegantly opened the food container. The food container was large with an exquisite pattern on the outside. He opened it layer by layer, revealing several colorful and fragrant dishes.

These were all specially made by a famous hotel. Needless to say, the delicious aroma made Su Cha's nose twitch, as she did her best to resist the temptation.

Seeing her action, Bo Mui curved his lips and asked, "Cha Cha, would you like to eat?"

Su Cha was hesitant. She was not very hungry, but she could not resist it, so she nodded obediently and replied, “Yes!”

Bai Kun was smart as he had prepared two pairs of chopsticks in the food box. However, Bo Muiyi was not about to pass the other pair of chopsticks to Cha Cha. Instead, he used his own chopsticks to pick up a spring roll, and placed it into Su Cha’s mouth.

Su Cha took a bite. The spring roll was not tiny, as it almost took up her entire mouth when she ate it.

The way she chewed her food made her look very much like a little chipmunk.

Bo Muiyi’s heart was filled with contentment when he glanced at her. He then started eating with the chopsticks that Su Cha had eaten from.

He occasionally gave Su Cha a bite or two. Although it was his meal, a large portion of the dishes went into Su Cha’s belly.

They were so delicious that Su Cha could not resist it.

She used to live lavishly in ancient times. Although what she ate there was exquisite, some dishes were not available in ancient times. After all, modern dishes had their own highlights.

When she had finished eating, she asked, “Mu Yi, when are you going back?”

Bo Muiyi paused. In a low tone, he asked, “Cha Cha, can’t I stay here?”

Su Cha glanced at him. Although she was not against it, but she remembered what happened last night. After all, since it was the first time, she still felt a bit shy. It was just that she did not want to make it seem so obvious. Her voice then became soft, “Yes, but I have to go to school tomorrow morning.”

Bo Muiyi understood her meaning. His smile was a little ambiguous as he lowered his head. He hugged Su Cha’s waist and whispered in her ear, “Cha Cha, don’t worry. I won’t do anything. I just want to cuddle you to sleep.”

Her cheeks flushed red and she felt a tad bit embarrassed, especially when Bo Muyi spoke in her ear. It was an irresistible temptation when such words were spoken in a clear yet sultry voice.

His breath brushed past her ears and spread all over her body, making Su Cha's body tingle. She touched Bo Muyi's ears softly and said, "Okay, okay, please go and take a shower first. I will need to study for a while and take a bath before I go to bed."

"Alright."

Bo Muyi was also very happy. He was willing to listen to whatever Su Cha said. Therefore, he loosened his embrace around Su Cha and went to take a bath.

Chapter 33: Sleeping Together

When Bo Muyi went to take his shower, he realized that he did not have a change of clothes. So, he sent a text message to Bai Kun, ordering him to bring over a fresh set of clothes for him to change into.

After Su Cha finished studying, she got up and went to take a shower.

When Su Cha came out of the bath, she was wearing her simple beige nightdress. It was suitable as the weather had started to turn hot.

As she opened the bathroom door, Su Cha exited the bathroom with steam billowing out around her. Her bare snow-white thighs were particularly eye-catching. Even though she had no makeup on, her small face was still attractive, especially since she was currently exuding a more feminine and seductive aura.

Although she had just washed her hair and it was still in a mess, yet she did not care about her appearance in front of Bo Muyi. She went over to the dresser to blow-dry her damp hair.

When she switched on the hairdryer, the buzzing wind accompanied her delicate voice as she spoke up, "Muyi, I don't have a new towel. You can use one of mine instead."

“Alright.”

Bo Mui came over and touched Su Cha's wet hair. Bai Kun had already brought over a set of clothes for him. Although what Su Cha wore was not very attractive, but the view of her fair skin, and the water dripping between the hair strands as it flowed down her seductive curves, was bringing out some urges in Bo Mui. He gulped and immediately retracted his eyes to suppress those urges. Then, he entered the bathroom.

Taking a bath in Su Cha's bathroom seemed to be even more uncomfortable after that. Bo Mui exited the bathroom half an hour later.

Su Cha wanted to ask him why had he taken such a long time to bath, but she did not dare to ask.

Although both of them had been intimate last night, Su Cha still felt like it was a dream when both of them laid down on the same bed.

Bo Mui stayed true to his words. He held her in his arms, and gradually fell asleep.

Because Su Cha was too wrapped up in her plethora of thoughts, hence, she slowly fell asleep long after Bo Mui had slept.

During the night, she seemed to have dreamt of many things. In one of her dreams, she seemed to be back in the ancient times.

She did not reincarnate back to the modern age. Instead, she was still the Empress Dowager, admired by her subjects, and even the emperor was under her control.

She was admired by thousands of people and worshipped by the world. The respectful words that were uttered from the lips of the people who worshipped her somehow made her whole reincarnation into the modern world seem like a dream.

When Su Cha opened her eyes, she felt that her heart beating faster than usual.

She was a little scared that what happened yesterday was just a dream.

However, when she opened her eyes, she could feel that she was being embraced by someone. It was a feeling of peace that she had not felt for decades.

She could feel herself lying on a solid chest, listening to the other person's steady and strong heartbeats, and a pair of strong arms encircling her back.

"Cha Cha?"

It seemed as if he felt some movement, hence he opened his mouth. The lazy and husky voice of a man in the morning was simply the deadliest poison, which could drown even a human being.

Su Cha answered lazily with a "Hmm". Her voice was sluggish and soft as she asked, "What time is it?"

She was lying on him, with no intention of moving.

Bo Mui reached out and fumbled around until he found the mobile phone on the bedside table. Then, he looked at the time before answering groggily, "It's half-past six. It's time to get up, you have to go to school."

Su Cha was used to getting up early, so it was not a hard thing for her. When she heard the time reported by Bo Mui, she heaved a sigh of relief and sat up slowly.

Her eyes then met a pair of deep eyes that were as light as the blue sea.

Chapter 34: Encounter

"Good morning, Cha Cha."

The man's face was the most magnificent piece of art created by God. Even though she had just woken up, Su Cha could not help but smile when she saw him. "Mhmm," she murmured as she dozed off on Bo Mui for another two or three minutes, before she absolutely had to get up.

Going to school was her *bête noire*¹.

Bo Mui needed to go to work as well, so he got out of bed after Su Cha.

Outside the window, streaks of daylight were already present as the sky brightened up earlier than usual. Su Cha saw Bo Mui walking in as she headed to the bathroom to wash up.

He did not try to avoid Su Cha in the slightest as he entered the bathroom and took off his night robe in front of her. The long and slender fingers that unbuttoned every single button transformed such a mundane action into an affliction full of elegance and superiority. As his half-naked body was revealed, even Su Cha could not help but gasp at Bo Mui's perfection.

Possessing a tall and slender body shape, that perfect eight-pack, and a well-defined Adonis belt that led to a place full of temptation. Even though she was used to seeing all sorts of handsome men in ancient times, Su Cha could not help but agree that Bo Mui was the most handsome man she had ever laid eyes on.

While she was brushing her teeth, her gaze always strayed to Bo Mui's attractive body. Hey, one had to admire beauty when it is displayed for free.

Normally, Bo Mui was quite disciplined. Therefore, even when he saw Su Cha glancing at him multiple times, he merely smirked and changed quickly into his windbreaker, leaving Su Cha a tad bit disappointed.

Just as he was going to take off his pajama pants, Su Cha left the bathroom immediately.

After that, she could hear a sexy chuckle emitted from the guy behind her.

After waiting for her to change into her uniform, Bo Mui told her, "Su Cha, I will drive you to the location of the audition in the afternoon."

Su Cha swiftly agreed, "Sure, I will probably take a leave of absence in the afternoon, and leave at three o'clock. If you happen to have work, then you don't need to come over. Don't delay your work."

"It's okay Cha Cha, I consider you more important than work."

The man lowered his head and with an air of piety, left a kiss on her forehead.

“Good morning Young Master, Miss Su Cha.”

Seeing that Bo Muyi brought Su Cha to the car, Bai Kun was not surprised at all. After a night of processing what he saw, now he could smile perfectly in front of Su Cha.

Su Cha was also in a good mood, so she returned the greeting, “Mornin’.”

The face of the man beside her darkened instantly. His gaze even became even more terrifying, so much so that Bai Kun almost peed himself when he saw it.

I was just greeting her, do you have to act like this, Young master?

Su Cha had detected Bo Muyi’s change in mood. She took his palm and said gently, “Muyi, don’t lose your temper.”

Bo Muyi pressed his lips into a thin line. He did not look happy, but at least he nodded his head in response to Su Cha.

Bai Kun was suddenly full of admiration for Su Cha again!

As they neared the school, in order to not let anybody to know that she came to school in a Bentley, as it was too ostentatious, Su Cha got down from the car. She bid farewell under the reluctant gaze of a certain man, and headed in the direction of the school.

Looking at the school that she had not entered after many decades, a mysterious smile presented itself on Su Cha’s face.

It was not as if she had no regrets when she left the school. Right now, as she had reincarnated into a new life, no one could stand in her path of achieving her goals.

When she walked up to the entrance of the school, two girls were watching her step out from a black luxury car. One of them asked in a suspicious tone, “Is that Su Cha...?”

The other girl glanced at Su Cha. One could not find another similar face that was as beautiful as Su Cha's, so she nodded and said, "It seems so."

At that moment, the girl who spoke first squinted.

¹ A person or thing that one particularly dislikes.

Chapter 35: Would You Like To Eat An Egg?

Su Cha entered the school.

The school gate had just been opened, and most of the students were entering their own classes one after another. Some students who saw Su Cha took a few more glances and occasionally some would discuss among themselves.

People who looked beautiful would attract attention anywhere.

Su Cha was rather well known in the school for her beauty. However, she did not fit in well because of her temperament. The other girls wittingly or unwittingly rejected her from joining them, so Su Cha was not very popular in school.

Nevertheless, she lived a normal life.

Not many people knew about her relationship with Di Yao.

Su Cha was in Class Five of Grade 12, which was an ordinary class.

Class Five was neither as excellent as Class One and Two, nor as bad as the subsequent classes that were always at the end when it comes to academic grading. The students in Class Five were average.

Their class teacher was an honest and amiable middle-aged woman who taught them Mandarin language. In short, everything was absolutely common.

In fact, most people lived a normal life.

Su Cha had not been in school for decades. She could not even recall where her classroom was.

Nonetheless, when she saw the white-painted school buildings, the location of her class soon resurfaced. It seemed like as soon as she saw or thought about something, the related memory would come back to her.

When she entered the class, there were only a few students as not many came at that time.

Everyone was surprised when they saw Su Cha.

Su Cha was different from her previous self. Instinctively, everyone could not take their eyes off her.

Walking from outside into the classroom, her countenance was bright and youthful. Other than her outstanding beauty, her back was straight and her manners weirdly dignified.

Her footsteps were neither hurried nor sluggish, walking by the corners of the desks. For a moment, the classmates around her felt an indescribable pressure.

Aura was really something incomprehensible, but when you see someone, you would be able to feel the obvious, indescribable aura that surrounded the person.

Although Su Cha was beautiful, she stuck to rules, not causing any scenes. Most of her classmates did not have any bad feelings against her, especially the boys.

However, students nowadays were still euphemistic. A few male classmates glanced at Su Cha several times, but they did not dare to say good morning to her.

Su Cha sat on her seat. There were many textbooks piled on the table.

That was the case for high school seniors. They were very pressured as they aimed to do well in academics. Books were stacked so high up on their tables that they could not be seen if they had lowered their heads slightly.

The tip of Su Cha's fingers trembled slightly when her fingers caressed the books on the desk.

She had not come across those for many years and she found herself missing them. The study life that once gave her high levels of stress did not feel boring and tasteless anymore.

"Su Cha?"

Su Cha turned her head hearing the voice. A female student, whose looks were ordinary but friendly, peeked at her with a little hesitation and timidity, "I bought an extra egg for breakfast. Other people have already had their breakfast, and I can't finish it. Would you like to eat an egg?"

She asked kindly and had no other meaning.

Su Cha was neither a people person nor an outcast. It was also normal for her classmates to give other people food that they could not finish.

The female classmate was Cai Ziya. Su Cha did not have a deep impression of her, as they did not keep in touch after graduating from high school. She had no idea what Cai Ziya would become in the future too.

Su Cha took a look at the warm egg in her classmate's palm and nodded with a smile, "Sure, thank you."
