

The Queen 321

Chapter 321: Su Cha F**king Watched Ultraman the Whole Day

Upon entering the room, Su Cha saw that Jin Mou was still asleep.

She herself had woken up early in the morning and did not know if Jin Mou woke up halfway. Looking at the time, Su Cha saw that it was now half-past six in the morning. There was no movement from Jin Mou's bed. Thinking that perhaps she wanted to sleep a little longer, Su Cha did not disturb her.

She turned on the computer and started watching a show.

Jin Mou only woke up at eight o'clock.

As she stirred, she saw Su Cha and said in a slightly hoarse voice, "Good morning."

"Morning."

Su Cha turned to look at her. "You're awake?"

Jin Mou nodded. She narrowed her eyes as she struggled back into alertness.

Of course, she did not have any makeup on. Her bare face was not bad and she had good skin. It was just that she did not look as bright as when she had makeup. Moreover, she appeared less cold and gave off the aura of a girl-next-door.

After she nodded, she looked around the dormitory. Her mind was still not clear, so she lay back on the bed and stared at the ceiling.

The program's live broadcast recorded Jin Mou's scene. The audience laughed when they saw the beautiful girl who was still asleep at eight o'clock.

[After waking up, I doubt life. It's me alright.]

[Same here ROFL]

[There's always that period of time when you doubt life after waking up.]

[Being able to sleep to nine o'clock is quite rare. ROFL.]

[Wait, am I blind? Is Su Cha f*cking watching Ultraman????]

Su Cha was indeed watching Ultraman.

People would know how to cherish something after suffering a loss. When Su Cha was young, she did not pay much attention to such childhood things. She also did not like to watch such boring soap operas. After all, her life in the past was already a bad soap opera. In conclusion, it was more interesting to watch episodes of Ultraman killing monsters...

Jin Mou, who had just woken up, probably began to feel that something was wrong. She glanced at Su Cha's screen. "Are you watching Ultraman?"

Her tone was filled with disbelief.

Su Cha replied with an "mm," and the people in the comments burst into laughter.

The broadcast streamed not just videos but sounds as well. It would otherwise be meaningless to watch a mute drama.

[Hahahahaha, the girl is very pure. She woke up early to watch Ultraman.]

[Uh... Are there still people watching Ultraman nowadays? Did she do it on purpose?]

[Would anyone want to create a bad character? That's why there's such a thing as acting...]

[I think it's quite cute.]

There were not many people watching the live broadcast early in the morning. It was especially the case in shows with many contestants where people could choose the ones they wanted to see or watch on the production crew's large-screen view. Some people specially came to see Su Cha, but after seeing Su Cha watching Ultraman, some people naturally suspected that she did it on purpose.

It created a negative effect.

The camera could also move. The audience could adjust the angle to have the same view as Su Cha. This way, they could watch Ultraman with her...

They felt that Su Cha was just pretending. She would not be able to watch it for long, so they waited patiently to see when Su Cha could no longer stand it.

Then they realized they were wrong.

Su Cha did not have much to do in the dormitory, and she did not know what else to occupy herself with. She found it interesting to watch Ultraman. After watching an episode, she watched another. Anyway, apart from when lunchtime came around, the audience who had been watching Su Cha the whole day discovered it...

Su Cha f**king watched Ultraman for a day!

Even if it was her character setup, the girl's behavior was too much. We watched your live broadcast and needed you to do something meaningful. There was no gain for us to watch Ultraman for a day!

Some of the viewers could not take it anymore and surrendered to Su Cha.

Chapter 322: The Top 50 Photos Are Released

Not all viewers had the patience to see what a contestant was doing for more than ten hours.

Especially when all a contestant did the entire time was watch Ultraman. That kind of torture was simply too much.

However, some of the sick viewers found it interesting. Although they did not have much fun watching it, they simply watched the whole day through Su Cha's camera.

Whenever some new viewers switched their perspectives, they would notice the change in the comments.

[I went to pee and missed the scene. How the f**k did Ultraman win? Can she rewind? Missing that part is eating at my obsessive-compulsive disorder.]

[The comments are ridiculous. From the perspective of the third-generation Ultraman, it must be that Old Ultraman's combat power is stronger.]

[I don't care how you compete, I'm on your side!]

[Tiga fans will never surrender!]

[????????????????? Isn't this a f*cking live broadcast? Why are you suddenly discussing Ultraman????]

The production crew quickly discovered that Su Cha was different from the others. When they found out that she had really been watching Ultraman for more than ten hours, they broke down a little. They could not help but contact her and persuade her, "It's such a good opportunity for you to at least practice your songs or do something else. The audience will think that you don't want to improve."

The woman who was addicted to Ultraman expressed her disapproval.

Jin Mou realized that Su Cha really liked to watch Ultraman and expressed her admiration...

Partway through, she watched Su Cha for a while. In the end, however, she couldn't take it anymore. She went out of the villa and to the song practice room.

Su Cha turned off her computer only after the live broadcast had ended.

She was still not satisfied.

Su Cha: “Actually, there’s nothing much to watch, but these videos are quite beneficial to the body and mind.”

Jin Mou: “...”

In the end, only a small number of viewers had been present. The news did not spread widely, so the popularity of Dreams in Progress did not rise high.

Then, the day before the first national broadcast, the production crew released the photos of the contestants taken before the competition began.

Their personal photo had been updated on the official website, but the group photo had not yet been revealed.

The production crew deliberately created a gimmick and released a group photo of the Top 50.

Dreams in Progress Official: “Can you guess which girls can successfully pass? Hurry up to PICK the girl you like. The popularity of the girl you like can be boosted on the official website~ [picture]”

As soon as the pictures were released, coupled with the hype, the show’s topic quickly blew up.

Many fans who had been looking forward to it for a long time started to change the topic, but after seeing the pictures, they started to feel that something was amiss.

Although there were many pictures, every girl’s looks were above the passing line.

But why was there always someone who’s more outstanding?

Even though she had a similar temperament as the others, Su Cha sat on the chair with her calm eyes. Her casual and indifferent posture exuded an inexplicable charm.

It was as if she was the only one wearing the filter of time. It made people unconsciously think of the label, “timeless beauty.”

Most people would notice her after looking at the photos for a long time.

Looking at Su Cha and the others...

It was hard to explain.

As soon as the photo was posted, the popular first comment revealed the thoughts of many fans.

“The photographer has a grudge with 49 of them, right?”

Chapter 323: A Good Kind of Person

No one knew if anyone held a grudge beforehand, but soon, a new round of hatred did start.

Why was Su Cha not in C?

Going by Su Cha’s performance results, she was also ranked C. However, due to the issue during the shoot, Su Cha was positioned at the edge of the photo.

Given that her aura was so strong that no one could ignore it, her fans were dissatisfied.

Su Cha was also their idol now. She was clearly ranked among the best, so why couldn’t she be ranked C?

It was hard to explain this matter to laymen. The C position or ranking was a popular phrase nowadays. Basically, a person in the middle of the group was in what’s called the C position. Many people only saw the C position at first glance, so the one in this position had to be strong or capable enough to stand out.

Dreams in Progress was just a singing competition based on girl groups. In essence, it was not a girl group and thus did not have a C position. Now that Su Cha’s fans were making a scene on Weibo, they found this distinction hard to explain.

The other group champions were all sitting in the center. It was even more awkward to say that Su Cha didn't need to be in the center.

Her aura was so strong that everyone had no choice but to make Su Cha sit by the side?

It was simply hilarious. It would make the other fans uncomfortable.

Hence, the production crew could only pretend that they did not see it.

They also told Su Cha about it during the shoot, thinking it would probably go over after a little fuss.

There were not many idol fans nowadays, and they could not cause much trouble.

In actuality, after the Weibo post went up that day, many contestants became unhappy when they saw the hot comments.

None of them could smile when they saw the photo.

No one would feel happy if they were the ones being suppressed and mocked.

After that Weibo post, several famous forums opened a few related posts. People were joining in to comment on how powerful Su Cha was.

Even if some contestants were real passersby, this commotion had still somehow created a barrier between them.

People feared comparisons the most. And considering how Su Cha had not done anything special yet, it was as if all eyes and attention were attracted to her easily.

Since they lived together, they had to get used to being in such close proximity. However, Su Cha never talked to them and only stayed in the room with Jin Mou. Everyone knew that she was watching Ultraman. Some contestants thought that Su Cha was just putting on an act, but some could not help but follow her example and start watching cartoons.

They tried to make themselves look cute so that the audience would like them.

But they were just pretending. Who would have the patience to sit in front of the computer for more than ten hours without moving to watch an animated show? Those things were something they had long gotten sick of watching when they were young. In the end, not many people persisted.

Su Cha, who always insisted on watching Ultraman, became quite the exception. Even the audience knew that she liked to watch these things. Some of the audience followed her and watched almost every episode of Ultraman that came out over the years...

If it was an act, who would act like this? Their patience and perseverance would have to be simply insane.

It was also because of this that even though Su Cha seldom interacted with others, it was still evident that she had fans online.

To many people, she was someone quiet with a good voice. She was also a top student. That was enough to make many people like her.

Chapter 324: Did Ultraman Teach You How To Be Sweet?

After the live broadcast ended, Su Cha went outside the villa and sat on the swing in the garden.

The weather was hot and there were mosquitoes outside. Not many contestants were willing to come out at night.

However, Su Cha had to video chat with Bo Muyi. With her martial arts skills, mosquitoes and burning heat were not a problem for her, so she naturally did not mind.

“Is Cha Cha happy living in the dorm?”

On the other side of the phone, it was still a sunny day. He seemed to be sitting in the office, and it was obvious that he was in a tall building.

He did not raise his phone, probably having placed it on the table.

Even in the face of such a powerful video camera, the man's facial features were still unbelievably perfect. He was not affected by the camera at all. His deep, obsidian-like eyes reflected pampering emotions. His eyes were still as handsome as ever, and his aura was like a clear spring breeze, perfectly blending with his stoicism. The tie in front of his neck was perfectly tied, and the curve seemed to be a little serious.

He was a man who was contradictory yet intoxicating.

He had the ability to drive everyone crazy.

Even Su Cha could not help but smile when she saw him like this.

After all, she was in a good mood after seeing such a beautiful person.

She held her phone and looked at Bo Muyi, who was still as perfect as ever. She shook the swing happily. "How are you overseas?"

Bo Muyi's answer was as Su Cha expected. "Not good."

How could he feel good without Su Cha around?

Seeing his frown on the camera, Su Cha smiled gently. "There's nothing I can do about it. I can't go home even after you get back. I'll still be living here. The competition will take about two months."

Bo Muyi was unexpectedly happy. "Just remember that the Lookout Pavilion is your home."

Su Cha was stunned for a moment before she smiled. Her smile was sweet and charming. Her eyes were as soft as a kitten's. Bo Muyi's heart skipped a beat. He wished he could return home right now.

Unfortunately, things had not been settled.

He had watched Su Cha's performance in the dormitory these past two days. She was so obedient that his heart ached for her.

She watched TV on her own every day and did not interact with others. Even if there was a girl living with her in the dormitory, the girl knew her limits and kept a distance from Su Cha. Bo Muye was quite satisfied with this.

He did not like to see Su Cha being too intimate with anyone, but he did not want to limit her interaction.

If Cha Cha became too depressed, it would affect their relationship.

Su Cha: "Wherever you are, that is my home."

Her sudden words eased the man's frown. Of late, he could not help but smile. "Cha Cha, how did your mouth become so sweet? Did Ultraman teach you to be like that?"

Su Cha heard Bo Muye's complaints and knew that this man must have known about what she was doing. She could not help but laugh. "I think that show is quite good..."

Before she finished laughing, she suddenly felt a movement behind her. It was as if a breeze had brushed past her, but there was something wrong.

She retracted her smile and turned around in an instant. Probably because she reacted very quickly, she saw a shadow between the trees behind the villa that disappeared instantly.

Seeing her sudden change in expression, Bo Muye asked anxiously, "What's wrong, Cha Cha?"

Chapter 325: Raising a Flag

"No," Su Cha replied vaguely.

She felt that it was a figure, and it seemed unusual that it suddenly appeared there.

There was nothing unusual going on in the villa.

However, Su Cha could still feel a dark gaze, as if it was sizing her up.

A few seconds later, another figure jumped out of the villa and followed the direction where Su Cha had noticed something.

It must be a secret guard arranged by Bo Muyi.

Su Cha frowned slightly. Even the secret guards had come out to prove that she was not mistaken. Why would a martial artist appear in the villa where the contestants lived?

She knew that the security around the villa was useless to these people. It was easy for them to enter.

“What did you see?”

Bo Muyi could not have failed to see Su Cha’s obvious reaction in the video.

“There seemed to be someone just now.”

Su Cha vaguely revealed a little, “So I turned around to take a look.”

Bo Muyi frowned. “Really?”

“Yes.”

She was right.

It would not be a problem for his secret guards to report it.

“Cha Cha, be careful there.”

Bo Muyi did not agree with Su Cha’s decision to stay in the villa, especially when the situation was complicated.

But his Cha Cha insisted.

A low sigh came out of the man's mouth. He had always been helpless against her.

"I know."

Su Cha smiled gently. The girl's laughter was like a crisp bell. However, it was late at night, and it sounded gloomy.

Su Cha chatted with Bo Muyi for a while more before entering the house.

Inside the dormitory, everyone was still awake. When she entered their room, Su Cha saw Jin Mou still humming a song.

Seeing Su Cha coming in, she asked in surprise, "You went out for a while?"

Su Cha smiled and nodded. "Have you washed up? I'm going to take a shower."

"I'll wait. You go first."

Su Cha nodded and went to the bathroom to take a shower. After she was done, she dried her hair and walked out of the bathroom. She bumped into Jin Mou making a call.

"Okay, I will take note."

"I'm living in the dormitory right now. There are so many people around, so what can happen?"

Jin Mou was complaining in a rare tone of voice, like a child who was a little impatient with her parents' advice. "Okay, I know, Brother!"

She sounded a little helpless. When she saw Su Cha coming out, she did not avoid her and just said, "Okay, we're going to rest. Let's do that for now. Bye-bye."

Su Cha continued drying her hair and smiled. "What did your brother ask you to pay attention to?"

He seemed to be reminding Jin Mou to be careful.

Jin Mou shrugged. “Actually, I’m not too sure either. My brother’s career is a little complicated, and there are more demented criminals in his line of work. Recently, he has been investigating a case that involved a lot of people, so he asked me to be careful about someone that might take revenge.”

Su Cha was a little surprised. “How can that be? Could it be that there are family members or someone else who’d come to trouble you?”

Su Cha knew that some of the police might get attacked by the suspect’s accomplices for revenge, but others taking revenge on their families generally happened to narcotics police officers. Could it be that Jin Mou’s brother was a narcotics police officer?

Jin Mou shook her head. “I’m not too sure either, but this is a dormitory, and I won’t go out. I’ll be fine.”