

The Queen 366

Chapter 366: I Am Sad That You Were Eliminated

Regardless of the comments, Su Cha ate happily.

She picked a few dishes that she could eat and dug in. Halfway through, Mona suddenly came over with a glass of fruit juice. She looked at Su Cha and toasted her, “Su Cha, we’re depending on you now. You have to work hard.”

As she spoke, her eyes seemed to be glistening with tears.

She did not know what this woman was up to, but Su Cha would not publicly embarrass her during the live broadcast.

Hearing this, she stood up and returned a toast to Mona with her juice. “Thank you. I know, I will work hard.”

Mona almost choked.

Su Cha took a big sip of the juice and looked at Mona. “I’m very sad that you were eliminated, really.”

Mona: “...”

Can’t you show a little sadness when you say that?

Then, Su Cha sat down and continued eating.

[Hahahahahahaha, I think Mona is a little upset...]

[What the hell, why is Su Cha so rude?]

[I'm dying of laughter. She was not eliminated by Su Cha, so there's nothing wrong with Su Cha's answer, is there?]

[I've always felt that Su Cha did not like Mona...]

[Monat is so fake. I've been following the live broadcast for so long, but I've never seen her interact with Su Cha before. Didn't she come to talk to her only after she's been eliminated? Their relationship is so bad, but Su Cha was being polite.]

Mona's lips twitched. She had wanted to say something but could not say it out loud. She could only bring the cup back to her seat sulkily.

She did not dare to say anything harsh to Su Cha, or anything else. When she fed Su Cha poison last time, it was enough to cast a shadow on her.

1

At the dining table, Ka Lian, who came back from being overseas, had a bad temper. She hated evil and hated Su Cha's pretentious appearance, and if it were someone else, she would have said something. But right now, she dared not say a word in front of Su Cha.

The meal was depressing. After Su Cha finished eating, she went back to her room and continued watching Ultraman.

She was going to end the series soon.

After the Top 20 competition was over, they would then be reduced to the Top 15.

During the competition from the national top 30 to the top 20, the progress of the live broadcast had been comparable to recorded shows in any television station.

After all, it had to be kept secret who had been eliminated. The live broadcast could not be broadcasted.

Hence, the live broadcast had had to make adjustments. The production crew had asked the contestants to interact with their fans directly. After editing, the live mode would be released onto the official website.

Compared to the previous episode, the viewership ratings for this episode had improved once again.

The reputation of the established show Dreams in Progress started to rise once more.

As there were fewer and fewer contestants, the remaining contestants finally started to attract attention. Some of them were now more invested than they used to be.

After all, the more people there were, the more unhappy the audience would be. Only when there were fewer people would they be interested.

Although the Top 20 had already come out, many people were still just starting to pay attention to the Top 30.

Among them, Su Cha's popularity had improved significantly. Since the last time, her number of followers on Weibo had reached almost 500,000.

The speed at which she attracted fans was frightening. What was even more shocking was that Su Cha did not like to interact with fans.

Chapter 367: Cha Cha Wants His Life

They were essentially normal talent contestants. The group members would only make their appearance in the later stages. The production crew would not force them to maintain intimate interaction with the audience.

However, it was untenable for her to not interact completely. The production crew thus urged Su Cha to post a selfie on Weibo.

In this simple selfie, she merely looked at the camera. Her eyes were clear like a spring hit by a bright light. Her eyes alone seemed to be able to speak.

As they looked at the camera, it was as if those eyes could take away one's soul.

She did not make it that way on purpose. She just added a filter and sent the photo out.

Su Cha Official: "Everyone, good afternoon! [Picture]"

"This photo was taken casually by the production crew after she had lunch at noon. Even though her skills were not good, she took a selfie on her phone. However, because she had a willful look, she looked good no matter what."

"Oh my god, my sweetheart is so good-looking!"

"Su Cha, you're so beautiful!"

"—Crazily fighting for others, singing like an elf, why are you so one-of-a-kind?"

"—She's the provincial champion, a super genius. Her singing is awesome and she's so pretty. Was it God who sent her to anger us commoners?"

"She's like a veteran officer on a routine mission..."

While Su Cha was taking pictures, she was also in front of a mirror.

If she took a photo and posted it on Weibo, Bo Muyi would definitely know about it. To prevent him from blowing up, Su Cha deliberately took a dynamic video.

She was originally dressed casually, but now, she was wearing a wide T-shirt with a pair of shorts on the lower half. She had a pair of long and beautiful legs, and they were shockingly straight.

Sometimes, couples had to have some fun. Su Cha was not a rigid person. She deliberately pulled her wide T-shirt aside and winked at the camera.

She did not give off any seductive look. Her smile was clean and clear, making people feel better. However, with her movements, she gave off an indescribable attractive feeling.

Su Cha sent the short video to Bo Mui.

Bo Mui was working alone in the office. When he saw the message on his phone, he opened it without hesitation.

In the end, when he opened it, a dynamic video started loading. The moment it was opened after the video was uploaded, it started moving.

The girl in front of the camera had an exquisite face. Her long hair was simply draped behind her back, and her shoulders were exposed. She looked like a kitten that was tormenting people. When she blinked at the camera, Bo Mui's breath tightened.

He felt that this video could take his life.

All he could think about was the image that was repeatedly winking.

It was as if a magic door had been opened. The man was deep in it and felt his mouth go dry. He pulled at his collar and his handsome face tightened.

His Cha Cha was really being naughty now that he was not in the country.

If she didn't send him such a video to kill him, what was it for?

Bo Mui suddenly felt lucky that he did not hand his phone to Bai Kun today. Otherwise, if other people saw Su Cha's coquettish manner, Bo Mui would probably have the urge to stab them to death.

From today onwards, he could not hand over his phone to anyone else.

Chapter 368: Her Biological Parents Came to Her

Bo Muiy gritted his teeth and called Su Cha.

“Cha Cha, do you want my life?”

The man’s usually clean and calm voice was obviously being suppressed to sound patient. Su Cha found it amusing that the man who could act so calmly in front of her was also able to act like this. She was so happy that she wanted to roll around in bed and deliberately asked, “What did I do?”

Bo Muiy was furious. All he wanted to do now was to hold this person in his arms and do whatever he wanted. But since this person was in the country and he was overseas, it was unrealistic for him to do anything, being too far away. He could only hold it in. “I will teach you a lesson when I get back!”

He emphasized on teaching her a lesson.

Even Su Cha’s heart skipped a beat when she heard his harsh tone. Her ears went numb and her body went soft. “Then I’ll wait for you to come back.”

She was very innocent and did not dare to push this person into a corner.

He might be able to fly back home immediately.

Every word Su Cha said seemed to have other meanings in Bo Muiy’s ears. He could not suppress the impulse in his heart when he thought of Su Cha’s pure and innocent face.

Bo Muiy had something to do and it was midnight. He could not chat with Su Cha for long.

After hanging up reluctantly, he looked at the documents on the table. His usual arrogance and calmness did not seem to work. His mind was filled with Su Cha’s face.

The man’s eyes darkened and he finally got up and walked to the bathroom.

He had to take another bath.

Su Cha, who'd been teasing Bo Mui, felt like she had discovered a new world. She found it ridiculous when she saw Bo Mui's rare look of exasperation.

She thought that she might be in trouble when he came back.

But he was not back yet, so what was there to be afraid of!

Before the competition for the Top 15 officially began, Su Cha's peaceful life suddenly became turbulent.

She was in the villa that day. Suddenly, a staff approached her, saying that someone had come to the villa to look for her, and it was not a fan.

Even fans would not be able to enter.

At that time, Su Cha did not think about who it was. However, since the production crew came to her to tell her that they had agreed for her to meet them, she went out directly.

On the road outside the villa was a low-key luxury car.

Su Cha recognized the logo of the car.

Even the cheapest one cost millions.

Standing next to the car was an old man in a suit.

He was about 50 years old. Even his hair was neatly trimmed. His gentle face exuded a strictness and an indescribable elegance.

When he saw Su Cha, he even bowed slightly to her. "Miss Su."

Su Cha paused. One of the contestants who saw Su Cha coming out was shocked.

Such an exaggerated way of greeting. Were they filming a drama?

The old man stood up and crossed his arms in front of him. He smiled and said, “Miss Su will definitely be surprised by who I am. You will find out soon. I wonder if Miss Su is willing to come with me? This matter concerns your biological parents.”

He spoke with a respectful tone, which was not dissimilar to the one used by Ah Chen and Bai Kun.

Su Cha squinted at the mention of her biological parents.

She roughly understood what Bo Muyi had told her about her biological parents.

Chapter 369: A TV Show

Su Cha agreed to go with him.

The reason why the production crew agreed to come in directly to look for her was probably because of the guest’s identity.

Looking at him, Su Cha knew that her biological parents were not ordinary.

After all, ordinary people would not have someone like this old man in their family.

He looked like a butler.

Su Cha got into the car and asked directly, “Who are my parents?”

She asked very calmly, and no one could tell what she meant.

It was as if it was just a natural thing to ask.

The old man glanced at Su Cha through the rearview mirror and smiled slightly. "Miss Su is indeed different from what your parents have imagined. You will be able to see them soon. When we saw you on television, we were also very surprised. After all, we never thought that Madam's Missy would still be alive."

Su Cha's eyelids twitched unconsciously.

Still be alive?

What do you mean?

Of course, Su Mingzhe never had the intention to return their money to them. So why did he imply that they thought she was dead?

Su Cha quickly understood the situation after coming up with the only reasonable explanation.

That is, that this was their excuse. They were just afraid that Su Cha would develop resentment or such because they were not able to find her after so many years, so they made up a reason.

She suddenly smiled. "How should I address you?"

She could still maintain her manners in front of the old man.

The old man remained smiling. "Just call me Butler Xiang. I'm the butler of your parents."

"Okay, Butler Xiang."

She changed the direction of the conversation. "How can you prove that I am the lady you speak of? I haven't even done a paternity test. Aren't you afraid that you've found the wrong person?"

These words were not polite at all. There was even an inexplicable sense of oppression in them. The manager's smile suddenly became difficult to grasp. "Missy's appearance is exactly the same as Madam's. This is also how we can quickly confirm Missy's identity."

Su Cha clicked her tongue.

It felt like a dream, but it was not a dream.

Everything happened so suddenly.

There seemed to be no reason behind it.

But this reason was rather ridiculous.

She could feel the butler's gaze on her non-stop. But was there anything wrong if he was looking?

On the way, Su Cha did not speak.

Until the butler drove her to another direction in the city.

The famous wealthy district, the Imperial Capital's top mansion.

The only residence that had a unique status was the Lookout Pavilion, but ordinary people did not know about that.

This, on the other hand, was the residential area that the upper-class circle of the Imperial Capital yearned for.

It was possible that a person who lived here was someone who had control over the Imperial Capital's lifeline or a top tycoon in the industry.

The famous Zuo family was located here.

When the car stopped, Su Cha lifted her eyes and glanced at the magnificent building past the car window. She could not help but click her tongue.

Even a villa paled in comparison.

The mansion in front of her had a modern style. The servants standing on both sides of the huge fountain statue showed how extraordinary it was.

The butler stopped the car and opened the car door for Su Cha. Then, he gestured respectfully to her.

Su Cha got out of the car. The moment her feet stepped on the ground, the servants on both sides suddenly made an orderly sound.

“Welcome home, Miss Su!”

Su Cha: “...”

She suddenly felt that the Lookout Pavilion was too low-key.

Chapter 370: Push Her Away!

It was not to the extent of being mistaken for a nouveau riche, but it was obvious that this place was very classy.

With so many people, it could only be said that the people who lived here were of high status.

But if we speak of “luxurious”...

Su Cha had once enjoyed the supreme status of being the Empress Dowager. As soon as she appeared, everyone worshipped her.

This was not something modern society could express.

Hence, Su Cha found the present display amusing and ridiculous.

When she followed the butler to this mansion, she was like a noble who lived in the present. She always gave people an ethereal feeling, as if her life here was destined to be superior and extraordinary.

The two doors opened, and the servants at the door bowed to Su Cha. It was easy for these people to feel light-headed, or even fearful.

Su Cha did not believe that she could not figure out how they felt. After all, she used to be an ordinary person.

The butler's employers had brought her to such a home, but it was unclear what the other party was up to.

After all, ordinary people would not be able to withstand such immense pressure.

However, Su Cha walked calmly the whole time. She even felt that it was only natural for them to be respectful.

She walked to the main hall and saw its magnificence.

The luxurious and elegant top-notch decoration was obviously the work of the world's most famous designers. Every scene here made people feel like they were in a palace.

But Su Cha had lived in a real palace for decades.

What caught her attention was not these, but a noble woman who was already crying in the main hall.

Su Cha was surprised to see her.

It was not because of her stunning beauty, but because of her looks. As the butler had said, she really resembled Su Cha too much.

They looked very similar.

But the remaining four points formed two different women.

She had extreme beauty. Su Cha did not seem to have inherited it completely, but she was not inferior to her.

She was wearing a long dress as she stood there, delicate and elegant. This woman seemed to have been doted on to the extreme. The superior aura she exuded was stronger than that of many people. It was obvious that she must be very happy.

But looking at such a woman, Su Cha suddenly felt strange.

She felt as if a drum was beating in her heart. At first, she did not feel it, but in the end, it became louder and louder.

Her heart raced until the woman suddenly pounced on her and grabbed her arm. She exclaimed excitedly, "Daughter, my daughter!"

Looking at her face, it was as if there was no need for any proof.

Anyone could tell that Su Cha was indeed the daughter of this woman.

Su Cha stared at her tightly clasped hands in a daze. Her fingers were long and delicate, and even her nails had been carefully protected. They were beautiful and charming.

From beginning to end, such a woman could only be described with the words exquisite and perfect.

However, a terrifying thought suddenly came to Su Cha's mind. It was baffling and could not be stopped.

Push... push her away!

Push her away!

She pushed her away and let her fall!

It was like a voice had suddenly appeared in Su Cha's mind. She felt her head ache and did not know why she had such a thought, but she could not control her movements, and though she did not use too much strength, she still easily pushed the woman away.

The woman was stunned when she saw Su Cha push her away.
