

The Queen 411

Chapter 411: Not Living in the Villa

“Yes.”

Since it was still a little late, she could continue to sleep.

Hearing her words, Bo Muyi stood up and took off his coat.

He turned on the bedside lamp. The sudden dazzling light made Su Cha close her eyes instinctively. When she opened them again, Bo Muyi had already changed into his pajamas.

When he came over to lie down, Su Cha realized that there was a blue stubble on his chin.

She had never seen Bo Muyi in such a sorry state, even though it did not diminish his appearance.

Her heart ached a little as she waited for Bo Muyi to lie down. He hugged her waist and rested his chin on her head before closing his eyes.

After a few days of not sleeping, he had finally returned to Su Cha's side. A few minutes later, Su Cha heard the even breathing coming from above her head.

He was probably asleep.

She closed her eyes and fell asleep as well.

When she woke up again, it was already bright outside.

She moved slightly, and the person pressing on her also moved. He tilted his body slightly and held her tighter.

Su Cha hesitated but did not get up. Otherwise, she would awaken Bo Muyi.

However, it was too difficult to be awake like this. She could only stare blankly out of the window.

Bo Mui had slept for too long. In the end, he was woken up by a phone call.

His phone was placed on the bedside table. When he took the phone and spoke to it, he did not open his eyes. His other hand held Su Cha tightly.

Well...

Bo Mui replied lazily. Su Cha heard that the call was from a man who spoke English. He was probably reporting something.

Bo Mui had just returned from overseas and had slept for only a few hours, yet he had to deal with other matters already.

Su Cha recalled what Shi Wei had said. The person in charge of the Bo family was Bo Mui, right?

Thinking about it, he had too many things to handle.

However, he was already awake. Su Cha was about to get up earlier when she was forced to lie in bed for a few hours.

As soon as she moved, Bo Mui opened his eyes.

The black obsidian-like eyes looked at Su Cha as if the person had not just woken up.

"I have to call the production crew..." Su Cha whispered.

Although her voice was soft, it was probably heard by the person on the other side of the phone. She heard an exaggerated voice, "Boss? Woman?"

Bo Mui let go of her hand and hummed softly.

Su Cha immediately stood up to change her clothes.

She looked at the time. It was almost noon.

She was a little hungry. After washing up, she called the director of the production crew and explained her intentions.

“Huh? You’re not staying here anymore?”

The director was also a little surprised. Of course, he said that it would not work, but Su Cha insisted. He had no choice but to let Su Cha go to the villa.

At least to take her luggage.

After Su Cha finished talking, Bo Mui had already risen up.

He was wearing only a pair of black pajamas and pants. His upper body was bare, and his perfect abdominal muscles could make it hard for people to take their eyes off him. He was holding an automatic razor and was slightly raising his head to shave his stubble.

No matter what he did, this kind of man was very sexy.

When he saw Su Cha coming in, he smiled gently at her. “Cha Cha, do you know how to do it?”

Su Cha shook her head. “No.”

She did not want to learn it as she was afraid that Bo Mui might bleed.

Chapter 412: Lian Chi’s Birthday Banquet

What if he bled?

Bo Mui chuckled and did not force her.

After washing up, he picked a black shirt from the wardrobe and changed into it.

Su Cha liked to see him in a black shirt. He was handsome and charming, a man who could slay.

Whenever she saw him, she would subconsciously have certain thoughts. When she realized the huge difference between the two of them, she would often feel lost.

The man changed and pinched Su Cha's face. "Cha Cha, are you hungry?"

He always called her by her pet name. No one could resist his pampering, not even Su Cha.

She rubbed her face against his palm and said softly, "I'm hungry."

Like a kitten.

The man chuckled and pressed the bell in the room before getting someone to deliver the food.

During the meal, Su Cha wanted to ask him if he wanted to know.

Was he not surprised that she knew martial arts?

Why did he keep asking nothing?

Su Cha felt that it was hard to explain. She did not want Bo Muye to know about it, but she also felt that Bo Muye did not even want to ask. Keeping it from him was making her feel increasingly guilty.

However, this matter was too complicated and could not be explained clearly with just a few words.

But Bo Muye did not ask.

After dinner, Su Cha said that she was going to the villa to take her luggage, and Bo Muye followed her.

Of course, in order not to attract attention, he just sat in the car and waited for Su Cha while discussing work with others.

After entering the villa, Su Cha went inside to pack her luggage. A few contestants gathered in the common room to make dessert. When they saw Su Cha packing up and coming out, they looked at each other in surprise.

Yu Shuran saw her carrying her luggage and asked directly, “Su Cha, are you leaving?”

Su Cha glanced at everyone in the room and smiled gently. “Yes. I have some things to do at home. Of course, I will still participate in the competition.”

Some people looked disappointed.

Su Cha smiled without saying anything.

These people probably thought that her moving out meant that she was leaving the competition, huh?

How naive.

After she pushed her suitcase out of the villa, a secret guard who had been prepared came to help her push it into the car.

The black car was parked by the roadside and did not seem strange at all. The tightly-shut car window was tinted.

Opening the door, the man looked over elegantly. “Are you done packing, Cha Cha?”

Su Cha nodded. “Done.”

“Cha Cha, do you like to attend banquets? There’s a banquet tonight. Come with me.”

“Oh?”

Su Cha subconsciously agreed, “Okay.”

Then she asked, “What banquet?”

The man looked at her and suddenly curved his lips into a deep smile. “It’s a birthday banquet. Cha Cha, do you know a man called Lian Chi?”

Su Cha paused.

Su Cha did not expect to hear this name from Bo Mui.

She suddenly remembered that Lian Chi’s birthday was indeed around this time.

After all, she remembered those days clearly. Even after so many years, how could she forget it so easily?

However, she could already ignore it, but she did not expect Bo Mui to mention it.

When he saw her in a trance, the man’s smile disappeared.

Chapter 413: Untitled

Seeing Bo Mui’s expression, Su Cha knew that something was wrong.

It was rare for her to feel awkward. It was unlikely that she did not know him. After all, they were childhood sweethearts.

But to say that she knew him...

It was not quite right as she did not know Lian Chi’s name.

Lian Chi was not called Lian Chi in the past. She only found that out later.

So Su Cha thought for a while and said directly, “No, but the name sounds familiar.”

That explained why she was in a daze.

Bo Mui's eyes flickered. "Really? Don't you know him, Cha Cha?"

Petty.

Su Cha glanced at him in confusion. "Do you think I should know him?"

Bo Mui did not say anything and just chuckled. "Maybe Cha Cha knows him."

Su Cha did not know if Lian Chi had hidden his past after returning to the Lian family.

But if Bo Mui wanted to investigate, he should be able to easily find out that they were childhood sweethearts.

Hence, this man must have an idea.

But if he did not say it now, it would depend on Su Cha's reaction when she found out.

Su Cha felt a little helpless. What could she do? If she lost control of herself, wouldn't this man be so jealous?

She blinked. "Did I meet him before?"

Bo Mui touched Su Cha's cheek with his fingers. "Yes."

Su Cha was enlightened.

Bo Mui might not know at this time. She already knew who Lian Chi was, but Bo Mui must be thinking about how Su Cha would react when she saw Lian Chi and realized that he was her childhood sweetheart.

After all, an investigation would reveal that Su Cha had had some conflicts with this childhood sweetheart.

The man woke up early in the morning and probably did not sleep well. On the way back, he rested his head on Su Cha's shoulder and fell asleep.

Su Cha leaned her cheek on top of his head and looked ahead, deep in thought.

She and Lian Chi were considered childhood sweethearts, but they were different from ordinary people.

She did not like Lian Chi much. Since they were young, she had always regarded Lian Chi as her brother.

After all, from the time she met Su Mingzhe, the only person she could feel warmth from was Lian Chi—and Lian Chi's mother.

Of course, ever since Lian Chi moved away and he returned to the Lian family, Su Cha had never seen Lian Chi's mother again.

In her memory, she was a gentle woman who treated her very well.

Su Cha knew that Lian Chi had a secret background. Otherwise, he would not have returned to the Lian family.

In the past, Lian Chi was also such an outstanding person in that ordinary place. It seemed that he was extraordinary.

In fact, that view was all because she still had feelings for Lian Chi as a brother. In the end, she found herself being treated like that by Lian Chi, causing her to hate him in disbelief.

She had met Lian Chi last time.

She thought of the man she saw that time. He had become gentle and mature, but that gentleness was no longer the same as the one the clean-looking young man with a warm smile had.

There were some things that could not be reversed once it had happened.

Even now, some things would no longer happen after her change. But while it might not repeat this time, it did not mean that the past did not exist.

Chapter 414: A Cruise

At night, Bo Mui ordered someone to deliver a small gift of a dress.

The dress was pure white, and the body of the dress was like a falling cloud. The upper half of the dress was exposed, but it would not appear too revealing.

Su Cha's good figure was revealed.

Her hair was tied up simply, making her look serious and noble.

She was already 18 years old. At her tender age, she was dressed appropriately. She did not seem old and dull, but rather elegant and charming.

It was a fitting outfit. When Su Cha looked into the mirror, she lifted her chin slightly. "You've had it made for me?"

Otherwise, the size would not have suited her so well.

"Yes."

Bo Mui walked over and tied a crescent-shaped diamond necklace around her neck. It seemed to complement the neck that was as elegant as a white swan. Su Cha touched the necklace and smiled. "At least I like what you had made."

Bo Mui was strange sometimes.

He respected Su Cha's opinions, but he could make arrangements without asking her.

However, Su Cha felt that his decision was quite good. At least in these aspects, she was inclined towards Bo Mui's taste.

"As long as you like it."

His slender fingers brushed past her neck, bringing a slight tingling sensation. He moved closer to her ear and whispered, "Go there first tonight. I have something to do so I'll have to follow later."

Su Cha was stunned. She turned around and said, "I'll go first? How can I? I'm going with you."

She did not know anyone there. It would be awkward for her to go first.

"It's okay, the driver will send you there."

He tapped her collarbone with his fingertips and hugged her while giving a low laugh. "Are you afraid?"

"What am I afraid of?"

Su Cha raised her eyebrows. "I just feel that it's not good for me to go first since you are the main invited person."

"No one will ask."

Bo Mui planted a kiss on her shoulder and lowered his voice. "Be good and go over. Wait for me there."

Su Cha felt that Bo Mui was clearly plotting something.

He was supposed to take her to such an important occasion, but he had something on first so he was going to be late?

Su Cha did not expose him. When night fell, she took the car alone and went over.

Even after so many years, the thought of seeing Lian Chi made her heart flutter.

She had to think about how she would react if she saw someone later.

In Lian Chi's memory, he must be thinking that she'd always be the weak girl next door. Even if she had become more high-profile during the recent show, he would not suspect anything, right?

No one had mentioned the Lian family ever since she came to the Imperial Capital.

She only knew that it was Lian Chi's family.

The scenery outside the car window slid past one by one. When they arrived at the venue, Su Cha realized that the venue of the banquet was a huge luxury cruise.

Anchored on the shore of the river, the brightly lit and extravagant ship had become the most eye-catching structure nearby.

Su Cha saw many luxury cars driving over one by one. The driver handed her an invitation and said, "Miss Su, you can just go upstairs with the invitation. A waiter will bring you along. If you have an emergency, please call the young master."

"Okay."

Su Cha nodded and got out of the car with the invitation.

There was a bodyguard in charge of checking the invitation card in front of the cruise. Su Cha glanced at it slightly. If not for its appearance as a ship, she could call the cruise in front of her a luxury hotel on the sea. The size was unimaginable.

Chapter 415: Smoking Eyes

It was almost night time, and many people had arrived.

When Su Cha got out of the car, some people nearby subconsciously looked over.

Compared to that of many wealthy people, Su Cha's clothes looked relatively simple, but it was also a suitable evening gown.

However, her unique aura made the dress look even more ethereal. Her every move exuded a strong aura.

She looked around casually, went to the entrance of the cruise, and handed over the invitation card.

When the bodyguard who was checking the invitation saw Su Cha's invitation, a hint of surprise flashed in his eyes, and he immediately became very respectful. "Miss, this way please."

A waiter walked up with a perfect smile and led Su Cha aboard the cruise.

The cruise ship was about ten floors high, and they were going to the highest floor. There were even elevators inside.

This was indeed the kind of luxurious life for rich people. No one in ordinary society could imagine it.

Although it was her first time coming to such an occasion, Su Cha was not afraid at all. Fortunately, her past life had given her experience.

Entering the banquet hall in the middle of the cruise, she seemed to have stepped foot into a dream kingdom.

Everything here showed clearly that this was a place where only people of the capitalist class could enter. Luxurious clothes, champagne, red wine, and light shadows, it was probably a holy place for countless people.

You might have seen any random person from a magazine or from somewhere else.

Su Cha's entry did not bring any surprise to such an occasion. Instead, it made her unique.

The social circle of the high society was only so big. They basically knew each other. Su Cha was an unfamiliar face. After she'd entered the cruise, a few people had their eyes on her.

Under normal circumstances, people would usually think that a girl who came alone without a male partner was a young lady who had just returned from overseas.

Su Cha had an exquisite face and a unique temperament. Naturally, there were many people who were staring at her.

But some people were surprised. Why did the girl in front of them resemble the wife of the Zuo family head?

In addition to the fact that the Zuo family's situation had not been very peaceful recently, some other news had been revealed. Some people who were in-the-know could instantly guess Su Cha's identity.

They looked at each other and found it interesting.

The daughter of the Zuo family, who had just returned, was probably not familiar with the environment here. If he could get her, he would be able to reach the Zuo family.

All of a sudden, many men who had been warned by their elders looked at Su Cha with eagerness.

Su Cha found a seat and sat down. It was not a very eye-catching spot. The waiter poured her a glass of fruit juice. She looked at the people in the middle of the banquet hall in boredom. She had arrived too early, and the important characters that should have appeared were not present yet.

As soon as she took a sip of the juice, Su Cha saw a familiar figure walking towards her. She swallowed the fruit juice and almost threw up.

Tan Yezhu.

Tan Yezhu was wearing a female outfit.

"What a coincidence, we meet again."

His clear voice was pleasing to the ears. Su Cha was full of admiration for Tan Yezhu.

How dare Tan Yezhu wear a female outfit?

He was wearing a loose casual outfit today, which did not appear too out of place on such an occasion. Tan Zhu's female outfit had him giving off the aura of a strong woman.

After greeting her, he winked at Su Cha and sat down.

Su Cha: "..."
