

The Queen 781

Chapter 781: Watching the Show

Su Cha: "..."

The stylist: "..."

It didn't sound like there was anything wrong with her words. It was necessary for an assistant to suck up to her boss, after all.

However, Fu Mo's words gave off a strange feeling.

In addition, Fu Mo's looks were not bad...

The stylist glanced at the two of them strangely. Su Cha coughed lightly. "Let's continue to try other things."

After trying on all the clothes, Su Cha continued recording songs until late at night. When she returned home, she wanted to continue embroidering. Even her martial arts training had to be postponed for a while, but Bo Muyi came back and pestered her to do something with him. It was best that she fell asleep once she was dizzy.

The grand New York show had officially begun. People both from there and overseas were paying attention to it. The people in the country did not pay much attention to the big things in the fashion industry, but they would usually take a look at it when it's being promoted. In particular, looking at celebrity fashion during the show was a source of happiness for many netizens.

In fact, many celebrities did not deliberately wear such ugly clothes. Normal people knew what it meant to look ugly.

If one was not outstanding during the show, that was not surprising. Such shows were usually dominated by foreign celebrities. Thus, if one wanted to be in the limelight and gain attention, one naturally had to be different and stand out.

It was not so easy to stand out, so this "stand out" naturally could mean other things.

One could dress like a demon dancing around, for instance.

Hence, netizens complained that the celebrities who participated in such shows were becoming more and more eye-catching. In recent years, there had been an increase in such styles of clothing.

But the more they complained, the happier those people might be. They were afraid that if you looked ugly, no one would bother with you. That would be really awkward.

Chanel had three shows for three consecutive days, so Su Cha had to participate in three shows. She had a total of three sets of clothing.

On the 15th of December, the day before the show, she flew to New York.

Nowadays, one's participation in a fashion show had to be kept a secret. When she was at the airport, there were reporters taking pictures. As there were many local celebrities in the past two days, when they saw her, the reporters even took a few pictures of Su Cha. Fu Mo and the rest did not stop them. Anyway, it was just her daily style of clothing.

There was nothing unusual.

However, this group of photos was also sent to the country.

As Su Cha would be participating with Shao Tianwen, there was a photo of her with him not far away. There was also another celebrity who was participating in the Chanel show called Duan Jiashu.

The photos of the three of them were taken separately, and they were combined into nine squares. Each person had three pictures, which were posted on Weibo by the marketing account.

Bull's Eye TV Official: "There are three more people at the airport today. @Shao Tianwen, @Duan Jiashu, @Su Cha have arrived in New York. I look forward to the performance of these three people during the Chanel show."

“Why did you include a person who’s only after the hype with those two others? Don’t you think it’s an insult?”

“Isn’t this hashtag too vicious? She was openly invited. Why can’t she go? It was the reporter who photographed her. What does it have to do with others?”

“Don’t be like this. Best Actor Shao has worked with Su Cha before.”

“Don’t talk nonsense. Just look at the photo. Su Cha is actually the strongest among the three. As expected, she’s so photogenic... So unlike other girls buried in filters.”

“Did Best Actor Shao and Su Cha not speak when they met? Does this mean that Best Actor Shao and Su Cha are not on good terms? Tsk, tsk, tsk, as expected, he would not want to be bothered by such a pretentious actress who relied on despicable methods to climb up the ranks.”

Chapter 782: Problematic Le Anqi

On Weibo, whenever the New York show and Su Cha were mentioned, people would mock her.

Anyway, they were criticizing her for being in the fashion show.

Fu Mo read these comments to Su Cha, who had arrived at the hotel. Su Cha rolled her eyes. “They say that every day. Can’t they come up with something new?”

She took off her high heels and rotated her porcelain white ankle.

She always wore flats when she went to school. Today, she wore high heels and walked a long distance. She was in good spirits, but her legs hurt a little. As soon as she arrived, she quickly took her shoes off.

“What else can they mock you for?”

Fu Mo wrinkled her nose. In the past, she used to think that Su Cha was being gossiped about too much online. Now that she saw these comments, she was automatically immune to them.

Anyway, they were all insensible people. No matter how good Su Cha was, they would still laugh at her.

As Zou Manni was also participating in the show, Tan Jinsui had to take care of her, so he went to meet Zou Manni. However, Su Cha was not used to being spoiled by others. It was good that Tan Jinsui did not look for her. She asked Fu Mo to prepare a bath for her.

Late at night in New York, Su Cha received a call from Le Anqi.

Over the phone, Le Anqi stammered, “Su Cha, can you lend me some money?”

Hearing her words, Su Cha tore off the mask on her face and opened her eyes. “Why do you need to borrow money?”

She frowned. It was not that she was unwilling to lend it to her, but she remembered that Le Anqi had also borrowed money from her last time. Although she had returned it, she felt that something was wrong now that Le Anqi was borrowing some again.

Le Anqi said with a stammer, “I just need a bit. I haven’t been doing live broadcasts for the past few months, and my budget is a little tight. My mother is always worried that I will spend money recklessly, so she won’t give any to me...”

Her words were vague, and it was obvious that something was wrong.

If her budget was really tight, her mother should have given some money to her.

Le Anqi used to be a strong person, but now, she did not even dare to ask her mother for money.

Su Cha did not ask any questions. She just said lightly, “How much do you want to borrow?”

“Fifty... 20,000?”

She’d started to say a number, but she quickly changed it.

Su Cha narrowed her eyes. “If you want to borrow 50,000 yuan, I’ll lend you 50,000 yuan. I have this amount of money on hand, but what do you really want to do with it?”

“I want to buy some luxury goods. A single bag costs tens of thousands...”

She pretended to complain. Buying luxury goods seemed in character, but...

“I’ll get my assistant to transfer it to you later.”

Su Cha did not say much. Le Anqi was grateful to her. “Okay, thank you. Su Cha, I love you~”

After saying this, she quickly hung up.

Su Cha did not respond.

Su Cha paused and quickly sent Fu Mo a WeChat message, asking her to transfer 50,000 yuan to Le Anqi’s bank card. She had recorded it last time.

But this time, Su Cha asked Fu Mo to investigate what Le Anqi had been doing.

She did not believe that she was buying luxury goods. In her memory, Le Anqi knew her limits. She could afford it, but she would stop before she went too far. Why did she borrow money from Su Cha?

She had suspected it last time, but she did not ask in detail. This time, she had to investigate.

Le Anqi’s tone was also suspicious.

They only met occasionally, and Le Anqi was also someone who lived a different life. Su Cha could not pay too much attention to others, so she naturally did not know what Le Anqi had been doing recently.

Chapter 783: Poison

Fu Mo had sent the money and was now investigating Le Anqi.

She quickly found out something and gave Su Cha a call. She asked hesitantly, “Classmate Su, is your friend on good terms with you?”

Su Cha nodded. “Yes, she was my classmate. We went to the same high school together and she is a good friend.”

She did not deny her relationship with Le Anqi. If they were not friends, she would not care about Le Anqi.

“Look at WeChat.”

Fu Mo suddenly became hesitant. She asked Su Cha to look at WeChat. Su Cha hung up the phone and turned on WeChat. She saw a close-up photo of Le Anqi.

Fu Mo: “She posted it on her WeChat Moments. I removed the filters.”

How long had it been since she last saw Le Anqi?

It was only a month or two. She had been busy for the past two months, so she did not have the chance to meet her, and it was the same for Le Anqi. Even when they could chat on WeChat, she had to attend various classes.

But it had only been so long. Since the last time they parted, even though Le Anqi in this photo was still smiling, she had carefully chosen an angle. She looked beautiful, but her complexion was poor.

This was not how she usually looked. It seemed like she was going along with an influencer trend where her chin looked sharp.

But she did not have plastic surgery. Her complexion was just bad and she was too thin!

And one of the arms holding the camera was thinner than before.

It had only been a month or two, so how did Le Anqi change so much?

This change was not good.

If the filters had not been removed, it would not have been obvious. It would only make people think that she was still pretty.

Su Cha never looked at other people's Moments, so she'd naturally ignored these before.

Fu Mo sent a message quickly.

Fu Mo: "I've checked on other information about her. She's dating a guy. There's something wrong with her boyfriend's identity. Although he's in an art college with her, the rumors about him are not very good. Moreover, a group of people who have been in a secret relationship with him recently are famous students in the outer circle of the rich second-generation heirs in the Imperial Capital."

As she spoke, Fu Mo threw a few revealing pictures of Internet celebrities.

This time, she did not remove the filters. If Su Cha did not look carefully, she would not be able to tell who was who, but at least Le Anqi was among them.

She frowned instinctively and had a bad feeling.

Just the words "outer circle" made her scalp tighten.

Who did not know what the outer circle represented?

How could Le Anqi be with these people!

Fu Mo: "I speculated about the photo of their gathering. I think... she might be taking drugs. At least her boyfriend must be taking drugs."

Seeing the message from Fu Mo, Su Cha really did not know what expression to make.

Was it anger? Heartache? Or something else?

To be honest, it was not much.

She was not Le Anqi's family and had her own career to pursue. Le Anqi did not reveal anything when she chatted with her. How could she investigate Le Anqi's daily life for no reason? If Le Anqi had not borrowed money from her a second time, she would not have known that something was wrong.

But Le Anqi was at least her friend. As a friend, she had to give her a hand.

Ever since she was reborn, she had been able to differentiate some things. Le Anqi being a friend meant that she had some weight in her heart.

The show was imminent, and it was impossible for her to go back. She could only let Fu Mo watch over the matter first.

Cha Yi: "Look after her for now. Tell me if anything happens. I can only go back to look for her after the show. Also, check if her parents know about this."

Chapter 784: Trust Tan Jinsui's Sight

Su Cha was not in a good mood after finding out about Le Anqi's recent bad days.

Today was the first big show. She wore the classic black-and-white dress and a vintage hat.

The makeup artist was putting on makeup for her, and her charming yet dignified red lips and makeup made her slightly cold pupils look a little intimidating.

Although Chanel's style was exquisite and ladylike, her outfit was also amazing.

It was a long, dignified black and white one-piece dress. The waistline in the middle was tightened, making the waistline look delicate. Those pair of long legs could not be ignored. They were straight and smooth. It could even be deserving of an insurance policy.

She was also wearing Chanel's classic black round-toe high heels, but she did not look old at all. There was a thin gauze hanging from the brim of her hat, which gave Su Cha's eyes a hazy beauty and also reduced the sharpness in them.

But her hazy beauty, paired with the dignified and retro temperament, was like that of an old celebrity who had been resurrected from television. Her body was stained with the elegance of the old times. Her entire person was in black and white. Only her red lips were dazzling, as if they wanted to pull one out of the misty rain. It did not affect her original gentleness and intense contradiction, but she was so beautiful that it made one lose their soul.

This kind of beauty seemed to be innate. Everyone would admire it. Even the stylist, who had been afraid all morning, could not help but be amazed and impressed along with Fu Mo and the others.

Her high and mighty aura was like that of a true noble, truly exuding the aura of this set of clothes to the extreme.

No one could imitate her beauty.

"I'm afraid even Chanel's designers would be amazed."

"I think she's the first female celebrity in our industry who can pull off Chanel to such an extreme?"

"Ah, you can't say that, but she's really... too beautiful!"

The surrounding people's praises did not improve Su Cha's mood.

She did not intend to vent her anger on others. After putting on makeup, it was about time for her to rush to the show.

The show would begin at three o'clock in the afternoon. It would not take long for her to go from the hotel to the show.

Tan Jinsui called Fu Mo first. As Su Cha could not bring her phone, Fu Mo was watching.

He made a video call and asked Fu Mo to record Su Cha. "I want to see her current state."

Fu Mo recorded Su Cha. Tan Jinsui was stunned. “As expected of his daughter.”

She did not know who he was referring to.

“Very good. It’s enough to keep this up. Keep this aura that seems to say others owe you millions.”

Su Cha: “...”

“You only need to amaze the audience with your opening performance today and you will succeed. It was not in vain that I borrowed this set of Haute Couture for you. I really had to expend some effort.”

There was something he did not say. This set of clothes was originally supposed to be lent to Zou Manni by Chanel. However, Tan Jinsui felt that the dress might not suit Manni, so he suggested lending it to Su Cha. On Chanel’s side, there was some hesitation. It was Manni who said that she would lend it to Su Cha.

As a super queen, she looked forward to this junior. She also believed in Tan Jinsui’s taste. If Tan Jinsui said that the dress did not suit her, then it definitely did not. However, this set of clothes was also beautiful. She did not want to see it worn by other celebrities. She felt that it would be a little wasteful.

However, when she heard that it would go to Su Cha instead, she went and agreed.

She had said that she believed in Tan Jinsui’s taste.

Chapter 785: What’s Different?

They arrived at the show, and the car was still in the queue. From afar, they saw the densely packed tripods and cameras surrounding the red carpet, almost covering it.

Those who were going to watch the show would walk the red carpet. At this time, the people would pause on the red carpet to let the media take pictures.

Of course, foreign media outlets knew that the domestic or Asian celebrities who could be filmed by them were not ordinary. They were basically the kind with a far-reaching reputation and status.

The media in the country and overseas were all filming the event.

Every car had a designated stop time. The cars would line up to enter the venue. The next car could only proceed ahead after the celebrities in the first car had left.

Everything was in order.

Su Cha had been thinking about something else in the car. Fu Mo suddenly pushed Su Cha. "Classmate Su, look, it's Best Actor Shao."

Su Cha looked over. Shao Tianwen was walking the red carpet outside the car. He came with Duan Jiashu. Duan Jiashu was also a famous movie queen. She looked very compatible with him.

The two of them were a perfect match.

Su Cha recalled that Shao Tianwen had wanted to catch up with her last night, but he was quickly called away. He wanted to participate in today's show and had many things to do. Moreover, the two of them were not staying in the same hotel.

They had actually met and chatted for a while, so it was naturally impossible for the things mentioned online to exist.

When the drama started airing, she would also have to promote it.

Su Cha asked, "How long will it take for us to arrive?"

Fu Mo looked at the long queue outside and estimated. "About ten minutes. It can't be helped. Some celebrities are taking their time on the red carpet."

Time on the red carpet was usually limited, and one's picture-taking had to be completed within five minutes.

Most celebrities would abide by the rules, but that did not stop some people from refusing to enter in order to get more of their pictures taken.

It would be awkward if the security guards came to pull them away.

Su Cha raised her head slightly and looked elsewhere. Fu Mo turned her head and looked at Su Cha's side profile. This was the first time she felt that Su Cha's beauty was unreal.

This retro temperament suited her very well. It was like a puff of smoke, as if it would dissipate at any time. The beauty in the illusion was unreal.

Ten minutes later, she arrived.

The foreign security guard who arranged the order of the cars came over to inform them to prepare. It was almost their turn. He repeated patiently, "Miss, you only have five minutes to walk on the red carpet. Please hurry."

When he was about to clarify, Su Cha, who was looking elsewhere, turned to look at him. The foreign security guard was stunned when he saw her calm eyes.

This was the first time he was stunned by an Asian. It was not because of her unique style, but because she was beautiful...

It was strange. It was rare for people from overseas to distinguish between Asian faces. This girl did not even have the stereotypical Asian eyes, but she really gave people a feeling of extreme beauty.

She must be very popular in their country!

The security guard was so sure.

Soon, it was Su Cha's turn.

Only she would go, and Fu Mo and the rest would not follow. They would enter the backstage through other channels to watch. When the car stopped, as most of the celebrities were from Asia, some foreign media outlets even fiddled with their phones in boredom, not even bothering to take pictures.

There was no one who could brighten their eyes.

But when an ordinary nanny car stopped, a pair of porcelain white legs that looked like a work of art stepped on the ground, clad in black high heels. It seemed to be different.

Chapter 786: Eternal Freeze

First, it was a little red.

A touch of red.

The intense color attracted people's attention from the corner of their eyes. When they looked over, the perfect and elegant person had walked out of the car.

Her figure was slender and perfect. There was not a single flaw.

The black and white colors brought them back to the past, and the hint of red marked the difference in intensity.

They had seen many people who looked good in Chanel, but none of them were like the person in front of them. She was beautiful and elegant, and she did not look like a real person.

She was like a real stunner without any trace to invite contempt.

The moment she stepped on the red carpet, the spotlight seemed to freeze for a moment. Everyone's eyes were easily snatched away by her. When she walked on the red carpet, her every movement was natural. Her posture was noble and generous. She did not look like a mere noble but more like a proud queen. Her back was straight, but it did not stop her hips from swaying.

Under the veil of the hat, her face was faintly discernible, revealing a hint of mystery. It was also this trace of mystery that made one's heart itch. When one stretched out their neck, they wanted to see her true appearance. Obviously, one only needed to take a closer look to be able to see it clearly.

She seemed to be from another era. The strong retro style brought by the black-and-white classic dress seemed like it was frozen in time. She was like a wisp of smoke that suddenly appeared in this era, bringing extreme beauty.

She was neither fast nor slow, but she was definitely faster than the five minutes the security guard had said she should spend.

At that moment, the celebrities who had just appeared or hadn't entered yet, no matter how luxurious their clothes were, became merely her foils.

The media focused their attention on the woman in the center.

They did not know her, nor did they know who she was, but it did not stop them from thinking that she was a real peerless beauty.

She looked straight ahead indifferently and walked gracefully and neatly. She raised her left hand slightly because she was holding a small decorative white bag. Her right hand moved slightly as she walked. At that moment, many media personnel swore that even the models on the runway could not walk as well as she did, bringing with her a lethal charm.

Not one of them wanted to insult her.

She did not look at any media camera. This actually made many people feel a sense of defeat. When she was about to reach the end of the red carpet, the originally indifferent foreign media subconsciously raised the camera in their hands and shouted excitedly, "Please look over! I beg you!"

"Can you look at us? Just one look!"

"You are too beautiful, my god!"

The foreigners might be exaggerating, but they were never stingy with their praise for things that could amaze them in an instant.

Su Cha's English was already quite good. She could understand it. After two minutes, she did not stop and walked to the end. At that moment, she heard the voices of the media personnel around her. She subconsciously looked over.

It was hard to tell what she was thinking. Her eyes were unusually calm. She did not raise her chin too high. Without any movement, one could feel that her eyes past the gauze seemed to be showing a hint of careless contempt.

This contempt was not due to her arrogance, but because of her noble aura.

It made one want to kneel on the ground and worship her.

With a click and a flash, the scene was captured forever.

Chapter 787: Breathtaking

When she reached the end, the security guard respectfully walked over and led her into the venue.

When they entered the venue, everyone felt something strange about Su Cha's appearance.

There were already quite a number of people present. There were also many photographers in the show field, including many local and foreign socialites and famous superstars.

However, when she entered the venue, she still elicited the same effect as outside.

Many photographers could not help but aim their cameras at Su Cha.

There were also many socialites with extraordinary backgrounds at the scene. They had a clear and generous aura, but when Su Cha was guided over by someone and passed through the crowd, their eyes would subconsciously move away, revealing a completely different magnetic field.

It was as if they were giving way to Su Cha.

With Su Cha's status as a small celebrity, many people here were people she needed to suck up to.

However, her aura made people feel the opposite.

Shao Tianwen saw Su Cha and waved at her. As special guests who came from the same venue, they were all in the same place.

The moment he saw Su Cha, he could not help but marvel, “What a piece of jade that is getting more and more amazing.”

Back when she came out wearing the Empress Dowager costume, Shao Tianwen had thought that that was the best style Su Cha could showcase. Now, it seemed that she could show another kind of beauty.

To a certain extent, Shao Tianwen felt that the two styles were similar.

He had never seen a woman more suited to the classical style than Su Cha.

It was as if she had walked out of a painting, vivid and lifelike.

Duan Jiashu heard Shao Tianwen’s praise and was surprised. Seeing Shao Tianwen’s gaze, she’d thought that he had something against Su Cha.

However, the moment Duan Jiashu saw the girl, she stopped underestimating her.

Just by looking at her aura, she could not imagine what such a person would do. No matter how gorgeous the socialites present were, she had never seen anyone who could produce such an effect as Su Cha.

The cameras of the nearby photographers were more or less all aimed at Su Cha. With her pure Asian face, this was incredible.

“Brother Tianwen.”

After filming, they became familiar with each other. Su Cha walked to Shao Tianwen’s side, curled her red lips, and called out the familiar name.

When she called him that today, Shao Tianwen actually felt honored. He could not help but laugh. “You are too beautiful today. I never thought that you would wear Chanel so well.”

Su Cha smiled lightly and did not say anything. She just looked at Duan Jiashu and sized her up slightly. It was not uncomfortable. She called, “Hello, Miss Duan.”

She did not call her sister just because of her seniority, so there was no suspicion that she was deliberately trying to win her over. Duan Jiashu felt that it was normal for Su Cha to call her that.

Hearing her words, Duan Jiashu regained her senses and smiled. “Hello, Su Cha. I heard from Tianwen that you performed well with their production crew.”

It sounded like a polite greeting, and it was an appropriate thing to say right now.

“Really?”

Su Cha rolled her eyes and looked at Shao Tianwen. “Brother Tianwen is too kind.”

Shao Tianwen waved his hand and the three of them sat down together. Her seat was next to Duan Jiashu. As she was specially invited, her seat was not far away. It was in the first row, and the back row was mostly filled with people from fashion magazines or media.

Chapter 788: Su

Su Cha was beside Duan Jiashu. Beside her was another socialite who had not yet arrived.

Their names were pasted on the back of the seats in English.

After Su Cha sat down, she chatted with Shao Tianwen and Duan Jiashu about work and domestic matters. Shao Tianwen said that the production was about to wrap up, and the post-production was already in progress. The official preview would be released next spring. Han Yongbing had arranged a separate preview for Su Cha, and she would definitely become famous.

Moreover, after the new year would officially be the release of everyone’s photos in full costume. At that time, even if it was just photos, Su Cha would definitely start a discussion.

Those who had watched her act could go against their conscience by saying that Su Cha was playing with votes. Those without acting skills were probably real haters.

Duan Jiashu was also a little surprised. She was a moderate woman. When she spoke to Su Cha, no one would think that she had any bad intentions. She maintained a minimum distance. However, this distance gradually disappeared as she spoke to Su Cha.

If one really knew Su Cha, apart from her aura, no one could find fault with her.

Outsiders were also secretly observing Su Cha. Shao Tianwen and Duan Jiashu were familiar faces who attended these events. Occasionally, some foreigners would come to greet them. After all, it was Su Cha's first time here, and she was beautiful...

It would really bring danger to the people in the show.

As a woman, not everyone liked to see someone more outstanding than them.

The socialite next to Su Cha was from a Southeast Asian country. Her family was rich and she was famous in the fashion world. However, when she saw Su Cha, she was stunned for a moment.

When she sat down, she felt a little restless.

This was a bad sign.

If she lost her composure and was photographed by the camera, it would be another black photo.

As Shao Tianwen and Duan Jiashu were greeted by ordinary people, Su Cha welcomed the first person to approach her.

"Hello, may I know your name?"

It was a delicate and exquisite foreign girl who came over. She looked like a little fairy from Europe or America. She was indeed beautiful with a head of dazzling golden hair.

She was wearing Chanel's new bubble dress. This overly exaggerated dress suited her extremely well, and her face and body were perfect.

She came over and looked at Su Cha directly. Su Cha also noticed that as she came, many people looked over with surprise.

This girl's identity was not simple.

But Su Cha did not know her.

She only remembered that this girl had been here for a few minutes. There were many people talking to her, all of them trying to please her. She sat opposite Su Cha.

It was not appropriate for people invited to this show to refuse socializing. Su Cha did not do so. She nodded and said in a languid voice, "Su Cha."

The Southeast Asian socialite sneered. She was talking to someone else but could hear what was being said.

She thought that Su Cha did not know English. The little fairy was only asking in basic English.

"Su Cha..."

The little fairy in front of her used an awkward tone to call out this rather difficult name. Then, she smiled and said, "How about I call you Su? Su is much simpler."

Su Cha nodded. It saved her the trouble of thinking of an English name. Su was just right.

Chapter 789: Socialite

The little fairy stood in front of her, her eyes glittering. "Su, my name is Eunice, Eunice Kane. You are very beautiful. Are you from China?"

China was not very popular internationally. Under normal circumstances, people would guess that an Asian was either from Japan or South Korea. Little Fairy guessed that it was China, and she had also found some clues.

After all, Su Cha only mentioned her name. The pronunciation of the name was not different from that of other countries.

“Yes. Thank you, Eunice.”

If others heard the little fairy’s name, they would definitely be very surprised.

Eunice Kane was the youngest daughter of a famous director from the UK, Harry Kane. She had three brothers and was the apple of the Kane family’s eye.

She was very famous in the industry. There were countless people who wanted to take advantage of her every year.

She was also very famous in the fashion world and was also a socialite that Chanel liked very much. However, Eunice did not intend to enter the entertainment industry. Although she was on good terms with many brands, she did not participate in any business operations.

She was also very beautiful, so many people liked her very much. Wherever the little angel appeared, she would be the center of attention.

When she took the initiative to talk to Su Cha, those people were obviously shocked.

If it were anyone else, they would have been ecstatic to see Eunice talking with them. When the Southeast Asian socialite next to her glanced over, her jealousy was obvious. However, the little fairy had a famous personality. She did not like to take the initiative to get close to others, and others did not dare to rashly approach her. They could only watch.

Su Cha did not know Eunice’s identity. Even if she did, it would change nothing. She would still be cool and gentle towards Eunice, and she would definitely not be enthusiastic.

However, this feeling of distance made Eunice even more excited. She did not like people who tried their best to suck up to her. She could tell if they were pretending.

A pretentious person would not have such a noble aura like her. Little Fairy came from a noble family, so she naturally could tell the difference at a glance.

“Can you give me your number? We can have a meal together after the show.”

There was no need to explain friendship between women. Besides, the show was about to begin, and Eunice had to return to the other side, so she took the initiative to ask for a phone number.

There was nothing to be embarrassed about on such an occasion, but Su Cha did not bring her phone with her but left it with Fu Mo. She said past her red lips, “Give me your number, I will remember it.”

Eunice was surprised for a moment before she nodded and whispered a string of numbers in her ear.

A series of photos was also taken by the camera crew backstage. If the news spread, it would probably be big news.

Before Eunice left, she made a phone call gesture. “Call me.”

Shao Tianwen was shocked. He knew who this person was from Duan Jiashu’s explanation. It would have been fine if it was a man Eunice was hitting on, but... it was a woman.

This woman was also a female celebrity from China.

Duan Jiashu whispered to Su Cha in surprise, “Su Cha, do you know who she is?”

Su Cha shook her head. Duan Jiashu was a little surprised. Her eyes flickered, but she still explained to her, “She’s a very famous socialite from England. Her family is very rich. She’s a regular at various luxury shows. She’s one of the dowager’s favorite socialites. Eunice Kane.”

Su Cha raised her eyebrows, but her action was not obvious. She just smiled and said, “She’s pretty.”

Duan Jiashu: “...”

Did she have nothing else to say?

Chapter 790: Praise

She thought that Su Cha was pretending, but it did not seem so.

Anyway, she could not tell.

At the very least, having a friend like Eunice meant that she'd have a good network.

That was something she could not even imagine.

However, in China, it was said that Su Cha had a strong background. Even Shao Tianwen did not deny that he'd cooperated with Su Cha.

She had thought that Su Cha was the kind of person who was being wrapped up...

However, Duan Jiashu was a little hesitant. Could she really be a little princess from some family?

It was not that ordinary people did not have such an aura.

After some interlude, Chanel's first show officially began.

This show was filled with high-quality designs. Needless to say, the style was lofty. Although the brand had evolved with their various designers and other luxury brands had also started to create trouble year after year, always coming up with designs that ordinary people could not understand, at least Chanel had not become too eye-catching.

There were times when the show was not too focused on classic styles. Even such a big brand would have eyes on profit.

For instance, when these big brands wanted to rope in the Chinese market, they'd design Chinese-style clothing and accessories.

The Chinese refused to admit that those were Chinese.

The overall performance of today's show was not bad, but during this New York show, it was yesterday's show of the famous brand, Hiberia, that amazed the whole audience. Chanel's show had no achievements, and it could not be seen that it was stunning, but it was all normal standards. As long as it was their product, the socialites would pay for it.

Compared to others, many people estimated that today's entertainment was not the show itself but the guests watching it.

Su Cha was sitting in the first row. A world-class model dressed in high-quality clothes passed by. The theme of this set was "elegant lady."

Even if the models' conditions and aura were perfect, those present felt that no one could embody the essence of this show better than the girl sitting there.

She was so elegant that she became a scenery.

She did not make any extra movements while watching the show. She just sat on the chair. Even if she crossed her legs, she was still elegant. There was no extra color, and it easily made the colorful humans around her serve as a foil. Even Shao Tianwen was covered by this light.

She was so charming. He really wanted to have dinner with her.

This was what many men present thought.

After this show, many people would ask about Su Cha's identity. If they knew that she was even a female celebrity who had been criticized in the country, they did not know what to think.

After the show, everyone applauded. Su Cha stood up with the crowd and followed Shao Tianwen and Duan Jiashu.

There were still interviews after the show. Many foreign celebrities would be interviewed and asked what they thought about the show this year.

Su Cha did not know much about this and found it troublesome. She wanted to leave the venue directly, but before Fu Mo could come over, a group of reporters started to swarm over.

Su Cha saw that the local reporters had wanted to come to her. Tan Jinsui had also arranged for the local media to come, but the plan could not keep up with the changes. She watched helplessly as a group of foreign reporters squeezed the local reporters out of the boundary.

A bespectacled male reporter approached her excitedly. Afraid that he would disturb her, he asked cautiously, "You are from China, right? What a mysterious Easterner."

There was admiration in his voice.
