

The Queen 81

Chapter 81: Surprise!

When she had called the police, Su Cha had already planned on teaching Qiu Yu a lesson.

She called the police just to find Qiu Yu since it was impossible for her to voluntarily tell her where they were.

After the police left, Su Cha started.

She had been subjected to pettiness in her first life. Should she go on swallowing her pride in this life?

Su Cha did not know how to do it.

As a polite person, she would not curse people but just beat them directly.

After she reached home, she looked at the time. It was two hours before midnight.

Su Cha went back to review her homework. She could not let any of this affect her studies, no matter what.

Late into the night, she finally finished reviewing. She closed her books and went to bed, but she could not fall asleep.

She wanted to sleep but some ideas kept waking her up.

It will not be easy for me in the long run. I cannot dodge a bullet without any protection. My personality will also cause me bigger troubles, especially after I join the entertainment circle.

Su Cha did not want to rely on Bo Mui's protection.

On the contrary, she wanted to protect him.

She closed her eyes and breathed out gently. She got up and sat in meditation.

She persisted in trying. Maybe her meridians had been cleared a little after two days' exercise. She would try if she could use her last life's Mental Practice.

In her last life, the imperial government had a close connection with the kung fu world. She was Empress Dowager, but if it were not for her superb and masterful martial arts, she would not have been able to keep control of the changeable and complicated kung fu world.

Mental Practice was to read silently. It would seem ridiculous in other people's eyes.

Is it because you've watched too much TV drama? A modern person would ask so.

But Su Cha was serious.

She kept reading silently. At the moment, that was all she could do.

In late-night, she was completely immersed in a trance. If a cultivator saw her, he would probably say that Su Cha showed great promise.

A soft breeze started to blow outside the window and finally entered the room as if it were tracking something.

It became a little chilly. It was hot in the day, but cooler at night in May.

If there were a high-end sophisticated camera here, it would have detected a blast-like smoke that seemed to be whirling at the center of Su Cha's room. It revolved slowly at first and then flowed into Su Cha's body from her fingertips.

Su Cha immediately felt an air current flowing in her body. She paused and relaxed her body exactly how her teacher had taught in her last life. She read silently and the air current seemed to flow faster.

It was like a temperate spring was washing her organs. She felt extremely comfortable.

Su Cha immersed herself in it quietly. When she opened her eyes, it was already dawn.

She had sat like this for the whole night. She was rested, but not in a regular way. Now she was in superb spirits.

It's 6 o'clock!

Su Cha curled up her lips and went up. She sniffed a special smell from her body and rushed to the bathroom.

Unexpectedly, she had made it.

She wanted to just try in the first place. But she seemed to have made progress after exercising these past few days. Her meridians had cracked a little. She had successfully started a stance of Heaven and Earth Origin Qi!

It could not compare with the Origin Qi before, but it was still a great surprise to Su Cha.

Her meridians had been completely blocked. She had just cleared them a little, which was far from enough.

Chapter 82: She's so Beautiful But How is She so Scary

Su Cha was ecstatic. Initially, she had thought that success was unlikely as the world had changed, but she had succeeded!

Although the vitality from the heavens and the earth still exists in this world, it is scarce due to air pollution. After an entire night of absorbing the vitality, Su Cha only managed to gain enough to cleanse her body internally. This explained her body odor.

The vitality absorbed expelled all negativity and harmful substances from her body.

The cultivation of martial arts was equivalent to developing a state of non-invasion, and that is the miracle of practicing martial arts.

But to the current world, that seemed like a dream.

Su Cha instantly understood that if she could absorb the vitality from the heavens and the earth, it meant that the world was not as ordinary as she once thought. There was a high probability that a martial arts master was hidden in this world.

Because of the existence of the vitality, such a person would exist.

The ancient tales of a hidden, recluse family was probably not just a legend.

Su Cha could not help but recall the TV series that she watched and the novels that she had read, and her heart became tense.

She had nothing to showcase right now. However, Su Cha believed that if she could reach half of what she had done in her past life, she would have sufficient ability to protect herself and Bo Mui.

She did not have many desires. Su Cha only hoped to begin her career steadily, and spend her life with Bo Mui.

After showering, Su Cha got dressed and headed out for a run.

With just a trace of vitality, she felt that her body was much lighter. If Yang Nuanru brought people over now, Su Cha would be able to deal with them far more easily than before.

After some time, Su Cha fetched her backpack and headed for school.

Today, the school was bustling with noise. Everyone was from Yonggu Town. Other than the fact that Yang Nuanru was absent after heading out with Su Cha yesterday, the whole school found out about Su Cha's audition clip from the competition!

It was then that everyone found out that Su Cha actually went for the "Dreams In Progress" program!

They never knew that Su Cha was so talented at singing...

After watching the video clip last night, most of the male students regarded Su Cha as their goddess. In contrast, female students had complicated feelings. However, the female students recalled the dispute between Su Cha and Yang Nuanru and they suppressed their undesirable intentions.

Everyone was looking at Su Cha with complex emotions. There were even groups of male students who believed that Su Cha was the most qualified candidate for their school's most famous female student.

She was beautiful, and her vista appealed to everyone. If anyone considered Su Cha to be ugly, it would definitely be attributed by others to jealousy. Su Cha's beauty was highlighted by her simplicity and pureness, some may even say that she gave off an aura of elegance.

Su Cha's 'simple and cute' appearance was recognized by all the ignorant boys.

Le Anqi and Cai Ziya saw Su Cha when she arrived in class, and their throats tightened uncomfortably.

They shuddered in fear, like scared bunnies.

No one else witnessed the fight yesterday. But, Le Anqi had a nightmare...

The fear overrode the joy of her passing the audition.

Su Cha walked over to her seat. As she unpacked her bag she softly whispered, "I saw on the organizer's website that you have been promoted, congratulations."

Su Cha's voice was sincere, but Le Anqi turned around in a panic.

Sob sob sob, she is so beautiful, but how is she so scary T.T

Chapter 83: Eating Together

Her classmates all treated Su Cha as a monster.

This pretty girl had impressed many of them when she had just come to their class. But as time passed by, she appeared to be ordinary and boring, and they gradually got used to her beauty.

When they looked at Su Cha again, they felt that she finally showed her real charm.

Even if she sat in the last row, her glamorous charm could not be hidden.

Many boys thought that they must have been blind before, and wondered whether they could start to chase her now...

Class began. Some students were in a trance, but they knew better than to distract other classmates by speaking in class.

Le Anqi found that Su Cha had been silent for a long while, so she became bolder. She whispered to Su Cha, "Su Cha, I think you are good at singing. You have a unique voice..."

Before she could finish, Su Cha stopped her, "Shh, listen to the teacher."

Le Anqi closed her mouth immediately.

Su Cha did not speak harshly to her, but her voice forced people to obey.

Le Anqi looked at Su Cha as if she were looking at a monster.

Su Cha did not like to speak in class before, she used to be absent-minded and often fall asleep...

When did she start to work so hard?

Le Anqi thought that Su Cha must have been put under a spell!

But she did not dare say it out loud.

She did not worry about her study as she had a backup plan. As an art student, she just needed to pass, which Le Anqi believed that she could.

Her grade was not very poor but was also far from being good.

Su Cha seemed to be behind her. It was necessary for her to work hard from now on.

Le Anqi found Su Cha to be more serious. She had been concentrating in the class the whole morning and ran more seriously than ever in a rare PE class.

Besides Le Anqi, Cai Ziya also found her strange.

They had both witnessed Su Cha's scary secret yesterday, and thus they shared a common topic. Cai Ziya whispered to Le Anqi, "Don't you feel that Su Cha has turned into a different person?"

"Haven't you noticed it before?"

They sat on the grass in the playground, looking at Su Cha who was hanging upside down on the horizontal bar after the run. Le Anqi said mystically, "I think she might be under a spell."

Cai Ziya felt silent.

She thought Le Anqi was the one who was under a spell.

She laughed, "What are you thinking about? How could she be hexed? I think she was provoked by something, that's all."

"Provoked?"

Le Anqi did not understand, "She has always lived a mundane life. What can provoke her?"

Very few people knew about Su Cha's story with Zhai Yao. They had never heard about it. Besides, it was impossible for them to think about Su Cha's rebirth, so they just fell into contemplation.

Su Cha kept hanging upside down for a while. She did not stop until she felt a little dizzy as blood flowed to her head.

She felt nimble and free. But other people could not tell the difference from this single movement.

PE was the last class this morning. Soon it would be lunchtime. Le Anqi and Cai Ziya walked to her, and asked Su Cha cautiously, “Su Cha, would you like to go to the canteen and have lunch with us?”

Chapter 84: The Superstar Classmate

Su Cha looked at the two girls. Seeing how they were trying to be courageous when they were obviously afraid, Su Cha smiled, “Sure.”

She was not really cruel and knew how to differentiate good from evil.

The two girls had extended their goodwill to her, she would not reject it.

Su Cha joined the girls for lunch at the canteen.

As their last class was physical education, they had the benefit of having their meal in advance.

As the aunty at the canteen saw the three girls walking over, she scooped plates full of food for them.

Le Anqi was bewildered, “That’s weird, she never served us so much before.”

Cai Ziya chuckled while Su Cha remained expressionless. The three girls found a seat near the window.

The food in the canteen was unpalatable. To Su Cha, the food was merely meant to fill her stomach. While they were eating, Cai Ziya asked curiously, “Su Cha, why did you choose to participate in the “Dreams in Progress” program? You sing so well!”

Cai Ziya's face glimmered in admiration. When she saw the video last night, she could not imagine Su Cha singing such a sad love song, while she could beat the hooligans up mercilessly with a rod...

It was a brutal beating!

Le Anqi also admired her, "I watched your audition clip. The judges were pleased with you. Unlike me, they only promoted me because of my strong following on Meiyin... Do you know Yu Siqing? She is nasty. She said that I lack character, and am merely popular online. Although that was the truth, it was upsetting!"

In the end, it turned into a complaint.

This judge, Yu Siqing...

Su Cha raised her head and smiled, "She rebuked me too."

Le Anqi was surprised, "She rebuked you too? Your performance was outstanding. Both Quan Jia and Xu Cunjian praised you, how could she criticize you?"

Although Le Anqi was not a professional singer, she practiced hard for the show. She had a sweet voice and barely managed to make it past the audition round. She would have a tough time in the future.

But, she could easily tell that Su Cha had a unique voice. "Wild Pigeon" itself was a difficult song to master, and Su Cha had performed it so wonderfully, what was Yu Siqing finding fault with?

Su Cha: "She said I went off-pitch."

Le Anqi: "..."

Cai Ziya watched as Le Anqi's face became distorted with confusion as she held back her laughter. Cai Ziya asked, "What's wrong?"

Le Anqi finally burst out in laughter, “I have learned just a few basic singing skills. Even I know that Su Cha did not go off-pitch, it was just an adaptation to the song. Yu Siqing said that you went off-pitch? My god, no wonder some people had said that she got this judging role through personal connections. Knowing this, I would also agree that she definitely has no clue about music!”

Le Anqi sneered.

Cai Ziya asked curiously, “To be honest, I do not understand what you just said. But it sounds cool. I just want to know, would Su Cha advance to the National Finals?”

Le Anqi nodded, “I’m sure she will. Su Cha’s voice is unique, and the judges adore her. If nothing goes wrong in the Yonggu Town regional divisions, she will make it to the National Finals.”

As Le Anqi knew some contacts, she could do some rough estimates. Hearing that, Cai Ziya became very excited, “Then, wouldn’t Su Cha be famous in the future?”

If Su Cha became a celebrity, they would be the classmates of a superstar. That would be amazing.

Chapter 85: Disappeared

Seeing them more excited than herself, Su Cha shook her head gently, “Nobody can predict the future, but I’ll try my best.”

She looked at Le Anqi peacefully, “You should step up your efforts too.”

Le Anqi thought to herself that she would be happy to just have passed the next round, but she felt ashamed to say so. She mumbled the words, “Ok...Ok, I’ll try my best!”

Cai Ziya held Le Anqi’s hand and kept shaking it violently, “Come on you two! I wish that you both enter the national finals!”

Le Anqi forced a laugh.

She was clear about her ability and was planning to drift along. She treated the contest as a way to increase her influence and would find other chances in the future.

She would at best strive to see which stage she could get to.

***

Today was surprisingly peaceful.

Yang Nuanru's people did not come to seek revenge, neither did Zhai Yao.

Su Cha found it strange.

She kept exercising these days and almost forgot that she was just an ordinary person.

Su Cha realized that her thought was risky, but she devoted herself to reviewing and practicing martial arts.

The videos of the contest were updated each day. Finally, better singers had outshone Su Cha, which led to a decline in Su Cha's popularity. But quite a few people knew her now. People started to recognize her on the streets of Yonggu Town.

The girls might be junior high school students, as they looked younger than Su Cha.

They got cold feet at the sight of Su Cha's high and cold appearance but finally plucked up courage.

They called her Sister Su Cha sweetly and wanted her autograph.

Su Cha agreed and signed for them.

They looked happy and wished that Su Cha would win the national contest before they left.

Although they might not be serious, Su Cha found their blessings warm. It was the first time that strangers encouraged her genuinely.

Bo Muyi was busy handing over his work these days. He could only manage to call Su Cha at night and had time to pick her up in person.

Su Cha would report everything about her day to him on the phone, but she kept the matter of martial arts as a secret. After she found the correct time, she would tell him.

Bo Muyi felt less stressed after he knew Su Cha's whereabouts.

He was spoiled. After he got used to spending time with Su Cha, it was torture for him to not be with her.

Yang Nuanru did not return to school until Friday.

She got rid of her old aggressive posture. Her classmates said that she behaved very low-key now, or at least she stopped picking fights with others. When she heard Su Cha's name, she would even panic.

Word passed around later that Yang Nuanru had been threatened after she left school that day. All her proud big brothers went missing the day after it.

It was said that people who were close to those loafers were forced to call the police.

Yang Nuanru was interrogated by the police at the station, but she knew nothing. After that, she became more silent.

However, Su Cha was not aware of any of it.
