

Chapter 10: Painful Rejection

"R-Raven!" Lorcan stuttered, he couldn't hide how worried he was when he saw how Raven fall out of her consciousness.

Lorcan carried Raven's lifeless body to his lap and patted her cheek to wake her up, but he got no response from her. Lorcan felt guilty when she saw how pale Raven looked and how her lips lacked color in her.

Lorcan's gaze fell on the trickle of blood at the corner of her mouth. It was a trace left by the blood that she coughed out.

Lorcan's wolf howled inside of him when he saw the pitiful state that his mate is in. "This your fault! If something bad happens to our mate, I will never forgive you," Caius growled inside of Lorcan.

This is the first time that Lorcan's wolf has threatened him. Caius and Lorcan used to get along with each other. In the years that they had been together, they never disagreed with each other. This is the first time that Caius had gone against Lorcan and had become angry at him.

Lorcan expected that this would happen between them. He knows that a fight is going to break out between them since he doesn't want to accept the mate that was paired for them.

Guilt washed over Lorcan as he could feel how weak his mate had become because of the rejection that he had forced her to accept.

Caius tried to check on Raven's wolf to see how she was doing and Lorcan felt how immensely weak Raven's wolf had become.

When Caius saw Ember's shallow breath and weak pulse, he growled inside Lorcan. Caius is so angry that he wanted to punch Lorcan on the face, only if he could.

Guilt washed over Lorcan when he saw this. He was aware that making Raven accept his rejection can cause permanent damage on his mate's wolf, but he still had forced her to do so.

Raven nearly lost her wolf because of him.

With his supernatural senses, Lorcan checked on Raven's pulse and breathing which also matches the same with her wolf.

Seeing that Raven's life is in danger, he did not hesitate to carry her weight in his arms and rush her to the pack doctors for help.

Since Raven wasn't able to complete her sentence and fully accept Lorcan's rejection, the mate bond still exists between them. The only way to sever the mate bond is to accept the rejection, otherwise nothing will happen. 1

The strength of the mate bond did not even diminish between them after the pain that they had gone through.

Lorcan could fully feel how his mate is struggling for his life. 1

"Come to the packhouse, quick!" Lorcan shouted in the pack link, calling the pack doctor.

Lorcan rushed inside the packhouse and up to where Raven's room was. The omegas that they passed through were all surprised to see their future Alpha carrying his unwanted mate unconscious in his arms.

Lorcan did not mind them as he went directly for Raven's room. He laid her carefully on her bed as he awaits for the pack doctor to arrive.

A minute has not even passed since Lorcan arrived, Luna Savina has already rushed into Raven's room with her loyal omega servants trailing behind her.

The news had already spread so fast through the pack link that Luna Savina had already heard about it. The omegas must have informed her immediately as soon as they saw him carrying Raven unconscious in his arms.

The omegas are the weakest bloodline of werewolves. The omegas are so weak that they can only be useful for labor and as servants.

Not only that, they are also so weak that they couldn't fully connect at the pack link. A pack has their own pack link that is exclusive only to members. So as long as you are a member of that pack, you can talk to other members of the pack through the pack link.

However, unlike the higher werewolves, the omegas can only reached out to a limited number of people in the pack link. This makes them a good option for having as a servant because they won't be able to act as spies in your household.

The omegas inside the packhouse are only connected to the people that lives inside the packhouse. So if something bad happens inside, it would be impossible for it to leak outside, unless if it was the Alpha, Luna or Lorcan who had leaked it.

Luna Savina sat beside Raven and held her cold hand. She gazed at Raven pitifully, feeling bad for the girl.

"What happened to her?" Luna Savina asks her son without a tone suspiciousness in her.

Although she knows that Lorcan doesn't want Raven as his mate, she believes that her son is not capable of hurting Raven physically.

Before Lorcan could come up for a lie as an answer, the pack doctor rushes in, his clothes poorly worn and disheveled showing that he only shifted to his wolf to arrive here fast.

The Pack doctor rushes to Raven's side to check on her. Lorcan stands up and walks to them to listen to the doctor's diagnosis more closely.

Lorcan hopes that nothing serious had happened to Raven.

"What is wrong with her?" Luna Savina asks the pack doctor worriedly after she sees how he had just finished checking on Raven's vitality through his wolf's powers.

The pack doctor rolled up his sleeves and places his palm flatly on Raven's forehead, releasing some of his healing powers into her to raise her vitality and secure her from death.

"It seems that something had happened to her wolf," the doctor spoke. "I just couldn't tell what it was, but her wolf lost powers immensely which is why she had turned weak."

Luna Savina gasps and even felt more bad for Raven. She thought it was her fault. She was so busy with her duties lately that she failed to give a close watch on Raven.

"Would she recover? Is this going to be permanent?" Luna Savina is so anxious that heart is beating rapidly in her chest

"She will recover, she just needed proper medication and a week's worth of bed rest. So far, I don't see this making any permanent damage on her."

Lorcan sighs in relief upon hearing the pack doctor's words.

"I'm glad that the future Alpha had found her, if he had not found her sooner, she would have been dead by now." The pack doctor added showing Lorcan a small smile thinking that Lorcan saved Raven's life and not the other way around.

"But what could have caused this? She was just fine this morning. What happened to her?" Luna Savina asks, she couldn't believe that this happened to Raven so unexpectedly.

Something must have happened for her to suddenly fell this sick. She can't just fall sick all of a sudden.

The pack doctor was silent for a moment. To be honest, he also has no idea what might have caused Raven's wolf to lose strength so immensely.

Her wolf was drained to the point of death and he couldn't think of anything that could do that to her. In his years of working as a pack doctor, this is his first time seeing someone's wolf's vitality getting drained in such a short time.

"I don't know what happened," the pack doctor answered honestly. "Maybe we could ask her once she finally wakes up."

Lorcan wasn't afraid that Raven might tell on him to his mom. He couldn't care less if his parents found out that he tried to break his mate bond with Raven and that he forced her to accept his rejection.

What matters to Lorcan is for her to wake up and make sure that she wouldn't suffer anything serious because of what he had done.

"I'm going to go outside," Lorcan muttered excusing himself. Before he could go out of the door, his mother stopped her.

"Are you not going to stay with your mate a little longer?" Luna Savina asks her. "You know that a werewolf can heal faster when their mate is near them, right?"

"I already told you, mom. I won't accept anyone else as my mate except for Celia." Lorcan did not face his mother when he said those words.

He left Luna Savina and Raven in the room without turning to look behind. As soon as Lorcan is finally alone, Caius starts to talk to him again.

"Damn you, Lorcan. You nearly got our mate killed." Lorcan felt the anger the coursed inside of Caius since they are deeply connected to each other.

Lorcan sighed guilty as charged. "That was the only way Caius, there is no other way for me to be with Celia except for rejecting her," Lorcan answered. He did not want to hurt Raven, but that is the only way left for him to do.

"Raven is our mate, not Celia!" Caius rebutted.

LIMITED OFFER:50 BONUS FREE FOR YOU!

 Click to get it