

Chapter 6: Mates Are Forever

Everything happened so fast.

Raven couldn't quite grasp her head around it still. Until now, she is still in pure shock and disbelief. How could Lorcan be her mate? How could she be the future Luna of the pack?

This must all be a dream, right?

Except it was not.

Raven had accepted that the moment that she was transferred to live with the Alpha and Luna at the packhouse.

Pack rules varies from different packs. Rules are made depending on what will suit the pack the most just like how every country has their own different laws of their own.

In the Moonvalley Pack, the Alpha, Luna and the future Alpha and Luna are required to live at the packhouse.

In their pack, the packhouse is like the palace where the royalty lives and everyone with the Alpha bloodline or related to the Alpha bloodline are required to live at the packhouse with the omegas serving them.

Usually in other packs, all werewolves live in a single packhouse regardless of their status or their position in the pack. This usually only happens in smaller packs.

However, Moonvalley Pack is a huge pack with many members and it would be impossible to fit everyone in a single packhouse without causing any conflicts.

That's why in their pack the pack members have houses of their own and only the Alpha bloodline are required to live at the packhouse.

Since Raven is now officially the future Luna of the pack, she had no choice but to adhere to the rules and live with Lorcan and the Alpha and Luna in the packhouse.

To Raven, it was all too much. All of those things happened to her in a single day and she never wished for any of those to happen.

While Raven was just proclaimed as future Luna and forced to live with the Alpha and Luna at the packhouse, Celia was blacklisted and banned from meeting Lorcan.

While Raven was being comforted by Luna Savina, Celia was dragged out of the crowd by her own father and Lorcan was pulled away by the pack guards under his own father's command to separate the two lovers from each other.

Although I felt bad for the two and I don't want to be the cause of their separation, the mate bond was still beyond my control.

As I watch the two being separated from each other, I feel bad to say that it felt good if I were being honest. It was all the mate bond's fault.

"Savina," Alpha Axel walks towards us and places a comforting hand on Luna Savina's shoulder making her pull away her gaze from the two who were struggling from those restraining them so they could be together.

Alpha Axel glances at me making me turn rigid. Although his stare was soft and out of concern, I still felt intimidated since the person staring at me is practically the King of our pack.

"Raven, I'm sorry that you have to see all this. I'm sorry that you have to hear my son's words," Alpha Axel apologizes to me, leaving me tongue-tied. 1

Luna Savina faces me and holds both of my hands. "Are you okay?" She asks me with a worried look on my face.

I nodded my head softly feeling special to have both the Alpha and the Luna worry about me.

I was just a nobody until this happened. I never thought that I could make an Alpha and a Luna worry about me so much.

Alpha Axel turns around and faces the crowd. "What are you all still doing here? My son had already found his mate. You can now all go home."

The crowd slowly dispersed away when they heard Alpha Axel's words, not before they shot Raven a glare.

It was obvious that everyone doesn't like to have Raven as their future Luna. They would just rather keep their silence about it than to go rogue.

Just because they were keeping their silence, it doesn't mean that they don't hate Raven.

Although Raven was just a nobody, she had never seen anyone show her that much of hatred. Her life was quiet and she never had any enemies with Celia's protection.

No one would dare bully Celia's best friend, but now everybody hated her for becoming the future Luna.

"Raven, I think it would be better if you move with us to the packhouse tonight," Alpha Axel tells her softly, still with concern written all over his face.

Raven's eyes went wide at his words. Living with them at the packhouse is too much, not to mention that she is going to start to live with them tonight.

She couldn't imagine what it would be like living under the same roof as them, seeing them regularly and meeting her mate who doesn't even want her. She doesn't know how she could handle all of that.

Raven was about to open her mouth in protest, but Luna Savina beats her to it as if she had already predicted what she was going to say.

"I will ask the omegas to help you move all your things to your new room. The sooner that you move with us, the better," Luna Savina shows her a warm smile.

"That's right. From now on, you are now the future Luna of the Pack and you will rule alongside my son. You need to be prepared for this responsibility.

You will become my son's support and this pack's leader. The sooner you move to the packhouse the sooner that my wife can teach you how it's like to become a Luna," Alpha Axel adds.

I gulped as I realized what a huge responsibility and burden that I will have to carry from now on as the future Luna of the Pack.

Luna Savina must have noticed how pressured I was because she turned her attention to her husband. "Don't worry, I will take care of her. You are already talking about her duties, she haven't even moved in at the packhouse yet."

Luna Savina faces me. "The omegas are now on their way to transfer all your belongings to the packhouse. You don't have to worry about packing your things, they will take care of them for you. Why don't we go ahead first so I can show you the packhouse."

Luna Savina must have mind linked them already to grab all my things and move them to the packhouse.

Even though I did not like the idea of living with them at the packhouse, I had no choice but to obey the Alpha and the Luna.

I was hoping that I could sneak after this and talk to Celia in private so I could explain my side to her. Celia is like a sister to me. She is the older sister that I never had. I don't want to break our friendship just because of something that is out of my control.

I was hoping that I could talk to her and apologize to her if she held grudges against me too because I turned out to be Lorcan's mate.

I can't imagine how much she is hurting right now. Not only did she find out that her boyfriend is not her mate, but her father was also humiliated her in public.

The packhouse is huge, it is expected of it to be even though only the Alpha and Luna and Lorcan lives there along with their hundreds of omegas and pack guards to serve and protect them.

The packhouse has everything. It has its own gym, own library, it also even has a huge courtyard, garden and a small lake.

It is more than just a mansion, but it is not like a palace either. It's a unique kind of its own where everything is in a single place.

"Raven, I hope you wouldn't take my son's words to heart," Luna Savina tells me with a sorry look on her face.

"Even if my son was in love with Celia before he find out that you are his mate, he could never resist the mate bond. It wouldn't matter who he loves, what will always matter is who his mate is.

Someday, my son will also realize this and the mate bond will overpower whatever feelings he had left for Celia.

No matter what anyone says, you will forever be his mate," Luna Savina tells me once we are finally left in private.

A lump formed in Raven's throat as she doubted Luna Savina's words. What happened earlier is still fresh in Raven's mind.

Besides, if there is anyone who would know a lot about Celia and Lorcan's relationship then that would be her.

She knows how deep their love for each other because Celia always confided about everything with her just like how Raven does to her.

Celia and Raven are best friends and they naturally tell everything that happens to their lives to each other.
