

The Return of His Unrivaled Ex-Wife by Zara Gibbon

Chapter 10

Chapter 10

“Mommy is still in a meeting. You need to go home. After the meeting, I will go back to be with you, is that alright?”

Davian stuck his hands in his pockets, and his face was extremely serious. “Mommy, Irvin, and I are worried that you might be bullied. We are going to stay here and protect you!”

When Joanna heard this, she couldn’t help smiling and said, “My dear, thank you, boys. But Mommy really needs to finish the meeting first!” she said. “You’ll distract Mommy by staying here!”

“Well... sure, you go to the meeting first, Mommy, and we will wait for you here! I will take care of Irvin and not make any trouble!” Although Davian was only three years old, he was unusually intelligent.

“Yeah, we’re not going anywhere, Mommy!” agreed Irvin. He was a sharp-witted kid, very good at observing, and his character was completely different from his elder brother.

When the two kids were on their phones, they read a lot of posts online attacking their mom.

That worried them. Hence, the kids specially came here to protect their Mommy. They wanted to know who the villains were picking on their sweet mother.

“No one bullies Mommy Mommy is Supergirl!” Joanna said with a smile. She always tried to comfort her children, protecting them from any trauma.

Being a mother changed Joanna the most.

For the sake of her three children, she must be strong.

Jaydon smiled gently and patted Joanna on the shoulder. “Don’t worry, Joann! I will stay here with Davian and Irvin!”

“Oh... all right! Thank you so much!”

“You don’t have to thank me at any time. Just go about your business! And if you need any help, just let me know!”

“Sure!”

With Jaydon here, Joanna felt her back being guarded!

While hiding in the corner of the corridor to eavesdrop, Bruce felt so uncomfortable, as if Joanna had cheated on him. It was so humiliating-

Joanna slept with him for two years without getting pregnant at all! Yet it seemed that right after he divorced her, she had two bastards.

What would the others think of him then? There might be a lot who were convinced by this that he, Bruce Everett, had a physical deformity or something “Time’s up!” said Bruce sourly as he was striding over. “Are we having the meeting or not? This is a company, not a playground! If you’d rather be a housewife, go home with these boys!”

Then, with his long legs, he strode madly across Jaydon and Joanna right between them.

Still, that was not enough to ease his anger inside. “Joanna Haynes, I will make you regret it! How dare you cheat on me! And the two bastards as well! I’ll teach them a lesson. Bruce thought furiously.

It was true that they had been divorced.

But the strong impulse of possessing Joanna again was driving him mad. He believed that Joanna was his private property.

Joanna was bumped by Bruce, and because of her high heels, Joanna almost fell.

Jaydon reached out in a hurry and held her in his arms.

That irritated Bruce even more.

How dare they play a sweet, lovely couple in front of him?

Very well then!

He was gonna fuck them all!

“Are you okay, Joann?”

“Mommy! Are you okay?” Both Davian and Irvin ran to her at once.

Irvin, as a thoughtful, sweet boy, actually squatted down and massaged Joanna’s ankles with his chubby little hands.

Joanna smiled and said, “Don’t worry, I’m fine.”

“How about your ankle?” Jaydon grabbed Joanna by Joanna’s waist and bent over to check on her ankle with concern!

“What are you looking at? Come on in for the meeting! My time is precious, and I don’t want it to be wasted any longer!”

That, however, infuriated Davian at once. “Stop right there!” the little boy shouted rather adorably.

Chapter 10

Bruce raised his eyebrows in surprise and looked down at the little one across from him.

Davian cocked his head and pointed angrily at Bruce’s face. “Yes, you! You gotta apologize to my Mommy!”

Bruce sneered with disdain.

No one in Greyport would dare even to speak to him like that!

However, it was still a kid after all. So Bruce merely snorted impatiently.

“You’re a bad guy! And I won’t let go of bad guys who bully my Mommy!” Davian’s face turned red with fury as he seized Bruce’s trousers.

“Get your hands off of me, you little shit!”

“I am no shit! You are shit! You are a piece of big shit!”

Bruce’s face darkened. “Joanna, get some control over your son! I won’t blame kids for being rude, but if their parents don’t know any better, I won’t hold back!”

Hastily, Joanna caught Davian in her arms and said, “Davian, listen to Mommy. Mommy’s fine. Go back with Irvin.”

“Let’s go, Davian. We can’t bother Mommy right now! Let’s go back to the hotel first!” whispered Irvin after pulling his brother over.

Finally, Davian calmed down a little, and he shouted at Bruce, “This is not the end, you bad, bad man!” Then he turned to Joanna. “Bye, Mommy, we are going back.”

“Yeah, be careful.”

Jaydon said, “I’ll drive them back first. Call me if you need anything.”

Joanna nodded. “I will. Thank you, Jaydon.”

“Davian, Irvin, let’s go! Say goodbye to Mummy.”

“Bye, Mommy.”

“Bye, boys.”

Jaydon smiled. Hands in hands, the three of them headed for the elevator.

“Let’s get back to the meeting!”

Bruce got back into the conference room, and Joanna followed him in.

“Now, have you thought it over? Are you ready to sign this agreement?”
