

The Savior 441

Chapter 441 - 441: Bengong won 't spoil her (1)

In the end, Lu huaijiang still pretended to be blind.

Not only did he have to pretend to be blind, but he also had to pretend to be deaf.

He pretended not to hear the little guy secretly eating the sweet fried chestnuts and desserts.

Kacha Kacha ...

She was like a little hamster, lingering in his ear.

At night, the eastern Palace was quiet.

The lights in the study room were still on. Eunuch Lu had always been standing guard outside His Highness's door. He could only rest when His Highness was resting.

"Your Highness, it's late. Tomorrow on the third day, the first Prince will enter the palace for a banquet, and your Highness will not be able to rest again." It was not until midnight that eunuch Lu could not stand it anymore. Seeing that His Highness was still sitting by the window, he hurriedly entered the room and reported in a low voice.

Lu huaijiang nodded and looked down at his fingers. He couldn't help but raise his eyebrows.

"Tomorrow, help bengong find a Long Sleeve robe." After saying that, he returned to his room to rest.

Eunuch Lu saw the state His Highness was in and felt that Lulu's visit was the right choice.

His Highness seemed to have come back to life.

She started to pay attention to what she ate and what she wore, and even got her nails stained.

The next morning, before the sun had even risen, a long line was formed in front of the eastern Palace.

His subordinates had already brought the carriage over, and eunuch Lu waited on His Highness to get on.

Your Highness ...

The group of shopkeepers trembled as they greeted His Highness. In the past, these people ran away as fast as a cat seeing a mouse when they saw His Highness.

"They've grown some courage." Lu huaijiang sat in the carriage with his hands on his knees.

Eunuch Lu had warmed a pot of tea for him.

“It’s not that I’ve grown bold, but I’m doing this for miss Lulu’s sake. I spent thirteen thousand taels yesterday …” Eunuch Lu said slowly.

It was said that all the expensive and novel things in the city had been sent to this Street today.

The tea in Grand Hall Lu’s hand was originally fragrant and sweet.

At this moment, only bitterness was left in his mouth.

He couldn’t help but wonder if he could only drink tea foam if this continued.

How capable, he had made almost twenty thousand taels in two days.

His Highness had paid a huge price to make her stay.

Seeing His Highness retract his fingers into his long sleeves, eunuch Lu hurriedly tightened the smile on his face. He must not laugh out loud.

The carriage creaked to the palace gate.

“Tell Lulu that bengong will come back for dinner. Take her out to eat, don’t eat dinner.” It was the third day of the new year, and the capital was still very lively. They hadn’t taken Lulu out to watch the Dragon Dance and Lantern Festival yet.

“Yes.” Eunuch Lu nodded.

“Miss Lulu said that she wants to eat the desserts from the Imperial kitchen.” Eunuch Lu said in a low voice.

Lu huaijiang’s figure paused, and he entered the palace without looking back.

“Don’t even think that bengong will bring it for her, she is really spoiled.” Lu huaijiang’s tone was cold and his face was full of disdain.

Bengong said I won’t bring it!

Eunuch Lu didn’t follow her into the palace today. He went to the North of the city to buy food for Lulu. When he returned to the eastern Palace, the little girl had just woken up.

“The Empress has an order to invite lady Jiang to the palace for an audience,” the female official said as she entered the door.

Eunuch Lu’s face darkened when he heard this.

Eunuch Lu entered with a dark expression. Lulu was squatting on the ground and picking up walnuts with a confused expression. In his hand, he was holding the grayish-green stone.

“Female official Yao, His Highness has said that Lulu is a guest of the eastern Palace.” Eunuch Lu placed more emphasis on the words Your Highness’.

The female official looked at Jiang huailu indifferently.

“The last time before the little girl entered the palace, her ladyship even bestowed two nannies to the Xia family. Now that the Empress had seen her rules, even if he was a guest of the eastern Palace, shouldn't he be released? Besides, the Empress is only looking at the younger generation. Eunuch Lu, what do you mean by stopping you?" A flash of jealousy appeared in the female official's eyes..

Chapter 442 - 442: Chance encounter with Lu Jinghong (1)

Lulu entered the palace alone.

Eunuch Lu hurriedly entered the palace, but it was still the time of the court session, so he was not allowed to enter.

He could only pace back and forth outside the throne room.

The carriage stopped in front of the palace gate.

Lulu's crystal clear eyes turned to female official Yao, who chuckled. "Lady Jiang, entering the palace in a palanquin or horse carriage is a treatment that only noble people have. Come down and walk."

After he finished speaking, he walked to the front.

Lulu's legs were also short. He pursed his lips and almost ran away before he could barely keep up.

A smile hung on female official Yao's face, while the young Palace maid behind her lowered her head, not even daring to raise it.

Lulu had been walking for a long time. He had left in a hurry in the morning and had not had time to eat breakfast.

At this moment, her stomach was growling and her legs were weak. She walked until her legs were sore.

He didn't know if there were blisters under his feet, but he felt that it was sticky and tingling.

It was still slightly cold in the morning when he entered the palace, but now that the sun was shining, Lulu was hungry and thirsty, so tired that his body was swaying.

"Ms. Jiang, please bear with it a little longer. The Imperial Palace is huge, I'm afraid you haven't seen it before."

"I heard that lady Jiang was a child who lost her intelligence in the past, how did she become so intelligent now? He was really an eccentric child. The Empress didn't ask in detail last time, but this time she's a bit interested in you." Female official Yao was all smiles, but Lulu only felt that this road had passed.

Just as he was about to speak, he heard a voice coming from the river not far away.

A gentle breeze blew, and the pink Sharman danced in the air. A little girl sat in the middle.

"Female official, whose family's young lady is this?" The voice was clear and melodious. Female official Yao stopped in her tracks when she heard it.

“Your Highness, this is the young lady of the Jiang family who came back from the barren capital. I heard that he was a muddleheaded child who had lost his mind before he was exiled. After returning, she became more intelligent. The Empress was curious and summoned her into the palace to take a look.” Female official Yao replied in a low voice and bowed respectfully.

Princess Jinghong was a forbidden area in the palace.

The emperor’s son was older than her, but she was his sister.

Moreover, it was the bloodline of the retired Emperor who was left behind before his death, so he was in an extremely awkward position in this Palace.

He had been raised in the palace and had never left.

A pair of hands lifted the curtain, and the palace servants filed out. The young girl walking in the center was more than ten years old, and her face still had a bit of childishness.

“It sounds interesting. When I see the Empress, why don’t I send you to the pure grace Palace and be your study companion? Look, he doesn’t even kneel or bow to the princess. If he doesn’t teach her some rules, he might cause a great disaster in the future.” Princess Jinghong looked at Jiang huailu with a cold gaze.

I’ve really given you a chance to return to the palace.

Female official Yao tugged at Lulu, but Lulu stubbornly refused to lower his head.

When Lu Jinghong had first come to the barren capital with the first Prince, he had always been pretending to be like her. Lulu didn’t like that.

“Forget it, send him away. Bengong’s temple is small and I’m afraid I can’t afford to invite lady Jiang.” After he finished speaking, he snorted and left.

Female official Yao stood up and glared at Lulu.

“You think that you have His Highness’s favor and can be insensible. It didn’t matter if he offended the princess, he was not favored. But niangniang is His Highness’s birth mother. Last time, due to the New Year’s Eve, niangniang did not punish you. You have to be careful today.”

Lulu touched the things in his arms and sighed.

To think that brother Lu said that this thing could only be encountered and not sought. In fact, it was not as good as a steamed bun.

It revealed a bright yellow corner, and then it was stuffed back..

Chapter 443 - 443: The support his Highness gave her (1)

They arrived in front of Feng Yi Palace.

Female official Yao entered first to reply.

The palace maid standing outside the door saw the little girl standing upright and said kindly, ““To see the Empress, one must kneel. You can only enter after the elder sister in front of the Empress gives a reply.”

Did this mean that if the Empress didn't reply, he would continue to kneel?

Lulu's eyes widened. She was not going to do that.

The palace servant frowned slightly, but in his heart, he was thinking that this girl really had no manners. He was afraid that he would have to go through a good round of training today.

Probably because Lulu refused to kneel, female official Yao came out soon after.

He glanced at her unhappily.

“The Empress summons you to the palace for an audience. Noble consort Lin and the first Prince's secondary consort are also here. This time, you must pay attention to the rules.” The word “rules” was suppressed.

Lulu was already dizzy from hunger and the soles of his feet hurt, but he still endured his fatigue and entered Feng Yi Palace.

The Empress was wearing a golden cloud-mist robe embroidered with phoenixes, a yellow cloud-shaped dress with ancient butterfly patterns, and a green cloud-mist gauze with peonies. There was only a simple gold hairpin on her head, but she still looked elegant and dazzling.

A beautiful woman with a big belly was sitting in the lower seat, and a young woman with an amazing appearance was sitting next to her.

Noble consort Lin raised her hand and touched the buyao on her head. She was dressed simply, but the buyao on her head was a sorrowful sight, and one of them was worth a city.

Lulu glanced at him and secretly retracted his foot.

Brother Lu had also embedded a few on her feet. I can't let anyone see this.

“Greetings to the Empress, noble consort, and secondary consort Ying.” Secondary consort Ying was the eldest Prince's Princess Dongli. She was originally called Princess Ying Hua, but now that she was given the word “Ying,” she looked a little weak.

It was also to show weakness to great Zhou.

Lulu curtsied in greeting.

The people in Fengyi Palace were shocked and all looked at the round-faced little girl in front of the palace.

The Empress frowned.

“Just a few Japan ago, miyazumi gave you a nanny to teach you the rules. Now, you have no improvement at all?” The Empress’s brows showed a bit of displeasure. That little girl had never knelt before her even once.

Imperial concubine Lin twirled her handkerchief and covered the corners of her lips, hiding the smile on her face.

“I heard that this child used to be a silly person, but now he is so intelligent after a trip to Huangdu. Could it be that the evil spirit has possessed him?”

“I heard that he even ran away from home. Rebellious by nature, he’s now staying in the eastern Palace. After all, His Highness has been in a coma for an entire year. It would not be good if you cause turmoil in the Imperial court.” Imperial consort Lin didn’t like the Crown Prince and Empress, so she was naturally happy to add to their troubles.

The Empress’s face was ashen and her expression was unfriendly.

“How dare you! Kneel down now!” Female official Yao shouted.

As he spoke, he was about to grab her and force her to kneel down.

Lulu fumbled around in his arms in a daze, and a seal fell out.

The Crown Prince’s personal seal.

When the crowd caught a glimpse of her, she squatted down and casually stuffed it back into her pocket.

He buried his head and started to search inside.

“You really don’t know the immensity of heaven and earth. Our Empress has always been strict with rules. Where do you think this is, and what do you think can save you?” Noble consort Lin disdainfully curled her lips. It was said that the Crown Prince paid a bit of attention to this girl. It would be good if it really caused a rift between the mother and son.

Lulu searched for a while before he slowly handed over a bright yellow object that was still stained with oil.

“Is this okay?” Brother Lu said that if someone wanted her to kneel, she had to hand this over.

If someone wanted to punish her, she had to give her another item.

“If it doesn’t work, can we change to another one?” He held one in one hand and casually threw it to the nanny at the side.

Plop, the wet nurse knelt down..

Chapter 444 - 444: Imperial edict in the left hand, gold medal in the right hand (1)

The old maidservant had not yet held it firmly, but the Empress felt that the two items were somewhat familiar.

Plop .

When everyone saw it clearly, they all knelt down like dumplings.

It was good.

He held the Imperial edict in his left hand and was not allowed to kneel.

In his right hand, he held a death exemption medallion, exempting all crimes.

Noble consort Lin was originally sitting high on the stage to watch the show, but at this moment, she stood up unsteadily and knelt down with her big belly.

Lulu innocently put the medallion and Imperial edict back into his pocket, and cold sweat dripped down official Yao's forehead.

What was she carrying all over her body!

Lulu scratched his head. It was just a piece of bright yellow cloth. Brother Lu gave her a lot of blank papers, which were stamped with a green stone, and asked her to write it herself.

When the Empress was helped up, her face was still a little shocked.

Imperial edicts and death-exemption medallions had always been in the Crown Prince's control.

She glanced at female official Yao and lowered her head, not daring to make a sound.

The Empress's expression suddenly turned ugly as she glanced at female official Yao.

He waved at Jiang huailu, "you're called Lulu right?" Quickly come to bengong and let bengong see. You child, why did you not take out the Imperial edict earlier? Momo, take a seat and pour tea."

Seeing the little girl's dry lips, the maidservant hurriedly poured tea.

Early this morning, the Empress had heard from female official Yao that a servant girl had come to His Highness's residence. No one in that girl's gang was lawless. and she had even caused chaos in the East Palace. making His Highness very tired.

Looking at her now, her left hand was holding the Imperial edict, and her right hand was holding the death-exemption gold medal. Her Highness did not look tired at all.

She was afraid that her son was very pampered.

This female official Yao ...

The Empress's heart sank.

This was a child that she had watched grow up, so she was assured to give him to the Crown Prince's residence.

He also had a change of heart.

If this child was really favored by His Highness, then her actions today would definitely create a barrier between her and Yi 'an.

The mother and son's relationship was not close enough, and the Empress was actually so shocked that she broke out in a cold sweat.

Thinking back to noble consort Lin's roundabout way of adding fuel to the fire just now, this child didn't know the rules and embarrassed the Empress. He was probably doing it on purpose.

Thinking of this, the smile on the Empress's face became more genuine.

"Lulu forgot. There were too many things, so I couldn't find them." Lulu shyly revealed her little Doudou.

Her back was slanted in front of her, and her pocket was full.

As he spoke, he pulled Doudou away and gave the Empress a glance.

Yes, the Imperial edict that could only be touched by bathing and burning incense was mixed with a ball of stone. There were also some flowers and grass randomly picked by the roadside mixed in with the death exemption medallion.

There was also her son's personal seal, which was casually thrown in the corner.

Imperial concubine Lin got up with the help of her daughter-in-law.

Lulu looked at her stomach with much difficulty and touched it.

"Empress, if Lulu doesn't eat so much, can he not grow as fat as that Empress?" He reached out and pointed at her stomach.

The Empress burst out laughing.

Imperial concubine Lin's expression was a little awkward.

He sat up straight and touched his abdomen, "what an uneducated person."

"Bengong is pregnant with the Prince for nine months, so naturally my stomach is big. It's really a pity that bengong gave birth to the eldest Prince and wanted to give His Majesty a little princess. Unfortunately, the Imperial physician said it was still a Prince."

Noble consort Lin's brows contained a bit of pride as she swept a glance at the Empress.

"Don't worry, Your Highness," Lulu immediately said. She wouldn't have any regrets. She was a little princess. It's definitely a Princess." Imperial concubine Lin ... He was so stumped that he couldn't speak.

Who wants a daughter? who wants a daughter!

In the royal family, only sons had the chance to fight for the position of heir.

But ...

However, she was the one who had said it, so it was hard to refute.

She could only accept it with a pale face..

Chapter 445 - 445: His Highness is still mending your shoes and embroidering for you (1)

“This child really knows how to talk.” Imperial concubine Lin couldn’t help but roll her eyes at her.

If a man were to see this, his charm would still be there.

But Lulu ...

“Your ladyship, whenever you smile, you lose your fans. They all fell into Lulu tea.” The little girl picked up the teacup and covered it with her hand while mumbling.

The corners of the Empress’s mouth twitched, and she hurriedly pressed it down with her handkerchief.

I can’t laugh, I can’t laugh out loud.

Noble consort Lin stood up with a dark face. Secondary consort Ying helped her up.”Empress, please teach us the rules. This child might be possessed by some evil spirit.” After saying that, he touched the Pearl in his hair.

The palace chair was a little tall, and Lulu’s legs swayed back and forth on it.

The wet nurse suddenly raised her hand and stuttered, ““The centipede Pearl on the Empress’s head is exactly the same as the one on miss Lulu’s shoes.” “It’s different,” Lulu said softly.

Noble consort Lin’s unsightly expression brightened up a little, and she took a deep breath. “This centipede Pearl was personally bestowed by His Majesty. One of them is worth thousands of gold, and not everything is the same.”

He had wanted to show off in front of the Empress, but he didn’t expect to be filled with anger.

“It’s different,” Lulu said softly.

“Lulu’s is bigger, and hers is smaller.” She stretched out her two cute little feet.

There was a flower sewn on the shoe with pearls, which looked luxurious and beautiful.

It could be seen with the naked eye that the one on noble consort Lin’s head and the one on her feet were completely incomparable.

Noble consort Lin’s body swayed slightly, and secondary consort Ying turned her head to look at her meaningfully.

“Let’s go!” Imperial concubine Lin was so angry that her heart ached, and even her stomach ached faintly.

He was probably furious.

The Empress’s smile did not fade even after noble consort Lin and the Empress left the palace.

“Female official Yao has worked hard. Go and rest first.” The Empress raised her chin at the maidservant, and someone immediately came out to forcefully take the female official away.

The female official's face turned pale. She never thought that Jiang huailu would have an Imperial edict.

The Empress laughed so hard that her face hurt.

He couldn't help but reach out and touch his face.

"An Imperial edict? His Highness gave it to you?" The Empress asked in a soft voice as she looked at the little girl with a gentle gaze.

Lulu nodded.

The Empress had previously believed female official Yao's words and thought that she was an arrogant and lawless girl.

Looking at her now, he found that her eyes were clear and there was no flattery or flattery in them.

One look and one could tell that she had been pampered by her family.

Little did she know that the biggest contributor to her pampering was her son.

"The Jiang family has been exiled, so I'm afraid it'll be difficult to obtain the mermaid Pearl. So, this centipede Pearl ..." The Empress looked at Lulu innocently. "It was brother Lu who did it. Brother Lu also made Lulu's bag." After he finished speaking, he even took the bag and showed off the patterns on it to the Empress.

She then stretched out her leg and asked, "is the embroidery good?" Brother Lu made it for Lulu last night." The little girl's body swayed in joy. It could be seen that she was overjoyed.

When the people of Feng Yi Palace heard this, they did not react for a long time.

Brother Lu?

Sewed the bag?

Embroidered flowers?

And even changed your shoes?

The Empress and her maidservant looked at each other and saw the shock and disbelief in each other's eyes.

She was probably not talking about bengong's son.

The Empress's face was full of suspicion. How was that bengong's son who was fickle-minded, bloodthirsty, and emotionless? I even patched your shoes and embroidered for you. I'm afraid I'll be embroidering a dead person's head for you.

A Palace servant reported from outside the door.

"Your Highness, His Highness has arrived." His Highness, who had always followed the rules, pushed the door open and entered without waiting for the palace servant to finish reporting.

His eyes swept around and landed on a certain young girl, and his heart finally returned to its original place..

Chapter 446 - 446: The little sister in his heart (1)

The Empress saw his slightly irregular breathing.

Perhaps, perhaps what she said was partly true?

It was normal for children to exaggerate.

After all, even as his mother, she didn't believe that her son could do such a thing.

“Why are you here? Didn't you say that you're busy with important matters in the court and won't be coming for lunch?” Sandalwood incense was lit in the Empress's Palace, and silver charcoal was burning in the room, so it was warm.

As soon as His Highness entered the palace, a Palace servant came forward to take the crown Prince's cloak.

The chill in his body dissipated.

“When you are busy, you have to eat. Your son took some time to accompany mother for lunch.” Lu huaijiang walked straight towards Jiang huailu.

After all, bengong's important matters are still with you.

The little fellow who was still swinging his little feet just now, the servant girl who was speaking to the Empress in a childish voice. At this moment ... She suddenly felt that she had been wronged, sad, and uncomfortable. Suddenly, her feet and stomach hurt, and she felt weak. “Waa ...” A sound.

The little girl sat on the chair, her figure looking even smaller.

She watched as the young man rushed over, her eyes reddened, and she cried out loud.

The Empress was stunned. She saw her son stop in his tracks and walk over quicklY.

“I want to hug ...” The little girl's face was full of tears as she reached out to Lu huaijiang with a sobbing tone.

Lu huaijiang didn't have the mood to reject her. He only wished he could fly over.

He quickly took the little doll into his arms and saw her crying in his arms. She didn't even care about covering her nails.

“What's wrong? But where did he feel uncomfortable? Didn't bengong give you an Imperial edict and a gold medal? I told you to bring the Tiger tally, but you didn't. Now you're suffering, right?” Lu huaijiang's few sentences made the Empress's expression turn ugly.

After all, she was the cause of this.

However, when she heard that a five-year-old child was to bring the Tiger tally to see his mother, the Empress felt .

Are you treating your Imperial mother as a dragon's pool or a Tiger's den?

I'm so hungry. My feet and stomach hurt too ... Lulu hasn't eaten yet." The little girl lay in the young man's arms. The young man comforted her softly, and she finally controlled her grievances.

There was even a look of embarrassment on his face.

She could still bear with the pain in her foot and the hunger, but why did it suddenly become so exaggerated when she saw him?

"Send the food over. It was easy to hurt one's body if one was hungry for too long. Get the servants to prepare some mild and easily digestible meals. It's suitable for children." The Crown Prince turned around and instructed. Eunuch Lu's heart ached so much that tears welled up in his eyes. He hurriedly went down to urge the Crown Prince.

"Why does your foot hurt?" The Crown Prince carried her and gently placed her on the soft chair.

He squatted down casually and gently took off her shoes and socks.

The Empress bit the tip of her tongue and saw that the wet nurse was as shocked as she was.

He watched helplessly as the heir apparent of the country helped the little child take off his shoes and socks. The blisters on his feet had burst.

The Crown Prince's face darkened, and the entire Feng Yi Palace was filled with a cold air.

The killing intent all over her body could not be concealed. At this moment, the Empress suddenly realized.

He was still her son.

It had never changed.

It was just that he deliberately suppressed it in front of this girl. Now that he was angry, he was still the same. He killed the brutal him.

"Lulu's feet are so tired, I'm tired from walking. He walked far, far away ... You've already walked through this place, why are you still walking?" Lulu wiped away her tears and watched as the young man gently blew at the spot where blood was oozing out. Only then did her tears stop.

A gust of warm wind dispelled some of the pain.

Her chubby little foot was held in his palm, and even he himself did not realize how gentle he was.

Anger gathered in his eyes, and killing intent overflowed..

Chapter 447: The scene of His Highness's social death (1)

The Empress's throat tightened.

It was as if there was a force gripping her throat tightly, making her unable to breathe.

The entire Hall was eerily quiet. The palace servants seemed to have recalled the scene of him cleaning up Fengyi Palace.

The Empress's expression was unsightly.

"It's all mother's fault. Mother thought that female official Yao was a good person and placed her in front of you to take care of your daily needs. Later, you didn't need it, so you stayed in the residence to take care of the eastern Palace. Who knew that she was actually spreading false news and deliberately causing us mother and son to be estranged."

Seeing the panic in the Empress's eyes, the nanny knelt on the ground with a plop. "Female official is afraid that she took a detour with the servant girl. Your ladyship didn't torture Miss Lu, so your ladyship knows nothing."

The palace servants knelt on the ground.

Lu Huaijiang gently massaged her feet and took a deep breath. However, when he saw the bloodied feet, anger filled his eyes again.

He had wanted to reprimand her, saying that since she was the one who invited her here, she should take all the responsibility.

The words were at the tip of his tongue, but he had not said them out.

A pair of small hands tugged at the corner of his clothes. "Brother Lu, I'm hungry. The Empress said that there are rabbit snacks in Feng Yi Palace, and Lulu wants to eat them."

Lu Huaijiang took a breath and could vaguely smell the blood on the tip of his tongue.

The killing intent that came from the bottom of his heart made him want to kill.

Everything was suppressed by this one sentence.

"Alright," he said. Her voice was hoarse, and she turned her head slightly to avoid looking at Lulu.

He didn't want Lulu to see the cold look in his eyes.

Lu Huaijiang did not want to make things difficult for Lulu since she was speaking up for her mother.

After all, he was a man and his mother was a woman. They were the role models for all the women in the world. Receiving her mother's gratitude was always beneficial to her.

The Empress pinched the corner of her clothes and couldn't help but think that what this child said was probably all true.

"Don't cry, it doesn't hurt. I'll wrap you up with a pretty bow later." A light meal was served and placed at the side.

As Lulu was eating, the female doctor arrived and Lu Huaijiang took the food naturally.

The female doctor looked at the Empress in panic. The Empress could only shake her head and ask her to leave.

The high and mighty teenager squatted down and personally bandaged her wound.

Her hands were exposed when she was bandaging. The Empress saw that her originally pinkish-white nails had suddenly become shiny. There was also a small, shiny flower stuck to it ...

The atmosphere in the hall was so heavy, but when the Empress saw this scene, she could not hold back. Pfft ..

The Empress laughed out loud.

Only when she laughed out loud did the Empress hurriedly cover her mouth, not daring to look at her son's expression.

The little girl's ten fingers were chubby, and there were cute little nests on the back of her hand. Every finger was painted pink and tender. One look and one could tell that she had done it herself.

The Crown Prince's finger must have been damaged by her.

Eunuch Lu silently rolled his eyes.

Before the court session, he had said that he could not spoil the little girl anymore. Now, you don't even think that your feet are stinky when you hold them, right?

Eunuch Lu almost suffocated when he recalled the scene in the throne room.

Al .

Dear mother.

His Highness and the ministers were engaged in a war of words, at that moment of mutual hostility and tension. His Highness pointed angrily.

Al ...

Eunuch Lu secretly sighed again. It was so suffocating that he wanted to see the scene of death.

On the spot, the other party was shocked speechless by His Highness's shining fingers.

If he didn't explode in silence, he would just lie in silence.

They probably thought that they had provoked His Highness too much, so they stopped talking. They looked at him with fear and dread .

His fingers were shining,

Look, it's even glowing under the light..

Chapter 448: Raising a child is burning money (1)

"Yi 'an's nails are really well maintained. When you are free, give that Palace servant to Mother."

“Look at mother’s nails, they’re not even as shiny as yours.” The Empress saw that his expression had improved, so she raised her finger to compare.

Tsk, tsk, and it’s even flashing.

The Prince glanced at her expressionlessly, while the Empress only smiled at Lulu.

At this moment, the little girl had eaten two pieces of desserts to fill her stomach, and her mouth was full of residue.

“Eat less, bengong will take you to eat outside the palace later. The lantern show isn’t over yet, so we can still enjoy the lanterns while eating.” Lu huaijiang looked at her.

“Oh,” Lulu replied and put down the dessert in self-control.

Then, he pulled up His Highness’s robe and wiped his face.

Lu huaijiang frowned, “you’re not allowed to wipe your mouth with your clothes.” It’s so dirty.”

The Empress understood in her heart. The Crown Prince’s Python robe was personally made by the clothing Bureau. Using the Crown Prince’s Python robe to wipe his face was somewhat shameful.

Then, he took out his handkerchief and slowly wiped off the oily residue on Lulu’s face.

the hem of your clothes is so dirty. You’re using a handkerchief.

The Empress?

She was thinking too much.

Lu huaijiang had been massaging Lulu’s feet for an hour. Now that the medicine was applied, it felt cool and comfortable. It didn’t hurt at all. “Don’t put on your shoes first, we’ll go back in the palanquin later. It will be more or less the same once we are outside the palace.” Lu huaijiang didn’t bandage her wound for the time being. Scabs would form quickly once she was exposed to the wind.

Children’s healing abilities were fast, so it was even less of a problem.

The Empress saw that they were leaving and did not force them to stay.

Only after Lulu had entered the sedan did the Empress untie the token from her waist.

It hung on Lulu’s waist.

“Lulu, come visit Feng Yi Palace when you have time. This fengyi Palace is too cold, it is good to come and accompany bengong.” The Empress was sincere this time. She had never seen the Crown Prince so kind to anyone.

He only wished he could tie the little girl to his belt.

From the looks of it, it was possible to carry the little girl to court.

Lulu hesitated as she held the token. Feng Yi Palace’s rules were strict, and the palace was boring, so she really didn’t like it.

The Empress raised an eyebrow. the food in fengyi Palace is the best. It's a pity that Lulu didn't get to eat it today. The Empress sighed helplessly. "Is it good?" Lulu immediately sat up straight. What flavor is it?" His eyes suddenly lit up.

Lu huaijiang coughed softly. Seeing that Lulu and his mother had agreed on the time to enter the palace next time, he left with his men.

As she was about to reach the palace gates, Lu huaijiang looked at the token on her waist, " this is the token of fengyi Palace. With this, you can enter and leave the palace as you please.

"The Empress is a good person." Lu Lu didn't know whether to laugh or to be angry.

The Imperial Palace was huge. By the time the two of them left the palace, it was already afternoon.

Lu huaijiang lowered his head and saw that her wound had actually formed a scab. He was a little surprised.

However, she was the Savior of the world, a true God who walked among the mortals. It wasn't much.

He helped her put on her shoes while blocking the eyes of the palace servants.

Lulu's strange behavior could not be revealed to the world before she grew up.

Lu huaijiang carried her out of the carriage and went back to the eastern Palace to change into a simple robe. His face was like Jade, and he looked like an elegant young man. After some thought, he picked up the money bag and stuffed a few silver notes into it.

Two thousand taels.

It should be enough to accompany a five-year-old child to a lantern show, right?

However, thinking that this fellow was like a gold-devouring beast, Lu huaijiang silently put in another three thousand taels.

He didn't believe that five thousand taels wasn't enough to accompany his child to shop..

Chapter 449 - 449: Raising a sister is really expensive (1)

This was the first time since the Crown Prince was born that he felt the embarrassment of money.

He was born with a better brain than ordinary people.

He also had many private businesses and earned a lot of money.

The private warehouse was filled with gold, silver, and jewelry, and the money on the books was enough to spend a lifetime.

One must know that the current Prince's salary was 10000 taels, the junwang's was 5000 taels, the Duke's was 2500 taels, and the Duke's was only 1000 taels. Back then, the Jiang family, which was at its peak, only had a salary of a few hundred taels.

Most of them received the money privately and relied on the agricultural industry.

As the Crown Prince, his annual salary was only ten thousand taels of silver. However, Emperor and Empress bestowed countless things in a year, including rare treasures that were usually sent by their servants. They didn't need to be bought.

He also had his own property. As the noble Crown Prince, he naturally never lacked money to spend. But raising children ..

Ah, PEI.

For the first time, he felt the embarrassment of having to raise his sister. And, a deep pressure.

Raising a child actually burned so much money?

He had spent over ten thousand taels for three days.

Every day, the queue in front of the eastern Palace never stopped. In the past, people would have to take a detour when they saw the eastern Palace, but now, it was like they had seen the God of Fortune.

He had to stuff his wallet full when he went out for a lantern show.

Clearly, as long as he was not satisfied and frowned, with that girl's intelligence and temperament, she would know that he was not happy.

He would definitely not be able to spend a single cent.

But he just couldn't bear it.

When he saw how happy she was, he wished he could pass the key to the vault to her.

Lu huaijiang felt a chill down his spine.

That was a wife's capital.

She hurriedly went out and closed the door with a bang. It was as if he would have taken out the key to the vault if he had been a step slower.

When he reached the door, Lulu had already changed and was waiting for him with a happy face.

He was the one who had bought the clothes and picked out the jewelry himself.

It was indeed a money-burning experience.

The clothes she was wearing were from the night Lulu had come to the eastern Palace. He had hired the most outstanding shop in the capital to get them measured overnight.

Whenever Tianyi Pavilion released new designs, the young ladies of the capital's aristocratic families would fight over them. The price was high, but each item was unique.

Each item cost more than a hundred taels.

As for the common people of the capital, they did not even spend two taels of silver a month. He couldn't even save ten taels a year.

He had never raised a sister before, so he had no experience.

He didn't prepare spring, summer, autumn, and winter, for fear that it would be out of date when the season came.

He didn't know how many clothes the little girl had to wear in a month. She only knew that if other people were dressed cute, she couldn't be lacking in her own.

Anyway, he just didn't feel comfortable when he saw that someone else was better than him.

Hence, he had the heavenly clothing Pavilion prepare ten sets every month.

Each set cost 200 taels of silver, so one set of moonlight clothes cost 2000 taels of silver.

The jewelry and accessories were all from the opened Treasury. The dongzhu and naizhu that were given by others were all picked up and used. If he couldn't use it, he would keep it for later.

Even so, Lu huaijiang felt a deep sense of pressure.

"Lulu, are you very happy shopping?" Lu huaijiang touched the money bag on his waist.

How did those people in the court raise so many sisters? Bengong can't afford to raise this one.

Lulu's eyes lit up as he nodded.

At this moment, she had two small round buns on her head, surrounded by a circle of pearl flowers. It was so simple, but under the moonlight, the ring of pearl flowers glowed. Every single one of them was a night-luminescent Pearl! It looked smart and .

Burning money.

There was only an ancient jade pendant hanging on her waist. The tassels hanging on the Jade pendant were flowing with brilliance, and one could tell at a glance that it was not cheap.

Lu huaijiang pulled Lulu with one hand and the money bag with the other.

He was going to squander again..

Chapter 450 - 450: The world's biggest backer (1)

"You haven't been to the hall of salvation, have you?" Lu huaijiang held her hand as they sat in the carriage. She asked in a low voice.

Lulu grunted.

"You don't understand. Sigh, there are local tyrants in this world. Even gods have their own rules. I haven't even greeted them. He'll be able to make a comeback in the next few days." Lulu was all smiles.

Lu huaijiang's eyes flashed, 'there's actually an existence that can make the hall of salvation fear? I believe that no one in this world can control the hall of salvation.'" Lu huaijiang lowered his eyes.

Lulu was very cute, but the hall of salvation ...

Lulu shot him a glance and said,"you see how powerful the great Zhou is, right?" However, the great Zhou Dynasty was still surrounded by Dongli, fusang, foreign countries, and countless foreign countries. There were also many who were stronger than great Zhou. How can the hall of salvation be invincible?"

“Since there are Yin souls and gods in this world, there are naturally demons as well.”

“If there’s light, there’s darkness.”

“As far as Yin souls are concerned, they also have their own destined master. In the demon world, it had existed for thousands of years. The divine realm is also protected by the God of creation. Lulu’s Hall of salvation is still so small.” Lulu gestured with his fingers.

The point he was gesturing at was only the size of a fingernail.

Lu huaijiang was suddenly relieved.

The world salvation Hall was not something to be afraid of now.

However, when he heard about the destined master of the dark spirit, Lu huaijiang’s heart was pounding.

“So, the hall of salvation isn’t as powerful as outsiders think? The divine realm, the demon Realm, Lulu is still too small.” Lu huaijiang looked at the heavy traffic outside the window, his eyes slightly deep.

Lulu mumbled.

“It’s true,” He paused for a moment.

Before Lu huaijiang could relax, he heard Lulu say, “I’ll tell you a secret, but don’t tell anyone else.” She whispered in his ear.

“You people in the human world, you Kings, don’t like nepotism, right? The divine realm was the same. So, don’t tell anyone.”

“Lulu actually has connections too. He has a back door.”

“The greatest venerable in the demon Realm is my Godfather. The God of creation of the divine realm is my godmother.” Lulu could do whatever he wanted in the world.

Lu huaijiang coughed.

“Brother Lu, what’s wrong?” Lulu quickly poured him a glass of water. He was already an adult, yet he was choking on tea. So stupid.” As she complained, she clumsily poured a glass of water for brother Lu.

The veins on Lu huaijiang’s forehead throbbed.

brother Lu, don’t tell anyone. You have to keep a low profile. Lulu was a low-profile child.

She didn’t even mention that the God of Wealth was her goduncle.

Lu huaijiang didn’t know what to say.

In the heavens and in the earth, the strongest reinforcements are your elders. ah, it's the Lantern Festival. There are so many lanterns. It's so beautiful. The little girl leaned against the window and saw the lights floating by the river. She immediately wanted to come down happily.

Lu huaijiang was afraid that she would run too fast, so he carried her down the carriage and held her hand tightly.

“This is the most prosperous Street in the capital. Since its emergence two years ago, it had created a miracle. This Street used to be dirty because it was in the slums. However, the person who came was extremely rich, and he used three months to create a legend. Even the nobles in the palace often sneak out for a stroll.”

Lu huaijiang pointed at the long Street that was filled with people. His eyes could see no end.

“This River was also man-made by them. It's specially used for fun.” Lu huaijiang pointed to the sparkling water.

Eh.

Lulu suddenly found the name familiar.

She seemed to have seen this description in the account book yang pinfeng had given her..