

Chapter 77

A loud piercing scream shoots through the roof just as Yinat falls to the ground. Yinat gasps, her body growing weak immediately. Melissa towers over her, a wicked grin spread against her lips.

"Die." She screams and digs the knife even deeper.

Melissa is thrown off immediately, two guards grabbing her arms, and holding her down while Yinat struggles for her life. Choking as blood gushed out of her mouth.

The doctor runs forward, chaos wrecking through the pack hall, voices increasing. Yinat was barely hanging on, her eyes dimming just as the voices seemed to move farther and farther away. Erin covers Ana's eyes, her body trembling just as Derrick wraps his arms around them, watching the unfortunate scene unfold.

The doctor kneels beside Yinat, grabs a towel, and removes the knife from her, he digs the towel tightly, preventing her blood flow.

"That's right, you should die! Die bitch! You want to give birth? Let me see you try!" Melissa screams, all sense of reasoning leaving her soul like it was never there. She thrashed in the guard's hold, screaming with all her might. Her hands and dress were covered in Yinat's blood.

Liam hovered over Yinat, unsure of what to do. On one hand, was Melissa. Melissa who he has known for years. His mate. The Luna of the blue moon kingdom. On the other hand, was Yinat, Yinat who he has only acknowledged today. Yinat who he has only just found out is carrying his heir.

Liam holds his head in his hands, growing harshly. The reality of it all settled deep in his bones. Melissa just stabbed Yinat.

Two guards rush forward to help carry an unconscious Yinat to the hospital. Liam watched as they run out of the pack hall, a trail of blood left behind.

"Now let's see you have that heir you so badly wanted. Right, Liam? You want an heir so bad. There. I destroyed it." Melissa yells, grinning, her eyes red and filled with anger.

Liam's body trembled with fury, his alpha taking over his body. He felt mad with rage, immediately rushing toward Melissa. She looks up at him, smirking.

"How does it feel to have it at the grasp of your fingers and lose it?" She asks.

"You fucking witch!" Liam growls, wrapping his large hands against her neck, he begins to squeeze tightly, watching with a sickening look as the veins in her face popped. Melissa doesn't back down, instead, she smiles. It's sickening and empty.

"Liam.." She chokes out, her eyes bulging out of their sockets.

"Fuck you, Melissa!" Liam screams into her face. He drops his hand like her skin burns, his chest heaving heavily. Melissa begins to cough, her chest and face red.

She looks up at Liam, still coughing. "Can't kill me? Is that it?" She laughs, gaze shifting to Erin and Ana. A sick-eating grin begins to crawl up her face.

"Do you wanna know a secret?" She asks, tilting her head sideways, eyes twinkling wickedly.

"Shut the hell up!" Liam screams to her face, running his hands through his hair, his face red from anger. He looks at the guards. "Take her away from here. I want to slowly torture her, leaving her writhing in pain. I want her groaning and grunting of death. I want her to want death gravely." He sneers.

Melissa begins to laugh, it's loud, emotionless, and sick.

"Come on, before you punish me. Why don't you let me tell you the secret?" She asks, shifting her gaze to Erin.

Erin swallows harshly, gripping Ana's body tightly. "Let's leave, Derrick. We've seen enough." She mutters. Derrick nods, gesturing at the two guards behind him.

"Leaving so soon, Erin? Just when I am about to do the big reveal? Just when I'm about to let it all out of the bag? Is that it, Erin? Come on, I thought you were better than this." She says cockily. Erin looks at her, nose scrunched up in disgust.

"Come on, let's leave." Derrick urges Erin the more. He's had enough for the blue moon pack already. He and his wolf want to be out of there immediately. Erin looks at Derrick over her shoulder and nods. She shifts Ana's weight and takes a second step toward the exit.

Melissa looks at Liam pathetically and grins. "Ana." She says and the murmurs in the hall die. Erin halts in her step, her body going rigid.

"What now?" Liam grunts.

"Ana, don't you want to know whose child she is?" Melissa grins wickedly. Erin swallows harshly, her body trembling. She turns to look at Melissa, eyes wide and filled with panic.

"Take her away this minute!" Liam orders. Not willing to listen to any other bullshit she's about to say from that sewage she calls a mouth.

"Are you scared to hear the truth? Days ago, you were desperate to know whose child she is. Who she belongs to. Aren't you the least curious? Aren't you dying to know whose child she is?" Melissa taunts, eyes on Erin.

Erin's chest heaves, her wolf trashing inside of her, wanting nothing more than to rip Melissa's head off her neck. She turns, not wasting any more seconds to leave the pack hall.

Melissa sees it. She sees the moment Erin makes the decision to leave. "Ana is your daughter! Ana is the heir of the blue moon kingdom. She has your blood flowing through her veins. She is your pup!" Melissa screams just as Erin halts in her steps, body freezing up with the child in her arms. She falters, her knees buckling on hearing Melissa's words.

"There it is. Boom! The big reveal." She grins, "Erin was pregnant for you Liam. She was going to have your child and she did have your child."

"Shut up! I have no child for Liam. Ana is my child. She's mine alone." Erin yells, stirring the pup slightly.

She heaves heavily, eyes on Liam's dumbfounded ones. He was already staring at her. "Your Melissa is lying just as she usually does. I have no child of yours. Ana isn't your pup." She grits out and then looks at Melissa. "You're a fucking bitch. A lowlife wench."

Melissa chuckled "Is that so? So you didn't tell me Liam is the father of the child three years ago? Three years ago when I almost pushed you off that terrace.." she paused, realizing what she just said.

Erin gasps. Melissa just admitted to what she did back then.

"I might as well say the truth since it's all being revealed, right?" She smirks and looks at Liam.

"Erin didn't push me that day. I went to her, I accused her of cheating on you. She hit me but I couldn't just allow it, could I? How can she hit me? It isn't done, I was carrying your baby. Your heir. I had to retaliate so I attacked her. I tried to kill her but things took a different turn. I couldn't care less though. It worked out for me in the end." She reveals, grinning crazily.

Liam staggers for the first time in his life, his head spinning as Melissa's words echo in his head. Erin was innocent. Erin has been innocent. Erin has...

He turns slowly to look at her but she's gone. She, Derrick, and Ana, were all gone like they were never there.

Send Gift

Comment