Comfort and Beanbags

(Anna)

“What about Fred?” Fraction says as he settles into his desk chair.

“Too...Harry Potter” I reply, trying to put the sofa cushions to a comfortable position. “What about Theo?”

“Too much like Leo. I love my wolf, but I don’t want to name my kid after him.” I give a little mmmm in agreement, these dang cushions are awful. “Little wolf, what are you doing to that sofa?” I stand back to admire my handy work. The sofa used to have six cushions on it, three on the base and three as back support, now it has three. Two on the base stacked on top of each other and one for back support. The rest of the sofa is just the frame.

“I’m trying to get comfortable” I tell Fraction while trying to make an ass print in the cushion pile. “It’s no good. You need a new sofa” I jump up again and start rearranging the cushions, “maybe one of those giant bean bags instead.”

“You want my men to sit on a giant bean bag?” He’s mocking me. I can hear the laughter in his voice.

“They wouldn’t dare sit in my beanbag.” He barks a laugh as we hear a knock on the door.

“Enter!” Fraction barks out, I watch as James pokes his head round the door. I chuckle as it’s quite comical, he’s clearly checking if it’s safe to come in.

“Sorry, I didn’t want to just walk in when I saw you and Luna come in alone.” I laugh harder as he walks into the room.

“James, call me Anna or I will be forced to tell Fraction what happened in the basement.” I turned to Fraction and winked, letting him know I’d tell him later anyway.

“As you wish, erm, where can I sit?” as he says this, I realise I have taken all the cushions off the sofa and now it’s just a frame. I throw my hands up in the air and start putting the cushions back.

“Anna, is in the middle of destroying the sofa, she said I have to get her a giant bean bag.” Fraction says texting on his phone. James helps me put the cushions back and he sits down, I do a sort of lean and squat and then give up. Comfort is not on my side today.

I’ll

“I can order one of them, but I’ll also bring an armchair in for us, I’ll never get back out of a bean bag.”

I’m clapping my hands and heading over to James to give him a hug and k*ss on the cheek when I hear, “don’t you dare k*ss him!” me and James both turn to look at Fraction with wide eyes. I’m more in shock because that wasn’t Fractions’ voice it was Leo.

“Alpha?” James says, he’s got his hands up as if showing he’s not touching me. Fraction gives a cough Contents belong to and has the good manners to look a little embarrassed.

“Sorry, I don’t know where that came from,” he motions to me with his hands, “come sit with me little wolf.” I do as he asks and take a seat on his lap facing James. “Did you need something James“?”

“Erm...yes sorry. Rick asked me to let you know he’s taken Eliza up to the cabin by the lake for a few days and that if you need him, he's just a mind link away." Fraction nods, looks like im here for the daily catch up, James has his notepad out and seems to be going down a list. "Momma Beth wants a date for the Luna Ceremony she said and I quote. 'Preferably before the Alpha Heir has been born and has a Luna of his own "I let out a laugh at that at the same time Fraction sighs, 07.08.

"I've given Lily and Colin a pack credit card and told them to get the coffee shop fixed on us, I told them you wouldn't argue about an upgraded coffee machine. Alpha Darryl called while you were at the medical practice and asked that you call him back as soon as you have. a free minute." James flips his notepad out and holds a pen at the ready.

"Tell mother she can set it up for a week today and Anna can help her plan it." Guess I have a job, no idea what to do for a Luna Ceremony though, "tell Lily and Colin they are also invited to a daily meal here at the packhouse, talk to my mother about a good date for that. And order a giant bean bag in here and one for our bedroom." James finishes. scribbling and stands.

"Perfect, shout if I'm needed." With that James leaves the office.

I turn to Fraction as he goes to pick up the phone, "since when am I included in the pack daily lowdown?"

"Since I want you with me all the time." Fraction says dialling a phone number. I go to get up, but he holds me in place with the hand that isn't holding the phone.

"Lucy it's Alpha Fraction," he says into the phone. I'm sat close enough that I can hear Lucy speaking.

“Alpha Fraction, you have just missed Darryl and Lewis. They are already on route to you.” Lucy replies, I’m not sure who Lucy is, I didn’t think the Grey pack had Luna.

“Coming here?”

“Yes Alpha, they should be there by 10am tomorrow morning.” Lewis says.

“Do you know what it’s regarding?”

44 66%

“I don’t sorry, I just know it was urgent enough for him to run out of here barking orders.”

“Alright, thank you Lucy.” Fraction hangs up the phone

“Who’s Lucy?” I ask, I try not to sound all jealous, but I don’t think it worked. Fraction smiles and turns me to face him.

“Lucy is Darryl’s Beta.”

“Grey Pack has a female Beta?” I sound shocked because I am, I’ve never heard of a female Beta.

“Yeah, she’s the only one I’ve ever met but the woman holds her own. She’s proven she owns the title many times over.” I’m impressed. “I think me, and you should call it a night, apparently we have guests.

coming tomorrow.” He pats me on the ass as I stand and start to walk for the office door, when I turn back, I notice he has a blank look on his face. I’m guessing he’s telling James about tomorrow. When he gets up, I open the door and head for our room.

«Fraction)

I’m standing in the shower. I’ve got my hands braced on the wall letting the water run down my back.

I'm willing myself to relax. It feels like it's been a long month, hell, a long year.
I can hear Anna

rummaging around in the bedroom, probably rearranging the bed to her liking.

I don't think she realises she is nesting, once she figures it out I will have to replace half of my wardrobe. Most female wolves nest during their second trimester, it allows them a safe place to relax while they grow their baby. That's why I didn't give it a second thought at getting the giant beanbag things her and James were talking about.

Once I'm clean I step out of the shower and wrap my lower half in a towel.
Heading into the bedroom I see my suspicions were correct, my blankets and what looks like a cushion. from her old bedroom. She is nestled herself into a foetal

position and has a huge smile on her face.

"Comfy?" I ask her from the bathroom doorway.

"Finally. Are you coming to bed?" She pats the area behind her that is not all nested but still in her nest,

she has made room for me.

"Sure, let me just throw some shorts on."

Once I'm covered, I carefully climb into the bed/nest and wrap my arms. around her. I'm making my movements slow and careful as I don't want to spook her. Shes a pregnant wolf, so that tigger enough, add in kidnap and rape and I'm not hundred percent sure how she is up and walking around. She takes my hand and pulls it down to her stomach, we fall asleep in her nest both holding pup in her stomach.

Visitors

(Fraction)

The buzzing of my alarm wakes me up at 9am, the kick in the shin from Anna was to make doubly sure

I'm awake. I glare over at my sleeping mate and contemplate if kicking her back is too mean...

'Maybe don't kick our pregnant mate.' Leo chimes in with a yawn.

'I wasn't going to. Just thinking about it for about a second.' I tell him, as if he thought I'd actually kick her. I lean over and k*ss her cheek before jumping out of bed.

"Come back, cold now." Anna grumbles, I look back over at her, and she hasn't even opened her eyes.

"Can't little wolf, we have visitors coming." I tell her as I pull on a t-shirt and jeans.

"Sure. Just give me five minutes." I chuckle to myself as I leave the room. I bet she has no idea what I even said. Doctor Lee mentioned that women get tired a lot during their 2nd trimester so I'm just going to let her sleep while I get sorted for Alpha Darryl.

When I round the corner to my office I'm really confused, there is what appears to be a door sized grey wall where my door once was.

"Erm...hello?" I call out, hopeful the person I can hear grunting from the other side can hear me.

"Fraction, thank Goddess. Do me a favour and push on this for me." Says the muffled voice of James.

Using two hands I give a push on the plush wall, and it pops into the office on top of my rather stunned

“New beanbag?” It’s bigger than I thought.” I tell James, stepping around him, he’s slowly trying to wriggle from underneath it.

“Yeah, I thought it was a touch smaller as well, do you think Luna will like it?” Just then a little female squeal hits us. We turn and see Anna standing in the doorway.

“It’s perfect!” She excitedly screams while launching herself at me. She’s peppering k*sSES all over my face as I support her with my arms.

“It’s nothing, I knew you wanted one,” I glance at James who is staring daggers at me, I arch my brow at him. Damn right I’m taking credit for this, he is not getting my hugs and k*sSES.

I place Anna back on the floor once James is done setting up the beanbag and she drops into it. I swear it eats her whole, she falls into the middle and the sides come up to swamp her in plushie goodness.

“Oh yes, yes I like this a lot.” She says curling further into the beanbag. I settle myself at my desk as I chuckle at her. Happy mate, happy life.

“Anything else happen last night?” I ask James who seems to be staring at Anna like she’s grown six heads.

“Oh. Ah...no nothing. Alpha Darryl called, and he should be here a little earlier, around 9:30am last time I spoke to him.”

“Great, when he gets here, you and he come straight to my office,” I tell James, “Oh and Lewis too if Darryl thinks it’s needed.”

“Sure, while we wait shall I get some coffee for us?” I just look at James, I can’t believe he actually asked that.

As James leaves I turn my attention to Anna, I’m about to ask her if she wants to join us when Darryl gets here when I realise, she’s fallen back to sleep in her little plushie heaven. I walk over to the sofa and squeeze between it and the bean bag to drop the blanket over her.

1165%

It’s only ever been used by her and stays draped over the sofa when she’s not using it. The smell of Contents belong to bacon and Dark Columbian Roast is followed by my mother as she enters the office. She just stands in the doorway look at me for a second, trying to figure out how to get past the sofa and a sleeping Anna with the tray she has.

“Here mother,” I say leaning over the sofa, “thank you for doing this. I did send James.”

“Oh, I know. Alpha Darryl and Lewis just pulled up so he’s showing them in. There is something for everyone on the tray.” She again looks. at Anna, “I don’t know how you’re all going to get past her but take it from me, never wake a pregnant mate.”

“Yes, mother. “I say to her, retreating back.

Just as I settle into my desk chair with my coffee and bacon sandwich James enters my office followed by Darryl and Lewis.

“Welcome gentlemen. I know it’s a bit of a squeeze but apparently my pregnant Luna likes to sleep.” I chuckle.

“No problem at all.” Darryl says as all three—squeeze past and plop onto the sofa. All three of them on the sofa with a sleeping she—wolf next to them is quite comical actually.

“Help yourselves, my mother made sandwiches and coffee for us all.” I say as they start in on the tray, I removed Anna’s sandwich and glass of milk and popped them on my desk. It’s likely they will go to waste as she will sleep too long but it’s the thought that counts. Once we have all finished eating, I give the Alpha in front of me all of my attention.

“Alright, what can I do for you?” I ask Darryl.

“A few things actually,” he replies, “firstly I wanted to let you know we got all the she—wolves back to their families or packs. I have two with me who were orphans from Alpha Rickson’s pack, since he’s not there I have taken them in my ward until they become of age.” I nod as he continues, “I understand Eliza is still here?”

“She is, I have told her should she want to leave all she has to do is say. It turns out Rick is her mate and it’s a bit messy with everything she has gone through.” I tell Darryl, James and Lewis are just sat silently watching us.

“Alright, that’s one mystery solved then.” I look at Darryl.

“Has someone expressed concern for her?” I look at James who shrugs, he doesn’t know about this either.

“No, not exactly. The head warrior of South Claw was concerned when she wasn’t with the females we dropped off. So, I just wanted to be certain she is still here.” I again nod, that makes sense. “I’ve spoken with the other Alpha’s in the area who have spoken to their females. and pups, and it turns out three other packs have females who were sold by Callum. Two are with their mates and turns out they got to them through challenges on both counts.” so who ever bought those females i dead, thank Goddess, “the third is a woman who showed up. at Alpha Steven’s pack at the age of 16, the wolf who bought her told Steven she was a family cousin. Until I started asking questions, he had no reason to doubt this. I believe the female has been taken from the home and is being supported by Steven and his Luna.” Thats a lot to take in, Callum has been a busy Alpha.

“Do we know where these women came from?” I ask Darryl, “Hati, we think. The woman at Stevens pack recalls being in Hati at a young age and being brought to America in a crate.” James’s eyes go wide as he looks between me and Darryl, I swipe my hand down my

“Damn it. What a mess.” I say aloud.

“I agree but it does work in our favour.” I look at Darryl. “I’ve spoken to the Elders, and they have agreed to a reconvene on the Moon Gathering just to hear everything we have on Callum.”

“That’s what, six days from now?” James says.

“Correct. Fraction, I hate to ask this, but we need Anna there.” Darryl says.

“No!”

“She has invaluable information.”

“I said no damn it! I won’t put my pregnant mate in the middle of what could turn out to be a battlefield.”

I’m getting angry now, I watch as Lewis stands up and unfolds his arms. Ah so that’s why Darryl’s head warrior is here. “Sit down Lewis before I take you standing as a direct challenge!” I growl, he doesn’t sit down so I growl louder.

“Fraction! Stop growling at them!” We all turn to look at Anna, I didnt even realise she woke up. “He is right, and you know it. I will be in no danger with you there.”

“Anna, this is not up for discussion.” I tell her.

“You’re right it’s not.” She says. “I’m coming. I won’t let that Alpha walk free again so he can do to others what he did to me and those other women.” I turn back to Darryl.

“I guess we are both coming.” I tell him through gritted teeth.

“Sorry Fraction but you know this is for the best, we can finally nail this bastard.” he turns to Anna, “Also, lovely to meet you, Anna.” Anna just nods and smiles having snuck the bacon sandwich off my desk, she has her cheeks full of food like a little hamster.

It takes three hours, but Darryl and Lewis are finally leaving, we sorted out routes and escape plans should it go badly. I wanted Anna to know exactly how to get out of the clearing. Darryl agreed that since he wants Anna there Lewis will be the one to help Rick guard Anna while I'm talking to the Elders. It will also be their job to get Anna to safety should a fight erupt. I'm drawn out of my thinking with a knock to the door.

"Will today just end already." Anna chuckles at me. "Enter." My mother opens the door and sticks her head in.

"Are you two all done? Can I steal Anna for a chat about her Luna ceremony?" I look at Anna as my mother speaks and she has a wide eyed, deer caught in headlights look on her face.

"Actually, we just need a little longer mother." I lie quickly, my mother nods and withdraws. I turn to

Anna, "I just lied to my mother for you." She uncurls herself for the bean bag and walks towards me coming around to my side of the desk.

"Oh? And what do I owe for such a nicety?" She's got a seductive glint in her eyes and her voice has lowered slightly.

"I'm sure you can think of something." I tell her, she makes a show off thinking before she drops to her knees, "Anna you don't..."

"I want to, now shush and let me play." I scoot my ass closer to the edge of the chair and widen my legs, if she wants to play. I won't stop her.

She smiles up at me as she slides my shirt up my chest to reveal my stomach, she leans in and leaves warm wet k*sses on each of my abs.

67.05%

When she gets to my jean line, she starts k*ssing along it as she undoes the buttons, she lifts up and looks at me. She has her hands on either side of my jeans. so I lift my hips slightly as she pulls my jeans down. I- spring out fully hard and ready for her, I went commando today and right now I'm thankful I did.

"Goddess, Anna." I sigh out as her tiny hands wrap around my length, she can't quite close her hand around me, so she uses both to start. slowly stroking me up and down. She lowers herself and starts

k*ssing and licking my balls as she strokes, every now and again she adds a twist that makes my hips jerk. "You're driving me crazy." I tell her as she makes eye contact with me, as she watches me, she drags her tongue up from my balls all the way up my shaft and swirls the precum off the end before swallowing.

1. up.

"Watch Fraction." I open my eyes; I didn't even realise I had closed. them. She keeps her eyes locked on mine as she opens her mouth wide and swallows me down, she gets about halfway and then bobs back I place my hand on the back of her head, not pushing, just holding. I tilt my head back not able to keep eye contact with her, I almost came the second she engulfed me in her warm wet mouth. She's bobbing up and down on my shaft getting further and further each time, she's using her tongue to tease

my end, she's getting faster and faster.

"Anna..." I warn, it's the most I can do right now. She's blowing my mind. She lifts off, takes a deep breath and then drops down on my cock. I feel the back of her throat and then I feel her swallow, the second I feel her throat constrict around my cock it's all over. I roar my release into her, she sucks down every drop I have to give, my hips are bucking on their own accord. I take my hand off her head as she slowly starts to withdraw, she lifts off me and sits back on her knees looking up at me. She makes a show of licking her lips.

"Goddess Anna. That was..." I lift her up and sit her in my lap, I claim her mouth in searing k*ss not caring that I can taste myself. "You are

A Luna's Dilema. Contents belong to
(Anna)

I'm standing in front of the mirror in Momma Beth's bedroom, my dress is white and drapes around my bump in a beautiful way. Lace is cascading down my shoulders and the fine buttons in the back are holding the dress all together. My hair has been lightly curled and teased to fall down my back in a seductive manner, my lips have a slight hint of cherry hue but otherwise my face is bare. My eyes are blazing blue and wide in both surprise and shock, as I stand here ready to be properly announced as Luna to the Swiftmane pack I can't help but think of how far I've come in my life. And how I feel like I haven't moved at all.

The nightmares of my father have become a thing of the past since I started sleeping in Fraction's arms. My nights are filled with new horrors now, I have nightmares of John and how he tormented me, of how Eve held me down as I was raped by the only family I have ever known. Nightmares of a woman I don't know being snatched from her family and being forced to carry a child that would become me, attack me in my sleep.

When I wake, my days are filled with such joy I feel I can barely contain it, anything and everything I need is taken care of. I simply mentioned a giant bean bag and the next day not one but two arrived at the packhouse. When I wanted to use my mouth on Fraction, he was patient and allowed me the time to explore and truly appreciate my first time doing it. Then the pain starts again. I can see he wants to touch me, to return the pleasure I gave him, my b*dy and mind just won't allow it. At night when we curl up to sleep in my little nest, I can feel him nestled between my butt cheeks and all I want to do is push him off me. I have to swallow down my revolution for the only man I have or ever will love.

In some ways I feel healed, in others I feel I have just created a new cave to hide in. Traded one fear for another, instead of flinching from my father's hands, I flinch from my own memory. I'm sleeping during the day because my nights are filled with me gazing at the ceiling and wishing Fraction would move and pull me closer all at the same time.

“Anna we are about ready for you,” Momma Beth comes into the room, “Anna what on Earth is wrong?

Why are you crying?” She rushes over to me as I turn to her.

“I can’t do this Momma Beth.” I cry crumbling to the floor; she gets down with me and cradles me in her arms.

“Oh Anna, why ever not?” She says while stroking my hair.

“I love him so much; I feel like my heart will burst with it. I can’t be the Luna he needs though.” I whisper my confession into her chest.

“You are exactly who he needs, you are already his Luna. This just makes it official.” She continues to stroke my hair and whisper words into my ear. “After everything you have gone through you are allowed. to have doubts and worries, we can work through them together as a family. As for a future

Luna, well dear, you have been his Luna since. you entered this house. He has loved you for long before he knew it himself.” I sit up, swiping at my eyes.

“Momma Beth, you don’t understand.” I sniff and I’m kind of grossed at the amount of snot and tears that are happening. Momma Beth hands. me a tissue.

“I think I understand perfectly. When you are ready, when your b*dy and mind are both working as one,

you will be able to have him touch you again.” I just look at her, how could she possibly know? “I knew a woman long ago who was hurt in the worst way a woman can be hurt,

27.621

she thought the world would crumble around her if she moved. She thought no man would ever see her as beautiful because of the scars. she carried on her back. She fell into a fit of depression so bad that she tried to kill herself.” I gasp and put my hand over my mouth.

“What happened?” I ask in a small whisper.

“She met her mate. It was a rocky start, for the longest time she wouldn’t let her mate touch her, so instead they talked and spent their days together. They bonded in a way that allowed them to connect out of the bedroom. Eventually she was healed to the point she was able to carry their child.” She smiles softly. “Time is an amazing healer Anna, there is no amount of time that can be put on it but eventually one day you will wake up with a clear mind and fresh eyes. And Fraction, will help you get there. Put your trust in him.” She slowly stands and holds her hand out to me, “we are family now Anna.

You never have to do anything alone again.” I grasp her hand and stand from the floor. “Now let’s wipe those tears and get you down to my son.”

When Momma Beth turns to get the tissues on the table beside her mirror, I notice two scars going down her back. I can’t tell how far they go as her dress stops about three quarters of the way up her back. It’s right then I realise if a woman like Momma Beth can push through the pain and become the woman she is today, then I can too.

“I love you, Momma.” I say as she wipes my eyes.

With a soft smile she says, “and I love you.”

Arm in arm we walk out of the room and down the stairs to meet the pack as the new Swiftmane Luna.

(Fraction)

I'm standing at the bottom of the stairs awaiting Anna, outside in the yard is the whole pack. Every man, woman and pup has shown up. I

44 635

07:08:

couldn't have asked for a better reception. Even Rick showed up and somehow managed to get Eliza to come too, she hasn't spoken to anyone, and I don't expect her to. The fact that she's here at all speaks volumes for how she feels about Anna.

When I hear the patter of feet on the stairs I turn and see Anna arm in arm with my mother, she looks stunning. She's draped head to toe in white lace, her hair is free of its bun and her lips look absolutely k*ssable. Her eyes are red, and she looks like she's been crying, I flick my eyes to my mother who gives me a small nod to let me know all is well.

"So beautiful." I tell her when she reaches me, I lightly k*ss her on the head and start leading her outside. I'm not watching where I'm going because I can't take my eyes off her, she's always beautiful but tonight she's an absolute vision. She gasps when we get outside and sees all the people here.

"Ready?" I ask her.

"Absolutely." She gives me a blazing smile and turns to the group of people before us. I give her a slight nod and she kneels down on the red cushion we got for her.

"Swiftmane Pack," I speak loudly, looking out at the crowd. "I thank you all for coming here today to celebrate and welcome our new Luna.” There is a huge uproar of applause and whoops, I smile at the pack’s acceptance, “Anna here is my true mate and is now carrying my Alpha Heir, so I think it’s about time we get to it don’t you?” There is more cheering and shouts as I turn to a beaming James for the silver knife he has in his hands. I turn to Anna and speak loud enough for the whole pack to hear me.

“Anna Clem of Swiftmane Pack, do you promise to protect, serve and provide for your Alpha and Pack

as Luna?”

“I swear.” She says clearly, I beam at her in pride. I slice into my palm. and hold her hand out to her,

she leans up and licks the blood from my

palm. When she is done, I take her hand and help her from the ground. We both turn to look at the pack as James shouts loudly.

“Everyone please welcome, Alpha Fraction Monroe and Luna Annal Monroe of the Swiftmane Pack!”

The pack is stamping their feet, clapping, cheering and shouting congratulations into the air. Some of the adults start to shift due to the excitement, the pups move to the side. to be looked over by Momma

Beth while the pack goes for a run.

“As you all know my Luna cannot shift right now, so tonight James will lead the pack run. Be free, enjoy the forest and thank you all for coming.” I turn to Anna and bring her in for a searing k*ss as the pack runs off into the forest to celebrate our union.

"I love him so much; I feel like my heart will burst with it. I can't be the Luna he needs though." I whisper my confession into her chest.

"You are exactly who he needs, you are already his Luna. This just makes it official." She continues to stroke my hair and whisper words into my ear. "After everything you have gone through you are allowed. to have doubts and worries, we can work through them together as a family. As for a future

Luna, well dear, you have been his Luna since. you entered this house. He has loved you for long before he knew it himself.” I sit up, swiping at my eyes.

“Momma Beth, you don’t understand.” I sniff and I’m kind of grossed at the amount of snot and tears that are happening. Momma Beth hands. me a tissue.

“I think I understand perfectly. When you are ready, when your b*dy and mind are both working as one,

you will be able to have him touch you again.” I just look at her, how could she possibly know? “I knew

a woman long ago who was hurt in the worst way a woman can be hurt, she thought the world would crumble around her if she moved. She thought no man would ever see her as beautiful because of the scars. she carried on her back. She fell into a fit of depression so bad that she tried to kill herself.” I gasp and put my hand over my mouth.

“What happened?” I ask in a small whisper.

“She met her mate. It was a rocky start, for the longest time she wouldn’t let her mate touch her, so instead they talked and spent their days together. They bonded in a way that allowed them to connect out of the bedroom. Eventually she was healed to the point she was able to carry their child.” She smiles softly. “Time is an amazing healer Anna, there is no amount of time that can be put on it but eventually one day you will wake up with a clear mind and fresh eyes. And Fraction, will help you get there. Put your trust in him.” She slowly stands and holds her hand out to me, “we are family now Anna.

You never have to do anything alone again.” I grasp her hand and stand from the floor. “Now let’s wipe those tears and get you down to my son.”

When Momma Beth turns to get the tissues on the table beside her mirror, I notice two scars going down her back. I can’t tell how far they go as her dress stops about three quarters of the way up her back. It’s right then I realise if a woman like Momma Beth can push through the pain and become the woman she is today, then I can too.

“I love you, Momma.” I say as she wipes my eyes.

With a soft smile she says, “and I love you.”

Arm in arm we walk out of the room and down the stairs to meet the pack as the new Swiftmane Luna.

(Fraction)

I’m standing at the bottom of the stairs awaiting Anna, outside in the yard is the whole pack. Every man, woman and pup has shown up. I couldn’t have asked for a better reception. Even Rick showed up and somehow managed to get Eliza to come too, she hasn’t spoken to anyone, and I don’t expect her to. The fact that she’s here at all speaks volumes for how she feels about Anna.

When I hear the patter of feet on the stairs I turn and see Anna arm in arm with my mother, she looks stunning. She’s draped head to toe in white lace, her hair is free of its bun and her lips look absolutely

k*ssable. Her eyes are red, and she looks like she's been crying, I flick my eyes to my mother who gives me a small nod to let me know all is well.

"So beautiful." I tell her when she reaches me, I lightly k*ss her on the head and start leading her outside. I'm not watching where I'm going because I can't take my eyes off her, she's always beautiful but tonight she's an absolute vision. She gasps when we get outside and sees all the people here.

"Ready?" I ask her.

"Absolutely." She gives me a blazing smile and turns to the group of people before us. I give her a slight nod and she kneels down on the red cushion we got for her.

"Swiftmane Pack," I speak loudly, looking out at the crowd. "I thank you all for coming here today to celebrate and welcome our new Luna." There is a huge uproar of applause and woops, I smile at the

pack's acceptance, "Anna here is my true mate and is now carrying my Alpha Heir, so I think it's about time we get to it don't you?" There is more cheering and shouts as I turn to a beaming James for the silver knife he has in his hands. I turn to Anna and speak loud enough for the whole pack to hear me.

"Anna Clem of Swiftmane Pack, do you promise to protect, serve and provide for your Alpha and Pack

as Luna?"

"I swear." She says clearly, I beam at her in pride. I slice into my palm. and hold her hand out to her,

she leans up and licks the blood from my palm. When she is done, I take her hand and help her from the ground. We both turn to look at the pack as James shouts loudly.

The pack is stamping their feet, clapping, cheering and shouting congratulations into the air. Some of the adults start to shift due to the excitement, the pups move to the side. to be looked over by Momma

Beth while the pack goes for a run.

“As you all know my Luna cannot shift right now, so tonight James will lead the pack run. Be free, enjoy the forest and thank you all for coming.” I turn to Anna and bring her in for a searing k*ss as the pack runs off into the forest to celebrate our union.

The Elder.

(Anna)

I sigh as I look out of the window of the SUV, I have been reading a book for new mums and so far it has kept me pretty entertained. We are just hitting the last hour or so of our journey to the Moon Gathering.

“I need to pee.” I tell Fraction, the two warriors in the back let out long drawn sighs. I turn to look at the both, “do you guys want a pup dancing on your bladder?”

“No Luna.” They say, I have found that if you mention anything to do with being pregnant these men shut up pretty quick.

“There is a service station about thirty minutes from here.” Fraction says reaching over and taking my hand, “can you wait?”

“No, I have to go now. Pull over and I’ll find a spot.” With this trip I have found that I will pee literally anywhere I have to. When Fraction stops the SUV I pull the small pack of tissues out of my bag and climb down to the grassy edge we have pulled up to. I wait for Fraction and he leads us into the small patch of trees and bushes. He has insisted on going everywhere with me since starting the trip. Once I find a bush I walk behind it and squat down to do my business as Fraction stands with his back to me.

Once we are back on the road I pull my book out and start reading about how to correctly dry your baby after a bath. I had no idea babies were so complicated, apparently if you don’t dry them properly they get little sores under their arms, in their neck, pretty much anywhere with a crease. I close the book and turn slightly in my chair to look at “What about Thomas? Tommy for short and when he’s older Tom?” I say to him, this is a conversation

“I

“Alpha Thomas...Alpha Tom.” He says aloud trying out the name, “ I like it.”

“You do?” This will be the first name we have agreed upon.

“I do.” He says, bringing my hand up to his mouth and laying a k*ss on

“I think we just named our pup.” I beam at him.

“I think we did too.”

The Moon Gathering is not as big as I was expecting, Momma Beth made it sound like a magical place but I seem to be surrounded by males and nothing else. Lewis and Rick haven't left my side since I got out of the SUV, and Fraction has used them to form a triangle of protection around me. Right now we are stood at the edge of some kind of stage with a massive red chair on it.

“What now?” I ask Fraction.

“Now we wait for the presiding Elder to come out. Do not move from here, Callum is over there.” He nods towards the man and Luna who look no different than when I saw them in the room at the farmhouse. The noise around us drops to silence as a grey haired old man walks onto the stage, we are here with Alpha Darryl and his warriors. We have both brought twenty warriors each so the group before the Elder is not as big as he is used to be then again this is not a normal

The old man looks really fragile, he's wearing a black robe covered in moons and stars, his beard is long and wiry looking. He looks like a good gust of wind will knock him on his ass. As he takes his seat on the red chair he holds up his hand a man walks onto the stage and gives him a microphone.

“Welcome Gentlemen, for those of you who don’t know I am Elder Thomas,” I look at Fraction with wide eyes, surely this is a good coincidence? “Before we start I must insist that someb*dy get this very pregnant Omega something to sit on! Now!” He’s speaking with a much stronger voice that I thought possible of someone who looks so old. The man who handed him the microphone walks over to and offers me a collapsible chair, I nod a thank you at him and take a seat. I don’t really feel like I need to sit but I don’t want to offend Elder Thomas.

“Very good Victor. ” Elder Thomas says to the man, “now. Where is Alpha Darryl?” Darryl raises his hand and steps forward. “Speak your words.”

Darryl clears his throat and looks at Fraction, he nods at Darryl giving him the go ahead to say everything. “Elder Thomas, thank you for meeting with us.” the Elder waves his hand in a hurry up motion, “Alpha Fraction and I have come here today to accuse Alpha Callum of kidnap, endangering and selling she–wolves. He had full knowledge of the Rogue John who kidnapped and held multiple she–wolves to be raped and beaten. One of those she–wolves was Alpha Fraction mate who was witness to Alpha Callum being there while they held her captive.” Darryl speaks loudly and clearly.

“Bullshit.” Callum shouts.

Elder Thomas shoots to his feet with the energy of a man thirty years younger than him. “You will wait your turn!" Callum looks to the ground and walks back into line of his own people, "continue." Elder Thomas says as he settles back into his chair.

"Throughout an investigation we have discovered four females who were sold by Alpha Callum to males within packs." Darryl continues as if he wasn't interrupted, "two were saved by her true mate and the men who bought them killed in a challenge. One told me she vaguely remembers living in Hati in her youth. Another was still just a pup at sixteen years of age, Alpha Steven is taking care of her now with his Luna and the male has been exiled as far as I am aware. The fourth was this Omega's mother.

She was bought by her father and kept as a slave until the day she birthed her, she was then killed.

This left this Omega in an abusive home until she was rescued by the surrounding packs. Her brother, John was the one who was in league with Callum and helping with the kidnappings of the females."

Darryl steps back into the group having finished what he had to say. Elder Thomas hasn't moved and his facial expression gives nothing away. The warriors standing with Callum seem to be whispering to each other, some have taken a step away from him.

"Alpha Fraction, anything else to add?" Elder Thomas says.

“No Elder. I think Alpha Darryl has summed everything up well.” Fraction says loudly.

“I have, of course, read the documents Darryl sent that outline everything in more detail. I am sorry your Omega went through all she did.” He nods at me. “I believe your Head Warrior has something to tell me?” I turn to look at Rick, this is news to me. Patrick moves forward and clears his throat.

“Thank you for hearing me Elder, I am aware only Alphas normally speak here.” Patrick says clearly and loudly.

“If he’s not an Alpha why is he even talking,” the shrill sound of a female shouts, I look over at Callum’s Luna to see her standing forward.

“You will speak when spoken too, female.” Elder Thomas says, “continue warrior.”

“When we went to rescue our Alpha and Luna I met my fated mate. Eliza had been there for a long time. She was beaten, raped and much worse in the hands of the men who kept her captive. She was taken the night Alpha Rickson was killed, she was one of his warriors. She was with him when he died and watched Alpha Callum issue the killing blow.” I gasp at this, I had no idea Eliza had seen such a thing.

“Why is Eliza not here?” Elder Thomas asks.

“I beg your forgiveness for this but Eliza barely allows me to be around her. She has a revulsion to all men and breaks down in panic attacks. I thought it wise for her to stay home with our Alpha’s mother to watch over her.” Patrick says, I can hear the care he feels for Eliza in his words. “She has written this letter for you though Elder.” Patrick pulls a scaled envelope out of his pocket and hands it to the man who brought me the chair.

“Understandable.” Elder Thomas says while holding his hand out for the envelope. Patrick moves back into the group, Fraction squeezes his shoulder as he walks past to retake his place behind me. I turn to look at him and he simply nods at me. We all wait in silence as Elder Thomas reads the letter from Eliza.

“Do you have anything to say, Callum?” He asks as he carefully folds the letter and places it inside his robe. I notice he doesn’t call him Alpha, Fraction told me once that leaving this off when addressing an Alpha you don’t know is a sign of disrespect.

“Seems anything I say will be damning to myself.”

“I think I’ve heard enough then, a wise choice to keep your trap shut.” Elder Thomas responds, I let a small chuckle out at this. I thought of him as an old man but he’s still very smart and witty.

“With everything I have heard today, along with Alpha Darryl’s letters and now Eliza’s, the only person I wish to hear from is the little Omega there.” I gulp at this. Darryl and Fraction said I might have to speak but it doesn’t make it any less daunting. Elder Thomas gets up and walks along the stage and comes down towards me, he kneels in front of me and takes my hand. “Everything that has been said, is it true?” He says to me, he’s speaking quietly and just to me. Fraction is watching him and listening though.

“Yes, Sir.” I tell him. Contents belong to

“And your pup, he is well after everything you endured?”

“Yes, Sir.” He nods and places a hand on my head and one on my stomach, I don’t feel anything happening, I’m not overly sure why he is doing this.

“Ah, you met Lily,” I look at him, I don’t know who Lily is. He takes his hands from me, “you don’t tell people I can see your mind and I won’t tell people you can heal in your dreams.”

“I’m sorry?” I’m thoroughly confused.

Elder Thomas nods towards Fraction, “he looks pretty good for a man who became overwhelmed by his wolf. When a wolf takes over there is never a way back, unless they have an Omega’s love.”

“The sewing...” I gasp.

“The sewing.” He says, “you healed him exactly as you should. And you will continue to do so for many years to come.” With that Elder Thomas stands, nods at Fraction and walks back to the stage. I turn a

I let out a sound of satisfaction at the Elder's announcement, sure I would like to have killed the man myself but sometimes that's not how these things work out. I turn to Anna who looks stunned on her little chair, the men around us are all congratulating each other on a job. well done. I kneel down so I

"You ok little wolf?" I ask her.

"It's over?" She says, she can't quite believe it.

"It's over." I say with a smile.

"Thomas is a good name." she says as she cradles our pup.

"I agree." Kissing her head. I stand and walk over to Darryl. I clasp his hand in mine, thanking him for his support.

Some of the men around us have started dispersing, others are talking amongst themselves clearly waiting for the execution. I look over at Callum's Luna who is walking towards me and Darryl. We both turn to hear what she has to say.

“Please, don’t leave me out here.” All three of us turn on the crying woman and walk towards the clearing to see the execution. It’s being held in the next clearing over and we make it in just a few minutes. Rick and Lewis are walking behind us, and I see Rick has brought the chair for Anna.

“Are you sure you want to see this?” I ask Anna as she sits down.

“Yes, I need to. I didn’t see John die and I didn’t see you exile Max. This I can see.” I nod in understanding, she needs closure.

We all watch as six warriors drag a struggling Callum out into the middle of the clearing. They strap him to a post that has been erected, normally they don’t retrain the one being executed but I guess they think he will run. The warriors all stand with their hands behind their backs looking towards Elder

Thomas. We all wait for the sun going down listening to Callum screaming everything he can.

“They all deserved it. Every single one of them. Who res all of them, filthy wh ores.” I try to block out his screams, I am very close to going over and doing the deed myself.

him and look back towards Elder Thomas. As the sun drops below the trees the Elder gives a nod to Contents belong to the warriors. One warrior walks over to Callum with a knife, with one swipe the knife slices through his stomach, a second warrior walks over and slices the same spot making the wound deeper. Callum is simple statement the Moon Gathering is over, and Anna's torment has been laid to rest. I feel her hand clasp mine as I look towards her.

"Can we go home now?" She asks me.

"Yes, little wolf, let's go home."

(Anna)

Once we get home it feels like nothing has changed and everything has changed all at once. We have been home for two week and honestly, it's been the happiest two weeks I can ever remember having. I am sat in the giant bean bag in Fraction's office, he is typing away on his computer when I feel it. It's like someone has shoved their hand in my stomach and started pulling.

"AHHH" I call out curling in on myself.

"Anna?" Fraction's panicked voice sounds, he is suddenly next to me feeling my head. "What is it?"

"He's coming." I tell him as I feel another tug. "Now. He's coming now!"

Without delay Fraction scoops me up in his arms and runs out of the office.

“JAMES!” Fraction shouts almost deafening me. I hear the sound of running and then see a frantic James standing before us.

“Now?” He asks.

“Right now!” Fraction says walking past him and leading us out of the house. James jumps into the SUV as Fraction folds us both into the passenger seat. I cry out in pain as another contraction hits. I feel the car start as we sail towards the medical centre. I vaguely hear James on the phone with someone, barking instructions.

When we pull up at the medical centre Doctor Lee is standing waiting with a wheelchair. Fraction gets us out of the car and walks straight. past him. He carries me past the patients sitting in the waiting area and through some double doors.

“Right here, Alpha.” Doctor Lee says pointing to a room. I scream in pain as Fraction puts me on the bed in the room.

“Alpha, you must leave.” Doctor Lee says as he put on a pair of gloves. “Anna, I need you to take off your leggings and panties.” I hear Fraction growl at that. “Beta get the Alpha out of here!” The doors open and I see the last person I was expecting. She keeps her eyes down and walks around James and Fraction to get to me.

“Eliza?” I say through the pain.

“I’m here! There is no way your Alpha can stay in here with another man all up in you so Rick thought it best I be here with you.” Fraction lets out another growl and I look over at him to see his eyes go yellow.

“Leo!” Fraction turns to me, “get out now so I can get our son out safely.” I cry in pain as I watch James pull Fraction out of the room.

“Don’t worry Luna, he won’t go far. It’s just easier to do this when an angry Alpha isn’t snarling at me.”

He gets a chair and places it at the end of the bed. “Eliza, can you help me rid Luna of these undergarments?”

I help as much as I can, but the contractions seem to be coming closer and closer. Eventually Eliza gets my leggings off, but I’m so overcome with pain that Doctor Lee decides to just cut my panties off me. My legs are placed in stirrups, and I feel Eliza take my hand.

“Alright Anna, PUSH!” Doctor Lee says, I bare down with everything I have and push as hard as I can.

“That’s it, Anna. Now one more big push and we will have a head.” I feel his hands on my legs as I with everything I have. “That’s it Anna, keep going...nearly there. We have a head. Well done, Anna.” I am panting as Eliza rubs a cloth over my head.

“You’re doing so well Anna!” she says to me.

“Alright Anna, on the next contraction I want you to give me one last big push and we will have an Alpha Heir.” When I feel the pain, I push with the last of my energy, just when I feel like I can’t push anymore the blissful sound of a crying baby fills the room. "You did it Anna." I feel some tugging and then a very wet and gloppy baby is plopped onto my chest.

"An na!" I hear and then the door bursts open to an enraged Fraction storm into the room. The second he spots me with baby Thomas he stops still, I see the moment he realises I am ok and that our baby is here. "Oh An na!" He comes over to me and sweeps the hair from my face placing a k*ss on my head and then one on Tho ma s's head. "He's a beautiful little wolf."

I look down at the tiny pale bundle in my arms, his eyes are closed, and his little hands are forming fists like he's punching the air. He has ten toes and ten fingers, he has an alarming amount of deep brown hair on his head, but it just makes it all the more beautiful to me.

"He's perfect in every way," I say to Fraction, never taking my eyes off Thomas, "I love you."

"I love you, little wolf." Fraction says as he holds us both.

Chapter 47

The silent baby.

(Anna)

"It will happen." Eliza tells me as she lifts a crying Thomas from my arms. He won't feed from me; I just can't seem to get him to latch. It swear if one more person tells me it's perfectly normal. I might start getting stabby. I watch with resentment as Eliza puts a bottle to Thoma s's mouth and he starts suckling like he's being starved.

"There is something wrong with me." I wipe at the tears rolling down. my face as Eliza sits on the end of the hospital bed.

“No there isn’t. You just need practice: I’ve seen loads of females go through this.” Eliza tells me as she starts to rock Thomas gently from side to side, she’s barely moving but I can see his eyes starting to close.

“How do you know how to do that?” I ask her, amazed.

“I’m part of a big family and an even bigger pack. You pick up a trick or two surrounded by all those females.” This is the first time Eliza has mentioned her family to me or her pack, she’s so closed off after everything my brother did to her. “I think Fraction will be back soon, he ran out of here shouting something about babies needing blankets.” I laugh at Eliza’s words.

“It’s been a shock to the system for both of us. Neither of us got to truly enjoy the pregnancy before

Thomas was here. No one taught me how to do this, what if I destroy him? What if he grows up to be a giant ball of anxiety like me?” I whisper my fears into my lap knowing Eliza heard me.

“Are you planning on going somewhere?” I shake my head at her with wide eyes, “then you have all the help you need. Venture out of that pack house and I bet there is a horde of females dying to help the new Luna.” I smile at her words.

“Are you staying?” I have wanted to ask for a while, but I didn’t know how to broach the topic. Eliza sighs, handing Thomas back to me.

“I don’t know. Did Rick tell you he’s, my mate?” I shake my head no: I sort of knew but I’ve been in my own head a lot lately. “He wants me to stay here but honestly I can’t see ever wanting a man to touch me again.”

"I get that. As much as I adore Fraction, the mere thought of his touch sent me into a panic when I got back. I can only imagine what it's like for you having been there for so long." I tell Eliza trying to show her I understand her feelings.

"How did you get past it?" She asks me in a small voice.

"I will let you know when I do." I give her a small smile, "one day at a time."

"Sound advice if you ask me." Momma Beth says from the doorway, "sorry ladies I couldn't wait any longer." She strolls confidently over to the side of the bed and holds her hands out. Gently, so I don't wake Thomas, I hand him over. "Ooooo come to mama."

"Mama?" I ask her with a little giggle.

"My right to choose until he can talk. Oh, what a beauty." The love shining off Momma Beth's face is addictive; I can't help but smile along with her.

"He won't feed Momma." Momma Beth looks up at me with sad eyes.

"I agree. When he is ready, he will, just remember babies can feel what we are feeling. So, if you are anxious and worried, he will feel it." Momma Beth says as she looks down at Thomas. "He looks well so he's not starving. Bottles will do him no harm even if it's for the long term."

"You sure?" I'm worried that all the baby books say breasts are best.

"Fraction was bottle fed; he wouldn't latch. And he has grown into a perfectly fine man, don't believe everything you read. Babies can't be scripted Anna. Just follow your gut and you can't go wrong. You might think you can't do this but trust me, you can." I smile at her: Momma Beth has a knack for offering great advice just when you need it most.

"I think we should like them to get some sleep, it's been a long day. Eliza says to us both. Momma Beth nods and places Thomas next to me.

"Thanks guys." I whisper as they walk out of the room, closing the door behind them.

I watch as Thomas pumps his little fists into the air and then settles into a peaceful sleep. He looks so soft, and I can't help but think I am going to mess him up somehow, it's not like I have a strong parental

Fraction has been gone most of the day, just as I am about to reach out to him over the bond the door opens, and he walks into the room.

"Sorry Little Wolf." I went to get this. Fraction comes over to Thomas and carefully lays a baby blue my head back into his chest I let his heartbeat settle me into sleep.

I wake with a jolt; Thomas is awake and just chilling next to Anna. Carefully getting off the bed, I try not to wake Anna. She just birthed my son; she deserves some rest. As I walk around the bed, I can't help but notice how beautiful Anna looks laid next to Thomas. She is laid on her side so her arm is sort of resting next to Thomas, she looks like she can grab him at any second even though she's in a deep sleep.

"Hey little guy." I coo at Thomas as I carefully pick him up, careful to cradle his head I settle him into my arms. With one arm under his head and one under his tiny butt I start walking back and forth along the room.

"I'm your daddy, I'm the one who is always going to be here for you. One day I will teach you all about running the pack and how to talk to women. Me and you are always going to be best friends." I speak in a low voice; I want to talk to Thomas, but I don't want to wake Anna. Thomas watches me with tiny blue eyes, they are so much like Anna's it's actually amazing how this tiny person can hold aspects of both of us. I can already see his nose is going to be like mine and something tells me he's going to have my Contents belong to face shape too. Other than his looks just like me in my mother's baby picture books.

I keep walking as Thomas stuffs his tiny fist into his mouth and starts suckling. "You hungry? Let's get you a bottle." Walking over to the small counter I start to prepare a bottle, Anna doesn't like that he won't feed from her. I think she sees it as a failing on her side, I sent my mother in to reassure her earlier but I'm not certain it worked.

Breastfed or bottle fed, it won't change how much he is loved.

As soon as I lift the bottle to Thomas's little pouting mouth he latches on and starts suckling for all he's worth. "He's going to suck the teat right off that." Anna's soft voice reaches my ear. Looking up I see her in the same place but with her eyes open.

"Go back to sleep, Little Wolf." I whisper as I sit on the chair to continue feeding Thomas.

"I wish he would feed from me." I hear the sadness in her voice.

"Doctor Lee said you can keep trying, at least with the bottle I can support you on feeds." I watch as she smiles at me, and her eyes flutter closed. "Mummy is going to sleep." I whisper to Thomas.

Thomas blinks his little eyes up at me and keeps suckling, he's a little strange for a newborn. He hasn't cried yet which I find concerning, what if there is something wrong? I haven't mentioned it to

Anna because she has enough to worry about right now. I think once I have some time alone, I will do some reading about why he's not crying or latching onto the breast. Thomas's suckling starts to slow, and his eyes start to close, as he drifts back off to sleep, I lean back in the chair and just watch him

sleep.

Three years of bliss.

Three years after the birth of Thomas...

(Anna)

I tiptoe out of the room. praying to the Goddess that I don't wake Tommy up. The one time I stubbed my toe on his chest of drawers when I was leaving the room. I regretted that for days afterwards.

Fraction moved the drawers to avoid it happening again. We realised that a sleeping baby awakened is not a happy baby at all. I manage to leave without incident and breathe a sigh of relief when I close the door.

I quickly dash to the room next door and throw the robe I'm wearing on the floor; I lay myself over our bed and wait for Fraction. I'm wearing a red lace bra and panties set just for him, he once told me that I should just go pantieless as he ruins them every time. I love to see the joy on his face when he sees me in a nice set though.

It's been three years since we were blessed with Tommy and every day since has been filled with such

joy. Rick and Eliza mated and have adopted a young pup of their own, turns out the men who hurt Eliza did so much damage her wolf was unable to fix it. I held her as she cried all her pain out when Doctor

Lee told her. For months she was inconsolable, neither me nor Rick could get through to her. All that changed when Alpha Darryl showed up with a new born pup, he knew of their problems so when an unmated woman died when giving birth to her baby, he drove straight to us. When he left, Eliza and

Rick had a baby girl, and they named her Lizzie after her birth mother and haven't looked back since.

I started making it my mission to fix James up with someone, in hopes to find him his fated mate. Little did I know I was looking in the wrong place.

One night when Tommy would not settle, I was walking the pack grounds and James was with me. He admitted to me that he is gay and that he was worried that his fated mate was not out there, his mother once told him the Goddess does not mate gay wolves. Turns out his family abandoned him because being gay was disgusting and a sin against the Goddess herself, Momma Beth took him in and brought him into the family as one of her own. That started a lifelong friendship with Fraction, I made sure that he knew I thought not differently of him but that I would start looking at the men not the women. This made him howl with laughter.

I'm lost in my thoughts when the bedroom door opens, Fraction's light up when he sees me.

"And what did I do to deserve this?" He says as he starts removing his clothes.

"Can a Luna not treat her Alpha?"

"Oh, she can! When she's wearing that she most certainly can." He grabs my ankles and pulls me towards the end of the bed, I let out a little squeal of surprise as he starts kissing along my stomach.

"James is cursing you by the way.

"Oh?" I say gasping as his kisses start to get lower.

“mhmhm, apparently his date is very boring.” I feel a tug as the side of my panties give way, suddenly I couldn’t care less wh. as the si Contents belong to James’s date is clit, my hips start to buck on their own, I grasp his hair and pull him closer to me.

“Delicious.” Fraction says as he slides a finger into me.

“Please.” I beg

“Please what little wolf?” His finger is joined by another, I gasp and buck my hips upwards.

“Please! I need you,” I cry out. I feel his hand and mouth leave me and then I feel his cock at my entrance. Fraction has a hand on either side of my head as he holds himself at my entrance.

“Anna, open your eyes.” I open my eyes to stare into his eyes, he slams into me in one move. I cry out as an orgasm is forced from me. “That’s it, little wolf. I can feel you squeezing me!” His hips start to thrust in and out of me, Fraction drags one of my legs up up to his hip. He uses this to change his angle and hit a spot deep inside of me, he slams into that spot over and over again in the most delish torment. “Come with me, little wolf.” he says in my ear as his hand snakes down to flick over my clit. I scream my release as Fraction roars his own. I feel him spill into me as he holds himself as deep as he can get. After a few last thrusts and a deep k*ss, Fraction rolls to the side of me and pulls me onto his chest.

We fall asleep like that, wrapped in each other. Satisfied, happy and safe.

I'm watching from the porch with a cup of coffee as Tommy climbs all over his mother, Anna shifted into Winter and settled down in the yard for Tommy to have a play. I chuckle as he pulls on Winter's ears and then tries to climb up her back.

"Tommy, don't do that." I tell him as I walk over, "Mommies wolf is not a donkey."

"Ride!" he squeals. I watch as Winter stands up and waits for me to deposit our son on her back. I hold his back as Winter starts a slow walk around the yard giving Tommy the wolf ride he so desperately wants.

n Alpha's Need.

"Have a good day and be a good boy." I tell Thomas from my spot kneeling in front of him. He doesn't say anything, he just runs off into the little classroom. Fraction talked me into putting Thomas in the pack day care for a few hours each day. I didn't want to, so we compromised on three hours, twice a week. He said it was important for Thomas to be around other kids and his pack. I don't disagree, I just wish I could keep him with me at all times. Contents belong to Watching him run and start gibbering with two other boys makes me both happy and sad. I kind of wish he would make a fuss so I could keep him with me but on the other hand I am happy he feels comfortable enough here to just run off and play.

'You coming back, Little Wolf? I hear Fraction ask over our mind link.

'On my way now, just watching Thomas for a minute.' I reply to him. 'He will be fine. Come home.'

Fraction insists.

Waving to Miss Loxley I give Thomas one last glance before exiting the play centre. The centre itself isn't new but it has had an upgrade in the last three years. Fraction insisted it be painted and refurbished ready for Thomas coming to play. Now the kids all have top of the range toys to play with and the teachers/carers have a beautiful coffee lounge to spend their breaks. When it comes to

Thomas, Fraction spares no expense, but he is careful to not spoil him. 'A spoilt Alpha is no good to anyone.' He says all the time, I think he's concerned about him growing up to be a bratty Alpha. I'm not worried, Thomas is really kind hearted and sensitive to those around him. I don't think he could be bratty if he tried, I could be wrong, but I hope that I'm not.

Walking back to the packhouse I can't help but notice how much the Pack land has changed over the years. After Fraction officially made me Luna my dreams were filled with knitting, sewing, crafting and cleaning. Each morning I would wake up and see a new part of the Pack has healed, the once peeling paint on the houses now looks fresh and new, the once unloved gardens are now blooming with flowers and a place for pups to play in safety, even the pack itself is strong that it was. The day Thomas was born we had three hundred and twenty- four pack members; in three short years we have almost doubled in size. Wolves are finding their mates left and right, I still think James finding a mate is a must, he seems so lonely, but Fraction said g ay wolves are actually quite rare. It doesn't stop Winter from trying to find him though, we are more in harmony these days and right now we are on the same page. A member of our family is lonely, and we need to fix it.

"An na!" I hear being shouted from up ahead of me, shielding my eyes from the sun. I see Maxwell from the coffee house waving me over. Breaking into a slight jog I head for him.

"Everything ok Max?" I ask him while I greet him with a small hug.

"Got these for you and Alpha, enjoy your Thomas free time." Maxwell says handing me a small box and heading back inside the coffee house. I smile after him and continue my way home. Clutching my prize to my chest I take in my surroundings and feel completely at peace. I don't ever remember being this happy ever in my life, not only am I happy, I feel safe, loved and part of a family. It's thanks to Fraction that I feel this way.

Once I get to the packhouse I am actually surprised at how quiet it is Three years ago, the house stood at the edge of the pack land and served as home to Fraction and his family, now it's almost the centre of the pack land with houses and businesses spread out all around it. The once almost empty house is now always full, as Luna I wanted the pack to come together so each full moon, we have a pack run fifteen and eighteen come for movies and a meal. Fraction didn't like the idea at first but once he saw the kids show up and start to mingle with the other pack members around the house he quickly got on board. It was thanks to this that we realised Katie's family was struggling so much and we managed to find work for her dad and mum and support them with childcare for their younger kids. Katie is often around the house somewhere helping either me or Eliza and sometimes Momma Beth.

Today however I could hear a pin drop in the house. I managed to enter the house and walk all the way up to mine and Fraction's room without meeting another soul.

"The house is so empty," I call out as I enter our bedroom and close the door behind me. This room hasn't really changed, Fraction told me once he refused to change the room where he had me for the first time.

"In here, Little Wolf." I hear from the connecting bathroom, as I enter, I see a delicious sight. Fraction is sitting in the tub with bubbles up to his bushy beard, there are tea lights scattered around and I can see little rose petals floating between the bubbles.

“What did I do to deserve this?” I ask as I pull my shirt over my head and start to shimmy my jeans off,

“With the pack, a full house and Thomas, I haven’t had my mate in too long.” Standing before him fully n*ked I wait and let him drink me in. “Far too long.” He says in a low whisper.

“Does my Alpha feel neglected?” I watch as Fraction nods, I slowly drag my hand across my hip into the tub, instead of turning around and giving him my back. I straddle his legs and sit facing him. I instantly feel his co ck brushing against my centre. I gasp allowed as the water and my wetness help him to glide through my folds.

“Done teasing?” He asks as he leans forward and takes my left nipple in his mouth, I let out a gasp and tilt my head back as my hips thrust forward looking for that delicious friction.

“Please.” I whisper towards the ceiling as I tangle my hands into his hair and hold his head to my breasts. I shiver as I feel him give me one last suck and then lift off me, his hands circle my hips and lift me slightly so he can centre himself.

“Watch me.” He demands. Looking into his eyes I see the pure bliss blaze in them as his head breaches my pussy. Gasping and he goes further and further, I drop my head on his shoulder as he bottoms out in me. “How are you still so damn tight?” He says into my hair as he starts to lift my hips, so I am bouncing on him. At this angle all I can do is gasp and pant, he’s hitting my spot dead on. “This is going to be quick, Little Wolf.”

Using my hands on the side of the bath I sit myself up and while looking into Fractions eyes I start matching his thrusts. He pushes up and I push down, hard and faster I can hear the water sloshing around in the bath but all I see is Fraction. I can feel the bundle of nerves in my stomach getting tighter and tighter as one of his hands leaves my hips and he brings his thumb down to slam onto my clit.

Holding himself deep inside of me I scream my orgasm as he does. Panting, I relax my body onto his lap and lay my head on his chest.

“I think I can get on board with this daycare thing.” I tell him in between pants. I feel him laugh as he starts to re-harden inside of me, before I know it, he is slowly thrusting in and out of me again. The water starts to get cold, but I can’t seem to care right now.

Watching from the shadows.

I am so sick of seeing this Omega paw at my mate. I’ve watched for years as she has pushed herself into his life, made the pack trust her and even have a child with my man. I keep being told to have patience, to wait, that my time will come but honestly there is only so many times you can watch your mate f u ck an imposter. Fraction was never meant to be hers; he was always mine.

Everyone knows Omegas are poison, stains on the shifter world. They think they are helping but in actuality they are just leading you into a false sense of security and then before you know your whole world has imploded.

Anna, even her name sets my fur on edge. Sure, she's cute in a butter wouldn't melt kind of way but inside she is all sour and hellfire. Just like all Omegas. Over the last few years, I've watched as she mated my mate, claimed my Luna spot and then popped that fake little Alpha Heir out into the world.

John was meant to get rid of her for me but turns out her fake brother was just as useless as she is.

Fraction being taken wasn't exactly ideal but at least I got to see him n*ked without little Miss Sugar and Spi cy hanging off him. And let me tell you, that n*ked bearded Go d has fuelled some da mn good dreams.

Each day I've watched as Fraction parades her around as the world's most perfect mate. She convinced him to grow the pack, we now have more bodies here than land and we have had no choice but to expand the property line. She doesn't see it but the warriors on patrol are stretched to breaking.

It's too much for them to look after and that leaves the pack vulnerable. There was nothing wrong with the pack size before she got her hands all over it. Sure, we were small, but everyone knew everyone, nowadays I have no idea who I'm speaking with half the time. She has this habit of making something that is fine

288 Vouchers

a hundred times worse.

Her and that bratty Alpha Heir are always with my mate or with that scrappy ex-warrior Eliza. Honestly Fraction has allowed Anna to bring some trash into the pack. Eliza can't even give Patrick a baby, they had to take one from Alpha Daryl. Some poor females out there had her baby snatched away so the Omegas friend could have a family. Yet another black mark against Anna as far as I'm concerned.

I'm not the only one who doesn't like her, I've heard the older ladies talking and a lot don't like what she's doing with her son. I listen to them gossip about how she just abandons him in the day care centre to go home and ride Fraction like a prized stallion. I've had the unfortunate pleasure of being in the pack house when they are going at it and honestly. I've heard cat wailing have more tune than

Anna coming all over my mate's cock.

I've known for a long time that Fraction was my intended mare, my father told me when I was about twelve years old. Fraction couldn't tell me; his wolf would not allow it so I had to wait. For a while I figured he was just waiting for me to age, then I turned eighteen and nothing happened. Anna went missing and it was this huge deal up in the packhouse, when Fraction found her, he went racing off without a second thought of the pack. That's what Omegas do; they make you so consumed with them that you forget everything else. Well now it seems like Fraction has forgotten me.

The night he made her Luna, and I watched as she stood there taking the oath, I nearly killed her right then. My father says I have to wait, get strong, learn her weaknesses he always tells me; 'Use the shadows to your advantage.' So, I will but watch out Anna, these shadows have claws, and they want their mate back! The little bell above the shop door brings me out of my thoughts.

Dropping the whisk onto the counter I wipe my hands on the apron and try to find my inner peace. If I want my plan to work, she can't suspect anything. Walking through the kitchen door and into the shop I see her, with her perfectly groomed hair, her treated nails and luxury clothes. She's the pampered princess everyone thinks she is. I can already feel my anger rising and all she has done is smile at me.

"No Alice today?" Anna asks in her weirdly sweet voice.

"Just me." I say back without smiling, I know I should smile to sell the rouse, but my face won't allow me to.

"Can I get three blueberry muffins, six lemon bars and a piece of the triple chocolate cake?" Anna asks while bending down to preview the cakes on display.

"Sure. I just need to grab the cake from the back." I don't wait for her answer as I spin around and go to find my treasure.

I made Anna the perfect chocolate cake last night. She comes in every Tuesday morning for the same order and the chocolate cake is for her. Everyone knows she has a weakness for cookies and chocolate cake. Last night I made the chocolate cake and made sure to keep it away from anyone else.

I added a few extra things, things worthy of a fake Luna. Cutting off a big chunk I admire the cream chocolate spread around the layers and the hidden white chocolate chips peeking out between the layers. Oh yeah, she's not going to be able to resist this.

Heading back out into the shop I make quick work of the muffins and lemon bars, handing over the bag I watch as she quickly leaves the store with a hurried goodbye. It's then that I realise he's outside.

Fraction is standing on the pavement chatting to an older man I don't know while holding his tiny Alpha Heir. Together they look like a normal everyday couple doing some shopping and chatting to friends, only I know what she's really like.

Soon I will have what I'm entitled to, and Anna will be gone with her fake Alpha Heir in tow. Fraction is mine and I won't let anyone tell me

Chapter 50

Never a dull day.

(Fraction)

After showing Anna what an afternoon with Thomas in daycare can look like we go our separate ways.

She has Luna duties to take care of and I have my Alpha duties, don't get me wrong. I'd love nothing more than to stay in bed with Anna and be buried balls deep all day. After Thomas was born, me and

Anna became closer than ever, Thomas sort of glued us together in a way we just weren't before.

Anna has taken to her Luna duties like a duck to water. Thanks to her the pack is happier, healthier and stronger than it has ever been. I have no doubt that she's worked some kind of Omega power over the pack but honestly, I can't be mad about it. We have grown to such a size that I now need more warriors to help protect the pack land. Anna suggested having the older kids come to the pack house once a month so they can meet with the pack officers and get to know them. I already have four of them ready to select to train as warriors. Never did I think of doing things this way but now I can't see a time where we won't.

Walking down to my office I pass Andrew who nods his head toward my office door, following him as I take a seat behind my desk. watching with a smile as Andrew picks up Thomas's toy train and starts to push the wheel around with his hands.

"What's up?" I ask him.

"Not much, the training area is ready. The daycare is asking for more staff members and the clinic now has a new nurse."

"How's Leon fitting in?" I smile as I watch Andrew fidget in his chair.

"Erm, yeah he's fine," he's nervous, I smile wider. "I mean, he's a good

“They say three or six part timers.” Andrew has flipped his ever trusty note pad out and is reading his notes.

“Approach the older kids, maybe some of them would be interested in helping out. I know Alice works the bakery on a weekend, maybe she can do the daycare mid week?” I through the idea out.

“Sure I will ask around.” Andrew says scribbling in his notepad.

‘Busy?’ I hear Anna ask over our link.

‘Never too busy for you.’ I respond.

‘Want to come get Thomas with me?’ I don’t respond as she already knows my answer.

“Right, is that everything?” I say getting up from my desk.

“For now. Off to get Tommy?” I chuckle at this.

“Don’t let Anna hear you call him that, she hates it.” We both laugh as we leave the office. Anna liked calling Thomas. Tommy until one of the kids called him Tommy the tank engine and now she gives anyone. who uses the nickname a death stare. It’s quite comical actually, she thinks it’s all frightening but it’s just funny. Still I play along, happy Luna, happy life after all.

Fraction say as I walk over to join him and William on the pavement. I nipped into the bakery for my weekly goodies and somehow Fraction ended up chatting up a storm and showing off Thomas.

“Probably not, best let him have some time for fun before pressing Alpha duties on him.” They both

“All done, Little Wolf?” I nod at him as he takes my hand and starts to walk us down the street, we watch as Thomas runs a few steps ahead. “The pups are coming tonight.”

“Don’t call them that, they are basically adults.” I scold him.

“Basically an adult, isn’t an adult.” He laughs back.

As we get further down the main street I notice the park. “do you think we have time for Thomas to have a small play?” I ask just as we hear angry shouting from across the road.

“I don’t want you here, you and the brats need to leave!” I never knew Mrs Jacob could be so loud. I look over to see her shouting at Leon’s younger brother.

“You go, I’m going to see what I can do to help here.” Fraction says 1, he ruffles Thoma s’s hair and runs across the street.

“Shall we go on the swings?” I ask Thomas, he seems to take a moment to decide if he should follow his father or come to the park. Apparently the allure of the swings is too much because he happily spins around and leads the way to the park.

old as hell but she's as sharp as a tack. Nothing gets past that old lady, she's the closest to a busy b*dy the pack has. She knows everything and everyone, Fractions day is often filled with things Mrs Jacob has either reported or done. She's become worse since Leon joined the pack last year, he came to us with two younger brothers following and a nursing degree under his belt. No one asked too many questions. about where they came from, you could tell from looking at them that it was bad. Fraction opened the pack to him and even introduced him to Doctor Lee, which led to him working at the clinic.

Mrs Jacob. seems to have a huge problem with Leon, I don't know if it's because Leon is very feminine Contents belong to or because not only do his two brothers live with him but so do three of the orphaned pups from the pack.

Leon asked one day if he could take them in, Fraction was worried at first how he would manage but he proved to us he could do it. He gets very little money from the pack, Fraction offered but Leon refused.

Since he took them in, none of those kids have missed a day of school or a medical appointment. The man might be young but he knows what he's doing. So I don't understand Mrs Jacob's problem.
