

The Truth 231

Chapter 231 The Human Role

There were at least 15 giants among the attackers, Robin estimated their strength to be around the middle and high levels of the knighthood realm, with two of them being between low and middle-level saints.

With them also another 30 half naked males that the tallest of them in about 1.6 m 5.1 ft, just slightly taller than the girls at the caravan and has a similar physique to them, and all of them have equivalent to level 10 strength as well

The attack was very fierce and fast, but the battle was resolved just as fast...

It may even be described as a one sided massacre, it was like a fight between thugs and trained elite soldiers

Although at first sight, Robin estimated that those 15 were just as powerful as the giants of the caravan and perhaps even stronger if their numbers were added to the scale.

The Seven Giants of the caravan were unexpectedly powerful!

When the fight began, the tattoos of the seven giants began to emit energy vibrations before every attack they directed

When the attackers felt the presence of the tattoos they started wavering and some started running away!

this attracted Robin's attention and kept on looking at it with frowned eyebrows, 'these are definitely not ordinary tattoos..'

In about a few minutes all of the attackers were killed, even the head of the convoy stalked the two strongest bandits and banged their heads effortlessly even though their physical strength appeared very close!

'Those tattoos...' Robin muttered, these things are most likely the key to the power system in this world, he definitely felt some Heavenly Laws in it, but he just couldn't get his finger on what it is...

From start to finish Robin did not care about the result

What if the bandits win? they would never let him and the prisoners leave! and his current condition is not optimal anyway, so it didn't really matter who kills whom, but the tattoos officially attracted his attention now...

It was undoubtedly the difference in the fighting that occurred... and it told him that the true strength of those seven was far beyond his initial estimates.

After the fighting ended, the head of the caravan ordered the girls to make camp to spend the night here, and then he and the rest of the other giants took some of the dead bodies and disappeared among the bushes...

After two hours they came back again laughing, with 3 huge beasts on their backs with blood dripping from their teeth... It's clear that they used those corpses as bait

It was a big feast today celebrating a crushing victory, followed by lots and lots of violent sex, and the end was that one of the girls died of excessive bleeding.

The reaction of the giant who was having sex with her was that he angrily threw her on top of the rest of the corpses, then took another girl that was passing behind him by chance and continued what he was doing.. as if nothing had happened.

The other girls also tented their own wounds silently or just gave the corpse one last goodbye gaze before looking in front of them again

After the whole party was over, Laurie came with some leftovers and sat down next to Robin, and started cutting the meat, "You are in luck today, there are a lot of leftovers! I see that most of your wounds and all your fractures are about to heal, at this pace maybe after another 3 days you will be completely healed? that's awesome! What a tremendous healing power, no wonder you managed to survive all these years, you know once I ~~~"

Robin looked at the girl who did not stop talking and the blood that did not stop falling from between her legs...

Is she his enemy or his savior? This girl was the one who found him and put him in this position, but without her, he might have already been some beast's dinner...

The last time he replied to her was after his first circus show and he told her to leave him alone, yet she came every day to feed him and talked nonstop even when he was completely ignoring her.

"You... what are.. you?" Robin finally uttered his first words in 9 days

"Oh!! You finally decided to talk to me again? .. What's wrong with this question? What am I like? Oh sorry, do I speak fast? Do you understand anything I'm saying?!" Laurie said in one breath

Over the past few days, Robin took some of his time by directing the eyes of the truth toward the giants while they were talking or the little chats of the prisoners, his master of the language became much better.

"You... a slave? Free? Why are you treated like this every day... and then you come to me as if nothing had happened? How do you keep that smile of yours?" Robin spoke as if he was trying to study a strange case

"Slave? Free..? What do you mean? I don't understand you..." Laurie raised an eyebrow, "This is the role we humans have in life, no more, no less."

"Role...?" Robin furrowed an eyebrow, then continued in a heavy tone, "What do you mean... the role of the humans?"

"Hmmm? Have you been living under a rock your whole life?" Laurie was really surprised

"I was born with a different body.. as you see.. that is why I was living with my grandfather in isolation from the world to protect me.. and I don't know anything.." Robin casually made up an excuse

"ooh is that so? So you were born into a human family like us? damn, you can start your own species if your kids got your attributes! But you know what, I knew that we are related somehow!! Hehe." Laurie giggled

And then proudly placed her hand on her chest, "Let me tell you what you need to know then... we live in the world that belongs to a species called the Nihari Giants, they are very, very powerful and they have divine tattoos on top of that, they are the supreme beings and they stand above everyone and everything, and you have already seen quite a few of them hehe.

As for all the other races, they are secondary races whose mission is to serve the Nihari giants in one way or another. There is a race that grows crops for them, a race that takes care of mining,

Some races that provide them with meat like the intelligent lizards, their limbs are a primary source of food for the Nihari Giants, and they are kind enough to give them time to regrow their limbs before harvesting them again.

And there is even a race that takes care of keeping the numbers of the rest of the races under control... They are too kind to let us Humble beings live in their world

As for us humans, we are in a very high position because we look like the Nihari giants! They use us as personal assistants and the females of our human race especially because we help them relieve their sexual pressures... it's... it's a great honor for us!"

Robin was shocked to the point he hoped she was exaggerating!

But he did not detect any signs of lying or deception in her words, the rest of the prisoners also did not seem to have any reaction to her words except for a prisoner that have scales and looked a little like a lizard, he seemed pained...

Every word she said was undoubtedly true without any exaggeration.

Chapter 232 Farm

Robin narrowed his eyebrows as if he had heard the strangest thing ever...

They are slaves, their entire races are slaves... and they are okay with it?

What did the giants do to their ancestors in the past to make all the other races submissive to this degree...

How did they make the later generations be born accepting their fate as eternal slaves?!

"So... you volunteered to come and help those seven Nihari Giants?" Robin asked again, trying to figure out as much as he can

"No no, they came to our settlement and they chose all the pretty girls in it, we are the ones you see now.. but I don't think I'm pretty though, you should have seen the girls who were taken two years ago! They were really gorgeous!" Laurie spoke while feeding Robin into his mouth

He chewed his food slowly as he looked at it strangely and then asked after he finished, "You had a settlement? Tell me about it? Did you have a family?"

"Hehe I'm glad to answer, but open your mouth again!" Laurie put another piece of meat in his mouth and then continued, "I was born in one of the human settlements in this province, the whole settlement is dedicated to us humans, and the giants have issued orders that no one enters or leave it without permission, this is to protect us of course!

.. as for my Family... Yes, I had one... I have had many siblings in the past, but When I left, I still had two sisters and my father... but that's in the past now..."

Robin finally noticed some pain when she remembered her family, "What do you mean you had it? what happened to your other siblings? ...and why didn't you mention your mother?"

"My other siblings were summoned to help the masters before me and so they are out of the family, whoever finds his role never comes back.

Just like me now, because I got out of the village my two remaining siblings aren't allowed to speak to me, now I have to serve my masters to death, I don't have a family or anything like that anymore..." Laurie then took a short pause her then a smile came back to her face as she continued, "well, that is how life is! hehe, oh, as for my mother, she died like a Superhero!"

"Hero? How?" Robin asked as he took another bite of the over grilled meat

"...one day 4 giants came to the village to choose a few girls, but the number of girls in the village was very few because of the recent deportation of a large number and this threatened our lineage existence, and this is a serious crime punishable by the high-ranking officials of the giants..."

But the four giants refused to listen to our settlement chief and go away and choose violence. In the end, the chief made a deal with them to give them one woman who already carried several children before... and they chose my mother." Laurie spoke slowly and tried to occupy herself with cutting the food and looking down, perhaps to keep her tears from falling.

She didn't need to complete the rest of the story.. four giants take turns on an old woman...

He could hear her screams and imagine the bloody scene just by mentioning it.

A settlement for humans that prevents them from leaving or entering without the permission of the giants, the giants can just come by and choose whomever they want among them and leave, and There are laws that prevent the overuse to protect the lineage of the settlement and to secure a stable supply of the future generations...

This is a description fit for a farm!!

"Did your father not try to defend your mother that night? Or did that chief of the settlement not try to stop them from killing her...?" Robin asked again, trying to understand this world more

"Hahahaha." One of the prisoners chuckled as if he had heard the strangest joke, he was the lizard looking guy

"Shut up or you will cut your ration!" Laurie looked at that prisoner and said sharply, and then returned to Robin with a smile, "I don't understand what you are saying, why would my father or the chief interfere? My mother did a great favor for the girls of the tribe, and there was nothing suspicious about it to even report it to the authorities... Everything was done peacefully in her bedroom."

Robin opened his eyes to the last of them...

They raped her to death on her bed? This is too overbearing...

But the strangest thing is that her husband did not say anything? Have all their sensations been killed to this degree? Did they all just turn into cows and goats?!

But Robin is sure that when he has his mobility back he will be strong enough to kill a few giants without a problem, as for those local humans, they have much more physical strength and hundreds of thousands of years of cultivation history than his planet!

theoretically, they should be much stronger than him... What he is hearing now didn't make any sense at all!

When a question came to Robin's mind and he spoke directly, "In your opinion, how far away is your settlement chief's strength compared to you?"

"Hmmm I don't know, I think I'm a little stronger than him because he's old now, but he's more experienced than me, I guess we'll know when we have a fight! Hehehe, come on open your mouth and say ah~"

'as I expected' Robin thought... the humans of this world don't know anything about energy cultivation and martial arts.

Then he just narrowed his eyes and looked at the horizon again and chewed his food quietly, he did not try to ask her anything else.. the picture of this world in his mind has become much more clearer now.

If he wants to successfully defend against the attack that will affect this planet within fifty years, he will have to unite the Nihari giants around one cause... or that is what he thought

This arrogant race will definitely not listen to a lowly being like him!

It's more difficult than he imagined, he has to start thinking of some strategy right now and--

Drip

The sound of a water drop hitting the floor made Robin shiver all over and stopped his thoughts.

Not using the eyes of the Truth to check the patterns around him, and not busy talking to Laurie, Robin was forced to notice something he had been trying to ignore since he entered the cage...

the drooling terrifying crimson creature that was still looking in his direction.

Besides the short time he spent on stage, that thing didn't budge his head from Robin's direction for a moment, even when raw meat was brought for him to eat while looking at Robin!

Like a wolf looking at its prey, like a rapist looking at a beautiful girl...

That thing was dying inside to jump at him and eat him alive.

Robin felt humiliated, endangered, and angry every time he noticed that creature, this time he couldn't just ignore it and shouted out loud, "WHAT THE F*CK ARE YOU LOOKING AT!!!"

Chapter 233 The Demons

The loud shout frightened all the prisoners and even attracted the attention of the giants, but the crimson creature didn't react at all...

Laurie sighed and shook her head, "I told you not to pay attention to him, the demons do not hear nor see, and do not care about the gestures and feelings of any other race, communication with them is impossible..."

"Hah.. haa.. haa.." Robin gasped hard after the shout that drained a large part of his energy and psychic power, everything in him is yelling to get up and kill that damn crimson thing right now!!

Then he looked at Laurie and asked, "How is it possible for a whole living race to not hear nor see? How do they survive then? That is impossible!"

"That a known fact, See those big nostrils on his neck? This is his nose, and it is also his whole life.." Laurie said and then continued the explanation, "The nostrils of the demons are extremely sensitive and powerful that he sees the shape of our bodies now precisely by counting the number of pores that produce sweat out of your skin,

As he is looking at you now, he sees a red aura in the shape of your body, and for some reason, it is clear that he likes your smell more than anyone else... maybe because you have a delicate and soft body? hehe.

Demons communicate with each other through certain smells that come out of their nostrils as well, but they are extremely simple communication commands, such as: Danger, Attack, Retreat... things like this.

And they know nothing in their lives but reproduction and hunting, they breed very quickly and their children grow rapidly, and then they start forming groups at a very young age to attack their prey in packs, they eat anything that has blood in it, but they especially love hunting the intelligent beings!"

"They can breed quickly?!" Robin was astonished by this information, knowing that this information came from humans, who are considered one of the fastest breeding species and one man can have tens of children in his lifetime if he took multiple wives, so what about those?

Then he continued his question, "If there is a race that breeds as fast as you describe and can reach this kind of strength... then that truly frightening" Robin pointed toward the demon who possesses the power of a middle levels Saint, "Looks like the era of the Nihari giants is about to end!"

"Kikiki" one of the prisoners laughed, "They are just stupid bastards, they work as cleaners and they don't even know!"

Robin looked at the prisoner and narrowed his eyes, it seems that this person wasn't afraid to speak, unlike Laurie

"... the Nihari giants do not reproduce quarter as fast as even the humans, their women do not like the idea of having sex with their males, they prefer to go to battles than take care of their children so they had to find a way to balance the numbers of other creatures, or they would increase in number to the point where they would be in danger." The prisoner spoke in a low voice and then continued,

"The demons love to hunt intelligent beings that have the shared ancient bloodline, such as humans, nihari giants, half-frogs, lizard people, and so on... Eating our meat and drinking our blood is what increases their strength. That thing in front of you probably ate hundreds or maybe thousands of intelligent beings to reach this kind of power.

And the Nihari giants make this easy for them, as they lure them next to the settlements of other intelligent creatures and prepare suitable nests for them so that they act as predators to reduce the increase in the population of this area...

That is their role in the Nihari world, they use their tiny bit of intelligence they got from the ancient bloodline to work together to hunt other intelligent creatures, that is the only thing they are f*cking smart at!

Sigh~ when the population of the settlement they are hunting at reaches the ideal number that the giants want, they capture the demons again and wait a few years before releasing them again in the same settlement, or send them to another settlement to clean it... as I said, they are just a scavenger race"

"For the sake of..." Robin's chest tightened again upon hearing this, the giants simply don't see the rest of the living creatures as beings in the first place, this is an unpleasant fate even for insects!

"That is not true, they do not do this because they are afraid of us, but rather they do us a favor so that he does not starve because of our large numbers, and they use the demons to give us an equal chance of surviving!!" Laurie spoke heartily

Robin shook his head upon hearing her, this girl's head was washed horribly, but most likely her elders did this to protect her...

A question suddenly popped into Robin's head and asked Laurie, "But the demons' numbers themselves..."

If they are really reproducing fast and their kids are growing up fast, and they are getting this kind of preferential treatment and getting a lot of food, then they are the most dangerous species in the eyes of the Nihari giants!

Before Laurie answers, that prisoner interfered again, "I know what you are thinking, brother, but you are missing something... the noses of these stupid beings are their greatest weapon but also their worst misfortune."

Robin opened his eyes as if he understood something but let the prisoner continue, "There is a herbal formula created by the First Heaven chosen and is now in the possession of all the great powers of the race of Nihari Giants.

if you apply that formula to your body, will completely hide your smell... You can simply dance for two hours in front of that stupid thing And he will not even know that you are standing in front of him!

There are giants dedicated to dealing with the demons, they use this formula to enter their nests and kill their offspring every now and then, they just walk there chatting with each other while killing the kids in their mothers' laps, it's easier than killing wild rabbits for them! Those stupid demons must think that their children die a natural death hahaha."

Robin looked at the prisoner for a long time, " The demons are suffering just as much as the other intelligent creatures then, but It seems you don't like them very much..."

"Let me see you love them if you see them eating your family in front of your eyes." The prisoner spoke with a deep hatred

"Enough! Enough talking about the affairs of the masters!!" She warned Laurie, with a look of great fear on her face

"Hey.. who is that first Heaven Chosen?!" Robin remembered something and asked the prisoner, ignoring Laurie's warnings

"He's just a son of a bitch who has---" The prisoner had barely started speaking when a hand went through the fence and grabbed his head.

splaaaash

Blood and brain parts splattered everywhere as the prisoner's head disappeared.

"You talk too much, fishbones..."

Chapter 234 Scream

Robin was nailed from his place, terrified.

He didn't dare to blink even when a piece of the prisoner's brain started slipping from his forehead and into his eye.

Laurie also grabbed the rest of the food and quickly got off the carriage!

Even when Robin was not focused he could hear her heartbeat becoming too fast, it was so fast and loud that Robin felt her heart was going to explode..

"Ptui!" When he saw everyone inside the bars shut his mouth again, the head of the caravan spat on the ground and then left..

baa baa baa

Robin miscalculated again.

He had thought that no one would harm him as long as he brought them money, he is their hottest property now, how can they harm him bad enough to make him unable to perform?

Only now did he understand how wrong he was.

The head of the caravan did not hesitate for a moment to kill someone who made him money, he just crushed his head without warning!

And all this because he cursed the first heaven chosen guy?! Who is this first heaven chosen?!

The question exploded in Robin's head, and he couldn't bring himself to think of something else, but the pieces of the brain and the blood splattered on him convinced him to keep quiet...

It is clear that this is not an existence that he can talk about freely.

inhale.. exhale.. inhale.. exhale..

Even with the power of his soul, it took Robin over ten minutes to clean his breathing and heartbeat... then he reactivated the major heavenly law technique of Life and the eyes of the truth simultaneously.

He should get out of here as soon as possible!!

After two more days--

The green glow in Robin's eyes disappeared as he looked at his left arm and feet with a smile, the gleam around his body started fading as well until it disappeared... His recovery is complete!

All his broken bones, all his torn muscles.. everything is back to normal, there is no scratch on his body anymore

And better... Robin raised his left hand with ease and started turning it right and left with joy on his face.

Over 90% of the first stage of the Major Heavenly Law of Gravitation pattern has been found and memorized!

Although he still can't use the major law of gravity in full force yet, you can easily extract and use a few minor laws of gravity from the patterns and use them to reverse gravity enough for him to move with ease

Robin looked out of the corner of his eye at the seven giants leading the caravan...

In that fight with the bandits, 6 giants of them showed that they had strength equivalent to an expert at the top of the Knighthood realm...

Fighting them or trying to escape from them now would never be a problem.

Robin's strength as a level 16 knight combined with all the laws he studied, fighting them wouldn't be a hindrance, he wouldn't even need to use the talismans he has!

but...

His eyes fell on the head of the caravan, that person has a strength equivalent to a saint at the middle levels and upper middle one at that, maybe level 25 or 26...

the talismans might affect him but it wouldn't kill him.

The best plan to deal with him would be to distract him with talismans, cause him some damage, and then run away at full speed

"Dammit..." Robin said in a low voice

Running away from a 25-level saint is definitely not as easy as he thinks it is, and it is still not his biggest problem...

He might not have cuffs like the rest of the prisoners but he is still locked with them, the door opens only when one of the girls brings the food, and the giants keep full alert at that moment the only other time they open the door is when the circus starts, when can't escape from much more giants watching!!

His escape have to be delayed, but it was not impossible...

First, he will have to complete the study of the main law of gravitation as the minor ones will not help him in escaping from that person

His second mission would have to increase his energy capacity a few times in order to withstand fighting the Six Giants and endure the use of talismans frequently, and then withstand running long distances...

In theory, he needs to be a saint to do all of this!

But maybe level 20 will be enough...

Robin clenched his teeth... Staying here until he gets to level 20 and finishes studying the Major Heavenly Law of Gravity completely?!

Now, there has to be another way, he has to-- drip drip

While he was busy in his thoughts trying to plan for the next period, he heard the voice that he hated the most it cut his train of thoughts and made him tremble all over.

Robin knew his source directly... He looked forward again and saw the crimson creature looking in his direction with increased excitement...

It seems that Robin's movements stimulated his scent, which aroused that creature even more.

'That's it!!!' The two words exploded in Robin's head, he couldn't stand the look on that creature's face any longer.

He unleashed his full soul power in the form of a sword, and in the most aggressive way possible he stabbed at the demon's soul

And then used his Thought conveying Technique, "LISTEN HERE YOU HORNED PIECE OF SHIT, I swear that if you keep pointing your disgusting face at me, I will cut off your scales one by one with a f*cking spoon and then grill you slowly with a mild fire, just to see if you find your scent alluring then!!!"

"KAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA!"

The demon let out a loud shriek, then quickly stood up and stumbled backward with all his might.

His body hit the metal bars from the top of his head to his heels, as if he wished his body was liquid to pass through them!!

"What is going on in the back?"

"Who provoked the demon? Does he want to eat Fishbones again?"

"Hell, This is the first time I know that demons can scream like that!!"

The seven giants quickly turned around the carriage when they heard the scream, their faces only expressions of astonishment and wonderment.

"That's bad.. this wasn't a fight cry but the demon seems to be scared, looks like it has picked up the scent of a powerful creature nearby, we have to get out of here!!" said the head of the caravan, then leaped backward with all his might and hid among the trees, after which the rest of the giants jumped each one in a different direction!

The prisoners panicked too, and each one retreated to his spot and stuck to the bars behind him. The rampage of the demon isn't something they could ignore

If there is something that can scare that damn thing, then how scary would it be for them?!

The human girls squatted on the ground and put their hands above their heads and their bodies trembled with fear, the masters abandoned them in the face of the coming monster and they don't even get the bars to protect them... In their hearts, they knew they are already dead.

Chapter 235 A Chance!

Horror.. wailing.. preparing to die.. and.. 'what the hell just happened?!

Robin looked in all directions around him in stupefaction, not in his wildest dreams would he have expected his little chat with the demon to cause all that!

He looked around him trying to find a trace of the giants but found nothing, not even a tree leaf was shaking, they were all long gone...

Is it possible that his problems have ended? just like that?!

He quickly found Laurie and spoke, "HEY! what are you doing? there is no time to be afraid now, come open this door, it is the best chance to escape!!"

"I.. don't... have.. the keys.." Laurie said in a voice so full of trembling and fear, still hugging the ground and placing her hand over her head,

Robin was worried that she would die of fear because of him when he heard her!

"Alright, everything is alright, just calm down, it could be a false alarm... Do you at least have anything to get those cuffs of the rest of the prisoners?" Robin tried to find any loophole to get out, maybe one of the prisoners would have a way to escape the cage when he is freed from the cuffs!

but she kept trembling on the ground... visually not confessed of what he said

False alarm? how could the demon give such a horrifying scream for no reason? for what? deceiving the giants? impossible! Those creatures can't use advanced strategies of this kind!

That demon was so terrified that he started screaming and forgot he can't even hear his own voice!!

"Shit..." Seeing that Laurie and the rest of the girls outside were useless, he started thinking of other ways to try to get out, so he stood up and grabbed the iron bars.

"This metal..." The bars are made of a metal that can at least craft middle categorized weapons on his home planet!

Even if he had a specialized furnace here, it would take him about half an hour to melt one of those bars, but if he tried using his hands only he would need at least three hours to melt one of them.

"There is no other solution," Robin said, and intense heat began to escape from his hand, then he grabbed one of the bars with his left fist from the top and the other from the bottom.

SWOOOOO

When the prisoners felt the intense heat that appeared beside them suddenly, terror filled their hearts even more, but when they were sure of its source, they started looking at each other and then at Robin in amazement...

"Yeah! Do it.. get us out of here!!!"

"You're better than you look, Fishbone!!!"

When Laurie heard the strange cheers, she slowly raised her face from the ground, and saw the most strange sight she could see...

Robin spews an extremely hot white flame from both of his hands and the metal bar in his hand was starting to turn red from the intensity of the heat, it is clear that he is trying to destroy the cage!

"You... you have a tattoo?!" Laurie forgot her fear of the coming monster and shouted

The rest of the girls also raised their faces from the ground and looked at Robin in astonishment and even some fear...

"A tattoo? what is that? ..it Doesn't matter, step back a little or you will get hit by a sliver of flame or a piece of molten metal and hurt you." Robin didn't pay much attention to what she said, he was completely focused on what he was doing

"No... NO! Stop!! They are still around, you shouldn't do that!!" Laurie spoke in panic, then got up and grabbed Robin's pants!

"What do you mean? They all ran away!!!" Robin was surprised by her words and started looking around

"This isn't the first time they have done something similar, when bandits or beasts stronger than them appear they give up everything and they run in different directions,

When the bandits take what they can take or when the beast to grab some of us, they return... they are definitely nearby and will be back soon, they always do!!"

"what?!" Robin unleashed his entire psychic sense in all directions

30 meters... 50 meters.. 70... still nothing

120 meters ... "found it!"

One of the giants was found lying with his ear on the ground, trying to hear any steps coming toward him...

140 meters... "Dammit..."

Robin found the rest of the seven giants in a similar situation in different directions, with the furthest of them being only 160 meters away, if one of them decided to come back, he would be back in a few seconds!

"When do they come back each time they do this procedure?" Robin looked at Laurie and yelled

"After half an hour, the quickest of the seven comes to look from afar, and if he finds it safe, he will invite the rest to come too.." Laurie quickly replied.

" Just half an hour?!" Robin received the girl's words like an arrow in his chest...

Even if their terror is at a high level and they will be late this time, maybe the first of them will come back in an hour.. two hours?

Robin will need to melt at least 3 bars to be able to get his body out of the cage, which means that he needs 9 hours!

"..." Robin put out the flames and let go of the metal bar, then sat down on his spot as if his feet lost any power

baa

"Sigh~ Looks like we are going to be here a little longer.." All the prisoners here were experienced, they understood that Robin's technique wouldn't get them out in time and that he had given up...

But Robin didn't really give up.

Maybe in his whole life, his mind didn't work as fast as it does now...

Laurie looked at the rest of the girls around her, who nodded and gestured at her to come forward

Eventually, she managed to gather up her courage and poked Robin in the foot, "Excuse me.. do you have a tattoo?"

"What? I don't know what you are talking about, let me think now!" Busy with something else, Robin didn't think about his answer, and replied directly to silence the annoyance and went back to trying to think of something.

But his response was more than enough to turn the world of the girls upside down.

After a few seconds, Lori clenched her little hands tightly and clenched her teeth, then asked again, "Tell me... are you really a human? you really were born in a human family?"

Robin got really angry at this point because of repetitive interruptions and shouted, "WOULD YOU PLEASE SHUT THE F*CK UP?! I'M TRYING TO--"

"ARE YOU A HUMAN?!" Laurie shouted in response, not backing down

"...Tch, Yeah, I'm a damn human!" Robin shouted the answer, maybe she let him think of a way to save his and THEIR lives peacefully!!

Laurie turned back to look at the rest of the girls and nodded at them, then went back to face Robin with firmness evident in her eyes, "We can get you out of here."

Chapter 236 A Strange Look

Robin narrowed his eyes upon hearing Laurie, "Then come on, get me out, do you want to bargain with me or what?!"

"No No, but." Laurie bit her lip, "To release you, we need the key, and the key is with the caravan chief... Wait for him to give it to me so I can get you the food and then you can pretend to push me aside and run away!"

"Hmph, if it were that simple I would have run away days ago, I can't run from that caravan chief... he's a scary person." Robin shook his head.

"Then... Then we will just wait until the caravan chief is away to do some business, he doesn't do that often but in happened in the past a few times, he will surely leave the key with one of his assistants, then it will be your chance!" Laurie spoke quickly, "You can't escape now, if they come and see damage to the metal bars they will kill you or at least raise their guard level by fold, please listen to my words!!"

Robin was about to refuse and order her to shut up again, But he restrained himself...

Nothing he knows can affect these bars other than the major heavenly law of fire, and to make a hole big enough to get out would need a few hours...

During this time the giants will return - according to the girls - and it will all be over

Another foolish option is to use the talismans that he has on the bars to cause a dent in them, but the explosions will affect him and at the very least he will have burns and external wounds that prevent him from moving, and the sound will attract giants faster!

The last option is to listen to what the girls say and stay...

He... Has to listen to these slaves of the giants and relate his fate to their tongues.

There is basically a great chance that they are just very good at lying and that thing about the giants returning quickly is a facade in order to prevent Robin from escaping

Robin's features shifted from concentration and thinking to squeeze...

This bet is simply too big!

"Hey.. listen to the girls.. they won't hurt you even if they hate you to the core, human boy..." One of the prisoners spoke, and the rest nodded

Robin looked aside at that person, he didn't look like he was lying either, even the rest looked serious in their gestures.

But that person drew his attention to something else, if one of these spoke to the giants and told them about his strength or his agreement with the girls, he would be eliminated as well!

The bet just got even wider and more dangerous...

"...Damn it, never mind, I will stay!" Robin shouted, then returned to sit with his back resting on the metal bars, just as he first was, as if nothing had happened...

but he was angry with himself for his helplessness... He handed over his fate to a handful of slaves and prisoners.

The girls let out a big sigh and quickly gathered together and started talking in a low voice.. .

Everyone had completely forgotten about the monster that scared the demon!

after one hour---

baa

The sound of a crash came next to Robin, and when he looked next to him he let out a sigh of relief, he really is one of the giants...

Only now can he rest assured that the girls weren't lying to him

Then the giant began to ask the girls about what happened, but they answered him that nothing came and that the monster must have taken another path, so the giant was relaxed and released a distinctive cry...

And after a few seconds, the rest of the giants also returned to the caravan and continued the journey right away

The prisoners strangely did not speak either...

Robin was already prepared that he would be reported by one of the prisoners and the girls would defend him, but all of this was a fantasy in his head...

None of them uttered a word, Robin did not know whether this was out of fear of him, hatred towards the giants, or because there was a possibility that they would escape as well...

He didn't know.. and it doesn't matter anymore as long as they keep their mouths shut~

But the girls doing this for him and the prisoners keeping quiet... it appears that they weren't completely submissive and dead inside as he initially thought

As for himself, he regained his clarity of mind and decided on his next path, after his recovery was complete, it was time to invest this unlimited energy in something else.

Breakthrough to a higher level!

In general, Breaking through to a higher cultivation level needs the necessary energy + a higher understanding of the law in which the pillars were built...

As for energy, there is no need to think about it, it would be absolutely no problem!

As for a higher understanding of the law... there was no fixed technique that Robin can follow or a pattern for the truth that can be figured out, he just had to use the law frequently to understand it more

After reaching 90% of inspecting the major law of gravity, and observing the major heavenly law of space for a long time during his flight here...

Robin felt He would no longer have a problem if he tried to break through a few levels now.

As long as the plan is to wait for the Caravan Chief to leave the place for something before trying to escape, he no longer needs the Major Heavenly Law of Gravity right now, but rather needs a sufficient supply of energy to fight those six giants and then escape, level 16 will not suffice him

And with that decisive mindset, over the next two days, Robin actually managed to reach Level 17 in one hit!

"Tch... Fishbones has been annoying lately." said the head of the caravan when he felt the turbulence of energy coming out of Robin.

The sentence hit Robin like an arrow and made him pay attention to what was around him as he tried to quickly suppress the effects of his breakthrough, then he followed with the edge of his eye the Seven Giants to see if anyone wanted to investigate further.

But in the end, they all ignored him again, saying that it is a new race and its behavior is incomprehensible...

"Heeh~" Robin let out a big sigh when he realized they had continued their way down the road and looked forward again...

Happy with his achievement, he tried to take a short break before he continued toward level 18, but his mood immediately turns sour.

The demon was looking in his direction again...

"Didn't you learn your lesson you little piece of s----?" Robin muttered angrily but paused mid-sentence, there is something strange this time about the demon...

If his mouth no longer drools but is closed... his sitting no longer indicates preparation for the attack, but rather... anticipation?

That thing is no longer looking at Robin as if it wants to eat it, but rather as if it is waiting for something!

Chapter 237 Delicious

Robin furrowed his eyebrows as he looked at the demon for a long time

This time it wasn't a look of hate or disgust, but rather a look of marvel...

After a few minutes, he thought of something and then let out his spiritual sense to envelop the demon and sent through the Thoughts conveying Technique, "Don't look in my direction."

SHAA

Just the moment he finished his sentence, Robin was left speechless as the demon actually turned his head completely to the right, and did it so fast and in a decisive way that Robin thought for a moment that his neck tendons would be torn!

"What the...?!" Robin mumbled to himself, that creature can understand his words?!

When Robin used the Thought conveying Technique on him previously, he just wanted his angry intent and strange words to appear in the demon's head to scare him,

And as such he used his original language to transmit to him the two times and not the language of this world!

This being basically does not know the language used in his world because he did not hear it or write it or even see the lips of those who speak it, the matter was simply to cause terror and questions in himself, and even if the plan failed and it did not scare him, it is a good way for Robin to vent his anger!

But he never expected the demon to understand every word he said... How?!

After a few minutes, Robin sighed and shook his head...

Once more, he had invented something he didn't know the limits of its uses

Only now did he remember that the technique was designed to convey the feelings and thoughts of its owner directly to the soul of its target

Feelings and thoughts do not know language!!

On his home planet, everyone speaks the same language and he didn't notice this, even the beasts of his planet can recognize a few words of human language after reaching the fifth level

They can't speak them, but receiving orders and instructions from humans was never a problem

"Look at me.." Robin used the Thoughts conveying Technique again and spoke to the crimson horned creature

The creature's head moved at the same speed and headed toward Robin firmly and disciplined as if he was a soldier in the army!

"Is this the first time you have come into contact with someone else spiritually? If it's true, lower your head and raise it slowly. If it's wrong, shake your head left and right," said Robin, via the Thoughts Conveying Technique.

The scarlet creature nodded slowly.

"...Do you find this a good thing?"

The scarlet creature nodded again...

"...You still want to eat me?"

The demon shook his head vigorously

Robin stretched his lips slightly forward when he saw this...

That being is acting as a deaf person who heard a voice for the first time

Robin partially understood his actions, if the situation was reversed, Robin would probably try to stay around the source of that sound as long as possible to hear something again

How does he deal with this demon?

He is waiting for him eagerly to speak as if he were a dog waiting for his master to throw the stick...

His feelings for him switched from * I'll definitely give you a painful death* to interesting..

And indeed he had a thousand questions in his head for that creature, but he began to notice that the rest of the prisoners were already looking at the demon as well, trying to understand why he was constantly nodding and shaking his head...

If he continued to ask him a little longer, perhaps the giants would also suspect about it.

He eventually decided to ignore the demon's excited and anticipating body language for now, and return to cultivating silently...

The next day, Robin opened his eyes when he felt the carriage stopped and saw that he was in front of a high wooden wall and the leader of the caravan was talking to the guards.

"Heh~" Robin gave a long sigh, a day full of humiliation and worthlessness had come again...

Just like every time, the caravan entered without problems just after a little talk and perhaps a small bribe to the guards the Seven Giants set up the ominous platform and started shouting like always to gather the spectators' attention.

One by one, the prisoners went up, doing their usual shows.

But when the crimson creature ascended this time, it did not do its usual show...

He did not show his massive fangs and bite the air or try to escape like a madman, but rather stood quietly as if he was bored, and his body language says that he can't wait to return to that cage again!

This was not very well received by the viewers, some of them even left after describing the show as boring.

Which prompted the head of the caravan to give orders to return the demon to the cage and take out his gold mine... Fishbones!

As usual, Robin was carried - because he still can't move without help - and presented to viewers as crucified, and like every time they collected a lot of black notes because of this new race

Robin sighed in relief after this situation was over, and internally swore that he would definitely escape before reaching the next city!

There is not much left to reach level 18 or even 19!

And only about 3% of the pattern remains and he finishes studying the perfect law of gravitation as well... I t's a matter of a few days, then he won't even need the caravan chief's absence from the place, when the door opens at any time to enter the food he will be able to escape!

But Robin's beautiful thoughts were suddenly interrupted by a shout from among the spectators, "Where are you going? This creature is mine now."

The Giant carrying Robin stood still and looked at the head of the caravan, who in turn smiled and spoke, "Excuse me, young man, this creature is not for sale, he is the star of the show as you see hehe."

"I'm afraid I wasn't asking for your opinion, this creature will be mine today no matter what!" A young giant stepped forward from the crowd and stood in front of them, it was clear that the quality of his clothes was better than the rest, and with some escorts standing behind him

The caravan owner lowered the belt wrapped around his body, showed a strange-looking tattoo above his stomach, and then spoke confidently, "This creature... is not for sale."

When the young man saw this tattoo his features changed for the worse and then he gestured to one of his subordinates and took something from him, it was a purple-colored note...

then presented it to the head of the caravan, "Is that enough? Come on, you should help me here.. this creature is physically weak and might die from wandering with you any day now, is it not better to come out with a bargain today? He is a waste in these types of cheap shows, how can you use him like this? I know how to use him... he looks too.. delicious..!"

Chapter 238 A Quick Plan

BZZZZ

The word delicious came into Robin's ear like a thunderbolt, it was bad enough to accept that someone wants to buy him as a slave when he is so close to escaping, but that damn tall thing wants to eat him?!

"Oh? So you are an intelligent beings eater?" The head of the caravan looked at the boy in a disgusting way and spoke

This was a widespread phenomenon among a group of the giant race, especially the wealthy and young class of the giants

It is a disgusting thing for the general public of the giant race, but it is not against the law.

Intelligent beings - especially humans - live at their service, they can speak and express themselves and they look a lot like the giants, you sure can kill them, but eat them?

Often those who eat the carriers of the ancient intelligent bloodline are seen as a step away from eating the meat of their own kind as well, which is totally unacceptable!

"Tsk~ what do you know? It is a special pleasure that only those who have tried it will understand." The young man showed annoyance

"It's true, I don't understand, and I don't care what will you do with Fishbones either.. but one purple note won't suffice to change my mind!" The head of the caravan spoke, he didn't reject the whole idea of selling

"SHIT..!!" Fear entered Robin's heart when he saw the boy begin to take out another purple note, it was only a matter of time before he could convince the head of the caravan!

The young giant himself doesn't seem very strong, maybe he's equivalent to someone of an average knight's strength, but the people around him are strong...

One of them is barely weaker than the leader of the caravan himself and his chest is tattooed... If he falls into the hands of this group, he will have no choice but to commit suicide!

'I have to get out of here right now!!' Robin quickly turned his head in every direction like a mad man, trying to catch sight of ant thing that could save him from this mess

His eyes finally stopped on the two giants of the caravan standing not too far from the carriage, one of them was responsible for getting the prisoners out to perform their shows...

the keys to the cage and the chains that wrap the prisoners surely still with him!

An idea quickly crossed Robin's head, so he turned to Laurie who was looking like she was about to cry, and sent her through the Thought conveying Technique, "This is me, Robin, you must have understood the situation by now.. there's only one way to get me out of here, but it's going to take a risk from you, and in the worst case, it could very much take your life, can I count on you?"

Seeing her reaction when she saw his strength previously, and her reaction now when she saw him about to die, made Robin bet that she might take a risk for him, everything now revolves around her!

The girl looked toward Robin with fear and astonishment, but she did not nod or shake her head... She seemed to want to say something but did not know how.

Robin sent her again, "I have a keen sense of hearing, say what you want in a low voice and I will hear you, just hurry up!!"

Laurie pursed her lips and spoke in a very low voice, "If I do as you say... would you go to Human Settlement Number 53 and tell the Chief what happened here?"

"Not a problem." Robin's reply

"You will tell him everything, and about you powers that you showed us too! Swear to heaven for this!!" Laurie said again, this time she raised her voice a little and made the girls next to her look at her in surprise

"Swear to heaven? I'll give you something more precious... I swear on my Honor that I will do as you say!" Robin announced

"... what do you want?" Laurie let out a sigh and said

Half a minute later--

"HEY! Why are you only negotiating with him? If this creature is sellable then I also want to buy it, his skeleton would be a good addition to my wall!"

The circus show quickly turned into an auction and so far the price has reached 7 purple notes!

"KAAAAAAAAA KAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA!!!"

Baa Baa Baa

At this moment, strange and strong cries suddenly came out and everyone looked toward the source, it was the demon who had been standing quietly on the stage just a little while ago!

It suddenly got up and started screaming and hitting the metal bars with frenzy and hitting the floor with its foot, it looked like it had gone crazy!

"Haha, the first time I've heard the demon roar, and what a weird one, it resembles a chicken cry, hahaha!"

"This is the first time I have known that demons can roar, aren't they silent creatures?"

"Hahaha what a weird demon!"

Distracting the audience from the auction and their eyes on the mad demon did not make the head of the caravan very happy, he looked at his aides and shouted, "Shut up that annoying thing, or kill it if you fail! We can always catch a new demon!"

"Haha finally, I always wanted to kill that stupid demon!!" The giant with the key spoke and went to put it in the gate

As for the head of the caravan, he looked again ahead of him, "The gentleman over there said 7 purple notes, this price is not so bad, is there anyone who wants to—"

BOOOOOOOOOOM!

BOOOOOOOOOOM!!

Two loud explosions suddenly came from the direction of the prisoners' cage

Before anyone could see what had happened, the waves of the two explosions blow them away

In nothing but a second, the scene has turned from a peaceful street auction to tens of bodies flying around and hitting the nearby buildings!

baa baa baa

Bizzz Even the head of the convoy was thrown a few feet away and momentarily lost hearing due to the explosion...

When he looked towards the source of the explosion.. towards the cell..

He found it open, and there was an arm hanging from it holding the keys...

An Arm...

That's all that's left of the two giants that went to silence the demon.

Chapter 239 Crazy Demon

Blood, pieces of flesh, and eyeballs.. not a single part was left intact in the bodies of the two giants...

The first explosion destroyed their spine and managed to kill them already, and the second explosion came and wiped out any trace of them...

Even the two prisoners closest to the gate of the cage were also killed in the second explosion!

"AAHHHH! Who did this? Who did this?!" The head of the caravan cried out loud and started to look around him like a crazed man, and he wasn't the only one who was terrified after the two loud explosions...

The audience, who had been tossed away by the rippling waves, slowly started to get up, with looks of stupefaction and fear on their faces, and then, "Kyaaaaaaaaah!"

Their screams started to get louder one by one, especially the female voices of them, as they started running in all directions.

The head of the caravan completely ignored them and shouted around him like a madman, "lock the area! We must find who did this to my brothers!!"

Even the powerful ones among the spectators started jumping over the nearby buildings trying to spot the cause of the two explosions

"The demon is out! The demon is out!!"

While everyone was busy running or searching for the one who did this, this terrifying shriek came out frightening everyone even more

Finally, everyone's gazes came back to set on the cage again, and indeed they did not see the demon in it

He was already out and moved at a lightning speed, but not in order to escape...

He was heading like an arrow towards the head of the caravan!

"Do you want to die?!" The head of the caravan shouted and the tattoos on his body began to emit energy vibrations

The energy vibrations quickly turned into small lightning snakes that covered his entire arm, then he raised his fist and punched at the incoming demon.

BAAA

The demon managed to block the attack with difficulty with both hands and was sent a few feets back, though a clear sound of bone breaking was heard from his left hand, it was not enough to deter him

He jumped back again and managed to grab the neck of the chief of the caravan with his right claws

"HYEAAAAAAAAA!!!" But the head of the caravan again attacked the arm of the demon before he managed to smash his neck, and this time a few veins blew in the arm of the demon and blood began to fall on the ground

He was sent flying a few meters to the right, but he succeeded in scratching the neck of the caravan chief deep enough and made him bleed as well.

And again, he came back to attack his left leg!

"Oh my God... I've never seen a demon attack with such valor before.." muttered one of them

"What is this demon doing? Why isn't he trying to escape?!"

The demons don't have a sense of backbone, revenge, and all that, they see someone they can kill and eat, they attack, if not they escape... as simple as that!

Everyone's eyes went to the fighting going on between two individuals whose strength was equivalent to the level of an intermediate Saint, afraid to miss a single detail from this bizarre battle

But no one dared to interfere, even the rest of the giants of the caravan stood still, this was out of their league!

Even the giant responsible for carrying Robin and displaying him stood like a statue watching with his mouth open, not knowing what to do... until he heard:

"Why are you still carrying me you stupid f*ck? Do you think I'm your newborn nephew..?! You really don't value your life..."

"SHUT ---" the Giant looked down at Fishbones to shut him up, but what met his eyes was not Robin's face, but fingertips pointing toward his throat, "Arggg ggggaa!?!?!?"

The Giant opened his eyes wide one last time as he looked at Fishbones who was giving him a satisfied smile and then heard him say, "Ah~ I wish you had let me already, I wished to kill you with the cruelty you deserve when I return back later, but it's okay, you got away with a quick death, I will make sure to add your share of misery to your companions."

The hair on the giant's body stood on its back while listening to this curse, he wanted to scream, he wanted to warn the rest!!

But he fell to the ground, blood was running down his neck like a waterfall, life had already vanished from his eyes as Robin had vanished from under his armpit.

swoooooosh

As for Robin, he used the ability of the Major Heavenly Law of Darkness Shadow Mobility to jump between the shadows of the spectators and the surrounding buildings until he reached an alley about a hundred meters away from the place where the head of the caravan and the demon were fighting, then he stood and looked back...

Watching the battle.

BAA BAA BAA BOOM

It wasn't a fight in the literal sense, it was more like a tough training session, where the head of the caravan rains punches on the demon but he still jumps back and tries to hurt him with everything he got.

But determination alone does not work.

Injuries already massed on the body of the demon, and blood covered every inch of his body, it was so thick that it was visible on his already crimson body!

When Robin saw this, he frowned, then a talisman slipped from his sleeve and began to slowly move through the shadows toward the scene of the battle.

Then he sent the demon through the Thought conveying Technique, "Quickly take 4 steps back and stand on full alert, I will send you a gift right away."

The demon immediately carried out orders and jumped back making a difference of 4 steps and stopped in its place, and took a stance ready to fight back at any given moment

"Haa.. haa.. haa.. finally you got tired, you crazy son of ---AAAAHHHHHHH!!!"

BOOOOOOM

Just before the head of the caravan finished his words, a giant fireball appeared out of nowhere and hit him in the back, causing him to fly towards the demon

Who in turn opened his mouth, and made a normal biting motion...

TRRRSHHHH

Due to the severe injury to his back, the head of the caravan could not defend himself in time, the bite of the demon took a large piece of his neck

He didn't even have time to scream again, he just fell down in a pool of his own blood, with nothing left to connect his body to his head except some skin and tendons on the right side of his neck

He couldn't be more dead than this!

gulp

The sound of the demon swallowing the neck of the head of the caravan terrified everyone present, and they took a few steps back, ready to escape or defend themselves if he kept his craved attacks.

But they were surprised that the demon turned around and jumped on the roof of the neighboring building, and quickly disappeared from sight...

Chapter 240 Man In Black

-- A half an hour after the head of the caravan was killed --

"So, the bottom line is that someone caused an explosion and killed two of your companions. Then the demon escaped from the cage because the door was open, and attacked your boss directly instead of escaping.. your boss was about to win, but the person who caused the explosion came back and blew up another explosion at him and that distracted him, so the demon steeped up, killed him, then he escaped, did you forget something?" Someone dressed as a guard spoke with half-opened eyes

"...I don't know if this will help anything, but Fishbones have also disappeared, and the guy responsible for guarding him found slaughtered..." spoke one of the seven giants in charge of the circus, or now one could say: one of the three remaining ones...

"Fishbones? Ahaa, the new race you were trying to sell at an unofficial auction before the attack began?" The guard spoke as if he remembered something

A chill hit the giant's spine when he heard the word unofficial, this was a punishment worthy of amputation of limbs or even death!

"Hmm, maybe someone who wanted to buy your Fishbones had killed the guy that was carrying him and kidnapped him, we can ignore this now." The guard spoke and seemed to be writing something.

"Boss, come look here." One of the other guards at the scene called out, and the man who had been investigating the giants verbally moved toward the location of the cage.

When he arrived the guard pointed to him on the floor of the cage where there was a pile of 5 handcuffs and many meters of chains piled on top of each other, the chief guard raised his eyebrow and then looked at the three giants for an explanation.

"This... these have been all over the demon's body ever since we bought him and we have never taken them off, doesn't matter if he eats or sleeps or even when he performs on the stage, the cuffs and chains have always been on him!!" Someone spoke in surprise and fear

"These chains weren't broken, they were opened with a key...." The chief of guard spoke slowly, "Maybe the person who caused the explosions was the one who unlocked them?"

"No, no, no, a stranger would move under our noses and not pay attention to him? impossible? even if we the dumb ones couldn't spot him, what about the boss and the other strong ones in the audience?" another shout

"Hmm.. so whoever opened these handcuffs was someone who was already with you at the time of the explosion, someone you could not suspect doing such a thing, someone whose presence was basically ignored even as he unlocked the handcuffs one by one..." the head guard spoke and looked away from the handcuffs towards the three giants, and then towards the human girls...

Just one look almost killed some of them in fear

"This...." The three giants looked at the girls in surprise, then with great hatred, before one of them lowered the knife and advanced, "You are the ones who caused this?! I will kill you all!!"

"AHH!!" The human girls all screamed and closed their eyes, waiting for their inevitable fate

But before the giant lowered his dagger on the first girl's head the chief of guard stopped him, before speaking to the girls with a smile, "Do any of you have something to say?"

The girls looked at each other but did not say a word.

The chief of the guard did not press them anymore and looked back in the cell, toward the rest of the prisoners, "Does any of you have something to say? Whoever gives me a piece of evidence I can use, I will release him."

"But sir--!!" One of the three giants tried to intervene, collecting these guys wasn't easy!

But the chief of the guard signaled him to be silent and continued to look at the prisoners for a few seconds, until the old woman with branches and leaves spoke and pointed at Laurie, "It is that girl... She came here and removed the handcuffs of the demon, I asked her to undo my handcuffs as well but she ignored me, Hmph!"

"Oh? Now that's interesting.." The chief of guard smiled and looked back at Laurie, and then he walked to a man that was standing at the side, wearing a black cloak that hid his head and face, and started speaking with him in low voice.

Then the man in black came to Laurie and started raining questions, "What is your relationship to the causer of these explosions? who was he? which terrorist group are you from? how did you know the real identity of the head of the caravan? do you all think this will affect our mission?!"

Laurie took a few steps back, she didn't understand anything, but in her fright, she forgot how to breath

The worst possible scenario has recently occurred... There is no escape today from these guys!

The chief guard also took a few steps toward her, "Betraying your masters and helping a stranger terrorize a city for the Nihari giants, do you know the punishment for your act?"

"Oh, I didn't, I --" Laurie tried to say anything to get out of the situation, but his mind had stopped working.

"You are still trying to deny it? So what about you? Do you have anything you want to say?" The chief of guard ignored her and looked at the rest of the girls

But they looked down and neither of them said anything

The man in the black cloak raised his hand as a gesture to stop, then spoke "It doesn't matter... We don't need useless humans to complete our investigations, we will take down the terrorist group of yours as we did to many before!"

The smile on the head of the guard disappeared, then he signaled to a number of guards, "Take the human women and sell them to the intelligent creatures restaurant in the city, their price should be enough to repair the damage caused by the explosions."

"Ahh!"

"No, no, please no!!"

"Move bitch, more!!"

The girls collapsed on the ground, between shock, disbelief, and hysterical crying...

But in the end, they started to move after the guards started beating them with whips that were cutting through their bodies

A hundred meters away, in an alley --

"Dammit... Dammit!!" Robin clenched his fist tightly, it appeared like he was going to break it

The reason for him standing here until now is to find an opportunity to smuggle Laurie and the rest of the girls...

It was natural that they would be suspected, he thought they will be deported to prison or something, but an immediate decision to make them meat source?!

And not only Laurie... If she was alone, he might have done a few tricks, and rescuing her wouldn't be too much of a problem, but that bastard sentenced the 11 girls to death... How cheap is human life here?!

Robin's brain almost stopped working when he saw the girls advancing under the influence of the whips, he didn't know what to do...

He just followed them in the dark, maybe he would think of something on the way...