

The Truth 251

Chapter 251 Pearl

Robin Appeared sarcastic and started poking holes in the Nihari power system, but what was going on in his mind was entirely different

'Which Motherfucker has invented the system of internal energy foundations and Heavenly Law Pillars?! Why is it so hard for us while others live happily with no worries?!' Robin cursed in his head

Actually, there was no one that invented the foundations and pillars internal power system, it was developed over the thousands of years by multiple geniuses until it reached its current form, and none of them can say that he is the true creator of this system.

Also, most of Robin's rage was not towards the ones who invented this internal power system, but towards himself, because he stuck himself in this box and refused to think outside it...

He thought in every way about how to develop it, but did not try to think of other possibilities.

But in the end, he sighed and shook his head, 'maybe that's for the best..'

First of all, cultivation shouldn't be this easy, Will-Free, and expensive process!

this was the rich families will just stay powerful forever with no other possibilities...

The internal power system gives more options, Robin was already the top talent in his Duchy while spending 20 gold coins a month!

Or Billy, with extremely boor inborn talent, managed to flip it over with his pure determination and hard work to become one of the youngest saints!

The second and most important, The Giants' cultivation system requires absorbing huge and constant amounts of energy all the time from the atmosphere, and given the time it takes to cultivate the body strength on this energy-filled planet...

Perhaps the genius standing before him would not have reached this level of strength even after three hundred years if he had trained in the same way on a nascent planet!

"...Can't a person receive a third-stage tattoo directly without going through the first and second stages before it?" Robin asked again, trying to understand the situation more

"Of course not, each higher stage of tattoo attracts more energy to enter the body and strengthen it, how can one skip levels like that? regardless of the third stage tattoo given since birth, If it is given to someone who has not reached the maximum power of the second stage yet, there is a high probability that his body will become maimed or even die!" The giant shook his head with a strange look, this was the first time he had to explain the power system in the world to anyone

"Hmm... Are there certain terms for users of different levels of tattoos?" Robin asked

Levels 1~10 called foundation energy mostly doesn't exist here, he has never seen any adult giants below level 10, even the weaker humans can reach this strength, probably the gravity and energy density of this world made the initial strength of all beings in it at level 10

As for those with the first stage of body strengthening divine tattoos, they are the so-called knights in his previous world, levels from 11~20

But it would be strange if he continued to use the terms knight and saint here...

"Terms? Aha I got it, Those who have the First-stage body-strengthening divine tattoo are called warriors, those with the second-stage of the body-strengthening divine tattoo are called shamans, as for those who got the third-stage of the body-strengthening divine tattoo are called dragons, because of their incredible physical strength." giant spoke

"Shaman? Like a wizard..? This is a strange name for individuals who rely on the strength of their bodies.." Robin was surprised by the name, but inside his head, he began to memorize the names...

Knight = warrior... saint = shaman... sage = dragon

bbzz

The giant raised his hand and the lightning started moving above it like white snakes, then he spoke, "This is one of the many lightning attacking divine tattoos our tribe has, If you want to get one on your body you first have to surpass the strength level of a warrior and accept the second stage of body strengthening divine tattoo, I think You can imagine the reason for the name now."

Robin got a little closer and focused completely on the Giant's arm with two pale green glowing eyes...

Seeing him act like this the Giant kept the lightning on his arm and let him watch as he wish.

"The energy that activates this Minor Heavenly Law... it comes from around you, not from within your body!" Robin was amazed when he noticed the energy in the air around them steadily entering the giant's arm and then transforming into these small thunderbolts

"Minor Heavenly Law? I don't know what this is, but right, the energy that enters our bodies is coming from the body-strengthening divine tattoo and it is only meant to strengthen the body." The young giant furrowed his eyebrow and spoke...

Robin was fascinated by what he saw.

No wonder these tattoos need a strong body before they can be installed, they pull the surrounding energy and force it temporarily into the body and then immediately let it out in the form of the law for which the tattoo was designed

Whether it's body strengthening divine tattoos or this lightning attacking divine tattoo, they are definitely two types of Runes that were designed to operate on the bodies of living things directly... One that Robin hadn't thought of before.

And while Robin observes the lightning bolt, he notices that it damages the giant's body as well!

And soon the reason was known... The bodies of the internal energy system users, such as Caesar, witness a change in the nature of their bodies when building the pillars so that their bodies align with the form of the energy that comes out of them, so users of lightning or fire, for example, do not suffer harm when using their powers

But the system of giants is based on endurance.. the body itself becomes stronger but does not undergo any transformation, and therefore they only bear the damage caused by using the Minor Heavenly Laws every time they activate this kind of attacking divine tattoos

Although it is not severe damage and the body strengthening divine tattoo heals it on its own, it is definitely still painful...

This must be the main reason why warriors are unable to use these attacking divine tattoos as well... their bodies will be destroyed in the long term if they try!

Robin saw the head of the circus caravan use these little thunderbolts in the fight against the demon, but they were definitely weaker than this!!

It seems that after entering a shaman's power level, the higher the body's strength, the more energy the tattoo would automatically attract, This will make the output of the attacking power much higher, but also the pain and damage will be much higher...

At least this is another point in favor of the internal energy system!

Robin stared at the tattoo transforming energy into lightning bolts for about a minute, before noticing that the energy entering the giant's arm was starting to change.

After entering from the surrounding air, it began to emerge from the giant's chest and towards his arm!

Seeing that Robin's eyes rested on his chest, he chuckled, "Haha, what an eye, what an eye... Excuse me, I couldn't bear to draw energy from the air anymore so I started pulling it from the energy pearls, it's more comfortable to use for the long term.."

Then the Giant slowly raised his hand so that Robin wouldn't suspect that he wanted to attack him, and he opened the belt on his chest, showing dozens of shiny gemstones, big in size but not too much, Robin could hold one of them comfortably in his fist, perfectly spherical, emitting a really faint blue luster but it was gorgeous...

They did Appear like pearls.

Robin reached out his hand and grabbed one of them and began to carefully examine it, "Oh my God..."

the young giant just smiled and watched Robin flipping the pearl like a toddler that found a new interesting toy p As for Robin, his head was already about to blow!

There is an astonishing amount of energy inside this energy pearl.

To put it in comparison, he needed 15 million gold coins worth of energy stones in order to get here, a huge sum that he needed the Royal family to collect for him

But this pearl alone has enough energy to power the space gate and send him back to his planet!!!

Chapter 252 Follow

The All-seeing God spoke of a type of energy stone on this planet that is sufficient to turn the tide of his war against his opponent.

He said that if his opponent was able to have access to them and obtain these stones, he would be done for.

If the opponent of the All-seeing God wanted something from this planet, it would definitely be these Energy Pearls!

"Where did you get these ten pearls from? Are there many of them around?" Robin spoke seriously

"Calm down.. it is nothing rare, These energy pearls can be obtained from the depths of the energy stones mountains or you may find them if you go down deep enough into the seas or even inside active volcanoes...

The energy Pearls in general need a place full of natural energy and it takes a very long time to form, but they are available everywhere in numbers that don't make them rare, You can exchange for one of these with one purple banknote." The Giant signaled Robin to calm down and spoke

The giant spoke softly as if it was nothing, but this didn't say much about Robin's view...

In that auction, he was almost sold for 7 purple banknotes and maybe even more, if one pearl had enough energy that could send him to his planet, then each one of those purple banknotes would be worth at least 15 million gold coins...

That's at least 105 million gold coins, you can buy an Earldom with that much money!!

They wanted to buy him at that price, only to eat him...?

Well, at least those giants know his worth, hmph!

"...Tell me more about your currency system, what are those papers, and are they used?" Robin returned to sit in front of the fire and asked,

He couldn't find the mechanism behind the lightning attacking divine tattoo, whoever made it has deeply concealed how it works, He can crack its code but that will take a long time, and that body strengthening divine tattoo will most likely require even more time.

"Hmm, how do I explain this... In the past, our main currency was energy stones, but carrying quantities of them around was not practical and was tempting the bandits, so we established an entity called the Central Bank...

The bank is a separate entity from the ruling administration and is considered public property for all members of the tribe, in which energy stones and pearls are stored... For example, Whoever gives bank employees a kilogram of energy stones will take a black banknote in return.

That person can give that black banknote to another person to buy something from him, and so on... This makes carrying around a lot of money possible and also quite simple in actual transactions because currency exchange rates are always fixed.

A black banknote is equal to one kilogram of energy stones.. an orange banknote is equal to 100 kilograms worth of energy stones.. a red banknote is equal to 1000 kilograms worth of energy stones...

there is also the purple banknote which is equal to one energy pearl... and finally, the gold banknote which is equal to a hundred energy pearls.

Robin opened his eyes in amazement, this monetary system was really much better than what he was used to.

Instead of carrying a ton of gold on a carriage and traveling miles with it, he would only carry one red banknote in his pocket instead...

"..thank you, you have broadened my understanding of many things," Robin spoke up and looked in front of him again.

The giant giggled, "It's okay, Mr. Alien. Every two year old kid knows these things, If you ask any beggar on the streets he would have told you the same information, not like I'm telling you secrets."

Robin returned to looking at the fire in front of him for more than a quarter of an hour with a serious look on his face, it was clear that he was thinking of something

Although the young giant seems sincere in his words, he is still a senior officer in specialized forces to hunt down his ilk...

It is a very big risk for him to trust him, secondly, he does not know what he wants from getting close to him in the first place!

Finally, he looked at him seriously and spoke, "Then..? Why did you want us to talk? What would you do if I were the third Heaven's Chosen from this world? And what would you do if I were an alien from another world?"

"..." The Young Giant fell silent for a few seconds, then looked in Robin's eyes firmly, "I will follow you either way."

"Huh? HAHAHA, it seems that the explosion on your head was worse than I thought!" Robin grabbed his stomach and laughed out loud

"What is so funny about it?!" The giant furrowed an eyebrow, looking extremely annoyed

"Haha.. haah~" Robin took a big bite from the meat in front of him and then continued, "Nice try, Special Forces expert, but I don't need a spy by my side, try something else."

Is this a joke? He previously said that his mission is to track and destroy potential threats to internal security. What could be a greater threat than an alien from another world that looks like a mere human?!

"..." The young giant remained silent for a few minutes, "The Lightning Tribe has fallen into a period of decay and weakness in the last few hundred years, the current tribe leader is trying to deal peacefully and passively with our neighbors as much as possible..."

Only ten years ago the Water Tribe entered our lands, took one of our drinkable water sources, and all the surrounding areas, and what did we do to respond? Nothing... NOTHING!!!"

Robin seriously looked at the young giant as he spoke agitated and did not interrupt him

Then he continued, "To tell you the truth, I was extremely angry with our tribe leader at the time, I wanted to do something... anything! Except that there was nothing I could do on my own, and because we were following the peace plan with our neighbors now I had no choice but to Join the peacekeepers if I want to have some good fights... Sigh~

I tracked down many terrorist organizations founded by other races to harass the Nihari giants, I killed hundreds of them and dismantled dozens of terrorist organizations in less than ten years until I earned my place as the youngest deputy commander-in-chief of the peacekeeping forces in history and the fastest to ascend to this position too!

but to be honest, even this is getting boring... My strength and talent should be put to use in anything... useful!

Hunting the terrorists was fun at the beginning thinking that I was benefiting my race and keeping the streets safe... But I no longer have any passion to do this shit anymore, it's killing me inside!"

The Young Giant looked at Robin and then continued with a smile, "I don't know if you're an alien or a new race, either way you are a chosen one of heaven... Either way, I'm sure staying with you will bring me closer to the life I have always been yearning for!"

Chapter 253 Disciple

Robin laughed sarcastically, " I don't know if people who want to defend their families can be called terrorist groups, but never mind... you may continue."

"Tsk~ Forget about it, looks like there is no need to talk anymore." The Young Giant shook his head and looked forward, from all his words Robin found only this point and comment on it? Clearly, he wasn't interested in anything he says!

"Hehe..." Robin chuckled, then turned to look at the demon who had come to sit in front of him and stated devouring the guts of the deer after he finished with the mid-level saint corpse.

After a few minutes of dreadful silence, Robin finally spoke, "You know that either way, I'd be a danger to your own kind, right?"

"...we are all flesh and blood, does outward appearance matter so much? I don't care much about your race, if you were a rat beast you would still deserve my respect as long as you are strong, and you who managed to bring me down even though you are much weaker than me physically You certainly deserve my respect..."

As long as you are a heaven's chosen, I would gladly follow you, I don't care much about your agenda, and who knows... Maybe being by your side will make the heaven's chosen of this era not hate the giants so much." The young giant spoke as he moved the bone in his hand left and right

Then he continued, "Reports say you blew up the human girls who helped you escape before they entered the Intelligent races Restaurant, though you could have been exposed there and arrested... Then you freed the prisoners in the woods though there was a risk that they would expose your identity?"

I don't know what you did to make them feel so terrified that they killed themselves, but one of them did give up your identity before he committed suicide as well... A man of your intelligence wouldn't make a slip like this, You must have known that something like this might happen, yet you let them go..."

"Tsk~" Robin looked at the ground, an annoyed expression surfaced on his face

The Giant turned his head and looked at Robin seriously, "My analysis of both situations is that you are a very decisive person but you strive to provide the best possible option for the innocents even if it is at the cost of risking your life...You are a good person."

"Hahahaha good person? what a Joke! Do you know how many people have died because of me?!"
Robin laughed out loud

Perhaps he did not kill many with his own hands, but his conquests in the kingdoms of Dolivar and the kingdom of Lying waters, and the supply of weapons and talismans to other duchies to aid them in their conquests as well, were all on his direct orders.

He directly or indirectly caused the deaths of hundreds of thousands or perhaps millions of people!

"I said you were good, I didn't say you were kind-hearted!" The Giant shook his head, "The fact that you blew up the girls who helped you says a lot about how willing you are to kill, but at least you did it to prevent them from greater torment...You are the kind of person who does everything for the greater good even if it makes you the villain in some stories, aren't you?"

If you were really an alien who came from another world, I refuse to believe that you came to harm us, you are here to do something good, but it will probably be at the cost of many people's lives too... and I want to be a part of this!"

Robin opened his eyes to the last of them as he looked at the fire when he heard this explanation, then returned to look at the young giant..

For a long time, he could not take his eyes off him...

Every word he said was 100% correct!

This young man is not only a genius in cultivation and martial arts, but has a sharp intelligence.. extremely sharp.

It is also clear that he is trying to find his place in this world, trying to use his talent and intelligence in something he believes in

"Heh~" Robin gave a long sigh

This giant reminds him of someone... himself.

At last, he began to speak again none stop, " You want to stay by my side? It is possible... But you must understand that I am the boss in this relationship, you must follow all my commands, you must call me your Excellency or Your Highness when you see me, And before anything else, you must now kneel down to me and prostrate yourself three times to complete the ritual of subordination."

The young giant kept quiet for a few seconds, then spoke "...First of all, I understand that you are the leader since I am the one who wants to follow you, it is natural that you call the shots~

Second of all, I will follow your orders as long as you do not directly harm the Nihari Giants race as a whole, and your orders are in line with my personal goal, If you ordered something that goes against the reason why I'm following you, well, there would be no point anymore, would it?

...as for titles, I will call you by your name or maybe * boss * if you insist, but forget to call you something higher than that until you deserve it!" At this point, the young giant raised an eyebrow and then continued, "As for kneeling and prostrating, Have you gone mad? Do you know who I am?"

"This was not a request, If you don't do what I tell you, I will activate the talisman and kill you now." Robin stood up and again approached the giant with a few steps, apparently preparing to do something

"THEN DO IT YOU ARROGANT BASTARD, you are the one who will lose my services!" The Young Giant threw the bone in his hand toward Robin, who dodged it, then continued his shouting, "Kneel and prostrate you say? no one deserves my kneeling... Not you, not the First Chosen of Heaven, NOT EVEN THE HEAVEN ITSELF!"

Robin furrowed his eyebrows upon hearing this, extended his hand, and then lowered it

Seeing this movement, the young giant closed his eyes, ready to feel pain or perhaps death... but suddenly he felt comforting energy enter through his leg.

When he opened his eyes again, he found Robin's hand on his leg and green energy coming out of it, and he heard Robin speak, "Congratulations, you proved that what you said a little while ago was not for fear of death, but rather your own words and Will... You said that even Heaven is not worthy of your kneeling, A great saying! But I'm afraid you don't have the qualifications to say it yet..."

At this point, Robin stopped for a second and looked the young giant directly in the eyes before saying, "Do you want those qualifications?"

" What do you mean?" The young giant opened his eyes to the last of them

"Do you want to be.. my first disciple?"

Chapter 254 Jabba

"Disciple?" The Young Giant raised an eyebrow and looked at Robin for a few seconds, "you will have to add a few more words, what do I gain from that?"

There is no doubt that Robin is a genius and most likely a Heaven's Chosen, but this is for himself... What can he offer him that he can't gain on his own?

If he talks about age and life experiences, he is older than Robin, and if he talks about strength, he is much stronger than Robin.

In fact, if he was the master in this relationship, it would seem more appropriate.

"You will be my right hand in my plans here. I will give you strength that you would never have attained in your life without me. I will give you knowledge, Too much knowledge that all the inhabitants of this planet wouldn't have gathered it even in another hundred thousand years... Are you with me?" Robin widened his eyes and spoke confidently, but didn't explain further

"..." The Giant looked at him for a long time and then sighed and said, "I guess the experience won't hurt, Alright, but I won't adree you as Master until the results of your teaching begin to show and I feel like I have really improved!"

"We agreed!" Robin extended his hand and shook the giant's hand warmly... then returned to inject life energy into his charred leg

The young giant proudly placed his hand on his chest, "Let me formally introduce myself, I'm Jabba from the Lightning Tribe, I have a 3rd degree Divine Body Strengthening tattoo, and 3 other offensive divine tattoos, I am currently the youngest Deputy Commander of the Peacekeeping Forces, the most famous genius in the entire Lightning Tribe lands and I have some little fame outside our lands... and you?"

"Hello Mr, Jabba the genius, My name is Robin Burton," Robin spoke without looking up

".... And?"

"and what?" Robin gave a sarcastic laugh

"You are a new race? An alien from another world? A new race which is also an alien from another world?! What are you? What are your plans here?!" Jabba rain questions without stop

" not now."

"Hm, that's fair I think... for that wind blade talisman..." the giant pointed towards his head

"It will stay there," Robin replied curtly

"Then what use is this enthusiastic speech and making me a disciple of you damn highness if you don't trust me at all!!" Jabba threw the bone in his hand toward Robin

Robin let the bone git his back and spoke, "First you have to recite a little oath, then I'll start telling you and teaching you everything..."

"Oath...? It's okay! I can do it now, I'm Jabba, son of the Lightning Tribe, I swear to--"

"Shhh! What nonsense? Do you think I'm foolish enough to believe this? Wait until I have a decent Oath tablet first." Robin looked to the side at Jabba as if he was looking at a clown

"Oath tablet ...?" Jabba looked at Robin for a long time but didn't say much more about it, "So... what's the plan now, boss?"

" I don't know." Robin's reply

"You don't know what to do in our world? Have you come for a picnic? What a strange alien you are..."

"Tsk~" Robin didn't want to fall into the trap and reply that actually proves that he is from another world or talks about his mission, so he changed the subject, "I want to go to Human settlement No. 53 for now, I have to meet their leader."

"Oh? At least we have a place to start, but that will have to wait a few days." nodded Jabba

"Hmm? Why..?" Robin furrowed his eyebrows, he wanted to get rid of this responsibility that Laurie had placed on him so that he could focus on his mission afterward

"It has been many hours since I last contacted the headquarters, if the absence continues, they will send a search team behind us," Jabba spoke seriously

"This... what are we going to do then?" Robin furrowed his eyebrows, he really forgot about that.

Those peacekeeping forces sent one of their deputies after him only because he killed a retired ex-officer. What would happen then if an entire division disappeared in this way... with the deputy commander at their head?!

"Hehe, it's simple, Everyone who knew about you or the existence of a peculiar human are dead now, it would be easy to mislead the headquarters with a few words from me.

just give me a few days, I will go back to the headquarters and tell them that the terrorist group Fire Salamander is behind all this and that they killed my team while I managed to escape, then I will take an open vacation from the force and come back to meet you here." Jabba opened his hands and spoke with a smile

"What? No, no, noooo, these terrorist groups you said that they consist of humans and the races other than the giants, they only want a part of their rights as intelligent beings, how can I make the situation more difficult for them?" Robin flatly refused, attaching his actions to innocent people didn't seem like a good idea

Jabba smiled, "I knew you were a good person... Don't worry, that is why I chose the right group for the accusation! Fire Salamander terrorist group is a group of minor races seeking rights and nonsense by attacking the giant's cities and robbing us, but the group heads are giants who fish in troubled waters.

This happens a lot in fact, they take advantage of the widespread issue of terrorist groups to establish their own gangs to steal and increase wealth under the facade of honor and freedom, and the Fire Salamander terrorist group is the largest and most dangerous of this kind, this group is completely run by a few giants, some of them have third stage body strengthening divine tattoo just Like Me!

The terrorist group of the Fire Salamander is very widespread with thousands of followers, not only in the land of lightning, but they have branches in all the lands of all the surrounding tribes including the Fire Tribe, and because of this they have quite a few people who can use fire attacks...

the severity of their danger or reputation will not rise an inch higher after announcing their responsibility for this incident, and if it did, they don't care! and neither should you... SO do not worry about it!"

"Oh... I guess it is okay then." Robin nodded and then went back to pumping energy into Jabba's body silently

Because Jabba's injuries from the beginning were not severe, in just two hours Robin cured any injury that prevents him from moving freely, but left him the external injuries and burns and even part of the two holes in the side of his stomach caused by the demon,

It wouldn't be too convenient to talk about himself escaping from a certain death ambush while suffering no wound at all

After that Jabba stood up and rushed in the direction he came from without adding another word, leaving Robin and the Demon to look at each other in silence...

Chapter 255 Draco

4 days later --

raaaf raaf raaf

"SAAA SAAAAAAA"

A strong sound of wings flapping echoed over the forest, frightening all the creatures inside it.

From Afar, it was not apparent whether this was a beast or a huge vehicle, But when it came closer...

It looked like a huge lizard with 4 wings, about 7 meters long from head to tail, and it was more than 12 meters long between the ends of the biggest two wings

"Hmm... This is where I am supposed to meet the boss, I guess, am I lost? Tsk~ If he hadn't killed my beetle I would have found him by now." Jabba sitting on top of the winged beast muttered while looking in all directions

"SAAAAAAA!!!" The winged beast cried an angry cry as if preparing to attack

"Hmm?" Jabba looked forward again to see what frightened his mount, but he was surprised to see someone sitting in the mid-air!

"SHIT!"

Jabba quickly grabbed the bridle of the winged beast and redirected it to the far right before it hit the person sitting in the air, then rebalanced the winged beast again, hitting its wings hard in the air while staying put.

And looked in the direction of the person sitting in the air again with disbelieving eyes

"You.. you are flying!!!" Jabba suddenly shouted after his brain finally analyzed the situation, it was Robin!

Robin opened his eyes and looked at Jabba with a smile, "You too... what a nice ride you have there!" Then he starts descending quickly until he reached the ground

Even though he was dozens of meters high, he landed so smoothly and gently that the dust under his feet wasn't even troubled

"This is different!" Jabba signaled to his winged beast to hang on to a tree, as it jumped behind Robin with a boom making a pit in the ground because of his weight, then continued, "How can you fly like that? Teach me and I will start calling you master!!"

Robin looked at him in shock, "The Shamans can't fly, or it's just you?"

"What? No! None of us fly no matter how strong we become!! Neither shamans nor even the dragon giants can fly, I heard that Gravity Tribe can jump longer distances than usual, but that's it!" Jabba replied in astonishment, then looked back at him again

"OoO"

Robin was surprised when he heard this, shamans are the equivalent of saints so he also thought they could fly here as all the saints do, but he quickly thought why...

Robin currently can fly because he had finally mastered the first stage of the Major Law of Gravity completely, and his energy at the 18th level of Knighthood is enough to activate the law around his body sufficiently to fly, so it can be said to be a special case.

But as for the normal, when a cultivator enters the sainthood realm of the internal energy system, his energy becomes dense and abundant enough to allow him to counter the effects of gravity and enable him to fly, it is more like oil in water type of situation.

Although this will drain larger amounts of energy and cause double fatigue than what Robin currently does, it is still a very important feature in the life of any saint

Robin forgot for a moment that these giants don't have any inner energy at all

Although, in theory, they can attract energy from their surroundings and transform it with the help of the divine tattoo to form The Heavenly Law of Gravity as well, and apparently there is a Tribe that is already doing that,

But those divine tattoos transform the natural energy into Laws in a specific place of the body, it may come out of the leg or arm for example, because the giants' bodies aren't modified to deal with the laws in the kind of large scoop, it's already harmful using them like they currently do

They also cover their weapons with the laws which is apparently the best way to use the divine tattoos and will actually lessen the pain

But it cannot cover the whole body with it, So even if the divine tattoo canceled Gravity on the giant's legs, for example, the rest of his body will still pull him down one other thing is that the amount of energy that a tattoo can transfer at a time is not enough to cancel the effect of gravity on the huge body of giants even if they can handle the pain

Especially on a planet with gravity like this that makes their massive body weight seem like They can only be calculated in tons!

"Hehe.." Robin chuckled, another point counted for the inner energy system!

"Hay! What are you laughing at?" Jabba looked at him in annoyance

"Laughing at you losers haha you can't fly!! hahaha." Robin laughed loudly, but quickly recovered himself and continued earnestly, "Ahem~ forget about flying, for now, I will have to teach you an energy system from the beginning and it will be quite a while until you get to this point, when the right time comes I will start teaching you, don't worry."

"Teaching me a new energy system from the beginning... that sounds awesome!!" Jabba finally smiled when he heard this

"Yeah yeah, now let's go to Human Settlement No. 53, I don't know how many months it will take us to get to this!" Robin spoke annoyed and started scratching his head

According to Laurie's words, she and the girls have been with the giants for a long time, maybe years... If over the years the giants travel at the same pace, who knows where that Settlement is now!

"Haha, months? We will get there in just two hours with the help of my Draco." Jabba spoke, then whistled loudly, and the winged beast pierced through the thick branches and landed beside him.

"Draco... Hey, what do you mean by two hours?" For a moment, Robin's eyes were lost on the huge creature in front of him, but he quickly regained his clarity of mind and asked

"The Circus has been running in circles all this time! After they complete their travel over all the cities of the Nihari giants they start over, they haven't even gone out of the Lightning Tribe's territory... Human Settlement No. 53 is not far from here!" Jabba smiled and started patting his winged beast

"Excellent news!" Robin was overjoyed, the sooner he could finish this responsibility, the better, "So...?"

"Haha come jump, don't be afraid he won't bite... I think..." Jabba laughed when he saw Robin's hesitation and he jumped up before him, the winged beast.

After a moment of hesitation, Robin jumped up behind him, and then the Demon came out of nowhere and sat behind the two of them.

"HSSSSS." The Draco turned his head and started hissing towards the Demon, a clear killing intent starting to emanate from it

"No, you don't have to, he won't hurt you... some on Let's go!" Jabba patted the neck of the four-winged beast

BAAA RAAAF RAAAF

The Draco's hind feet hit the ground and his four wings hit the air like hammers and it started rising little by little and quickly got out of sight..

Chapter 256 Human Settlement No. 53

Raaf Raaf Raaf

The winged beast split the sky whenever it appeared, arousing fear among all the creatures in the blue forest below with every stroke of its wing

And most importantly stirred curiosity in the heart of Robin, who did not take his eyes off him even for a moment... "What a marvelous creature..."

"Haha, do you like the Draco? I can buy you a Draco egg from the next Giants' city if you want." Jabba laughed out loud

"you can buy it? I thought you found it by accident and raised it, or your family got it for you on your puberty ceremony or something.. these Dracos can be bought and sold?!" Robin spoke in shock.

This marvelous Winged Beast has the power of a mid-level Saint!!

"Haha no no where your imagination took you... and what puberty ceremony?! nevermind, The Draco eggs can be found in any market in abundance, if you want to raise one you can buy an egg anytime anywhere, The eggs are very affordable for most giants."

"Really?!... But I wandered through the woods and entered 3 giants' cities, and I had never seen one of those before!" Robin doubted, Jabba has to be joking with this!

You can get an egg for these winged beasts easily? who wouldn't have one then, there wouldn't have been a single Giant that doesn't have a Draco!

"I'm not exaggerating, Dracos eggs are available everywhere and some kind of cheap as well, one egg could be sold for one black banknote! ..but people simply don't want to raise them" Jabba shrugged.

"Hah...?" Robin furrowed his eyebrow, who wouldn't want a fast means of transportation and a powerful loyal companion like this winged beast?

Especially for a race that can't fly no matter how strong it is like giants, these Dracos should be their primary focus to raise

"Haha, Alright Alright, I won't let you guess for too much." Jabba laughed out loud and then continued, "In nature, a single female Draco lays hundreds of eggs in each mating season, but in the end, only one of them survives, if at all..."

This is due to two reasons, the first is that Dracos are by nature highly aggressive, so the first to hatch attacks the rest of the eggs and shatters them.. it does not eat them.. it only kills his siblings and leaves them there.

The second and most important reason is that the Dracos' food is extremely limited, they only eat ancient herbs or other powerful creatures that are imbued with spiritual energy, and that is why Draco creatures in nature are very few to the point of extinction, you wouldn't find a mature one roaming around unless you are extremely lucky."

"Hmm.. it seems that the two points are related somewhat, I bet that there are inherited information that is passed down to the newly hatched cubs about the state of their scarce food, so whoever hatches first kills his siblings to have less competition." Robin scratched his chin

Hearing this, Jabba shrugged, "Maybe~ Anyway, the big merchants raise their own pair of male and female Dracos and use them to get eggs and sell them, but these eggs are often used to prepare fancy meals, for who has the money needed to feed A Draco?"

Dracos don't have a certain mature age, if you feed them enough energy filled food they will keep growing, if not they will starve to death after a few years.

They are extremely loyal if raised indoors, and can reach power levels to protect entire families... but you need to make them reach that kind of strength first if you can!

Whether the ancient herbs or the quality of meat they eat are extremely rare and expensive, only the most wealthy giant's in the land can afford to raise a Draco for personal use

You can't even imagine how much fortune I spent on my little boy here to get this big, those around me keep saying that I waste my money, but what do I do... I love the feeling of flying haha."

"Huh... interesting..." Robin muttered, then didn't add a word.

A little over two hours later

"Hey boss, we have come to your station!" Jabba pointed forward and spoke loudly

Robin sticks his head out from behind Jabba's gigantic back in a comic scene and saw a small town a few kilometers away.

"Impossible... Is this Human Colony Number 53? Are we still inside the territory of the Lightning Tribe?"
Robin is surprised

By calculating the Draco's flight speed and the time they were in the air, the distance it traveled is certainly greater than the distance between the two farthest points in the Kingdom of the Black Sun.

During the last two hours of flying, Robin thought Jabba had decided to take a long way and make a detour from nearby lands so they wouldn't be caught!

They were going in a straight line all along? How much larger is that Lightning Tribe's land than the Black Sun Kingdom!?

"Haha of course that is it!" Jabba confirmed and then looked behind him, "Boss, if I were you, I would tell that thing to hide starting from now... Walking around with a loose demon next to you wouldn't be a good idea."

"This..." Robin recalled that demons are untamable and detestable creatures in this world, "Alright, go down some distance before the settlement to leave him there."

"Just tell that thing to wait for us around the town first." Jabba said without caring

"... Done, I told him, you can go down now." Robin looked at the demon for about two seconds, after looking in front of him again and said to Jabba

"Good." Jabba turned back and grabbed one of the demon's horns and threw it from above

"KKAAAAAAAAAAAA!!" boof

"ARE YOU MAD?! We are hundreds of meters mid-air!!" Robin followed the demon with his eyes until he hit the ground with his horns first, then came back to shout at Jabba

"Hehe, don't worry, those demons have naturally tougher bodies than even ours, a fall like this will only give him a few bruises if any... Hey hold on, we are going down!" Jabba said, then patted the neck of the four-winged beast and began to descend towards the settlement gate

Raaaf Raaaf

"A Winged Beast!!"

"Beware!!"

"AAHHH, survive with your skins!!"

The scary scene of the Draco landing quickly attracted everyone's attention, some of them threw the food or whatever tools in their hands and began to run away, and some of them fell to the ground from fear

"SHUT UP YOU NOISY WORMS! What are you afraid of, hah? My Draco doesn't eat trash!" Jabba jumped on the ground and reassured people in his own way

A way that made Robin furrow his eyebrows before he silently came down behind him...

No matter how intelligent Jabba is and no matter how many times he says he doesn't care about the race of the person in front of him, the genes for arrogance and a sense of superiority over the rest of the races were still ingrained in his bones even if he denied it.

Chapter 257 Settlement Chief Orzon

"S- sir, how can we help you?" Asked one of the humans assigned to guard the gate, in apparent fear

"Tell the chief of this settlement that Jabba son of Thandor wants to see him." Jabba declared in a high voice

"Of course, please come in and I will let the chief know of your presence." The human bowed and pointed inside the settlement

But Jabba shook his head, "Hmph, who do you think I am? Do as I say! Your chief must come out to receive me personally."

The guard nodded vigorously several times and ran into the settlement

Leaving several people looking at Jabba in fear, and at Robin in puzzlement, thus Jabba shouted at them, "Go away, I don't want to see a single one of you at sight!"

Like headless chickens, every one of them ran in a different direction without looking back

"That was unnecessary," Robin said, annoyed by what he saw

Jabba gave a low-pitched chuckle, "You said you only want to meet their chief, right? The chiefs of human settlements have some powers and rights that come close to those of the giants themselves, so many of them act with arrogance toward the rest of the humans, and towards even the weak giants, you wouldn't see the guy without being an important person, or a maybe when a disaster happens that requires his appearance... And I don't think you want me to create a disaster here, do you?"

Robin sighed and said nothing... Jabba knows how this world works more than he, it is better to leave this to him.

At first, he thought of coming alone and meet that chief in secret, tell him what happened to Lauri, and then disappear again

But this would mean that he had to hide around and in the settlement to investigate and identify him... and might require questioning a few people

This would mostly end up with him lurking around for days until he finds that chief alone and in a private place to talk, and even then the settlement chief might doubt his actions and distrust him... And all that for what?

For this he decided to bring Jabba with him and made him the one who asked to meet the chief of the settlement, he would directly tell him the few words he came for and just leave.

"Haha welcome, welcome, my lord and master Jabba, I did not think that the day would come when our small settlement would have the honor of you stepping in it, this little Orzon welcomes you!"

Robin heard a human voice and looked toward the source.

An old man was coming their way, wearing new, heavy clothes that covered his whole body, had a big beard and mustache and long hair that were white as snow...

He looked much better off than the rest of the humans Robin had seen so far.

"Save this for someone else, we have to talk.." Jabba said seriously

"That.." Orzon's Old features looked frightened, "Alright then, please come with me to my humble tent, that means our little colony will have the honor of having you for a while longer, haha come come."

Orzon began to retreat to the back step by step as he was still facing Jabba as if he did not dare to give him his back and walk in front of him

Only after about twenty steps and after Jabba and Robin entered the settlement did the old man turn to look in front of him, but he still kept the half-bent position all the way

Robin looked at him with the side of his eye, not knowing if he was sad or disgusted by this old man's actions...

He reckons that the humans here have to do these things to survive, but this person has taken the craft to another level!

No wonder his clothes and his physical condition are better than the rest of the people he saw, it's clear that he kissed a lot of ass in order to secure a better life for himself

"Greetings, Deputy Jabba."

"If you need me, don't hesitate to call my name, I will do anything for you, Deputy Jabba!"

Along the way, voices came from the right and the left, they were giants, But Jabba didn't reply he was satisfied with looking at them and gave a little nod...

Whether the settlement chief actions or the respectable greetings of those giants, It told Robin something about the person who offered to follow him

The whole Land of the Lightning Tribe seemed to acknowledge how talented and powerful Jabba was!

Then he spread his sense of soul in all directions and closed his eyes as he walked...

Quickly he found eleven giants in the settlement, they were all separated and it was clear that they did not come together.

They were catching human girls, feeling their bodies and squeezing their breasts, a few of them were catching the young males who were randomly passing by in the streets, and would start feeling their muscles apparently to see if they can do the hard work waiting for them.

And behind every giant, there were a few girls or boys, some of them crying and some waving to their parents for distance... they knew their destiny was sealed and that they have found their role.

Clearly, those giants were here to do shopping.

...As for the settlement itself, it is small, too small that it can be called a village more appropriate than the word settlement...

Its walls are short, any wild rabbit or dog can jump over it, there is little to no protection, yet the population is about 5,000 individuals, and more than half of them are children!

In some tents, Robin observed more than 7 children, the oldest of whom was eight years old...

It is clear that the women who were not taken away were exhausted by pregnancy to insanely increased offspring, it was understandable, or at this rate of losing the youth, there shouldn't be any human settlement here.

"Haha, please you go ahead." The settlement chief gave a full bow when he reached the largest and cleanest tent in the settlement and signaled to Jabba to enter, then signaled to the rest of the people around them to go to their work

After Jabba and Robin came in and sat on cushions on the floor, Orzon came after and sat down in front of them and looked at Jabba with a big smile, "Go ahead, my lord, how can this little one help you?"

"Tsk~ Don't you feel shame old man, how old are you?" Robin is starting to get annoyed at the man calling himself this little one, the situation from the start and so far is so uncomfortable.

The head of the settlement looked at him strangely, as if he had noticed him for the first time, and then spoke forcefully, "Didn't your parents teach you to remain silent in the presence of the lords unless they are addressed to you? Which settlement produced you, brat? I will teach you a lesson today on their behalf! sorry for that master Jabba."

"Pff-HAHAHA I didn't see that coming... hey old man, who wants to talk to you is Robin, not me." Jabba laughed out loud when he saw Robin being taught a lesson by his elder

"Hmm?" Orzon looked at the giant in astonishment and then looked back at Robin again, this time with a closer examination... but he found nothing of importance.

Robin is taller than normal humans by about 30cm 1ft, looks skinny compared to an average human, and has very low bone and muscle density, but his overall features still say he's closer to humans than any other race... maybe he was born with deformities or something like that.

If there's anything weird about him, it's that he can walk around with such a scrawny body, but that's not his issue to think about.

"Robin, huh? A strange name.. so how can I help you, sir Robin?" Orzon Asked politely and with a smile this time even if the person in front of him is a human slave, the fact that Jabba accompanied him here so that he can say something means that this thing is important, or that Robin himself is important...

Either way, the strange Human with the strange name deserves respect now.

Chapter 258 Change Of Behavior

"Tsk~" When Orzon changed to treat him politely and called him respectfully, Robin felt even more uncomfortable... just because Jabba said he came for him suddenly he became worthy of respect?

Only giants have the power to decide who should be respected here?!

Robin couldn't wait to say what he came for and then get out of here without a single extra moment.

"Listen, do you know a girl named Laurie?" Robin spoke seriously

"Laurie... Laurie... No, can't recall a certain face to it, we have had a lot of girls with that name, can you explain more, please? Did one of the settlement girls misbehave with the masters?" Orzon smiled

"Laurie is a talkative, good looking girl, she was in a caravan with 7 giants, ...she said that her mother was the victim of the assault of 4 giants here inside the settlement, she said that you and her father let this happen.. do you remember her now?" A look of contempt still stuck in his eyes as he spoke the entire time

"AHAA that Laurie, you mean Arkis's daughter, yeah yeah I remember her, she is a good girl.. what about her? I know the girl, she understands her role and she wouldn't make trouble for the masters! Is she alright?" Chief Orzon replied smiling as if he had heard about an old friend

"TCH.." Robin murmured when he saw that this man didn't care about his involvement in Laurie's mother's death, he didn't try to defend himself or explain for a moment,

"No she's not okay, she died, I killed her, blew her up, and burned her, and 10 other girls along with her as well," Robin responded directly

"Oh..." Chief Orzon was silent for a moment, "So they must have done something wrong then and must have deserved this, did you two come here to complain about what they did? Go ahead and speak, we will do everything in our power to teach a lesson to our future products!"

"O_0" Robin was left stupefied at this reply, this was his way to test the old man's true response, trying to figure out why Laurie told him to come and speak to this guy, but yet again he was left disappointed

Robin really... really... wanted to punch this guy in the face as hard as he can, but he held himself, sighed, and then spoke..." Laurie was following the giants of a moving circus caravan, and I was one of the prisoners in that caravan...

and to allow me to escape She sacrificed herself and became a target for the giants' city guard, and for some reason, she made me swear to tell you everything she saw me do, and I'm the one who keeps my promises, I came today to tell you what she wanted, I don't know why, but I have to clear my conscience.

A fake look of astonishment appeared on Chief Orzon's face, after which he nodded gently and smiled as if he was waiting to hear the rest.

"...Sigh~ my first meeting with Laurie was in a forest when she found me in bad shape, then---" Robin started talking nonstop about everything that had happened since that day, and how she helped feed him and wash the blood and Fruit juice from his body, doesn't matter minor the detail is he didn't miss a thing

Of course, he said everything that happened from Laurie's perspective!

There are many things he started to leave behind as the story goes, such as his plans, the laws he studied and activated, and so on.. these were not part of his promise anyway.

As for Chief Orzon, he started interacting with Robin's story by nodding and smiling as if everything he heard did not concern him...

But his features changed when he heard about Robin sending the message to the demon.

The smile on his face wiped off, and his goofy, unfocused look turned into a serious one.

Even Robin noticed these changes and furrowed his eyebrow a little, but he continued non-stop and started telling the situation of trying to use fire to melt the metal bars to escape, then how the girls stopped him and promised to help him

Robin felt the old man's body twitch from the beginning of this part to the end, he even opened his mouth several times and seemed to want to say something except that every time he restrained himself when he saw Robin still talking as if he was afraid that his intervention would make Robin forget something from his story...

Indeed, Robin continued without stopping, with no apparent changes in him all along.

Even as he explains his plan to escape when he was about to die, and how Lauri uncuffed the demon and how it rushed out to fight the head of the caravan under his orders.

He kept his straight face from the start with no changes, by when his story reached the point where he blew up the girls to save them from a more terrible fate, that changed...

The words came out of his mouth with difficulty as if he could see the scene in front of his eyes, but he held himself long enough to complete it

He kept going until the moment he saw Laurie's severed head and he retreated into the darkness of the alley, and then said "Well, that is it, I don't know why Laurie made me promise to tell you about it as I know you don't care, I hope you can keep what you heard hear for yourself and don't say a word to anyone, I see you are a smart man who knows how to survive so I advise you to forget everything.

Will, I know I took much of your time for nothing, so thank you for being patient till the end... and for... listening?!?!"

Robin was about to stand up and gesture for Jabba to leave the tent to quickly get out of this place when he caught a strange sight...

He saw tears falling from the eyes of the settlement chief Orzon!!

The guy didn't even care when he told him the girl was killed horribly but suddenly he is crying now?!

Robin looked at Jabba at his side, perhaps understanding from his features why that old man was sobbing, but he found Jabba looking at the old man also with knotted eyebrows, obviously not understanding what is going on with him either.

But Jabba was more decisive, and stood up and spoke to Robin, " come on let's go, you have fulfilled what you came for, let the old man drown in his sorrows alone."

Robin nodded and took one last look at Orzon.. he didn't know what exactly made him cry, but that didn't matter to him anymore.

But when he straightened his seat and was about to stand up, he found a hand clutching his wrist, "Sir... are you A Heaven's Chosen?"

Robin looked at Orzon whose look of loss in his eye turned into a fierce one, "Let my hand go old man!! What the--"

"Please answer me!! For Laurie to send you here that means she didn't see tattoos on your body when she was bathing you, you have a way of using energy other than tattoos, don't you? and a way to speak with the demons?!

Laurie and the rest of the girls sacrificed their lives and sent you here to tell me that one truth, don't you want to make their death meaningful? Don't you want to fulfill your oath? You will do it only if you answer this one question!!" The head of the settlement tightened his hand more and began to insist

A look of intense shock began to appear on Robin's face, and the old man's behavior changed completely that was frightening, a few minutes ago he looked like an experienced pimp, yet now he is shouting and asking about Heaven's Chosen?!

but before he could answer himself, Jabba interjected, "He doesn't know whether he is a Heaven's Chosen or not, but as I see it he really is one... Will you let go of his hand now, human? We have other places to go."

"Hoo~" Orzon gave a long exhale when he heard this, and two seconds later he let go of Robin's wrist, stood up, and then took two steps toward Jabba, "Thank you for bringing Mr. Robin here, but I'm afraid you are not going anywhere after today."

Chapter 259 Surrounded

"Huh? And what is going to stop me, human?" Jabba looked at the person who didn't even reach the height of his waist and spoke with contempt

"I understand that Mr. Robin is an honest person and has come to fulfill his promise, but what are you doing here, son of Thundor?" Old Orzon spoke, his hands turning into a fist, "Did Mr. Robin promise you to help you if you would allow him to carry out his request? Or did you come to brag before us that you got to the Chosen One of the Heavens before we reached Him?"

"TCH, you have a big mouth old man, but I'm not interested in entertaining you today." Jabba spoke and then looked at Robin, "Shall we go now, please!?"

"I SAID YOU AREN'T GOING ANYWHERE." The old man shouted, then pulled his heavy clothes and threw them to the ground.

A broken shield appeared covering only the area of his upper chest, and small thunderbolts began to erupt from his fists.

"Oh my God.." Robin opened his eyes to the end, the old man's body covered with divine tattoos like those on the bodies of giants!!

And not any tattoos either, those small thunderbolts mean that he has a second stage body strengthening divine tattoo and lightning attacking divine tattoo!

And that is not it, Robin could clearly sense a great power from this old man's body, a power equivalent to a mid leveled saint!!

'damn me..' How did he not notice his strength in the first place?! He underestimated him so much that he didn't even try to find out anything about him

"Hmmm?" Until Jabba furrowed his eyebrows and his gaze changed, "A medium-leveled Shaman? How did a rat like you survive the peacekeepers' investigation for so long? and you even got yourself a settlement to hide in? It seems that we have really failed in our mission..."

"Kneel now and put your hands behind your head if you want the day to pass while you are breathing."
The old man spoke seriously

"Eh? Hahaha, senile old man, even if I was a medium-leveled Shaman as well I would still have knocked you down, but I'm strong enough to put on a Level 3 Body Strengthening Divine Tattoo! Do you think you have a chance against me? What a joke!!" Jabba laughed out loud wheeeeeeeze

Suddenly Orzon whistled loudly in a specific tone, and within one second Robin felt several people surrounding the tent!

Even Jabba started to look around with a serious look, there are at least 12 individuals around the tent and they are all standing in a hostile posture ready to attack at any given moment, some of them are starting to emit small thunderbolts from their hands already!!

"Well.. that you don't see every day..." Jabba muttered in shock, "It is not in your interest, old man, even if you somehow manage to keep me here, there are still so many witnesses out there, the whole settlement will be wiped out!"

"Those giants, you mean? The village is being besieged as we speak, not a single one of them will get out alive either... Now, kneel down, I won't repeat my words for a third time." Chief Orzon stressed his words this time, looking ready to attack at any moment

"tch..." Jabba finally started to understand how serious this dwarf was, and then looked at Robin, "A little help here...?"

"...Eh? Aha..!" Robin's eyes finally regained their focus and turned his eyes away from Chief Orzon's body before speaking, "Hey Chief, Jabba is working with me, he is not dangerous."

This was the first time Robin respected the old man enough to call him Chief

"What do you mean he works with you? How is it possible that he works with you? Do you really know who this guy is...?" Orzon spoke seriously to Robin, but his eyes were still fixed on Jabba

"Yeah yeah, I know who he is.." Robin can appreciate the leader's position, and Jabba is the one who's supposed to hunt down his ilk! "Jabba and I have a Master-student relationship, please put down your weapon, he is not dangerous."

"Hehe, maybe I'm not a threat to you, but to these guys .. tsk tsk~" Jabba looked at the leader with a look full of provocation

"SHUT YOUR MOUTH! You are not going to be a threat to them either!! We didn't see anything today, okay?!" Robin raised his voice at Jabba, and then spoke seriously to Orzon

"Okay Okay.. whatever you say, boss~" Jabba raised his hand and said sarcastically, he had no way out of here but to listen to Robin anyway

"Master..?" Orzon finally turned his face and looked at Robin with a look of complete bewilderment and even some anger, "You revealed your secrets to a Giant... To Jabba specifically... and took him as a disciple?!"

"I didn't say anything to Jabba, he is the one who found out that I'm different and decided to stick with me... Second of all, do I know you? Stop talking like I'm your little cousin!!" Robin felt strangely being reprimanded by this strange old man!

Orzon was silent for a few seconds, then went aside and put on his heavy coat again, returned to his original seat, and motioned to the pillow in front of him, "Mister Robin, please sit here.. we have something to talk about."

Robin furrowed his eyebrows for a moment, but in the end, he went sat in front of him.. this mysterious old man was very interesting to him

"You keep standing where you are!" Old Orzon pointed at Jabba when he saw him step forward to sit down as well

" despicable terrorist..." Jabba muttered in a low voice, when was the last time he was humiliated like this?!

Orzon made a movement to clean his ear, then directed it towards Jabba and asked, "You said something? repeat it again, slowly this time.."

"... no, I didn't say anything!!"

Chapter 260 The First Heaven's Chosen

"Humans can get divine tattoos? Isn't that something that was designed for the giants...?" Robin asked right before Old Orzon added another word

The old man furrowed his eyebrows for a moment upon hearing this question, but upon seeing the look of interest and happiness on Robin's face, he sighed and spoke, "It is indeed something that is dedicated to the giants, but nothing is completely out of hand if you really wanted it, everything has a way out...

All you need is money or a strong Nihary Giant supporting you... you can pay huge amounts of money to an unethical divine tattoo master and he will draw you whatever you want regardless of your race, or you can just kidnap one of the divine tattoo masters and force him to draw it for you if all the roads are closed in front of you.

But of course, everything should go in complete secrecy, if anyone who is not a giant is found with a tattoo on his body with no Nihari Giant taking responsibility for it and providing an explanation, then his punishment is immediate killing, without trial, imprisonment, or even hearing a word...

This phenomenon is not rare, especially in the last few thousand years groups upon groups of inferior races began to get divine tattoos, and they are the ones who are called terrorists, and your noble student here pursues them to eliminate them, so the number of humans and other races who takes the risk and get tattoos is not small, but it is not large either."

"And it seems I haven't done enough!" Jabba sarcastically said, "One settlement holds several individuals with stage two body strengthening tattoos? Tsk tsk~ It seems that even the peacekeepers have become slack in these lands!!"

"Yeah that's a good idea, keep provoking me, this will make it easier for me to give the order to kill you in a little while," Orzon spoke without looking at him

"tsk.."

"...These are some huge news, I didn't know that humans can use the divine tattoos to this degree," Robin muttered after fixing his eyes and spiritual sense on Chief Orzon for a few seconds

"It's because they can't!" Jabba replied, quartered his hands, and spoke in exasperation, "Divine tattoos are specially designed for the giant race, if another race uses them, the user will pay a high price... right, old man?"

Orzon cast a sideways glance toward Jabba and then usually to face Robin, "What this giant said, unfortunately, is true, the Body Strengthening Divine Tattoo does not work on the human body as efficiently and the user's muscles may explode suddenly or cause them permanent disability, in addition to that, every time the attacking tattoos are activated It draws from the user's life energy... That short confrontation a minute ago took a few months out of my life."

Orzon was silent for a bit after looking into Robin's eyes and spoke with a smile, "But all of this will be a thing of the past now, we have our own Heaven's Chosen, the Third Heaven Chosen was born of us, humans!"

"Well, one of you should start explaining to me what the term 'Heaven's Chosen' means!!" Robin said annoyed

"..I can't tell you what Heaven's Chosen Ones are as we don't really know" Orzon shook his head, "But I can tell you about the former two Heaven's Chosen."

"Please do!! That's all I want, but Jabba doesn't seem to want to tell me about them." Robin nodded hard

" Maybe does not know like most giants, But knowing Jabba I think he most likely does not want to talk about the subject... Young giants are told to respect the two heaven chosens only but will not know their history and their stories unless they search deeply on their own in some ancient history books.. the two heaven chosens are the pride of the giants, but they are the biggest disgrace in their history as well."

"tch.." The look of annoyance increased on Jabba's face, but he found nothing to defend himself with, so he remained silent.

"Listen from this old man then. So, we have secret information and documents that are passed on to important people of our race from generation to generation. I might be able to answer your question in a satisfying way..."

Orzon said, changing his look to a very serious one, "Life appeared on this planet hundreds of millions of years ago when the first intelligent beings were born, we currently call them the owners of the ancient blood line, or the pure ones..."

But slowly and mixing with nature and other less intelligent races, that line of pure blood began to mutate and Many different races appeared, such as the Nihari giants, humans, demons, and many others...

And of course, every individual began to tend to protect his children and family and to isolate himself from those who are different from him, and all people of the same race began to converge and settle in one place to protect themselves.. and thus began to spread the phenomenon of the existence of villages that is dedicated to certain races, then small cities, It kept on that way until every race had his own kingdom...

This was not a problem in the beginning due to the huge size of the planet Nihari, but with the passage of thousands and millions of years, the number of intelligent creatures began to increase...

These kingdoms need natural resources and they have to secure lands for hunting, agriculture, water sources, and others recourses... And of course, wars began to spread among different races on land ownership

Wars between different races, my little friend, are not something that stops at victory or defeat. Hatred for what is different was enough to turn them from wars of resources to wars of extermination... We have documents that at least 12 races have disappeared from the face of the planet in that era.

Then the era of energy training appeared, which began 400,000 years ago, someone discovered a way to pass energy inside his body to strengthen it and began to teach the rest of his species, then the method began to spread like wildfire until it reached all races...

The documents passed to us say that we humans were the first to reach this Innovation technique first, and the other races other than the giants knows that!

But of course, this information was completely erased by the Nihari giants and rewrote history to convince their new generations that they are the masters and delude their children to think that they are a superior and more intelligent race from the beginning.. but this is a lie!

Anyway, up to that time all races had a roughly equal chance of winning or losing even after the era of energy training had begun, if there was one race that had an advantage it was us, humans, because of the energy system we created suited us better we would use it to crush our enemies and we were the first and only race to establish two kingdoms at the same time!

...But it all ended when the first Heaven's Chosen."
