

The Truth 311

Chapter 311 For The Rescue

One week later---

"Is he still sitting there?" Amon came from behind Jabba and spoke in a hoarse voice

Jabba nodded, "He didn't move a muscle, choose your words with him, I don't think he is in a good mood..."

"Hoo...." Amon let out a long exhale and moved toward Robin step.. step...

Amon reached a distance of two meters from Robin, then stood still and put his hands behind his back without saying a word.

After a few minutes, Robin took a long inhale and spoke, "Did you finish your task?"

"Yes, I managed to bring 100,000 demons at the level of a saint or a shaman, and I also brought the rest of the dragon or sage level, their total number reached 540, and I also brought a swarm of Dracos for transportation... Everyone is waiting for your orders."

Robin nodded and stood up a few seconds later, "Come on then, we are already late."

Robin walked over towards Amon and Jabba, revealing his clothes and hands that were smeared with mud

And showed behind him two graves, one with the name of Catelyn Burton written on it and the other carrying the name of Mila Burton...

One contains the bones of Burton's mother, while the other contains a few used pieces of women's clothing and jewelry...

Two hours later-- Above a mountain west of the kingdom of Oakleya

"The forefront forces hold on for a few more minutes, don't waste all your effort til now for nothing!" Billy shouted at his soldiers, "the reserve forces, move your asses already and get out there!!!"

Years passed and Billy and his forces moved from place to place and from kingdom to kingdom, destroying cities, villages, and garrisons, then disappearing like ghosts.

When the war began, the Burton family had about 30,000 Saints, most of them being low-level saints, but with the storming of Jura City and being chased by united special forces from the rest of the kingdoms and backed by forces from the Flame Empire from that day one, Their numbers have decreased at an insane rate until they reached a total of less than ten thousand...

20,000 dead saints in ten years...

That was more than the total of killed saints in the wars between the 8 kingdoms in the past 15 thousand years!

But this wasn't very good news for the kingdoms either, the remaining special forces that managed to survive all these years all became mid or high-level Saints

That's a force of 10,000 angry mid or high-level Saints that are using Perfect Major Heavenly Law Techniques!!

Even after clipping the numbers to a third of what it was, Those Ten Thousand Saints were literally a nightmare to everyone on the continent... It is worth mentioning that each royal army had previously only sent 500 Saints to invade the Burton family, and this was their limit of antagonizing the Saints of all families!

Since fleeing Jura, Billy frequently commanded his forces to separate and wreak havoc throughout the continent as punishment for what they had done to Jura City

He and the men of the family decided that if they had to die, they would not die alone.

The amount of damage or death they inflicted on the Eight Kingdoms can no longer be counted... Yes, the Eight Kingdoms!

The Black Sun Kingdom's royal family's aid to their enemies did not go unnoticed, they were among Billy's targets.

The Flame Empire didn't care what those fugitives did at first, because in Empire's eyes their fate was sealed no matter what they did, In the end, they would be captured... but after seeing their plans, and the actual destruction they are causing in the continent, the Flame Empire began to send more Saints and Sages to the Ancestral Continent in order to subdue them.

Today, as every day, Billy and his soldiers were destined to fight a battle, but this time it was not like the others...

The Flame Empire kept pressing the fleeing Troops until they crammed them into the far east of the Continent, it was true that this caused the destruction of almost half of the Oakleya Kingdom doing so, but this was collateral damage for both sides of the conflict...

Currently, Billy and his men were fighting an army of 20,000 knights, 5,000 saints, and 100 sages.

"The Thirty-first and Thirty-second Division, head to the left and use the White Fire Shield! Sixteenth Wind Division, support the mid-front!" Billy shouted loudly, this battle has been going on for days now

Billy Occupied the top of a mountain and distributed his soldiers in an organized fashion so that they would have the advantage of the higher ground.

In fact, if not for his plan to have a portion of the Wind Legion support the Flame Legion by fanning and amplifying their flames, the battle might have already ended!

ROOOOOOOOOOOOOOAAAAAAAAARRRRRRRRRRRRRRRRRRRR

"AAAHHHHHHH!!!"

An enormous white flame dragon spewed fire at the Empire's allied army from above, with this attack alone it killed more than twenty knights and injured a few saints!

the white flame dragon was similar to the one the head of the investigation team tried to attack Robin by in the warehouse, but something was amiss...

Whether this Dragon's angry facial expressions and roar or his behavior and the way he avoids attacks and chooses his targets carefully, it looks like a real living dragon and not just an image formed by fire!

But they didn't know it was actually alive.

"Zara, I want your Dragon in the eastern front, they are starting to make a hole in our forces there!" Billy yelled

"Yes!!" Zara answered, then the enormous White Fire Dragon began to move towards its new location, spewing fire all its way... This was the unique ability of the Heavenly Major Law of Life, Revival.

This dragon was just a flame that twenty Fire Legion saints had joined forces to form, and then Zara came and injected life into it.

The dragon has the power of twenty saints combined and has its own consciousness to act independently, and at the same time, it also feels compelled to serve the one who gave it life, the flame dragon that was born out of nothing became a new strong ally of Zara, at least temporarily...

The dragon would turn into mere fire and disintegrate into thin air after Zara was exhausted by the pressure of this overbearing technique, yet temporarily was more than enough to leave a mark in battle!

And it's not only her, several other figures of White flames of phoenixes and dragons are also roaming over the battlefield, all under the control of the other members of the Life Legion!

All this strength and diversity, and yet Billy stood watching his soldiers being killed one by one by the Sages...

If Caesar was here, he could have used the combined attacks to kill some of them and threaten the others, but now? They are simply peerless on the battlefield.

If the situation continues as it is, they will have to flee again, but the numbers of the Sages participating in the battle this time indicate that most of the Burton saints will die before they succeed, that's if they succeed at all...

SAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAAA

At that moment, a loud shriek resounded over the battlefield taking all the attention towards it.

When Billy looked toward the source, he was surprised that the sky had changed color from so many flying beasts coming their way,

Billy was taken aback and was about to shout at his troops to look out, but a familiar face standing above the beast at the front caught his eyes, "Robin?!"

Chapter 312 Gulp!

"Robin.. it's Robin! It's really Robin haha!!!"

"Father..? Father, I'm here!!!"

"His Excellency has returned to us!"

"Hmmm?" The sudden haughty cheers and the happy faces of the Burtons' troops attracted the attention of the sages of the Flame Empire allied army.

They all throw their caution aside and looked behind them to see what the Burtons were happy about... but their features did not know the same happiness.

Shock... Surprise... Alert... Mixed feelings hit the Empire's allied army when they saw the massive Draco Fleet

The battle has already stopped, part of them is looking at the incoming winged beasts, raising their weapons, and shouting happily, and the other part is looking visibly anxious.

Although they did not know who or what they were, as long as the fleeing Burton troops are happy with their arrival, it is certainly not good news!

"They say... Robin?" One of the Sages from the Flame Empire finally remarked, "Like Robin Burton? The one we have been looking for all these years...?"

"Can't you see their reactions? Only Robin Burton can give them that fake morale boost even though they are on the verge of death, he's the one who got them to this state from the first state yet they are still pinning their hopes on him, what a bunch of idiots..." Another sage said and floated up, The rest of the Sages on the Flame Empire also began to float up to meet the winged beasts.

"Hmmm?" One by one they started to furrow their brows after reaching a certain height, only now they noticed that above each of the winged beasts lay a number of crimson-colored creatures with long horns... the shape of those creatures alone caused their heartbeat to slow down!

and their aura...

"Saints..?! there are thousands of them!" One of the Imperial Sages suddenly shouted after confirming the aura of a few Demons

"Look at that over there, the power of his aura is close to mine!" Another low-level sage pointed at Amon, opening his eyes to the last of them

Raaf Raaf Raaf

At last, the Draco fleet reached a distance of 500 meters from the sages in front of them, and then Robin raised his hand, and all the Dracos stopped and started beating their wings heavily to stay in mid-air.

"You there, Introduce yourself! ...And what the hell are those crimson things behind you!" The Sage who was flying in the middle of the rest stepped forward and shouted toward Robin, releasing his high-ranking Saint aura.

Robin looked at him speechlessly for about two seconds, then down and started moving his eyeballs until he found Billy, "Are you Alright?"

"HAHAHA Yeah, I'm right, you late bastard, I'm alright..." Billy's eyes started to moist when he heard Robin's voice again and confirmed it was him.

There is something a little different in his features and his voice, it seemed like it has become somehow colder, but this is undoubtedly his friend Robin!!

Then Robin moved his eyes to locate three of the closest and dearest people to him, he was happy enough that he was able to see them whole, but his heart clenched when he saw their condition

Zara and Peon and Theo were all covered in blood, mud, and wounds.

Especially so for Theo... Robin hardly knew him from the many injuries to his face and body!

He and the rest of the Darkness Legion carry out operations behind the enemy lines to destroy their ranks and distract them, the Dark Legion was one of the most important factors that enabled the rest to survive despite the continuous fighting for days, but did not It was without consequences.

They are not hunting ordinary soldiers this time, but saints.

In each operation, the forces of darkness were besieged and some are killed and others are injured... It was clear from their numbers now that they would be the first legion to be exterminated in this battle out of the four.

However, the three smiled in their hearts when they saw their father again, forgetting their fatigue.

Zara almost even flew towards him, weeping with happiness, but her Life Legion colleagues caught her leg and brought her back to the ground in time, afraid that she would be an easy target.

"Sorry, I know I'm late." Robin felt a little cold in his chest when he saw them and spoke "Yeah yeah, what a heartwarming reunion, sorry to interrupt, but the good news is that you will meet again in prison shortly." The sage of the empire standing in the middle said mockingly, drawing Robin's attention.

Robin looked at that sage for a moment, "Mason Barnett, level 39 sage, head of the expedition that came from the Empire to investigate my affairs, The one who issued the order to destroy my Jura... Hope you are ready to face the consequences."

"Hmmm..?!" The sage raised his eyebrow, A little surprised that Robin knew his name and status as they just met, "Face the consequences? Hahaha, do you think those beasts you brought can stand before the Major Heavenly Law of Fire because they have the numerical advantage? By myself, I will roast them all!"

A half smile appeared on Robin's face and then he looked to his left, his eye fell on one of the demons and spoke in an odd language, "Sakar, you know what to do."

"I will make it painful." Sakar, one of the strongest Demon Kings in the Eastern Region, gave a big scary smile that showed his giant fangs, then he flew over the Draco he was standing on towards Sage Mason.

"I don't know what kind of an ugly thing are you but it wouldn't matter, come and taste the real Major Heavenly Law of Fire!" Mason laughed coldly, gestured for the rest behind him to back off, and then lit a faint yellow flame in his right hand.

"ROOOOAAAAAAR!!!" Sakar roared like an angry beast when he saw the faint yellow flame, and then shouted in a raspy, chilling voice, ""What is this.. polluted flame?! You dare show it to my master? unforgivable!"

"Hah?" White flames appeared on Sakar's hand as he approached his target, the same white flames with which the Flame Corps had tormented him over the course of ten years!

Although Mason didn't understand a word of what Sakar said, he understood something.. he was angry at him for some reason.

Quickly he tried to raise his defenses to repel the attack and then finish this demon with one blow to prove his strength,

But before he raised his hand to fend it off, he received a punch from Sakar that knocked him out a few teeth, and his pale yellow flame was completely burnt when it touched the white flame, and he was sent flying like a meteor to the ground

"General!!!" The Sages behind Mason shouted when they saw this, some of them rushed towards him to see if he is okay, and some rushed towards Sakar to stop him from pursuing their general any longer.

swoosh, swoosh, swoosh

Several shades of crimson ran past Robin at that moment, and all the Demons with a Dragon in body strength or a Sage in inner energy rushed towards the Empire Sages, in a split second every sage found himself facing a demon or more, they didn't even know where they appeared from!

"AAAAAHHHHHHHH!!!"

"Stay back you damn thing, or I will burn you down!"

As if the demons had become deaf and dumb again, they attacked immediately and without introductions or warm-ups, they didn't start small talks or tried to get in lines or coordinate their attacks

Every attack from the demons was so ruthless that it seemed as if they wanted to eat part of their opponents, which terrified the sages of the empire greatly...

They didn't know that they were actually planning to eat them!

The physical strength of the Demons was enough to beat any sage at the same level easily, whether their strength or speed had taken a huge leap since coming to this world, their physical design was simply a level above the creatures of this world!

And now these creatures can use the power of the Heavenly Laws as well...

"No, no, get away from me, get away from me!! Nooo AAAAAHHHHHHHHH----"

A cry from an Empire sage came out as his defenses were breached, fearing that the demon would deal a fatal blow, but instead of sending a punch or a kick, the demon moved its head forward and took a bite of the sages neck, then gulped...

"WHAT THE HELL!!!"

"Those things eat humans!?"

"F*CK! GET INTO THE DEFENSIVE ARRAY!!!"

Chapter 313 Besieged

"HEEEEEELP!! AAAAAHHHHHHHH.. Help me! Please... SOMEONE KILL ME!!!!
AAAAAHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH" Miserable Cries coming from beneath the ongoing battle, finally made the Empire Sages remember that their General had just been tossed to the ground minutes ago.

"General Mason, I'm afraid we can't break free and come for you, you must find a way and come to the defensive formation at once, or else you might--" one of the Sages shouted for his General to get up from the ground and join them, but the words got stuck in his throat once he sent a low-level demon sage flying, and looked beneath him.

He did not find General Mason, the man whose will changes everything under the heavens, the man who moved all the Eight kingdoms' armies just by saying the words...

He only saw a man lying on the ground, With Demon King Sakar stomping on his face, while he ate his leg slowly...

But seeing carefully, that man's clothes and whatever was still visible on his face under Sakar's foot... This man was undoubtedly their General!!

General Mason Barnett, the level 39 Sage, was being eaten alive from the bottom up helplessly, he could do nothing but scream and weep in pain.

"G-- GENERAAAAAAAAAAL!" One of Mason's old friends lost his mind when he saw this terrifying sight, broke the defensive formation, and rushed down

SWOOSH

But he couldn't advance much, a demon came from his side like a flash of red light, and with a swift claw strike, That sage's head was separated from his body...

BAA

That sage's head fell to the ground, his eyes still filled with determination to save his old friend.

cling

The weapons of the knights and saints of the imperial allied forces began to fall to the ground in succession from what they saw, some even wet their pants and others started crying

What brought us here? A question that resonated in everyone's mind at this point, most of them were special forces from the Eight Kingdoms who were sent to follow the orders of the sages of the empire and eliminate the rebels...

But do they really have anything to do with this?!

"w-- we must help them." One of the saints spoke in a shaky voice, "when they finish with the Sages they will come after us for sure, we must help our Sages!! we are 5,000 thousand saints and they only have 200 beasts, we can undoubtedly make a difference if we help our sages, we can kill them! Come on!!"

As that Saint was talking he began to convince himself, he manages to gain some momentum and started flowing up, the rest of the saints from the alliance also started looking at each other and then made up their minds and flew after him too...

They must kill those beasts, or it will be their turn shortly after.

"Tsk~" When Robin detected the saints approaching from below, he raised his hand and gave a signal with an annoyed expression

The rest of the Demons who were still on the backs of the Dracos started jumping and descending one by one.

"WHAT?!" The first Saint who flew upwards was extremely surprised when he saw a demon descending towards him with full speed, his terrifying face looking at him and his jaws wide open.

"AAHHHHHHH!!!!"

"SH*T! there are more of them!!"

Because the Draco swarm was standing in the air so high, no one below could see clearly what was above their backs, or perhaps nobody wanted to check it out for fear of what they might find...

"Oh my..." Billy muttered as he took a step back, his face transforming from happiness at Robin's arrival to utter horror.

The scene in front of him looked as if the sky was overcast with Draco clouds that starting to rain demons!

All of Billy's soldiers let their weapons touch the ground as well, fear filled their faces, even though they would not have asked for such a hideous death for their enemies

"Run!" An Alliance Saint shouted and flew over the heads of Billy and his army, then more followed behind him

"BILLY!!!" A strong shout from Robin woke up Billy and the rest of his soldiers from their daze

"Eh? Ah yes yes, Block the road!! Don't let anyone pass over us, this is our chance to get our revenge guys!!" Billy raised his sword and flew behind one of the saints who were trying to escape and attacked him

Although the fight swiftly was fierce between them, both of them were putting an eye on their opponent and an eye on what was happening behind them...

About 20,000 demons descended from above those winged beasts, some of them clashed with the 5,000 thousand saints of the alliance, and the rest descended on the alliance knights as a group of lions and found a flock of innocent little sheep...

Atrocity... massacre... no one found a word to describe what is happening right now

"Please.. please let me go.. please, I don't want to be eaten... I have children waiting for me at home..." The saint fighting Billy retreated a few meters and prostrated in the air towards Billy, and started crying

"I..." Bailey hesitated when he saw this, then looked toward what was happening behind him

"F*CK!!" Billy clenched his fists tightly and then looked at that saint again, "Okay you can go, but you mustn't come after us again and--"

"AAAAAAAAAHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHHH!!!"

Billy's eyes widened at the last of them, someone came from behind the prostrated saint, grabbed him by the nape, and turned him into a blaze of an extremely dark flame.

Billy felt as if his soul was leaving him when he sensed the aura of that flame.

Everything happened in an instant, Billy couldn't even make a reaction, but moments later he was able to see the person who did it from behind the black flame, "....Robin?"

"Hmph." Robin threw the charred corpse aside and cleaned his hands as if he was holding his trash bag, "I saw this person, he was one of the busiest participants in the Jura massacre, he single-handedly killed dozens of your family and he was intending to kill you now, but you almost let him escape? if you acted that soft then What will the rest of your men do? What is wrong with you!?"

"I..." Billy looked down, not knowing what to say

"Go back and construct a proper siege, don't allow another one of them to escape, or don't blame me if I punish you according to the military laws!" Robin pointed towards the battle.

Billy followed Robin's thump and looked behind him at the atrocities that were taking place...

His men were fighting with a quarter of their usual strength, they looked horrified, even though they knew these creatures were helping them, they felt the need to escape with the Empire Allied Forces!

He looked back at Robin for a moment, as if he wanted to stop what was happening, but he found a cold, emotionless face, so he flew back into the arena, "DAMMITTTTT!!! Get yourselves into Formation Zero, you don't have to participate in the killing but don't let one of them escape, push them to the back and let those beings do their work, if one of you goes against the order, he will be considered a traitor!!"

"YES!!" The Burton Special Forces shouted and began to take tight defensive formations

"No, NOOOOOOO, let's pass!!"

"Just let me pass or kill me yourself!!!"

"AAAAAAAHHHHHHHHHHH!!!"

Chapter 314 Seeing An Old Friend

Half an hour later---

"Salute His Excellency, We salute Robin Burton!" About 9,000 Saints got down on one knee and shouted in unison.

"Father!! Woaaa'.." Zara ran and fell into Robin's chest and started weeping bitterly, forgetting for an instant that she was the leader of hundreds of Saints in the Life Legion and a fierce fighter who had fought countless battles and taken countless lives.

"Take it easy, I'm here now..." Robin held her closer to him and gently stroked her hair with a slight smile.

This was the first genuine smile that appeared on his face since he left for Nihari, for the first time in 21 years his smile was not fake, there were no pride or joy behind it, just love and a sense of relief...

Although Zara is now more than forty years old, in his eyes, she is still the same child he rescued from slavery when she was 8 years old.

Then he looked around him again and found two familiar young men, he opened one of his arms and spoke and spoke with the same gentle smile, "What are you waiting for?"

Theo and Peon looked at each other for a moment and then rushed into Robin's embrace as well...

The last two decades have been too hard for them, Only after he left did the two of them know how dependent they were on him.

Finally, after about a minute Robin let them go and looked behind him, and then pointed out, "This is Jabba, my first and only disciple at the moment, you can count on him for anything you want help with, and this is Amon of the Demon race and he is one of my loyal followers if you want to move the demons or Anything related to them, just talk to him and he will arrange it... just use the Thoughts Conveying Technique as they don't understand our language yet"

Then he addressed a word to Jabba and Amon in Nihari's language, "These three are my adopted children, Theo, Peon, and Zara. If they ask you for something, don't hesitate to do it, and if you need anything too they are there for you, Alright?"

"Understood." The five nodded, and then Peon and Theo moved and shook hands with Jabba and Amon...

There was still some dread in their hearts for the giant and the other creature who seemed to have crawled out of the bottom of hell, but as long as they followed their father, everything was fine, not only that but rather a certain safe, and prideful feeling began to appear in their hearts as their father managed to get these powerful creatures to work for him... But this is only to be expected!

"Hmmm?" Robin looked around trying to find a certain person, until finally his eyes fell in a certain direction, and spoke, "Hey... How long are you going to keep staring there?"

Billy was still wide-eyed and looking at a demon eating the liver of one of the sages of the Flame Empire as if he was eating candy, and not only him.. but the entire Flame Empire army had been wiped out and was being eaten with pleasure now before his eyes!!

Although the Burton family's army testified that these demons came to their rescue and did not touch one of them with harm, they unconsciously maintained the defensive formation even while saluting Robin, the horror they are seeing isn't something you can just overlook...

How can a rabbit feel safe in the presence of a wolf, even if it helped him once?!

"BILLY!" A shout again from Robin woke Billy from his disorientation, and he looked at Robin, "These are...?"

"Don't worry about them, they know when to eat and when to stop. Tell the men to rest too, it is all right." He spoke with a slight smile and then continued, "After you finish sorting things out, I want to see you alone."

"Alright, I'll meet you in that tent there in a quarter of an hour." Billy nodded and went to check on the men and start setting up a camp

After a quarter of an hour - the commander's tent

Billy raised the curtain and walked in, looking worried, "Robin, are you sure these things will behave? Are you sure they will follow your orders? There are about twenty thousand of them out there, if they go crazy, we are all dead... The men are terrified outside!"

"They were living on eating beasts and mortals, without me they would not dream of tasting the taste of cultivators of the level of a saint or a sage, they would not have even dreamed of seeing, hearing, and talking.. Don't worry, they will do what they are asked," Robin said with a small smile and then pointed toward the chair

Billy didn't understand anything of what Robin was saying but understood enough to know that Robin had great faith in them, so he let out a long sigh and went to sit down smiling, "I didn't expect to see you today... I didn't expect to see you again at all... seeing you here with that army, you came back knowing that we are in trouble? It must be Mila..."

When you were still late after Mila and Richard went to you, we thought that something bad happened to you three, or you thought it was useless to come back and forsaken us, but it is clear that you met in the end.. that is reassuring."

Robin kept staring at Billy for about five seconds, after which he forced himself to move his left cheek to form a half smile and nodded.

"Tell me about your trip, and how did you know we were here?" Billy Asked

"...Heh~ When I found out what was going on here I used the Major Heavenly Space Law to reverse the coordinates I got from the All-Seeing God to locate this planet, and then again used Major Heavenly Space Law to connect the gate in Jura and the gate in Nihari, the two gates working together made us arrive almost instantaneously after If it took me 8 days for the one-way trip to Nihari when I left, it also greatly reduced the cost of sending one person."

Robin replied and then continued, "After I got here I caught two Sages, I performed a Soul Search on them, and one of them knew about the hunt and siege that would be imposed on you in this area...so I came immediately after the army assembled."

"This... So, you and all those demons descended on Jura City? At the Metal Warehouse? What happened there?!" Asked Billy, looking frustrated, Jura had always been on his mind since they ran away years ago, but he and his troops didn't dare to come back.

"Jura has returned to us... Almost... Most of its inhabitants were killed or became slaves after the conquest of the empire, and most of its defenses and towers fell... but otherwise, it has returned to us." Robin said with a painful expression

"Hahaha, that is great!! As long as the city is there we can always rebuild it." Billy laughed loudly and hit his hip, then the laughter went away immediately as if he remembered something, "That is bad, who did you leave in charge of the city after you left?"

"Don't worry, the ones you fear are still swimming in the bellies of demons out there," Robin replied with an emotionless face

"...Heh~" Billy gave a long sigh and started rubbing his forehead, "I was so angry at them that I was about to order Theo to send a suicide squad of the Darkness Legion to assassinate them, but I held myself back, actually part of me was happy with what they did..."

We who tried to resist til the end were doomed to die no matter how long our resistance lasted, but their actions at least gave life to some bearers of the Burton surname. We fought without fear because we know that the family name will not be erased after our death.

"It seems you didn't hear much after your escape? Those traitors didn't just cause you to escape... After the empire entered the city, they killed half of the family and enslaved most of the other half.

The ones who were left unharmed are those traitors and their descendants, it was better to issue the order and kill them off than for them to live on and be the new face of the family! You don't have to pity them, Billy, they got just what they deserved." Robin spoke in a low voice, but also in apparent exasperation

Chapter 315 I'm Fine

"Yet..." Billy muttered in a low voice when he heard Robin's words, he didn't find it wrong to punish them as they are safe now, but feeding them to those demons?

He had seen with his own eyes how cruel this sight is... No human being showed go through this, even those traitors.

"Tell me what you know about empires." Robin changed the subject and asked

"Heh~" Billy gave a long sigh and then continued, "In the past, after the Sacred Tree Emperor discovered the major law of plants and became the first person to discover a major law and the most powerful person on the continent, he established a large empire and he and his family controlled the whole world at that time, but he quickly He found that the place is too tight for them, so one day he decided to go on an exploration trip outside the boundaries of known lands..."

After a few years, he came back and used the Major Plant Law to make gigantic wooden ships and then took all his family on them, and forcibly took a few other lesser families, I think they are the servants and workers or something like that, and then simply disappeared as if they didn't exist, were it not for the historical evidence of their existence, we would have thought that they were just a fantasy story...

Then the Emperor of Wind came along, then the Emperor of Water, and finally the Emperor of Flame, all of them went out to explore after proving themselves as the rulers of the known world, and after their return, they took all their family members and loyal followers' families and then disappeared on huge ships, we did not know where they are going...

Their mystery continued until the great war era, a massive war broke out all over the known because there was no one powerful entity to rule anymore, every big family that exist wanted to take a piece of the cake, and everyone started slaughtering each other to secure some land for themselves, even our Burton family was participating heavily in that war alongside the Marley family...

After a few decades from the start of the great war, Very powerful people appeared who claimed to be from the Four Empires and that what was happening in the Ancestor Continent affected the serenity of the rest of the world

And they directly supported 8 families to quickly win their wars, and those eight families, later on, established the Eight Kingdoms, and then the Four Empires made some laws that the Kingdoms should obey, or else they were punished severely.

The royal families over the years have had intermittent contact with the empires and have learned a few things about them, Alfred Marley told us all he knows...

It turns out that they did not disappear and did not go to a higher world as the people thought, but rather went to other neighboring continents, undiscovered continents full of minerals, unique beasts, and an abundance of energy stones, Each and every one of them a paradise full of untapped natural resources

Those continents should have been a new sanctuary for everyone, but now each of the continents is at the disposal of just one family!!

Alfred told us that there are 6 continents in the world, the first one the continent from which creation began and the inhabitants of empires call it the land of the ancestors, as for the four empires, each of them controls a continent alone

As for the sixth central continent, it is not yet inhabited by humans and the four empires use it as land for training their young and conducting training battles between them, and if there is an important resource in it, then a challenge among the young generation will determine the empire that takes that resource." Billy spoke in one breath

"Hmm, the Flame Empire is occupying a continent of their own, so that's where I saw Caesar and the rest being held... Do you know where the fire Empire content is exactly?" Robin asked

"No... Wait, Caesar is still alive?! That's excellent!!" Billy shook his head, then yelled

"You don't know, huh... It's okay, I have another way to know where they are exactly... Tell me, have there been any problems between the four empires during the last millennium?" Robin asked

Billy shook his head, "Not in the past Millennium and not before that either, there is simply nothing to fight over, do you imagine? One family has an entire continent at their disposal, if they lived another million years they wouldn't need anything else, why would they fight amongst themselves? I really envy them for this life, they have true peace..."

"Not for long," Robin replied.

"Excuse me..?" Billy asked when he heard this, raising his eyebrows

"Hmmm, leave them for now and tell me about the current general situation in our ancestral continent," Robin spoke of the topic

"...the general situation in the Ancestor Continent completely changed after their decision to obey the orders of the Flame Empire and attack us, We had nowhere to escape anyway so we had to take revenge as much as possible!

Almost ten years have passed since Jura was overrun, and since then my forces and I have been flying from city to city and kingdom to kingdom destroying everything that comes before our eyes. All kingdoms have fallen to 40% of their original strength during the past ten years,

We tried to attack the two capitals of the kingdoms of Oakleya and the Lying Water to uproot the Royal families there completely, but both of them fled before we arrived, so we destroyed the two capitals and fled.

we suffered a large number of losses as a result of that as well, but we did not focus much on the subject, we knew we are all dead in the end, we even stooped counting our deaths a few years ago, we intended to annihilate one or two kingdoms completely before the last of us gets killed!

But you are here now, with the help of those 20,000 demons outside, we can reoccupy and re-fortify Jura City again, we can slowly grow the Burton family again and make everyone fear us once more!" Billy spoke excitedly.

But he was surprised by Robin's reply, "No, your original plan is good, I'll walk through it too."

"My original plan...?"

"Yes, I will destroy everyone first then I will think about the next stage, but there is a slight modification to your original plan... Now it will not be a suicide plan."

"You... didn't you hear what I was saying? I had 30,000 saints but we failed to completely destroy any kingdom, if we add the twenty thousand demons and the two hundred demon sages outside they will help you against one or two kingdoms that's for sure, maybe three kingdoms, but in the end, the Flame Empire will send more men, we will be greatly damaged and We will be surrounded again like what happened today..."

why don't we keep our forces until we regrow our family? with you here we will have a better army and better defenses, Then we can really take revenge!" Billy said quickly

"I have a few times the number of those demons in Jura ready to head my orders, they are more than enough to eat everyone who participated in the Jura City massacre," Robin replied coldly

"Three times? This... a moment, did you just say EAT?! No no no, the appearance of those demons alone will cause panic everywhere, they are already making you look like the f*cking devil king incarnate, and now you want people from other kingdoms to see them eat their relatives under your orders?"

You have to reconsider! Didn't you want to spread justice? Didn't you want to normalize the good life to make everyone love to serve us? what about the charity you started!? You will say goodbye to all of this forever if you do what you say!!" Billy panicked and spoke, he himself was still terrified of those demons even though he was on their side!

"Hehe, I was so adorable back then, huh? too adorable ..." Robin laughed sarcastically and shook his head, "You don't have to worry about my petty requests like this anymore, secondly I want to feed the demons to get them stronger anyway."

"...Robin, what exactly happened to you?" Billy reached for his hand and put it on Robin's knee with an expression filled with questioning and even some sadness, this wasn't his friend!

"I'm fine... I have never been better in my life."

Chapter 316 Crimson Cloud

The next day-- At the highest point on the mountain

"Hey, I came as fast as I could, did I miss something?" Billy landed next to Robin, then nodded at Amon and Jabba, who were standing next to him

A demon came to his tent a short while ago, telling him via the Thoughts Conveying technique that Robin wanted to see him for something important, so he came flying towards the top of the mountain, but it is clear that they started the meeting without him...

"You came just in time." Robin nodded at him with a slight smile and then looked back at Amon, "Do you know what to do now? Do you need me to repeat anything?"

"Everything... is clear... everything... will be done according to your orders," Amon spoke in a raspy voice

"Good, you may start the execution then," Robin spoke and then gestured to him to leave, so Amon gave a full bow and then flew towards the rest of the sages of the Demon race

"Hey, what was this? What is he going to do?" Billy spoke and then started looking around randomly, "Why are those crimson creatures starting to move? Where are they going?!"

"You don't have to worry about this, I called you to tell you to gather your men, we will go back to Jura at once." Robin patted Billy on the shoulder with a slight smile and his eyes closed

"Hah? Going to Jura?! The men need a rest, We have been in a constant fighting state for days, and we were being chased down for weeks now!" Billy panicked and said, "Can you calm down a bit and tell me what you are thinking? let's think about our next step together okay?"

"Everything has already been prepared, you don't have to worry about anything other than what I asked you now, you will know everything when the results arrive later," Robin spoke with a smile and patted Billy's shoulder

"Eh? What the..." Billy furrowed his eyebrows and moved his eyes between Robin and Jabba, not knowing what was going on.

"I expect everyone will be ready to leave within an hour... and you don't have to worry about their fatigue, they won't be walking to Jura." Robin withdrew his hands and pointed toward the tall trees at the bottom of the mountain where about five thousand Dracos were nesting.

Billy looked at those majestic creatures and opened his eyes to the last of them.. Are they going to ride these back?!

A few hours later...

baa

baa baa baa

The Draco beasts descended on the already damaged walls of Jura and the tall buildings that were partly still standing in the city, and one by one the Burton Saints jumped down.

The excitement of riding the Dracos and witnessing their amazing speed went down after they saw Jura again.

Traces of destruction are everywhere around them, the streets still painted a dark red after the massacre that took place ten years ago, and even the fresh blood the demons left behind after the recent cleansing of the city...

Nine thousand Saints could threaten the existence of any kingdom on the continent, but they fell to their knees one by one upon seeing this scene with eyes filled with tears of strife and hearts crying out in pain..

With all that strength they had, they failed to protect their people and property.. what they are seeing now is what they got, they have no one or nowhere else.

Robin looked around quietly... when he was here before he was in no mood to examine the whole state of the city.

Almost nothing remained the same...

Even the metal pyramid that Robin built as a huge Oath tablet showed old traces of melting on the sides, it is clear that a large number of sages tried to melt it to destroy it and free the Rune Masters and the special forces to extract information from them, but it is clear that they failed and stopped.

"...the city will need major rehabilitation," Billy spoke while holding a handful of dark red soil under his feet, it became questionable if it's even suitable for growing crops anymore

"Nothing will be rehabilitated here, this soil will not be razed again and the streets will not be cleaned, every drop of blood will remain there forever..." Robin spoke and looked around

"...It is our city, the city that has contained the Burton family for more than 6,000 years... we... we..."
Billy stood up and clenched his hand tightly, He knew exactly what Robin was saying

He does not dare to give orders to clean the place and treat his family's blood as garbage that must be disposed of, and even if his heart hardens and does it, how can he look at these streets and eat the crops of this land again?

Robin didn't even bother trying to convince Billy anymore, knowing he didn't need to, "Take your time you and the rest of the family sages and take a break from the wars of the last decade, then spread out over the continent to search for the prisoners and slaves of the Burtons and Bradleys and whatever family helped us to the end during the war,

I will leave the entire Draco Legion to you to make it easier for you to do it, gather them here in camps in front of Jura City until we find another suitable shelter, your task from now on you and your men is to search and protect, don't put anything else in mind..."

"Hmm? It's not as if the Empire and the rest of the kingdoms will be watching us as we reunite the family!" Billy looked at Robin with furrowed eyebrows, "But you already know that... You are going to do something big, aren't you? Give the men just two days to catch their breath and then we will fight with you to our very ends!"

"No one has to die anymore, just do what I told you, and keep Zara and the two boys close, when they come back from exploring the city, tell them I've gone on a short errand and I'll be done before they miss me," Robin said with a smile

Billy was horrified to hear Robin's words, "You will even leave your kids behind? What exactly are you trying to hide?"

"...A part of me that I don't want them to see yet, But I know they will understand later." Robin concluded with this vague sentence but didn't seem to intend to explain further, then looked up at the sky and whistled loudly, and then shouted, "Let's start the next part of the plan."

At that moment, Billy felt that the ground was shaking under his feet, more than eighty thousand demons came out of the forests near the city and from the very heart of the city and stood in eight combat formations, each one made up of ten thousand demons

At the head of each formation were dozens of white-haired demons who looked even more powerful, then the formations shot in different directions...

Robin and Jabba chose two different demon formations and disappeared in different directions...

After participating in the siege on Jura with 300 thousand soldiers and giving the Flame Empire Allied army an unlimited amount of food and other supplies, they were without a doubt the top winners of the war!

After Jura Fell, Duke Donald Evren raced to claim all the Burton lands, of course, he couldn't get their lands at the Kingdoms of Dolivar and The Lying Water, but happily swallowed their everything inside the Black Sun

The only piece of land he left was Jura and the surrounding area to become the main base for the Flame Empire to station their troops and do their research.

With this, the Evren Duchy became the biggest Duchy in the Black Sun and arguably in the whole ancestral continent!

Their new size and manpower, and their new strong connection with the Empire Sages made them an object of envy from everyone, Even the Royal Family of the Black Sun started to deal with them with the utmost respect.

One hour later--- the new frontier of the Duchy of Evren.

"Hmmm? What is that cloud of dust over there? Are they wild horses?" One of the guards responsible for protecting the northern border of the Duchy of Evren spoke

His colleague came and stared at the cloud of dust for a while, "I don't know either, the vision is not completely clear, but I think I see some Crimson creatures... hmmm, they have horns too..."

Chapter 317 A Talk Over The Walls

A week later... Over the walls of the capital of the Black Sun

Gulp

"May the heavens have mercy on us..."

Thousands of soldiers standing on top of the walls gazed toward the horizon and began to recite their prayers

This wasn't the first time the capital had faced a hostile army, but it was the first time everyone stood inside its walls, At this moment, it didn't matter if you are a mortal or a sage, everyone was shivering at the sight they saw.

The incoming army was not a Royal one estimated its numbers in the millions, but a mere ten thousand foot soldiers...

They had no siege equipment and no one flew in dazzling formations to terrorize their opponents, they just walked there... And seeing the effect, it seems that they really didn't need to do anything.

baa baa baa

With neither quick nor slow steps, a battalion approached that seemed to have just escaped from the bottom of Hell, they were all naked and crimson in color, taller than average humans, with long spiral horns, some of these horns even reached a meter long!

The only human in the army looked like a dwarf when spotted next to them, even while riding on a war horse...

"Is... Is that Robin Burton?!"

"Oh my God, the rumor is true."

"Sh*t, we should have taken a neutral stance!!"

The Marley family's Knights and even the Sages started talking in a low voice

There were rumors over the past few days that many cities inside their kingdom were invaded and killing spray happened, however everyone who got out to find the truth about these rumors didn't come back again...

Seeing the sight in front of their eyes now, it must have been true...

It took a few seconds for the side talks to stop again, but they all started looking at a certain person from behind aggressively as if they wanted to rip him apart.

Sage Albert Marley approached the person the Knights and Sages from the Royal Family were looking at, and spoke in a low voice, "Phillip, what are we going to do now? I don't think Robin came today for a friendly conversation..."

Phillip Marley gritted his teeth hard and then looked next to him in the direction of a few people dressed in the traditional dress of the Flame Empire, he looked desperate, if they asked he would kneel and beg without a doubt.

"Hehe, there's no need to say anything, he's just an idiot who doesn't know his weight, you shouldn't be fooled by the shapes of those monsters, maybe he brought a few clowns from his family and changed their shapes and their auras in our eyes with an illusion technique or something, after all, he is the creator of all those techniques right? I assure you they are just human beings who haven't even reached the Knighthood realm!" A sage chuckled and spoke, that person especially had the strongest aura of all the Sages on the walls

Baa baa b--

Robin raised his left hand off his horse when he got as close to the walls as he wanted.

The Demon battalion stopped, then Robin quietly lowered his hand and looked up...

Then he ignored everything and everyone else and only looked into Albert Marley's eyes with an expressionless face.

Albert held his gaze for only three seconds, before turning his eyes to the left and claspng his hands tightly.

When Robin saw this, he finally spoke, "When I had to leave, I thought a lot about the most powerful and credible person I knew, I wanted someone to trust my family with, and I couldn't think of a better choice than you... For everything I gave your family, I asked you for one thing, and that was to protect my family until I came back, and you were kind enough and agreed, you said you wouldn't allow anyone to touch Jura City until I came back.. Did that happen, Albert?"

"..." Albert Marly couldn't find anything to say, he just clenched both of his fists so quickly that it looked like they were about to shatter.

"His name is his highness, Sage Albert! Secondly, you may talk to me, what have you come for, Robin Burton? Do you think you can do whatever you want within my kingdom?" Philip spoke, looking at Robin from the top of his nose

"Albert.. did this... HAPPEN..?!" Robin repeated his question again, but this time with a cold tone and clear killing intent that made even his war horse freeze in place and stop breathing for a few seconds.

"Y- Yes, It happened... it happened..." Albert replied, surprising even himself

"Our family broke a pact with the Burtons?"

"Oh my God... we are about to fight monster-like creatures, but we are the bad guys in this story?!"

They were already at fault for helping an army that came to destroy a family in their lands, and they know it, but every Marley convinced himself that it was a person was and they got nothing to do with it, only now did they know how wrong they were...

The morale of the soldiers, which was already low, plummeted more than ever, they just started looking at each other from the corners of their eyes, and some started letting their swords touch the ground with their mouths wide open in shock...

"you..!!" Philip looked at his cousin Albers, visibly angry

Albert went silent and looked at the ground, not even knowing why he replied... but quickly convinced himself that he had responded because of his guilt and because of the monster army in front of him.

"Robin Burton!!" Philip shouted loudly, "The decision to send supplies to the Allied army was mine alone, you ran a great Duchy once and you know how things go... Blame no one but yourself for what happened, you won the enmity of many when you were still weak and you showed so much to the world when you were still a kid, simply survival of the strongest, and you weren't the strong side in that equation!"

Robin ignores Philip again and continues to speak to Albert, "In recognition of your frankness and our past together, I will give you one last chance, you have ten seconds.. commit suicide the way you like it.. if the battle starts while you are alive, believe me, you will regret it."

"Hahaha, committed suicide? Do you think you can touch him when he is standing among us..? I can't believe we have been searching for the past decade for this kid who doesn't even know what he got himself into!" One of the Sages dressed in the Flame Empire's army uniform laughed loudly,

Then continued, "I was planning to wait until our battalion that went out to hunt down the rest of your fugitive filthy family members and send them to search for you and bring you to me, I can't believe you came to us with your own foot haha!"

For the first time, Robin moved his eye from Albert and fell on that sage, "Hmm? Are you saying that none of those idiots contacted you Via The Sound Talismans before they were eaten...?"

"...Before they were what..?" That wise man furrowed his eyebrows and asked in surprise

"..." Robin moved his eyes towards the hands of all the people standing on the wall and then smiled, "So then, the sound talismans that were sold in the markets have expired and you can no longer make anymore because of the harsh oath that the Rune Masters have taken, I took my time coming here to give you time to call whatever troops you have left so that I can end you in one go, but you don't even know what is going on around you..."

"Hmph, Speaking crazy things won't prevent me from capturing you! today I'm going to make you tell us about the location of the oath tablets that silenced all our targets and rendered them useless, then you will keep creating what we need for the rest of your miserable life... you will become the dog of the empire from now on!" A big smile appeared on the Sage of the Flame Empire's face

"What a great plan!" Robin clapped when he heard this, then looked at the Demon to his right, "Are you hungry?"

Chapter 318 This Is Personal

About an hour later -- Outside the walls of the capital of the Black Sun

~Long Inhale~

"Haaah~ The weather is perfect today...." Robin let out a long exhale as he faced the sky with his eyes closed, sitting on a very large and luxurious chair... It was the throne of the Black Sun King.

"Give your orders and end this already!!" Suddenly a shout came from in front of Robin, interrupting his peaceful moment

"Why the hurry, Your Majesty? Do you want to experience how they feel so bad?" Robin looked down and spoke to a man kneeling in front of him and then pointed to the right

King Philip didn't look to where Robin was pointing, he even closed his eyes and tilted his head when he remembered what was happening there

But the demon standing behind King Philip didn't let him have his way, he grabbed Philip's head and forced it toward the left and used his fingers to open his eyes to see what was happening, "ARRGHHH!!

The scenery in that direction was simply a feast, just a happy group of demons gnawing and chewing on hundreds of corpses dressed in the uniform of the Flame Empire.

The siege around the imperial capital didn't last nearly as long as what happened in Jura, the Royal capital didn't have thirty thousand Saints to fight against Robin's mighty army...

As soon as the fight began, all the demons at the Sagehood level attacked the wall and clashed with the few dozen sages of the Flame Empire

Then the rest of the demons at sainthood jumped up past them and wreaked havoc in the army behind the walls, the ten thousand saint demons were unattended and unstoppable...

This was not a battle nor a siege, but a quick one sided massacre.

Had Robin not given strict orders to keep the Marley family's descendants alive as much as possible, they would have joined that feast as well.

"Shh- Chhhh!!" King Philip Marley started making involuntary sounds watching these crimson-horned creatures cutting the bellies of these sages and eating happily...

Even though he was a strong, cruel king that Ruled these lands with an iron fist for too long, he couldn't get himself together when thinking that this is his inescapable future...

This scene, These DEVILS.. shouldn't exist in this world!

He tried with all his might to remove the demon's hands from his face so that he could turn away from this horrific scene, but he could not move his head or even narrow his eyes.

"Why don't you just kill us..." A low voice caught Robin's eye, and his eyes fell on someone else kneeling next to Philip but looking at the ground with fear and helplessness, it was the sage Albert Marley.

BAA The demon standing behind Albert came down with a slap on the back of his head and spoke in a foreign language, "Who gave you permission to speak, prisoner?"

Robin looked at Albert for a few seconds and then rolled his eyes over the long lines behind him...

About two hundred Saints from the Marley family were kneeling just like the two of them, and behind each one stood an even stronger demon ready to kill him in the blink of an eye.

Robin then looked back at Albert, "Of course, I'm thinking of a good way to deal with you, you don't think you'll simply get away like the clowns of the Flame Empire, right?"

I don't have any personal enmity with those, they just want my stuff, of course, they choose the wrongest way possible and are going to pay for it, but it's just business I understand that, But you lot...."

"F*ck you! You have made the biggest mistake of your life! When the Flame Empire's forces return from their mission and the armies of the other Seven Kingdoms are formed after they know what happened here, no matter how powerful you and these things are, you will all be eliminated for sure! The whole world will hunt you down like dogs!!" King Philip shouted with all his might

Robin gestured to the Demon behind Philip's head to leave him, then looked him in the eye and asked, "The WORLD will hunt us, you say? What world are you talking about?"

"Huh?" Philip, who was rubbing his neck, which had a few torn muscles after his little incident just now, looked at Robin with shock after his word..

What world? what kind of question was that?

Robin pointed behind him, "You see this army? they are nothing special, There are nine like it roaming the continent now as we speak, with orders to devour everyone who is a knight or above, I have decided that level 10 will be the limit for anyone whose name isn't Burton from now on.

Oh, I almost forget the army that went toward the lands of the Duchy of Evren, they are a little different... they have the permission to devour anyone who has the Evren bloodline in his body, they had their fun, now they will repay me by making my demons stronger, So... What world were you talking about?"

"No... No No NOOOO!! YOU ARE A LIAR! You are definitely.. a liar... A LIAR!!!" Philip started to mutter in shock and then screamed, the rest of the two hundred Marley Saints looked at Robin in utter shock as well.

Albert shook his head quickly, "No, I refuse to believe it, why would you lie like that? YOU especially can't do it, you spent tens of millions on charitable projects for the people in your land, you were pumping millions of gold coins into your new lands because you want people to love you... No, no, you can't give such orders, that way you would be the worst sinner in the history of this continent!!"

"Hmph, Do you think I'm so free to lie to some dead men?" Robin answered coldly and tilted his back to rest on his throne, "Do you think I care about my reputation in front of anyone now, Your highness?"

Albert looked into Robin's eyes for a long time, but soon he discovered that it was the first time he had seen those eyes, he realized that he had made a mistake, this was not Robin Burton he remember, so he just involuntary muttered, "Who... are you...?"

"Just someone who wants to start over clean." Robin gave a half smile and replied

Albert opened his mouth slightly and then looked down with a half-focused eye, after a few seconds he gave a long sigh, smiled, and started to activate his energy....

When Robin saw this, he furrowed an eyebrow and shouted angrily, "DON'T YOU DARE!! If you dare commit suicide by cutting your lifeline, I will force my life energy into your body to keep you alive and ignite the flame of death in you for ten full hours, THAT GOES FOR ALL OF YOU! Your death is mine to determine, you have lost that privilege already you worms!"

When Albert and the rest of the Marley family heard this, they felt that they had already fallen into the lowest pit of Hell.

All of them, without exception, had already considered suicide if Robin ordered their slow death, only now did they realize how naive they were.

Philip looked side by side at his family, his children, grandchildren, and siblings, then looked down at the ground for a moment, before shouting at Robin, "Then give your dogs the command to eat us already! It's not like you have the power to do anything to us on your own, Why are you still prolonging this ridiculous play?!"

Robin raised his eyebrows slightly as he listened to Phillip's words, then stood up and signaled to the demon behind Phillip to back off, "Congratulations to you, you have chosen your way of death... you will be killed personally at my hands."

Philip stood with a look of anger and happiness at the same time, "Haha you want a battle? As if I could kill you among all your dogs, but it doesn't matter... I hope you hold on for more than ten seconds before you run away and order me to kill, that will be fun!"

"Hmm, logical...." Robin nodded, then extended his hand and summoned his black spear from the Space Ring, and spoke in a loud voice, "Then what do you think about this... I give you my word that if you can evade one attack from me, I will release you immediately."

Chapter 319 Space Strike

"Huh? Haha... HAHAHA, did you hear, you evil creatures? He will let me go if I dodge one attack, bear witness to your master's lies!" Philip laughed loudly and started shouting loudly until he made sure that all the demons in the area heard his words

How can he not be happy when his enemy has caught himself in a trap?

Now even if Robin does not keep his promise -and he most likely wouldn't- at least his credibility will fall to his followers... this will be enough for Philip to have a little laugh on his way to hell!

Robin knew exactly what Phillip was thinking but did nothing to stop him from shouting loudly, simply taking a fighting position, "Are you ready?"

Philip turned towards him, crossed his hands, and spoke with a confident expression, "Bring what you have, Brat, let this king teach you how I ruled these lands for two thousand years!"

"Okay then, here I come..." Robin said and then started slashing his black spear forward

The movement of the spear wasn't fast.. it could even be said to be too slow for a level 26 Saint

A person with the battle experience of sage Philip, and as strong as him - level 33 - had enough time to chuckle at the incoming attack, look at his side towards his family and followers to reassure them that he got it and humiliate Robin further, and then looked back again towards Robin and laughed at him as the spear came toward his face

But suddenly, when Philip was about to dodge the spear, he saw Robin's shoulder begin to glow faintly from under his clothes, "What the...?"

Philip did not finish the sentence, everything in front of him turned dark.

THUD

"AHH!!!!!"

The saints of the Marley family rose up in terror, forgetting for a moment that behind every one of them was a demon that could easily kill them.

Even the sage Albert only looked to his left with an open mouth and trembling eyes, trying to comprehend what had just happened.

The black spear pierced King Philip's skull.

His Majesty, King Philip Marley, the absolute ruler of the Black Sun Lands, had died without knowing how, he died with a questioning glare still stuck in his eyes, died asking himself what was that glow on Robin's shoulder...

"AHH...AAAA..." Albert tried to open his mouth to say something, but not a word came out...

He saw everything from beginning to end with his own eyes, but at the same time, he saw nothing.

The spear was advancing slowly, but when it got close to Philip it suddenly disappeared, and when it reappeared again Philip's head was stuck in the middle of the spear shaft...

No one saw Robin give the black spear an extra push to speed up at the last bit or something, it simply disappeared!

.. And it did actually disappear for a moment.

This was the effect of the second stage of the Major Heavenly Law of Space.

Normally Robin wouldn't even be able to fully use the first stage of any Law the Isn't the Truth, but an idea came to him one day and he was choosing a new attacking tattoo for himself after drawing himself the strength tattoo.

He chose the Pure Strength Divine Tattoo that Strength was using without thinking when he saw it the first time because it was not just a minor law like the rest of the Attacking Divine Tattoos, but rather like the body strengthening divine tattoo.

The Pure Strength Divine Tattoo is a combination of several minor heavenly laws that help and support each other to produce an explosive power when needed, it is without a doubt one of the most tattoos that the First and Second Heaven's Chosen spend time on...

Although it tires the body faster and makes it need more and longer sleep, with Robin's law of life this is not a big problem, and therefore the decision to draw a tattoo did not take long

But then... all the tattoos available in the Eastern Regions of Nihari are all basically minor laws, just the first level of minor laws at that... why does he have to be associated with one of these things?

To be able to use 100% of a minor law instead of 70%? This was not helpful at all!

Then an idea struck him... Why not create Divine Attacking Tattoos dedicated to the Major Heavenly Law techniques that he had created?

When his thinking reached this direction, he began to dig deeper..

why not add the continuous development feature like that found in the Divine Body Strengthening tattoo and add it to the Attacking Divine Tattoos that he intends to create to enable him to constantly increase their depth and impact

Instead of keeping the tattoo in the first stage forever, he can take it to the second or third stage or more, it will grow just as Robin's understanding of the tattoos and laws grows!

In this way, he could avoid the restriction of the inner energy system that made him a specialist in a single heavenly law and he would be able to use any law to the stage he wanted by simply drawing it in the manner of a modified attacking divine tattoo!

When Robin thought about the possibility that day, he entered one of his long retreats and immediately got to work...

It took him a few years to develop, he faced a lot of obstacles while trying to fully understand the system of attacking divine tattoos to modify it in such a great way, the issue was much more tiring compared to modifying it on the body strengthening tattoo to suit humans

But he managed to do it in the end, and the result was simply amazing.

The first tattoo he used this method for his body was the Modified Space Attacking Divine Tattoo.

On the one hand, because it was one of the most powerful and supreme laws he had ever discovered... and on the one hand, it matched the black spear he already possessed.

The Black Spear...

It's what Robin ordered from Jabba right after his torture, he thought to himself if he knew how to teleport or if he have another way to hide things from him, he wouldn't have been in that situation, so he focussed more on Space Major Heavenly Law.

The spear is entirely made of metal that Robin discovered while touring the markets before the kidnapping and torture incident.

This metal is suitable for the manufacture of purposes related to space law, and it is the same that has entered a small percentage in the manufacture of space rings, the space inside the rings is limited, but everything he currently needs is stored in, so it's more than enough for now.

But the thing is if each ring contains one gram of this space mineral, then the spear contains kilograms of it!

The good thing is that Nihari treats that metal as it is an extremely hard and rare metal, which makes it expensive, but they still do not understand its true value, perhaps on another planet that knows what this metal and its properties are, Robin would not have found such a large amount of it, and even if he found it, he wouldn't have been able to buy it...

And the development of the spear did not stop there.

After it took shape and Jabba brought it to Robin, he immediately tattooed divine tattoos on it, one of them specializing in strengthening space attacks.

Every detail involved in this attack, be it the materials for the weapon itself, the Runes on the spear, the divine tattoo on Robin's right shoulder, everything made it absolutely devastating... everything made it disappear for a second.

But the real difference this time from the rest of Robin's innovations is that no one has benefited from it except Robin himself.

"Tsk~ All that arrogance and you couldn't dodge a spear.. well, it's not like being careful would have helped him in the face of the space law," Robin said, then flicked the spear to the right, and Philip's stuck corpse came out of it, and he flew until he fell in the middle of the banquet.

Robin looked at the scene for a few seconds and then took a long inhale and exhaled and turned back to look at Albert as he pointed with the black spear toward what was left of Philip's body, "You, go and sit next to your brother."

Chapter 320 End Of An Era

"M... me? you want me to... ME...?!?!" Albert finally regained part of his consciousness and started to stutter like crazy, "P-- please.. didn't we have a good moment between us? we helped each other a lot... DON'T DO THIS TO ME!!!"

"This Philip guy pissed me off because he got away with a quick death. You don't want me to stay angry, right? Now you must take your punishment and his punishment." Robin spoke indifferently and returned to sit on the throne

"No... No... No..."

"Your Excellency, do you want me to give him a ride there?" The Demon Sage behind Albert spoke when he saw him not moving.

"No need to tire yourself, he is a good boy and will be going there on his feet." Robin replied and then looked at Albert, "Come on, move on. I don't have all day... what about a small encouragement? every minute you are late, I will send one of your descendants with you to keep you company."

Albert looked up at Robin with a frightened look, only a cold face and half-open eyes met him...

Robin appeared as if he was looking at an insect that had bitten him and not a human being he had just decided his death in the most horrific way, "...Devil."

Robin didn't show any reaction when he heard this, he just raised his right hand and gestured at him to start moving

After a few more seconds, Albert finally stood up with an absent look as if life had already left him, and began to drag his foot toward the banquet, where the hungry customers were waiting for their creamy meal...

At first, he took a few short, heavy but powerful steps, trying to maintain his prestige even in death

GRRRR...

But with every step he took forward, more and more demons that were busy eating noticed him, stopping their eating and looking forward to the next dinner, with their smiling and blood-stained mouths.

BADOOM BADOOM BADOOM

Albert's old heart almost stopped, he didn't even notice that he stopped in place for a few seconds already, His mind could no longer give the command to his foot to take a step.

"Throw this one." At this moment Albert heard Robin's voice from behind and suddenly saw a teenage figure flying in the direction of the Demons

"AAAAAHHHHHHHHHHH!!!"

"m--- MY SON!!!" Albert cried his heart out when he finally realized that the teenager whose skull was just smashed is his youngest son...

"Go ahead before I send the next." Robin's voice echoed back from behind

Drop Drop

The earth began to swallow under Albert's feet, and he began to force himself to move forward again as he dragged his feet into the ground and muttered, "Devil... Devil..."

"No... No... GET AWAY FOR ME!! NOOOOOO!!!!!!!"

4 Demon Sages attacked Albert When he got close enough, each grabbed one of his limbs and pulled it in different directions until his four limbs were torn, "AAAAAAHHHHHHHHHHHHH!!!"

Then several Saint-level demons came and started feeding on his main body without directly killing him, Albert could do nothing except screaming powerlessly and waiting for his soul to come out...

With this simplicity and ugliness, two individuals who had controlled an ancient kingdom for more than two thousand years began to literally disappear in the bellies of the demons next to each other...

Robin nodded satisfied when he saw this and looked back at the rest of the Marley Saints, "The rest of you... what do you think I do with you?"

Some of the saints started crying, some wet their pants, and some already fainted but the demons behind them beat them until they woke up again.

"W- we.. we...." One of the elders of the Marley family tried to speak but couldn't find anything to say, others tried too, but the words seemed to get stuck in their throats

"You what?!" Robin shouted, and everyone fell silent, no one dared to respond, then Robin looked at them one by one until his eyes fell on one of them, and he signaled to the demon standing behind that man to bring him

THUD

That person fell to his knees again right in front of Robin's throne, trembling, not daring to raise his eyes.

"William Marley... the famous strong warrior and crown prince," Robin tilted himself forward a little and spoke, "A person as admirable as you should not have such a weak appearance, I even admired and respected your character one day!"

"I... This humble one doesn't deserve to be admired or respected by you... your excellency." William stammered a few times but eventually managed to finish the sentence

It is as if it was yesterday when he brought his younger brother Alfred to Jura city in a big manner, demanded to see Robin, and even made Robin teach his brother the White Candle technique

Of course, he made some payments, but they were nothing, he MADE Robin teach his younger brother!

That one day when some elders of the Burtons betrayed their family and leaked what this White Candle really was. William panicked!

He actually made Robin, the man who discovered the purest form of the Fire Heavenly Major Law, teach his peerless technique to his brother at such a near-to-nothing price!

He panicked when he heard what this white candle really is, and feared for a second that Robin might hold a grudge against him... but also forgot about it just as quickly, because there were no more Burtons to back Robin. He had nothing to fear...

But today, under Robin's gaze and words, he felt that he is about to taste his uncle's end.

"You damn right you don't! But good, this is the attitude I like!" Robin clapped and said, "Do you know why I treat you lot so specially, William? I mean... all the other royal families haven't had this special honor."

"Because we... betrayed the agreement..." William replied, every word coming out of his mouth as if his heart went out with it

"Wrong!" Robin hits the throne, "It's because I want to give you a chance."

"A... a chance?" William finally turned his head upwards, but slightly enough to look at Robin's feet, he didn't dare raise his head any further

BAA BAA

Suddenly a few plates of metal fell in front of William, and then Robin continued, "You are fortunate that your family has given birth to Alfred. He is like a little brother to Caesar, I don't want him to grieve when he comes back and says I left him no family, as vile as you are you still his blood."

"Alfred? ...Alfred..." William suddenly remembered something, and then lowered his head again until it looked like it was going to touch the sand.

"Listen all of you, sons of Marley, you have to pick a solution of two... The first is to let the Demons behind you feed on you, then let them feed on everyone that carries your bloodline, and I think they would love me more if I let them do it...

The second option is to swear an oath of absolute and eternal loyalty to me alone, an oath to force your children and All future generations in your families to love and respect me like their God, an oath to compel every new saint in your family to take the same oath without exception... To say it more clearly, die or become my slaves forever... Choose wisely." Robin announced and then returned to lay his back on the throne knowing full well what their choice will be after what they have seen so far.