

The Truth 321

Chapter 321 Genocide?

Two months later-- On the north coast of the Ancestral Continent

*Raaaf Raaaf*

"Hmmm? Alright, you can land here!" finally after several hours of flying, Jabba raised his head then looked behind him and shouted loudly after he seemed to spot something

*Raaf Raaf Raaf*

While more than three thousand Dracos were busy finding suitable landing spots below them, Jabba jumped off his Draco and began walking slowly towards someone sitting on the edge of a high cliff

When he got close enough he took a long inhale and spoke, "Master, I did as you asked, and--"

"Robin, you damn bastard!!" A shout that came from behind Jabba interrupted the report that he was preparing in his head all the way here in a flash, Billy passed by Jabba like an arrow that had just slipped out of its bow, and extended his arm out, obviously planning to grab Robin's collar, but when he came right beside him and saw his facial expression, his hand was automatically lowered again to his side.

*SWOOSH*

However, that didn't stop him from completing his sentence, "Did you really order these things? Do you realize what YOU have done?!"

"What did you I exactly?" Robin replied coldly, still looking toward the ocean in front of him

"Father! Hehe." A happy voice suddenly interrupted everyone, then a girl ran towards Robin and hugged him from behind.

Robin grabbed the girl's hand wrapped around his neck, kissed it, and spoke with a smile, "Zara, are you and your brothers okay? Have you rested properly for the past two months?"

"Yeah, we all missed you, why did you order for only the Life legion to come? both my brothers wanted to come too, you made them sad!" She asked, some annoyance on her face for her brothers

But before Robin could say anything Billy stepped in, "Zara, I have something to talk to with your father. Go stand with your friends for now."

"Hmph, what a fun killer you are!" Zara looked at Billy in annoyance, then kissed Robin on the cheek and left to stand with her group.

There were three groups of people coming on the backs of the Draco fleet, thousands of people standing together with hammers and bags, a small group of humans wearing green armors with Zara standing in the middle... and a smaller group of demons whose auras overwhelmed the whole place.

...Billy looked backed at Robin for about two seconds not knowing where to start, and then finally spoke, "You.. is it true that you ordered the killing of everyone above the tenth level in the entire continent? Is it true that you exterminated all the descendants of the Evren family?"

"That's right." Robin replied and continued, "By the way, were the instructions followed?"

Jabba knew that the question was directed at him and replied, "Yes, after dividing the demons into smaller battalions it took less time than expected until all the major cities on the continent were already searched and everyone above the Knighthood was killed.

We found small scattering groups of Flame Empire saints and sages, and even some youth that looked like they came for sightseeing, they are all dead.

As for the Evren family, none of them are left alive, none was left with an intact corpse... Currently, Amon is supervising the summoning of more demons at the warrior ~ knight realm and distributing them over the entire continent to hunt and kill those who managed to escape from the cities before our troops arrived."

"What about the Three Kings?" Robin asked

"The kings of the kingdoms of Dolivar, Lying Water, and Oakleya were captured and heavily tortured in the public squares within their kingdoms for a month with the help of members of the Life Legion before they were given the permission to die at last," Jabba spoke

"Good.. you can distribute the boys and start work now." Robin nodded

"Yes." Jabba replied and then looked back and pointed toward the shore below the cliff on which Robin was sitting and shouted, "Come on we'll set up the port here, come on move MOVE!!!"

Approximately 4,000 people from the lower races of Nihari rushed toward the shore with heavy equipment on their backs, and when the first of them reached the shore, who seemed to be their chief, stretched out his hands forward, and suddenly tons of pre-prepared metal plates appeared before him, the rest of the group starting to take these plates and move them to different locations.

Robin looked at that person from above and spoke, "How long will you take?"

,m "In response to the Sect Head, the establishment of the port's tongues and the manufacture of the required number of ships of the size and methods devised by Your Excellency with our current numbers... I think it will take about 4 months before handing them over to the Rune Masters." The chief blacksmith bowed and spoke

Then another person came and bowed his side, "Drawing the Runes your Excellency gave us will take longer but we will try to draw them on the plates while the blacksmiths work, however, we will still need two more months after they are finished, we can deliver the ships ready to your Excellency after 6 months from today."

Robin nodded at them and spoke, "I need these ships to reach their destination on time without delay, I hope you understand that."

"Come, Sect Head!" The two of them bowed deeply and then went back to their work

"..How long are you going to keep ignoring me?!" billy yelled suddenly

"What do you want next, Billy? I have already answered your questions." Robin replied coldly

"Why are you talking like you gave the orders to exterminate rats?! You ordered the genocide of all the experts and fighters of the continent! You set the continent back tens of thousands of years!!" Billy yelled at the top of his lungs, since he found out about the orders Robin gave the demons, he has almost gone crazy

"During the siege of Jura City, didn't the Seven Kingdoms declare a royal war? A royal war means that they moved the entire armies of all the noble families in their lands, this means that all the knights and saints whom I gave the order to kill did participate in the siege of Jura...

As for the other noble families in the Black Sun Kingdom, they did not help us when we needed them and therefore it is treason in my book, especially the Altons as we have a mutual defense treaty with them and they ignored it, as for the Evren family... I don't think I need to talk to them. Tell me, Billy, Did I say something wrong?" talk robin

"It's true, but things don't work that way!" Billy shouted again, "All these people did not come of their own accord, but were forced by the royal summons. Second, those responsible must be held accountable I agree with that, not to order a f*cking random genocide against the whole content!"

"Genocide... I wish I had the guts to start a real genocide, but it turns out I still haven't fully escaped my weakness yet, It turns out that I'm too coward to issue that order..." A half smile appeared on Robin's face

And he finally looked at Billy, " *The whole content* should be thankful that I contented myself with killing the strong ones among the noble families and letting their offspring live under my sky... the whole content should be happy, that I didn't treat them the same way they treated Jura."

Chapter 322 Flight

Billy looked at Robin for a few seconds with knotted eyebrows and questioning eyes, this anger and sadness in Robin's voice...

His actions did not seem that it was only about Jura City being invaded and losing some land... It is not like he loved his family in the first place!

He basically spent most of his life in a cave, and the rest in seclusion after seclusion!

Billy looked at Jabba, his looked seemed that he was begging him to him what was going on, but Jabba looked at the workers on the beach as if he didn't notice anything, again!

This is not the first time Billy has tried to ask one of Robin's new followers about the reason for his anger and the source of his decisions, which have gone so far beyond the world of politics and intelligence, but no one answered him, all of them feared that they had no right to speak on the subject as long as Robin himself did not speak about it first...

'What the hell happened for all of that?!

Billy clenched his hands for a few more seconds and then let out a long exhale and looked at Robin again, "Do you have any preferences about what we should do on the Continent now? After the ruling class of all the noble families were killed and the demons walked freely in the streets, all definitions of government and safety collapsed.

Everything turned into now devastating chaos, the supply chains of main goods were cut off, the stores are closed, no one dares to go out and farm because there are no one to protect them and their crops, and people are starting to gather to form gangs to raid their neighbors and steal a piece of old bread, this situation can't exist more than this, now that you killed whom you want to kill, it's time to redirect the continent to where you want."

A half smile appeared on Robin's face, "Why are you saying it like this, Isn't that good news? Let them fight, humans always have reasons to fight over, now at least they have a good reason... look at the bright side, at least now they are all on the same cultivation level, I don't think anyone else will dare to break into the Knighthood realm anytime soon."

"Robin, we have to intervene or we will lose control of the continent forever, everyone will die of starvation, and this will be a blood stain on the Burton family forever even if we can survive on our own!"

"The Burton family?" Finally, Robin turns to his side and looks Billy in the eyes, "There's no such thing as the Burtons now, there aren't any families, this system is over... Now there's Robin Burton and the enforcers working under Robin Burton, don't worry, no one blames the enforcers."

"YOU..!" Billy nearly stepped forward and punched Robin in the face but he just turned around and walked over to his Draco, "F*ck you! it's on you then, let's just spread that His Excellency has given orders to starve the whole damn continent!! I don't even know why I bother myself with this, you have been unbearable since you came back, unbearable!!"

"Billy, take the Burtons and the families who fought with us and stay in the capital of the Black Sun temporarily, I think William Marley will be polite to you... Tell the men in the special legions to rest and cultivate properly until next time I summon them, they deserve some extended rest." Robin called out to Billy before he flew, and tossed 3 metallic tablets, "When Amon returns to Nihari again to fetch more demons, tell him to bring you a number of energy stones and pearls to help you in training, he will manage it."

Billy picked up the three metallic tablets and with a quick swipe of his Soul Sense, he found that they were the third stage of the Laws of Fire, Darkness, and Wind!!

Billy gave a long sigh, "The men would love this, thank you, on their behalf."

Then he jumped on the back of the Draco and quickly disappeared from view...

"Zara." About a full minute after Billy left Robin's shouted

"You finally remembered I'm here!" Zara left her companions and came on flying when she heard him calling

"Tell me about your Life Legion.." Robin got straight to the point

"Hmph, at least ask me how I'm doing for a few minutes first so I can believe you care." Zara put her hand on her waist and spoke, but he quickly gave a smile and continued, "Anyway, by my count, the Life Corps has 422 people, most of them joined early on and reached high levels of sainthood, and there are 27 people - including me - have made it all the way to Level 30."

"Good enough." Robin nodded and passed a metal tablet to Zara, "Here you will find the Third Stage of the Life Law, absorb it first then distribute it on your legion."

"Wow, thank you!!" Zara grabbed the metal tablet, almost flew with joy, it has been a while since she and her new Friends hit level 30 and they haven't been able to advance again.

"Take those too...." He moved Robin and aimed her at an empty area beside him, and a small mountain of gleaming stones and pearls suddenly appeared that refreshed the place, "These energy stones are much better than the ones you know, use them and distribute them to your legion to help them cultivate faster."

"....I do not know what to say..!" Zara muttered in a low voice when she saw the energy stones and pearls, without Robin saying their benefits, the shape, and aura of the stones were obvious enough, especially these pearls!!

"Say that you will be a sage in a week, I see that you have been stuck at level 30 for a few years, you can definitely do it.. and the rest of those who are at the apex of the Sainthood in your legion should try to break through to the Sagehood realm as well, While the rest should break through at least a level...

After The deadline of one week, there is going to be a very stressful, tiring, and dangerous mission for you all. You must seize the opportunity and get stronger as soon as possible. You should also relax and clear your mind for the next mission." Robin looked into Zara's eyes and spoke seriously

"Count on me!" She laid Zara, spoke confidently, and then went back to tell her friends the new orders

Jabba waited for a while until the Life Legion came and took all the energy stones and pearls, then spoke... "How about me and the 200 Sage level demons that you also summoned? do you have any orders for us at the moment?"

"You can do whatever you like, cultivating, fishing, or enjoying the ocean... the important thing is that you are ready after a week."

"A week again... what happens after the week?" Jabba furrowed his eyebrows and asked

Robin slowly raised his hand and pointed toward the ocean in the direction he had been looking at all along, "We have a long flight ahead."

Chapter 323 The Central Continent

One week later---

*Raaaf Raaaf*

*SAAAAAAAAAA*

A large number of winged Draco beasts soared into the sky one after the other and started shrieking excitedly

"Master, everything is ready, we can move now." Jabba came from behind Robin, who was still sitting on the edge of the cliff, and spoke

When Robin heard this, he closed his eyes for a moment and inserted his spiritual sense into the Voice Ring for a few moments, then stood and flew silently toward one of the Draco's beasts, and Jabba went after him.

Then he moved the Draco to float higher and looked down at the rest with a satisfied gaze... There were exactly 200 Dracos, Standing on top of each of them are two green armored humans and one demon

Robin waited for everyone to control his Draco and stood in the air steadily, and then they all made a full bow in front of him, after which he spoke at last, "I realize that my orders to form this squadron may seem strange to some of you, but we will now move toward another continent and must be prepared for everything we meet."

Everyone was surprised to hear my words *other continent*, especially the humans who started looking at each other with amazement and even some enthusiasm

Even Sage Zara who was standing on top of one of the Draco beasts couldn't hold herself and asked, "Another continent, father? Like the one ruled by empires? But... isn't it too far away?"

Robin looked at her with a slight smile, "Right, I used the Major Heavenly Space Law to determine the exact location of our destination and the distance between us, it takes months if we want to sail for it using ships, so I decided to form this team.

calculating the normal Draco speed, we will arrive after 6 days of continuous flight, but the Draco beasts can't fly all these days without rest, and of course, we can't rest for long in the middle of the ocean where powerful sea beasts live...

Each Draco carries two Life Legion members, you will switch roles between you every few hours to inject vital energy into your Draco to make it fly effortlessly, while the one who is resting can recharge his energy with the energy pearls I gave you... This way we can complete the path until we reach our goal without a need to stop.

Demon sages, each of you will be responsible for protecting the Draco under his feet and the two humans by his side, if we encounter a storm, form an energy shield around them, if a beast approaches, kill it, and always stay alert... Every Draco and those above it are a team now, any shortcoming from any One part of the team will be punished mercilessly, understood?"

"Understood!" Everyone responded in one voice, then the Humans and Demons started looking at each other and nodding, some even shook hands with each other.. they would share the same tiny space on the back of their Draco for not a short while.

"Good" Robin nodded when he saw this, then ordered his Draco to turn and began to fly forward at top speed, and then the rest of the 200 Dracos followed after loud shrieks.

"Another continent, Hah..." Jabba folded his hands and spoke while standing beside Robin, "Entering your enemies' fort with such a small number of troops is a great risk if you take my opinion, but well, I'm coming with you anyway."

A dark smile appeared on Robin's face when he heard this and replied, "Don't worry, it would be like taking sweets from a child."

-----

Six days later - The Central Continent

"Hahahaha, it's your fault because you are trying what you can't, how can your ridiculous plants stand in front of my flames? You clowns of the Sacred Tree Empire do nothing but move the plants and their roots, what's so cool about that?" A young-looking teen laughing out loud

"Pho..." A girl spat some blood on the ground and then stood up and took an offensive posture again, "Didn't my big brother use these plants to beat you up the last time you fought? You just want to bully me because I'm a level lower than you and because there is no forest nearby!"

"What's stopping you from leaving, sweetie? the role says we have to hold back if someone wants to run with his tail between his legs! It is not like I can do something to you if you want to go." The young man spoke again and sarcastically signaled her to leave

"I won't go anywhere before you give me my sword, it is a gift from my big brother!" The girl replied, then suddenly moved his hand, dozens of twigs appeared from under the ground and started attacking the young man again

"Hahahaha!" The young man jumped up and seemed to throw a faint yellow flame randomly on the branches and on the girl herself.

"Ahh!" When the girl noticed that her branches were burned again and that the flame was coming toward her, she raised her two hands to prepare for the collision.

*TSHHHHHH*

The girl opened her eyes again and found a wall of water in front of her, then looked next to her and exclaimed with joy, "Natalie!!"

The girl named Natalie smiled and then looked seriously at the young man, "Dave Barnett, were you going to hurt her with this attack? Do you know what the elders would have done to you if they knew about this?"

"Hmph, stop talking like you are better than me! you are taking advantage that we are next to the beach, if we were inside the continent, you wouldn't be able to produce a quarter of this water!" The young man gasped after he landed on the ground, angry because she had stopped his attack at the crucial moment

"Blame your luck that we are not inside the continent, Do you want to try me now?"

"you..!!"

At this moment a strong, calm voice came from afar, "Alright Alright, guys, disperse now, find other opponents for you, and remember not to hurt each other... Little Dave, give the girl her sword."

When Dave looked at the source of the sound to his left, someone was floating smoothly in the air, one of the Watching Elders of the Wind Empire was passing by by chance, then Dave shouted, "That girl caused my prey to escape, the sword is compensation!"

"Dave.. give her back her sword.. don't make me report to one of the sages of the Flame Empire to come and deal with you."

"Tsk... Alright!" Dave responded angrily and sent the short sword flying toward the girl

"Good! Now go get yourself another prey and do-- hmmm?" Before the elder could complete what he wanted to say, suddenly a huge cloud darkened the place

When he raised his head to see what was happening, he was surprised by a number of huge winged beasts, so big that he had never seen or heard about such flying beasts in his life, and all of them emitting a saint aura!

"Ah!!" The girls were terrified at the sight and hugged each other, even Dave Barnett and the rest of the guys next to the shore began to take steps back and some of them fell on their butts from looking up in fear.

"Form a defensive circle!!" When the elder saw this, he shouted at all the terrified youth in the area and quickly went and floated on top of their circle, ready to receive the attacks of these strange flying beasts at any moment.

But very strangely, the swarm of winged beasts passed above them and continued its way deep into the continent, leaving the vast ocean behind.

"What the hell was that..." The elder finally relaxed after the swarm of winged beasts started to move away, he began to float up looking at the direction they were heading, trying to figure out what exactly they were.

But at this moment

*Booom*

Something came down from the sky like a meteor, causing a huge hole in the ground.

"cough cough.."

"What was that?!"

"Looks like it fell from a swarm of flying beasts? Maybe one of these beasts was carrying a big fish and it fell off."

"Stay in your defensive circle!!!" The elder shouted at them and began to advance towards the pit that was covered with flying dust, but he stayed put when he heard a voice

*Step.. step.. step..*

Finally, the dust began to clear and a shadow appeared from the bottom of the pit...

It was a crimson creature with sharp spiral horns who slowly looked around with a terrifying smile on his face that sent a shiver into the hearts of everyone present...

Chapter 324 No More Variables

"Twenty kilometers away in that direction are 500 individuals and two observers." Robin opened his eyes and pointed in a certain direction

Jabba looked at the flying Dracos behind him and yelled, "Tamuz, Shaquille you both know what to do."

Two demons nodded, jumped off the Draco, and started flying in that direction

"At a distance of 40 kilometers, there are 2,000 individuals and 6 observers." Again Robin pointed in a certain direction and commented

"6 observers?" When he heard this, Jabba looked at Zara and sent her something using the Thought Conveying Technique... Then Zara shouted, "The 15th Company is coming with me, this task is ours."

10 Life Legion individuals, including Zara, jumped out and started flying in that direction at full speed.

"There is a big building there with 30 individuals in it, about 90 kilometers away, it looks like the northern lookout station," Robin spoke again pointing at north-west

,m Then Jabba furrowed his eyebrows and looked to his left, "Brother Sakar, we will bother you again."

"Anything for Master.. let's go!" The Demon King Sakar replied with a hoarse voice and shouted, and twenty other demons followed him in that direction

After they went, Jabba looked behind him, checking what was left of the troops, he counted only 5 Sages and 20 Saints from the Life Legion, then he shook his head, sighed, and spoke to Robin, " I knew we should have brought more.."

Then Robin opened his eyes again and spoke, not pointing towards any direction this time, "That's good enough, there aren't any large gatherings left in the Central Continent, divide the forces that haven't been deployed to be support and escort teams if there is a problem with the rest... Now let's go back to the gathering point at the Middle of the Continent and wait for the good news."

Jabba nodded and then directed the Draco squadron to go back.

quiet a few Long hours passed since they arrived at the shores of the Central Continent, so they toured it from south to north, and whenever Robin spotted a large human gathering, he sent a number of demons or life legion members towards them before he continued his way

And finally planted a few of his forces everywhere, covering The entire continent.

*Raaaf Raaaf*

After a few seconds of flying, Jabba spoke again, "If you take my opinion, I really don't think it was a good idea to send squads of demons only as you instructed, they don't know the language of the people of this planet and they are very ferocious in how they do there business... You said that this continent is where the four empires gather to train right? You only want the Flame Empire, but now you are sending these squads to every gathering without knowing who they are, this kind of randomness is not good, it will not end well..."

"This continent contains only young men who are in Knighthood realm or at the beginning of the Sainthood at most, and with them, a number of observers to ensure their safety and they are only at the top of Sainthood, and there are also a few Sages, but the overall number of the observers is not large, I think 150 is a maximum, and most of the sages here are in the lower or medium levels... so there is no need to worry about much resistance

The places that I have identified using space law are areas where a certain law is more active than others, it can be said that they are in training sessions and those observers stand a little farther away to make sure that they are fine... This continent in some sense can be considered some kind of a big school.

As for the demons and the Life Forces, they all have clear instructions not to resort to killing, their orders are just to take everyone they find to the heart of this continent and break the bones of those who try to escape from them, I have no doubt that they will abide by the instructions, but if someone tries to court his death and forces our men to kill him, he is not to blame Except himself."

"If the other three Empires' kids get killed, no matter what the cause, I'm afraid you will make yourself more enemies. we are talking about families with almost unlimited resources and advanced training techniques available to everyone. The forces we encountered when rescuing your friend Billy and your sons are definitely nothing compared to the true forces of the Flame Empire... To be honest, I don't know if we can win without much sacrifice, and now your actions will most likely gain you three more enemies of that caliber." Jabba shook his head

It is clear from the actions of the Flame Empire that these four empires have reached the limits of arrogance that exceeded all known, and this place is the best proof of that...

It is supposed to be a continent for fighting and training among the younger generation, this is understandable and actually smart, if every family occupies a continent of their own then they will get soft without constant fighting opportunity, and this place provides that for them,

But each empire sending a number of observers to make sure that their kids will not be harmed? How are they going to fight if no one can harm the other?

Is this continent dedicated to training and skill polishing or is it a social club?!

This place is a joke!

But it also says a lot about how well the four Empires protect their children and feel that no one has the right to touch a hair of their head, even in training, much less be taken as hostages!!

"Indeed, they have much larger forces than the ones we faced before and a large number of them have reached sagehood, but in our battle that you mentioned, how many demons on our side were killed?"

"This..." Jabba didn't know what to say, Robin did know the losses, they were negligible compared to the scale of that battle!

"They used to live very prosperously, they thought that the energy level and the technique of the Major Law of Fire would suffice them to rule this planet forever, but they had forgotten how terrifying life can be at times." Robin spoke in exasperation, "It is too late for the Flame Empire, but what is happening now will be a fitting pinch for the rest of the Empires to wake up and know that there is no longer a place for arrogant people in this world anymore, Only I can act arrogant."

Then he continued, "If one of the other three empires tried to make us enemies even after they saw the power of the Life Legion and the power of the Demons here, they are welcome to try, I will direct my gaze towards them after I finish up the Flame Empire Anyway.

I could no longer stand the presence of stupid and arrogant people on the back of my planet anymore, I can't risk another disaster, there will be no more variables here anymore, I had had enough..." His words closed the subject completely in Jabba's face, He let out a long sigh and focused on commanding the Draco squadron.

Chapter 325 Camp

Three weeks later--

"You filthy ugly creature, it looks like you really are sick of life! just you wait, my father will flay you alive when he finds out what's going on here!"

"RAAAOOOR!!" The escorting Demon only roared vigorously as a reply to the unknown words of this human

"Dave, just shut your mouth and keep going, we have been walking for weeks already, don't ruin everything and get us killed now!" Natalie came up behind him and pulled his shirt sleeve.

"DAMMIT... I think that thing doesn't even understand a word, even a much weaker beast can understand human speech but this red creature can't? And why do we have to follow the orders of that thing in the first place, What kind of a stupid species is this? Maybe he wants to lead us to his lair and devour us as he likes, while we are trotting in front of him like idiots!"

"What should we do then? Have you not seen how the observer was killed? He ate his heart out when he tried to resist! Stay patient, we might find a more powerful observer on our way to save us from this thing... Just focus on pulling the carriage your friend is lying upon, and pray for the best..." said another teenager beside him

Dave clenched his fists tightly and continued his way forward with his head tilted, he knew very well that there was no other choice.

When the Demon descended from the sky 3 weeks ago, he sent a mental message to everyone using the Thoughts Conveying technique saying that he had no intention of killing and that they should follow him somewhere to meet his *Master*...

No one knew how the Demon could send his speech right into their heads, but this was not the time to act surprised and curious.

Of course, they all refused and the observer tried to resist and attacked the demon with everything he got, but he was greatly overestimating himself.. the demon killed the observer with ease and ate his heart in front of them, and sent another message, this time threatening to follow him.

The youths thought that their large number would make it impossible for the Demon to get them in line, so they tried to run in every direction, but the demon was simply too fast he caught most of them before they went too far, and was using long-range white flame attacks to shoot down whoever goes farther...

Everyone who reserved either the physical or long-range attacks for the demon got themselves severe injuries and some of them died.

Only at that moment did the rest know that they do not have much of a choice, so they carried their injured brothers and started following the demon silently...

Along their way the demon would go absent for a few moments and then come back with a few individuals that he smelled them wandering in the area, they were mostly out for training or treasure hunting, but they found themselves thrown into the group not knowing what was going on... The demon even found an observer nearby and he succeeded in arresting him Alive this time

When they started moving from the south shore they were about 300 individuals, but at this moment their number had already reached 500!

No one knows what is happening and where this creature is taking them, they just walk day and night, afraid to reach that creature's den before a strong observer finds them...

"Hmm, what is this over there..? ...Hey everyone, come look ahead, you should see this!" The person at the front of the group suddenly shouted when he came out of the woods

"What is there?"

"Please don't say you found a cave full of corpses!!"

Some of the people in the group began to advance quickly to see what was happening in front of them, and some of them stuck their feet to the ground, afraid that they had finally reached their place of death.

"Oh my..."

"Heavens, what is going on here?"

Natalie, The girl from the Water Empire who was trembling in the back, gathered some courage when she heard the words of the people in front, she took a long inhale and walked forward.

"....." she opened her mouth and her eyes to the last of them, she couldn't find a word to say, the sight in front of her was extremely strange...

There is a deep valley in front of them in which there are about forty thousand teenagers and young men, all are sitting on the ground politely, they can even see some of the Sages from their empires among those sitting on the ground!

There was absolute silence in the area, It appeared like none of them dares to breathe loudly

Around them stood a great number of the same kind of red, horned creatures, and even a few humans dressed in green armor...

Their auras said that they were Sages or at the upper levels of a Saint Realm, there were a few hundred of them!

Especially a few Demons whose auras were so powerful and bloody, they seemed to be at least high-level Sages...

Although the number of prisoners from the Four Empires is overwhelmingly greater, all of this is useless in front of more than two hundred Sages ready to strike random attacks at the same time.

Especially when they all knew how strong these Demons are, they all saw or experienced their power firsthand, each and every one of them was stronger than a Human Sage for the Four Empires at the same level!

The thoughts of all the young men, Natalie, Dave, and the rest, went crazy upon seeing this sight... they were praying that a powerful observer would find and rescue them all the way here, but the observers they knew were on sitting on their butts on the ground!

They couldn't find an explanation they are seeing right now, who would dare to capture the young generation and the Sages of the Four Empires? Who else has this kind of power in the first place?!

But at least they don't have to be afraid that they are going to a lair to be eaten anymore, this without a doubt was a huge concentration camp!

*Shooo*

Suddenly Zara landed in front of the group and spoke sternly, "Group number 201, move one by one and take your places at the end of the camp. None of you say a word without being asked to speak, understand? Go ahead!"

Then she looked at the Demon who had accompanied them here and nodded at him and sent through the Thought Conveying Technique, "After you put them in their places, you can go to rest for a bit and I will send a member of the Life Legion to revitalize you and get you to your optimum state again, I realize that it has been a long journey for you."

The Demon nodded at Zara and then looked back at a group and roared towards them, then began to lead them to their place at the back of the camp.

Then she flew again toward the lone tent standing in front of the camp and spoke in a low voice, "Father, the last group has finally arrived, everything is ready for you now."

Chapter 326 Humbling

After a few minutes, Robin removed the tent curtain and walked out, patted Zara on the shoulder and advanced to sit on a large chair in front of the prisoners.

"Hmmm? Look up." Someone spoke in a low voice, but because the place was completely silent, his words caught everyone's attention

"Dammit, who is this now? He is sitting on my chair, he brought it from the Eastern Watchtower all the way here?!" A mid-level sage shouted when he saw the scene

"Shhh, lower your voice, you don't want your life anymore?"

While little arguments and whispers erupted everywhere, Robin only looked from above at the crowd below...

This place was a small valley carved in the ground, surrounded by higher lands and small hills, it was most likely some kind of a lake that dried out thousands of years ago.. and it was perfect for this job!

Robin continues staring down without emotion on his face for more than five minutes until everyone fell silent again and turned to look up at the guy that looked like the boss of these red monsters.

Then he spoke softly as if he was arguing with someone sitting in front of him, but his voice clearly reached the ears of the tens of thousands of men and women in front of him, "I realize you have some concerns, but you are here as temporary guests, when what we want is finished, each of you will return to your family, so I ask everyone to cooperate until we finish this matter quickly."

"And what exactly do you want?"

"Do you know who we are?!"

"You will all be dead when our families know what is going on here!"

"RAAAAAAOOOOORRR!!" The Demon King Sakar roared with full force when the prisoners began to speak to his master in a tone he did not like, in an instant, the valley was completely calm again.

Then Robin continued, "How can I not know you? Young gentlemen and girls of the Four Empires, the dynasty of the Four Great Emperors, the discoverers of the major laws, and the actual forces that run this world, I know you are the sons and daughters of the higher-ups of the Empires and that you came to socialize, sorry, to train... Do I got it right?"

small voices and talks began to erupt again, this guy and his monsters didn't strike casually but knew they were and obviously they have a plan for them!

"...Let's make this discussion more civil so that no more happens Chaos, I don't like chaos and I won't condone it every time... I want four people to come forward now to speak on behalf of the delegations of the Four Empires, while the rest shut up, how about that? I'll give you 5 minutes to choose among yourselves."

The sages of the empires started standing one by one, looking at each other and making simple gestures among themselves, and in less than five minutes four sages came forward to stand in the front while the rest sat down again.

When Robin saw this he said, "Good, now we can--"

"Young man, was what you just used the Minor Heavenly Law of Sound? Who exactly did you take it from?" One of the Four Sages interrupted Robin and spoke annoyed

Robin looked at that sage with knotted eyebrows, Jabba was about to attack that sage because he interrupted his master, but Robin raised his hand and stopped him, then he waved that hand, and a small tornado appeared and started dancing next to him.

"Is that.. the Major Heavenly Law of The Wind?!" Everyone from the Wind Empire couldn't believe their eyes, "No... there is something strange, the movements of this tornado seem smoother than usual, and making it was also much easier...?"

" What is happening exactly?"

"Where did you steal technique this from?!"

"GOD DAMMIT, Who is the traitor that leaked our secret technique?!"

Robin didn't care to answer anyone, he just moved the same hand again, created a small white flame, and threw it towards the tornado, the little dancing tornado turned into a fierce flame hurricane!

"That... Dave, come to think of it... isn't that the major law of fire?"

This question hit everyone's head when hearing it, they all saw the white flames before when fighting the demons, but they didn't give it much thought because the demons themselves were an alien species, maybe this white fire was their specialty or something...

But seeing Robin using it now made them see it from a totally different perspective!

Robin then again hit his foot on the ground and a huge tree came out with a huge number of strong roots around it, then he hit the ground with his other foot and underground water came out and started to wrap around the tree and roots

And with another wave, green energy burst out of his hand and landed on the tree and the roots which made them grow even more...

"..." The forty thousand prisoners all locked themselves up watching what was happening in front of them

The proud sons and daughters of every empire were busily observing the law they had been practicing all their lives.

The sons of the Wind Empire watched the movement of the hurricane, and The sons of the Flame Empire watched the white flames that were burning even the wind itself

The sons of the Water Empire were focusing on the amount of water that came out of the underground and its density and movements

While the sons of the Sacred Tree Empire watched the shape and strength of the roots that emerged from the dried underground in a flash, but still couldn't find out how he makes them grow even further at the speed, as the law they are studying can't do that!

In just a few seconds, they all reached the same unbelievable result.

"No way.."

"You have all the Four Major Laws?!"

"How dare you steal them?"

"The Four Emperors will not stay silent about this!!"

"Heh." Robin let out a chuckle when he heard this, "It seems you don't want to believe what you are seeing, those petty techniques you have been practicing your whole life on are just broken and polluted, they are a disgrace to the major laws, don't compare them to my masterpiece... But it's okay, let me help you see the truth."

After Robin finished speaking, a small cloud gathered beside him and began to rain, and then extremely white and focused lightning bolts began to descend from it to strike the ground.

Then Robin moved his hand towards a huge boulder in the valley and it floated up and started moving around like a feather.

"Are those the Lightning.. and the Gravity Major Laws..?!" It was not known who muttered these two sentences, but his voice was heard in all directions without a doubt

These two Major Laws shouldn't be known yet!!

At that moment Robin moved his hand and everything vanished as if it was never there, even the tree and its roots went underground

then he spoke, "I didn't have to show you rats anything, but I didn't like your empty arrogance in front of me. all you take pride in is nothing to me, You yourselves are nothing to me, so I advise you to be more polite in addressing your words from now on, this will be your last warning."

Chapter 327 Purpose

Everyone lowered their heads down, and clenched their teeth and their hands upon hearing those words, they were fuming inside but still didn't find anything to respond with...

It was clear that the laws that Robin just used are different and more powerful than their own!

Even though he used them all at the same time and he clearly does not specialize in one of them, his law was still better than everyone present

However, they tried to deny what they saw...

But how can they still convince themselves After seeing the rest of the major laws?

Everyone focused their eyes on Robin, and on the 3-meter giant standing beside him, if they were scared just a little while ago, then they are absolutely terrified now...

These guys weren't punching above their weight, they came knowing what they are up to!

Even the Elders started to look around, the humans wearing green armor used some kind of green energy to bring items to life and use it in their battles, it was similar to the one Robin used just now on the tree, does that mean they are using another major law?

Well, they are undoubtedly very powerful, if bringing things to life isn't a Major Law then what is?!

And those strange Demons, each of them had enough strength to kill any sage with ease.. they are the sages of the four empires, they are the users of the Major Heavenly Laws, they are not some random cabbages!!

What exactly is this force? Where did they come from and what do they want from them? Since when this world has this kind of expert outside of the four Empires? And since when more Major Heavenly Laws have been discovered?!

"Anyway...." Robin did not wait for a response and directly continued, "I will explain what's going on here as simply as possible, the Flame Empire has kidnapped a number of my followers and I want them back, everyone will be fine as long as you stay obedient until that happens."

"This..." The representative of the Flame Empire expedition started to sweat, he has been stationed here for decades and didn't know what was going on back there.

"Flame Empire? What the hell have you done?! Who are these people? don't tell you don't know, there have been a few ships coming from your continent in the past few years, someone must have told you something!" The representative of the Sacred Tree Empire Expedition looked at the guy next to him and shouted

"You are the reason for what is happening now?! Why would you kidnap people belonging to such an entity you damned idiots?!"

"I don't know! I really don't know!! No one has told me anything, This is definitely a secret matter of senior executives. How would someone like me know about it?" The Sage from the Flame Empire panicked and responded quickly

"Shit, sir, if your problem is with the Flame Empire, then what are we to do with it?" The Sage of the Water Empire turned and spoke

Robin shrugged, "Nothing, but you are going to stay here with me until the exchange is over, I can't allow an unexpected accident to happen, I think you can understand that.."

Before one of the four Sages replied, Robin continued, "All the ships you came with were put taken under our control, so don't try to escape, it will have dire consequences.. and don't wait for rescue either, the continent is being patrolled by Dracos all day long, if any other ship comes it will be Capture and its crew will be brought here to join you.

Because I am a generous and understanding man, whoever wants to go out may go... you can continue your training and hunt your own food, But whoever leaves will have to return to register his attendance every 3 days maximum, and whoever is late will be chased and killed directly... I trust you will behave, These are just temporary measures until I finish my affairs with the Flame Empire and leave you be. "

" generous and understanding man may ass.. he simply does not want to bring us food even though he has imprisoned us!" One of the Four Sages muttered in a very low voice

Robin heard him clearly but did not comment, but instead turned his eyes toward the sage representative of the Flame Empire, "As for you..."

"Me? yes... yes...?" Hakim replied nervously

"Take one of the ships and immediately move towards the Continent of the Flame Empire, tell the officials if they want to see their sons here safe again, they should bring me all the prisoners they captured in the Ancestral Continent, especially the prisoners from the four special forces and the Rune Masters.. and don't try to play any game like keeping some of them locked up there, I know every single one you took.

The journey from here to the Continent of the Flame Empire takes about 3 months, I will give you 6 months for the round trip and an extra week to gather all my followers... Every day delay after that I will kill a hundred children of the Flame Empire, understand?"

"Understood! I will move right away!!" The Sage of the Flame Empire bowed and almost flew eastward, afraid that Robin would turn back at his words and have him stay.

"Wait, you idiot, if you fly to the borders of the continent on your own you will take days!" Robin spoke and then looked toward one of the demons at his side, "Can you get him to the location of the Flame Empire ships for me?"

"Yes." The Demon bowed slightly and then jumped over the Draco next to him and signaled to the Sage of the Flame Empire to jump after him, after which they both disappeared from view.

"The Ancestral... Continent...?"

"There are people that strong in the Ancestor Continent? Didn't they tell us that it's just a desolate place where the weak minor heavenly law users live?"

"Those alien races used to live with our ancestors back there?! Why wasn't this put in the books?"

The sage of the Flame Empire was so excited that he wouldn't have to die in this place that he didn't check what Robin said carefully, but those words couldn't escape unnoticed by the rest of the prisoners

Robin didn't care what was happening below, he had already said what had to be said, so he simply rose from his chair and walked towards his tent silently.

"Were you doing all this for a hostage exchange? Do you really think this would work?" Jabba quickly moved behind Robin and asked with furrowed eyebrows.

"Why wouldn't it succeed? All the teenagers in the valley are from imperial families and most of them are the sons of sages and individuals with high authority. Otherwise, when they get the chance to cross the ocean to cultivate in this place, I think they will want to get them back rather than keep a handful of useless prisoners." Robin spoke as he moved

"Useless..? You just said that they keep the Rune Master and special legions members, maybe even Caesar himself, are they going to let go of them so easily?" Jabba asked again

"They are all useless because they are under oath to shut their mouths, they are keeping them prisoners until they decode the oath tablets and free them from the oath so that they can speak and expose what they know about the Runes, but they should know by now that the Aoth Tablets are nothing like the Fire Explosion Talisman, decoding it may take them hundreds of years!

They will refuse and act with anger first, but it will not take time before they decide to release them in order to get their sons back, of course, they will think of coming back to the ancestral continent and capturing the Rune Masters again after decoding the oath tablets ." Robin replied with a half smile, he knew they wouldn't get that chance a second time.

"Theoretically you are right, but the empire that destroyed your family without warning surely won't compromise so easily, and that sage who left saw all our troops here, do you think that when he comes back he will really have your followers with him?"

Robin stopped at this moment and gave a cruel smile, "Don't let such thought weigh you down, just tell me when Amon comes..."

"Amon?!" Jabba was surprised and wanted to ask Robin again what was going on, but he had already made his way to his tent.

Chapter 328 The Flame Emperor

Three months later -- inside the throne hall in a luxurious palace

"My son... is a prisoner? And in the hands of some peasants from the Ancestral Continent on top of that? DO YOU UNDERSTAND WHAT YOU ARE SAYING?! why have I been feeding you dogs all these years?" A middle-aged man wearing a crown inlaid with rare stones stood up and shouted

"Y- Your Majesty, we had nothing in our hands, the creatures he brought with him are just very powerful, forget about us, he captured all the youths and observers in the Central Continent and not just our youth!" This was the sage that Robin had let go, he fell to the ground on his knees from the terror and pressure that had descended upon him and began to stutter.

Just standing in front of the Flame Emperor of this generation was worrying enough, but standing in front of him when he is angry? this is a nightmare.

"He captured even the sons of other empires...?" The Flame Emperor furrowed his eyebrows, "Isn't the Flame Empire enough for him as an enemy, so he went to pick a few more? That bastard has some nerve."

"Looks like we really underestimated this Robin Burton..." an aging old man standing to the right of the throne muttered in a low voice, "I don't want to say that but you should have taken my advice back then and investigated it further."

"It's just a 200-year-old mouse living on the Ancestral Continent, do we go and make deals with me? tell him: please, we are stupid and we need help, give us EVERYTHING you ever made? No, we had to take what we want!

And what can we investigate further? he is just a kid from some ordinary family and he was struggling and a mortal war against some locals called Dolivar! I still say that we made the right decision." An old woman standing to the left of the throne spoke this time,

And then looked toward the back of the emperor standing in front of her, "Because that mouse managed to find Help we didn't know about doesn't mean you made a mistake when making the invasion decision, remember that you are always right!"

"That *mouse* has managed to discover techniques for all the known Major Heavenly Laws, and they are much purer than the one we know at that! he has techniques for other major laws such as Darkness and Gravity, and he created the Talisman system that we have never heard of before, and... Damn I even forgot the rest of the innovations we heard about!!" The old man spoke in exasperation, "How did you not consider that he might have someone higher than all of us to look after him? Someone... from outside this world!!"

"Who's out of the world? the heavens or the stars..? It seems that age has affected your mind, old man."
The old woman waved sarcastically

"Enough!" The Flame Emperor suddenly shouted, "Tell me how do I get my son and the rest of the detainees back?"

"Hear me out and do as Robin said, send all the prisoners to him and he will return our children to us, we heard a lot about him from the ancestral continent since this useless war started, we know he is a benevolent person and always carries out his promises, this kind of nature doesn't just disappear, I assure you that if we do what he says he will abide too." The old man spoke

"No, no, no, you damn old man should be thrown out of the crown hall! You want to humiliate the Great Flame Empire in front of a boy?" The old woman yelled angrily, "Your Majesty, you should send forces to capture this Robin and kill all his henchmen in Central Continent, then not only will you be able to bring our juniors back, but we will be able to get our hands on what we want, isn't our goal from the beginning was to capture him?"

"What is going on inside your brain, woman? Didn't you hear? They have over 200 Sages, that's roughly a quarter of our current troop of Sages! That's not mentioning the other 400 high-ranking Saints, if our troops go and a big fight starts there, our little ones will get hurt and maybe Robin Burton will order them to be killed during the battle!" The old man turned and shouted

"It would be a proper sacrifice in exchange for capturing Robin Butron alive, even if we forgot about his Talisman system, obtaining one or two of his Major Heavenly laws techniques will make the whole world have one empire, The Great Flame Empire!" The woman ignored the old man's words and looked toward the emperor's back again, "we can't give this guy much time, this time he appeared with 200 demon sages, what would happen next? your majesty... we MUST get rid of him as soon as possible."

"A proper sacrifice? It's ten thousand teenagers and young men! They are our whole new generation, what will we do with the techniques if we have no one to learn them? how would our people be happy with our success when there is a dead child in every household? do you realize what you are saying, you old crocodile?!" The old man got agitated as if he wanted to pounce on the woman

Then he looked at the Emperor, " You majesty, wars happen and that's natural, every time it ends with peace treaties and common interests, I say we should take advantage of this prisoners exchange and begin this talk with Robin Burton, we can make him give us some benefits if we give him something in return.. this is how normal humans do their business!"

" Give us some benefits? We should haggle with the mouth now? I will commit suicide before that happens! Everything is okay if that's what it takes to capture Robin Burton alive, even if all our younger generation dies!" The old woman answered coldly

"you..!!" The old man was about to finish but was suddenly interrupted

"I have decided..." the emperor's voice finally echoed again, "We will capture Robin Burton... and we will bring all our sons as well!"

"Hmmm...?" Both the old man and the old woman furrowed their brows upon hearing this.

The emperor turned to face the two, "Old Gu, gather the fleet and fill it with all the prisoners we brought from the Ancestral Continent, all of them."

"Yes!" The old man replied with a smile.

Then the emperor looked back at the old woman with a vague smile, "Old Ji, that bastard gave us one week, gather all the high-level Sages and Saints that you can reach within one week and hide them in those ships."

"Eh? ...Haha, what a good plan, a good plan indeed, I have taught you well!" Old woman Ji laughed out loud

Old Gu furrowed his eyebrows when he heard this, the emperor's plan became clear, even though he had to acknowledge that it was indeed smart...

If successful, it would be a perfect shot!

But if it failed...

"You two... you're still underestimating Robin Burton again!"

Chapter 329 Robin's Fleet

3 months later -- in the vast ocean between The Ancestral Continent and The Central Continent

"Why don't you just tell me? I won't stop asking until I have an answer, tell me what happened to Robin in that Nihari world!" Billy spoke urgently

By today, it has been about 9 months since Robin returned with his allies to this world, during this period Amon learned a thing or two about the language of this planet, He learned a lot especially from Billy who was basically inseparable from him during this period!

"....." Amon focused on looking in front of him, pretending to look at the open sea in front of him with slightly knotted eyebrows like he was thinking about something important, and he did not give a reply.

"You miserable creature, Robin considers you a close follower, but instead of reaching out to help him get over whatever happened, you encourage him more? what kind of follower are you?!" Billy got pissed off when didn't get his answer and started shouting, again...

This is not the first time such dialogue takes place, and not the second time either...

He rained him with such questions whenever he saw him and Amon kept running away every time, But Since the beginning of this sea voyage, Billy has not left Amon's side knowing that Amot has nowhere to run anymore

But things didn't change much, Amon's mental resistance and patience were much stronger than he thought, whenever he comes and asks him about what happened to Robin in Nihari he would receive no reply, then Billy would start a rage shouting session and go set somewhere in the ship, but a few hours later he would come back again with the same questions.

"Amon is nothing.. Amon neither encourages nor discourages the master.. if the master wants to tell you, he will tell you himself.. the master is the most knowledgeable being under heaven and does not need anyone to tell him what to do... Amon is the one who does what he is asked." Amon spoke in a low voice with clear annoyance.

"Then why don't you let me do the job, huh? Just tell me why he came back a changed man like that, maybe I will find a solution and try to help him, what exactly happened there?" Billy got excited when he finally heard a reply for Amon and got closer, with wide open eyes, like a child asking for sweets from his father.

*Boooooom*

*RAAAAAAOOOOOORRRRRR!!!*

A strong crashing sound came from the side of the ship that made it rise tens of meters above sea level!

"A sea beast of the Snake Faction, A Mid-Sage level!" A demon shouted in the language of the Nihari world

Amon did not move from his place, did not change his standing position even as the ship was still rising in the air, but a large number of demons above the ship jumped from it and headed towards the left side of the ship, where the white flames immediately began to rise.

*AOOOOO** In the blink of an eye the terrifying sea monster's roar turned into a howling of pain, after diving again and disappearing

*TSSHHHH*

The huge metal ship landed again on the surface of the water, causing a great splash and even huge waves that affected the rest of the ships in the fleet, but it simply continued the same way as before as if nothing had happened.

"Hey! Stop ignoring me, we are almost at our destination already. Who knows what enemies we'll face, this is the continent that contains the Flame Empire! Do you understand that? We could all even die, come on tell me something useful, you damn creature!!"

Amon had to look beside him at this annoying human who didn't even reach his shoulder height and spoke, "Why the hell are you on the ship with Amon in the first place?"

"YOU--" Billy wanted to argue, but at that moment he caught a glimpse of something on the horizon, "Is this.. land?"

"..Yeah, looks like we are here." Amon was happy to answer this question

"Tsk~ damn you, I'm going to go check the beach, if we are still alive after the war is over I'll definitely make you tell me!" Bailey replied, then rose up and flew towards the Central Continent

"Heh~" Amon sighed and then got off the ship and flew after him...

-----

A few minutes later - on the southern coast of the Central Continent

..... "Hmmm?" Billy's eyes were a person approaching, flying towards him as well, and quickly he could see his features, "Jabba?"

*Swish Swish Swish*

Right after Billy and Jabba met, Amon arrived too, and Jabba spoke to Amon, "What took you so long? The Master expected your arrival days ago!"

"Amon will apologize to my master later, the number of sea beasts and their strength exceeded all expectations, during our coming we received several waves of monsters that slowed us down, and even greatly damaged one of the ships." Amon's explained

"The Sea beasts managed to greatly damage one of the ships that the master designed..? What would the losses have been if you came with normal ships then...?" Jabba furrowed his eyebrows upon hearing the news and looked behind Amon, toward the oncoming fleet

"Concentrate on me, Jabba, where's Robin? What's up with the war here? Have you managed to conquer a Flame Empire city yet?" Billy intervened in the speech and sent to Jabba via the transmission technology

"I Can a thing or two in your language, Sister Zara taught me.. about which war and which Flame Empire city are you talking about..?" Jabba stuttered a little and then continued, "..it doesn't matter, this is not the time now, according to the appointed time, the prisoners will arrive in a week at the latest... We must proceed to the eastern part of the continent at once."

Amon nodded, "Everyone will be ready to move in half an hour." Then he turned and headed back towards the fleet, which almost reached the shore...

Minutes later, before the ships reached the shore, swarms of tens of thousands of demons flew from the ships and began to take formations in the sky.

Chapter 330 White Flame Demon

Five more days later -- Near the eastern shore of the Central Continent

"I see the beach.. and many crimson things above it.. prepare to lower the anchors!" A man flying over a large fleet of ships of distinctive shape suddenly shouted loudly

After hearing that shout, a number of people also began flying over the boats, looking toward the land with longing and fear.

Longing because they came close to seeing their children and grandchildren after they were almost destroyed by anxiety for the 3 months they spent at sea and deep fear that they won't...

Ever since they heard the description of those evil creatures and what they could do, they feared that these things have already killed and eaten their kids

And, of course, a simple amount of fear towards the strength of that new enemy.

The Enemy that suddenly decided to take on The Flame Empire and kidnap their new generation, were they overestimating themselves, or did they know exactly what they were doing? This can only be known with a fight...

Whenever the eyes of one of the Sages or The Saints fall upon what lies waiting for them on the shore, he opens his eyes to the last of them and says, "May the heavens have mercy on us."

Each of them acted as if they saw a demon from folklore! ...well, they actually did see demons.

Nearly two hundred Sage-level demons lined up in a row, behind them were thousands of people dressed in tattered clothes, and some of them were injured and were left in dangerous conditions

Even without seeing their faces from afar, with one look the sages of the empire were able to determine that those are their children and grandchildren, these are the future of the Flame Empire!

These boys and girls are treated with the utmost respect even by the rest of The Three Empires, but their shape now is closer to that of beggars!!

Above them hovering many four-winged flying beasts that leak a roar from time to time, and above each of these beasts stand one or two humans...

It is clear that they are pet flying beasts, and wither the flying beasts of their riders, they all seem to be at least Saints!!

And standing in front of all that is a human who puts his hands behind his back, glancing quietly at the fleet as it draws near...

"Robin... Burton." said one of the Sages and gritted his teeth when he saw the one in front, he already saw a portrait of him after agreeing to command this mission, then he looked behind him and shouted, "Move forward at full speed!"

"..." On the other hand, Robin raised his eyebrows slightly when he saw the ships' speed increase instead of slowing down, the ships seemed to be about to break through the shore he was standing on, but he didn't move a muscle.

*Cracccccck*

More than twenty ships reached the shore at the same time, but they did not stop.

"AAHHH!!"

The smiles were wiped off the face of the ten thousand prisoners of the Flame Empire and they began to take steps back, if the ships continued at this speed, they would be crushed beneath it!

A few demons took a few steps forward, ready to stop the ships or even destroy them, but Robin raised his hand and signaled them to step back, and then again he lowered his hand and put it behind his back...

"... It is enough!" At that moment a shout came from over the ships, and 3 Sages jumped over the ships they were riding and stood in front of it, trying to block their ships themselves.

*TCCHHHH...*

All the ships finally stopped... Robin who was standing at the front was only one meter away from the bow of the ship hitting his head, but he didn't move.. still in the same position looking directly in front of him.

From the ship that stopped in front of Robin, an old man flew gently and looked at Robin from above his nose, "It seems the fear made you freeze, but I can understand this, you must have begun to realize what you have done with the silly move of taking our children hostage and became aware of the consequences, but there is no longer any room for regret."

Robin finally looked up at that person, gave a smirk, and spoke, "A good entry, I give you that! Is that your way of scaring me? ...It doesn't matter I guess, in fact, I would have loved your ship to touch me just now, I would have considered it an attack and a breach of agreement, then I was going to bury you all here.."

The sage continued to look at Robin from above, but with a slightly grumpy face this time, this Robin is supposed to be the number one genius that this world has seen and does not consider the possibility that these ships carry an army that came to kill him?

Did arrogance overwhelm his judgment to this degree... Or is he really just a boy who found a legacy?

"Bury us? This Arrogance, you truly are one of a kind, aren't you? but I guess that's to be expected from the idiot who targeted the youths of the Four Empires at the same time, you don't realize what you have done to yourself and to the entire Ancestor Continent, do you?" The Sage spoke again

"I highly doubt that you can do something worse to the Ancestor Continent right now...." Robin raised his eyebrows and replied.

"Hmmm?" The Imperial Sage furrowed his eyebrows when he heard this, "What do you mean? Are you saying that you met our troops there?"

Robin smiled a cruel smile, "I say let my prisoners go and let us finish this exchange for the better, continuing the discussion in this direction would not be very useful."

"YOU..!" The Sage unleashed his aura pressing it on everyone present, Level 40 Sage!

Although Robin's response was not direct, it was understandable enough!

The smile on Robin's face disappeared, and an angry expression filled his face, then he raised his hand, "If you want to complete this exchange, get my men out immediately, get down on the ground and speak to me as I speak to you, I Robin, don't like to look up when I speak! Carry on in your arrogant manner and the place will turn into a sea of blood."

At Robin's signal, some demons began to pump out a massive white flame, forming the shape of huge demon tens of meters long, and then came Zara afterward and a huge amount of life energy ran into the Giant White Flame Demon.

The eyes of the Giant White Flame Demon seemed as if it had gained some consciousness out of nowhere, sending some fear and questioning into everyone's hearts at what they were seeing, then it let out an enormous roar.

"ROOOOAAAAAARRRRRRRRR"

"Keeeeeaahhh!!!"

"Help!!"

The Giant White Flame Demon began to move toward the ten thousand prisoners, looking at them with eyes filled with rage and killing intent...

With the size of the huge white flame demon, and the strength that it derived from dozens of demon sages, there was no doubt about his destructive ability, that thing could kill hundreds of prisoners with every hit!