

The Truth 38

Chapter 38

"Of course I don't know its value! Why do you think I'm here?" Robin looked at her in amazement

"This pill... I feel like I'm a lot more focused and my mind is becoming sharper, if I'm not mistaken, can I stay awake for five days longer than normal?" The more Mila analyzes what happened in her body, the more excited she gets

The pill contained a pattern of a secondary law that Robin discovered a long time ago during his early time at the beast zone, the law was very useful to him during his research, so he focused his research on it for a good while and completed its first level, and this improved even more after discovering the law of truth

The idea of making this pill came to him since he first saw the spirit Revitalizing Pill and knew its price, so he said to himself, 'If the people here intend to buy this crab for tons of money, then they better give it to me to advance further in my research!'

So he decided to make a spirit Revitalizing Pill that's much stronger than the current one by fusing the Secondary Blood Impulse Law pattern with the original pill.

The results given by the pill seemed simple but any cultivator intending to break through to a higher level would have known the value of every word said by now, this was simply a miracle pill!

The higher the level of the cultivator, the greater his brain activity and energy, and thus the longer the period in which he can stay awake, but it is normal for humans to go to sleep, this is from the laws of nature and can not be escaped no matter how strong you become.

Even a girl like Mila who can stay awake for about twenty days will eventually have to fall asleep, or she will just pass out.

But this is also one of the biggest fears of every cultivator, A few times, Mila would train in seclusion for twenty days and be about to completely form the 25th level, but she would gradually lose focus by the last days and forcefully stop her practice for sleeping.

This problem can be overcome by repeating the process over a period long enough to get used to it and reduce the time it takes to breakthrough, this can take tens of years, maybe more!

but if she has this pill to help her.....

"Oh.. I think that's right, how much do you think the pill is worth?" Robin asked as he turned to continue watching the weapons and try to recollect his previous thoughts

Baa Mila moved her hand and hit him on the side of his head.

"What the hell are you doing?!" Robin shouted

"Stop acting like you made some candy! This is a revolution in the cultivation world, it actually can get me to the 25th level!! would you please stay focused with me for a second!?"

"Tch.. just ask what you want..." Robin began gently rubbing the area where he was hit.

"Tell me more about the pills, is there something I forgot to identify? What's the secret behind these numbers on the pills?" Mila eagerly waited for Robin's reply

"you actually got it all, the only problem is that the effect will be better at the weaker levels than the following... I mean, if you were at level 23, for example, you would have had about half an extra day of awakesness and focus.

oh, there is another tip, after the end of the effect of the pill you can take another one, But it will give you one extra day at most, You will have to sleep after that.

after sleeping, the pills would be long gone from your body system and when you awake you can use the pills again normally, the first one will give you 5 days without a problem.

As for the numbers, they are to determine the level of the effect, those that have the number one on them are for those below the 11th level, the number two pills are for the knights below the 21st level, and of course, the number 3 pills as the one you swallowed are for the saints."

"Are there consequences if a person of the tenth level had a third level pill, for example?" I asked Mila eagerly

"No, it will give him a few days of awakesness, but it would be a waste to use on them.. A level three is a very tiring piece of art! and I don't intend to sell them cheaply."

"I'll buy them from you! All of them!! Just set the price and It's yours" Mila said hurriedly

"Don't forget the condition you agreed to before you swallowed the pill.." Robin pointed toward the auction stage

"Is there even a reason? I'll buy them from you, and I'll pay for the pill I swallowed as well!" Mila was really worried about losing any of the pills in her hand

"I want to know their actual price by putting them up for auction, this is not the last batch I'm going to make, this is the best opportunity to announce my creation to find potential buyers for the later batches." Robin shrugged, refusing her argument.

"That.. how about you auction one of each level, but the remaining five will be mine? I will pay you the final price that the auction will settle on for each level."

"Hmm, I think that's fair too, you were a good girl and deserved special treatment," Robin said as he reached out and pinch her cheeks, as he was preparing to receive a slap on his hand or an angry shout, he was surprised that his hand reached her cheek and actually pinched it, the reaction he got was just a "Hmph" then she turned to look through the window again

'looks like this girl is finally starting to treat me like an equal' he chuckled thinking about this

The auction of the various weapons continued for about an additional hour before Lina announced its end, "Thank you all for your enthusiasm today, everything sold for a reasonable price, Lina is happy with you all! Haha, now let's move on to the auction of rare beast carcasses."

"Wait!" A female shout came from one of the private rooms, causing everyone to look at who was going to disrupt their auction.

"Oh, lady Milla Bradley... how may I help you?" Lena identified the room and smiled sweetly

"I have something I want to put up for auction now, I think some of the attendees will like it. I'm assured the guests wouldn't mind that right?" Milla stood and moved closer to the big window in her room

"Haha, lady Milla, this is a very simple request, of course, we won't mind."

"I'd like to see what lady Milla wants to bring out."

The guests voiced their agreement one after another until Lina finally replied, "Although the auction items must be delivered before we start, we can make an exception for you this time, what do you want to sell?"

"This." Milla took out three beads between her beautiful fingers

"Hm? Pills?" Lina narrowed her eyes, pills, in general, had no place in the auction, the pill industry in the world has not yet reached the point where it affects the powerhouses, therefore all of it is relatively cheap.

"What are the characteristics of these pills?" One of the major merchants asked, he too was a saint who owned a large shop for pills and was surprised by the appearance of some of them in the auction.

"I hope you all listen to my explanation because I will only say it once, I frankly want to keep them for myself but I am selling them for the benefit of their maker."

the words were very rude, Mila really didn't want to sell even one. but her words did not reach the desired effect, but rather made the guests eager to hear more

Then she continued, "These are spirit Revitalizing Pills, but modified ones, the one with the number one on it can give someone below level 11 five more days - give or take - of focus and awakesness, but the-.. " before Mila could finish her sentence, she was interrupted by the crowd.

"WHAT?!"

"Oh my, if it was with my son, he would have survived those bastards' pursuit instead of having been caught after 7 days of chasing due to extreme exhaustion..."

"Is what you're saying is true?!"

"that's.... THAT'S AWESOME!!"
