

The Truth 381

Chapter 381 The Wind Of Change

"What was that?" Victoria turned slowly when she heard Elisabeth's voice, her features, and tone of great shock

And when she found Elizabeth extending her hand towards Robin waiting to receive something from him, she quickly confirmed what she suspected and cried out loudly, "Elizabeth, are you mad? Do you want to be his slave?!"

Elizabeth picked up the metal tablet Robin had thrown at her, looked deeply at it for a few moments without a sound, then responded with a weak voice, "His Excellency said that he would retain us as the rulers of our continents and that he would buy our resources if he wanted something from them. He technically offered us great benefits in return for achieving eternal peace on the planet. Wouldn't that be good for us, too? To move freely on all continents and not worry about wars... That's good enough for me."

"His... Excellency..?! Nonsense, you are trying to convince yourself with that bullshit because you think he will win the war if it breaks out! Think, Elizabeth, if we help each other out there's a good chance we will win!" Victoria took a few steps towards Elizabeth and shouted

"...And there is a greater chance that we will not be victorious and our families will be annihilated. You have seen the army of Demons in action, you have seen how terrifying they can be! Even if we win somehow now, we will lose huge numbers of our family members and our lands will be burned... I do not want my lands to get burned..." Elizabeth spoke slowly and then inserted her spiritual sense into the metal tablet, "...I swear to be completely loyal to His Excellency Robin Burton and not to harm his interests and----"

"Elizabeth..." Wind Emperor Alexander raised his hand as if he wanted to say something, but no sound came out of his mouth, he turned to look at the ground again.

"YOU BITCH!! We three promised to stand on one front and defend each other, and you just sold us out the first chance you get? TRAITOR!!" Water Empress Victoria pointed her forefinger at Elizabeth and yelled in a voice tinged with panic.

she knew what Elizabeth's submission now meant.

" ---And if I violate any of these terms, I deserve to die. Hooh~ I feel something in my soul... something like a lock, this tablet is really not normal and these are not just words, I feel like I might actually die if I violate anything, no wonder the Flame Sages took it seriously." Elizabeth flipped the board left and right in astonishment, completely ignoring Victoria

"YOU..!!" Victoria felt extremely offended by this disregard and some ice began to gather around her palm, killing intent clearly starting to seep out.

Suddenly there was a shadow between Victoria and Elizabeth, that person looked deep into Victoria's eyes with a look that seemed normal but had a lot of power and menace behind it, and spoke, "Put your hand down... NOW."

It was Old Gu... no one knew when he moved and when he stood in front of Victoria, everything happened so fast!

Even Elizabeth looked at Victoria with a slight smile but a defiant eye.

Victoria moved her eyes between Old Gu and Elizabeth angrily, but also with some visible fear... That's what she was most afraid of, that's why she tried to get them out of there many times since the meeting started

The balance of power has been broken.

When they arrived at the Ancestral Continent they were The Four Unrivaled Emperors, what could possibly go wrong?

Even if a battle broke out at the top of the hill and war was declared she fully believed that the four of them could wreak havoc in Robin's army or even kill Robin himself before escaping safely, even if all the other 1200 top level sages got killed, it would be worth it!

That would actually be the best possible outcome and she did try to instigate this scenario a few times now, she wasn't just throwing Tantrums, she meant and planned for everything she did!

But she missed up on one thing... She Didn't Know What her enemy had in his arsenal, nor how her allies were thinking.

She didn't accept that old Gu would swear allegiance from the very start, but she thought he was afraid for his people in the Flame Continent and didn't think about it too much, they were still three Emperors against Robin and a broken Flame Empire, there is still a chance!

But now it went down to two against two.

Forget about Robin Burton and his Crimson Demons, the Sacred Tree Empire and the Flame Empire have become real allies, working under the orders of the same person, even without Robin's interference, there is still the danger of the Sacred Tree and Flame Empires!!

Finally, The silence at this moment was broken by Elizabeth, "Treason? You speak as if we have been allies since time immemorial, my dear, only three years ago my intelligence department told me of a network of spies on my land from the Water Empire whose main mission is to destabilize my lands and make the citizens hate me .. How can I betray those who never considered me as an ally?"

"...I can explain," Victoria muttered in a low voice as she lowered her hand, trying to think of an excuse.

There was no reason to deny something like this could be easily proven, she just didn't know that the network of spies there had been exposed!

"No need to explain, I have a network of spies in your land and in the land of the Wind and the Flame as well, why do you think North Torrent's rebellion happened ten years ago? Hehe." Elizabeth raised her seductive shoulders and giggled

Victoria did not know what to say, it is clear that he did not ask her to say a word either, Elizabeth's words were clear...

They were not allies in the first place, if one of the four empires weakened, the rest would have attacked it, and this is an indisputable fact, and the apparent peace of all is only a state of temporary dormancy because all empires are almost equal to each other in strength.

Even the central continent, the real reason for its existence, which only a few at the top know is that their children get used to the techniques of the rest of the empires in the event of a war.

It is a miniature war arena and not a place for getting to know each other as they say!

"Haha good, come sit down, you are one of us now." Robin clapped and laughed loudly, then pointed to Elizabeth towards one of the chairs near him

"Thank you, Your Excellency." Elizabeth nodded with a smile and sat where Robin pointed

"Here are a few simple welcome gifts for you and your people, and more to come," Robin spoke, and with a wave of his hand a few items appeared in front of Elizabeth: a few metal plates, a scepter-type divine weapon, a space ring, a sound ring.

"These things are..?" Elizabeth muttered, still captivated by the scepter's beauty and unique aura, evidently far more powerful than her current weapon.

"The Perfect Major Heavenly Law of Plant Technique, the Perfect Major Heavenly Law of Life, a few Minor Heavenly Law Techniques that are related to the planet path, and other small auxiliary techniques such as Thoughts Conveying Technique, Soul Strengthening, and Soul replenishing Technique, and so on... My adopted daughter Zara will teach you and introduce you to everything you need to know, don't worry." Robin spoke with a big smile, today was really very satisfying, even if the other two leave he will be happy

"Ah! Thank you!!" Elizabeth opened her eyes wide and gave a small shriek of happiness, her beautiful figure and voice made everyone smile slightly, even the goblins.

CRAAKK

The sound of breaking one of the Water Empress Victoria's fingers echoed over the entire hill, she herself didn't know whether she had broken it because of her own disregard or because of the welcome gifts that Robin had given Elizabeth so simply, then she spoke in a voice filled with anger, "Alexander, let's go."

But she was met with silence for a few moments, before she heard that same damnable phrase again, "...heh, forget it~ give me one of those Tablets too."

Chapter 382 No Thanks~

"I swear to be completely loyal to His Excellency Robin Burton and not to harm his interests and----" Wind Emperor Alexander's voice reverberated up the hill like thunder in everyone's ears, especially the Sages of The Wind Empire that were scattered around the hill, they weren't quite sure what they felt...

Just now, they had heard the Sacred Tree Empress Elizabeth take such a humiliating oath and began to treat the Sages of the Sacred Tree Empire as enemies and traitors, they were looking at them up and down like trash!

Now, in the blink of an eye, they are on their side again, but in the other camp!

The atmosphere shifted several times from hostile to succumbing to shock, but not a single Sage of Wind Empire could lie and say that they didn't feel much more at ease hearing their Emperor's oath.

A while ago, after the betrayal of the Sacred Tree Empress, the Sages of the Wind and Water Empires were thinking of all possible scenarios of war or even escaping this hill

Some even began to question whether their empires could survive after this betrayal at all

And now, in the blink of an eye, only the Water Empire was left standing alone!

The Elders of the Water Empire looked around like crazy... A few minutes ago there was some kind of balance between them and Robin's forces, but now they were surrounded by enemies from every direction!

The Elders of the Sacred Tree and Wind Empires only raised their shoulders and extended their lower lips, some of them whistling as they looked towards the horizon...

But the most shocked was none other than Victoria Frost, the Water Empress herself, mainly because she is the most aware that Alexander's self-esteem and pride are no less than hers.

Nevertheless, she stood silent with her mouth open, looking at the person who is known to be more arrogant than her, as he swore allegiance to a person who did not reach half his age or strength...

"---And that I deserve to die if I break any of these clauses." Alexander finished reciting the oath while he was sweating.

Every word spoken now felt heavier than all the mountains in the world.

Every letter he uttered came out with difficulty that exceeded every moment he spent cultivating in his entire life... Nevertheless, he completed it to the end.

Then he raised his head again and spoke to Robin with his usual proud countenance, "Is that good enough?"

"Good!" Robin banged on the table excitedly, grinning from ear to ear with the Wind Empire joining the equation.

"Welcome to this side hehe~" Elizabeth laughed lightly as she rested her chin on her hand

"...Yes." Alexander nodded, but he didn't know why, his head was still preoccupied with thinking about the heavy, humiliating words he had said..

He is the absolute genius of the Wind Continent, someone who had reached the pinnacle of his strength before he completed his fourth century and was chosen among the hundreds of sons of the previous emperor to learn The Divine Decree Incarnation Technique

Although he had never experienced it before, he had complete confidence that he could win a fight to the death against all the other Emperors... Even among all the Wind Emperors in history, his star would still shine!

But today...

"Hold on, here is a small welcome gift." Robin waved his arm, and several objects appeared in front of Alexander

"This..." Alexander's eyes finally regained some light, but he ignored all the metal plates that appeared in front of him and the two strangely shaped rings and focused his eyes on a gray bow.

Robin smiled when he saw this, and said, "This is a divine bow that has been made with materials closely related to the space heavenly law, although the amount of those materials in the bow is almost negligible, it still gives properties of the space path to any arrow launched."

"Properties... space path?" Alexander extended his hand and felt the bow slowly as if stroking his beloved

"The metal tablet directly in front of you contains one of the Minor Laws of Space Path up to the third stage, by learning it sideways you can increase the speed of the arrows and you can even make them disappear... That one contains the Perfect Technique for the Wind's Major Heavenly Law up to the third stage, and that there contains The Minor Heavenly Law of Condensation, which will make wind blades more lethal and easier to forge, and this one is---," After about two more minutes Robin finished introducing everything in front of Alexander, and added, " I will assign my adopted son Peon to teach you how to use these techniques, he is well versed in wind law too, I guess you can help each other haha."

Alexander was left shocked.

From the very first tablet Robin introduced him to, he had almost forgotten his newfound passion for the Gray Bow... A technique for a Minor Heavenly Law from the Space Path!!!

Even if it was just a minor law, this was still The space heavenly path... an entity far superior to the Wind Heavenly path!

Even the Sages of the Wind Empire below started to glance at each other with each new technique that Robin introduced.. This amount of treasures and techniques had not been produced by their whole empire for thousands of years, and they had received them all after saying a few words!!

"Victoria, what are you waiting for? Control your emotions, being stubborn will not do you any good or your empire." Elizabeth spoke suddenly and slowly shook her head while looking at Victoria...

But Victoria remained silent.

She barely closed her mouth a little after realizing that Alexander had also sworn allegiance to the enemies and left her alone, even til now her shock had not faded yet.

...Her mind was working at full capacity that it started to heat up, Her only two allies already left her but she still doesn't know whether to surrender like them or fight, bow her head or leave!!

So she just remained standing in her place without saying a word...

Only with Elizabeth's words did she regain some of her consciousness, so she looked towards Elizabeth with anger, then looked away to express her discontent with the traitor Elizabeth, but in that direction in which she looked, she found an old sage from the Water Empire looking at her with a look that was all begging...

Not only him, but wherever she looked, she found the sages of the Water Empire with looks that suggested that they were about to cry as if they were begging her to do something to get them out of this mess!!

She could even see some... rebellion, in their eyes?!

She was not born yesterday, the features of those sages were clear, they were telling her to follow the example of Alexander and Elizabeth and declare her loyalty to Robin, and some of them even began to think of attacking her where she stands and declaring that she did not represent them!

CRAACCKKK

Victoria was not stupid, she knew very well what it meant to be abandoned by Elizabeth and Alexander, she knew that death would inevitably await her if she left this place without saying the oath

She tried everything she could to start a battle on the hill so that Robin would be killed and everything would end right there then, she was willing to risk her life to fight for her cause, but no one else wanted to risk his life with her.

She bet big and she lost, and now she has to pay the price for being the last to take the oath on that useless metal tablet.

Surely Robin would take her under his wing as he did with Elizabeth and Alexander, he spat those punch of lies to get her to join him in the first place, he just won't give her as many benefits as he gave Elizabeth and Alexander!

Nevertheless. he won, She wasn't doing this from the start to gain some benefits anyway, now she can just step back and do as her peers did, at least she can brag about being the last one standing.

"...Pass me... That tablet." Victoria gritted her teeth and held back her tears while saying these words. She felt that part of her dignity was broken with every word!

"No thanks, you may leave." Robin waved calmly

Chapter 383 New Terms

"What... Did you just say?!" Victoria opened her eyes wide and looked at Robin in absolute shock

She gathered every ounce of strength and self-control, and she somehow managed to hold back her tears and trampled on her dignity until she ask for the metal tablet.

This should have been enough for This Robin kid to jump with joy!

She herself did not know if she could say the humiliating words of the oath after the tablet reached her, but Robin refused to give her the tablet in the first place?!

"I said I don't want you, I don't want your loyalty, take the Sages of your empire and leave my property right now, and if I were you I would start preparing your defenses," Robin confirmed his words and waved his hand again

"....." Victoria's eyes began to widen until her eyelids almost disappeared, She felt her mind collapsing.

The option of swearing allegiance to Robin was always on the table, but it was left as the last possible option if all else failed, but even that option was taken away from her?!

Victoria looked at the backs of the two people sitting in front of her, Alexander and Elizabeth, with a look that varied from disgust to envy... She now understood why they had shown so much respect to Robin from the very start.

Alexander and Elizabeth also left declaring loyalty as the last option as well, but their approach was completely different.

They understood that Robin did not need any of them, that there was no need to play the hard-to-get role.

They understood that if their unity did not frighten Robin, their disrespect towards him would not scare him either.

"Your Excellency, please reconsider."

"Your Excellency, niece Victoria is sometimes impulsive and doesn't know what she is saying."

"Yes, yes, Your Excellency, please let us take the oath, we will be your best helpers!"

More than 300 shadows began to flock from all around the hill, with panic and intense fear on their faces.

If Robin said that he did not want Victoria, in particular, to swear allegiance to him was one thing, but his words about preparing the defenses were something else entirely.

He was talking openly about the invasion of the Water Continent!!

Now speaking of invasion was no longer just a threat, even apart from Robin himself and the mighty Demon army, the Sacred Tree, The Wind, and The Flame Empires could easily finish the job for him!!

"Forget it, she tried to kill my son." Robin waved and looked away

"Your Excellency, please don't--" One of the Level 40 Sages of the Water Empire tried to get closer to Robin, but Sakar stood in front of him and blocked the way, although Sakkar's bloody aura and smell and his overpowering presence confused that sage for a moment, but he quickly continued shouting from afar, "Your Excellency, Please do not associate the Water Empire with Victoria, She is only the Empress of this generation and does not represent the ancient history of the empire!"

"Yes, Grand Master Robin, we can change to another Emperor immediately and make him take an oath!!"

"Yes sir, please choose any one of us, everyone here is from the royal family and we are all level 40, we just need to learn The Divine Decree Incarnation Technique and we will be as powerful as an Emperor!"

"Your Excellency, please give orders and we will kill her for you!"

Robin rubbed his chin slightly when he heard this, "Hmmm, this is worth some thought..."

"you... YOU ALL!!!" Victoria did not comprehend what was happening around her.

All of these were her uncles or grandfathers, some of them were even her direct older brothers, but none of them uttered a word in her favor.

None of them had spoken to her a word of advice or consultant since they climbed the hill. All their words were directed at Robin, all their words were about overthrowing or killing her...

Did they not know that she was doing all this for them? She wanted every head in the Water continent to be held up high, she wanted to sacrifice herself here and kill Robin to give her subject a better, free future!

She decided that even if she had to obey Robin, she would have to be the last, sacrificing a lot of benefits and knowing that she would never be close to Robin like the rest, why? So that the people of the Water continent may live with their heads held high and have the excuse that others sold them first!

But now... These Sages talked a lot before they arrived on the ancestral continent about what she was supposed to do and that their empress should stand firm and never kneel, but now they choose her as a scapegoat?!

But she paused after she shouted you and looked down at the ground below... She made up her mind and there is no benefit in regret now, If her death is the price for the empire's survival, then so be it.

"Your Excellency, Victoria has always been like this. She acts first and then thinks about what happened. Her actions and sayings today against Your Excellency and your honorable adopted son were nothing personal but rather her natural character. Please reconsider your decision and pardon her and the Water Empire." Elizabeth lowered her head slightly and spoke in her usual sweet voice

"Elizabeth..." Victoria raised her head slightly and looked at Elizabeth's back with tearful eyes, not believing that the first person to defend her would be her rival, the one she spent most of her time and energy dealing with for centuries.

Alexander also let out a long sigh and spoke, "I endorse this Your Excellency, a Sage from the Water Empire could indeed increase his strength quickly if he obtained The Divine Decree Incarnation Technique, but he wouldn't have Victoria's talent in using that technique nor would he have her youthful age, and if you want someone to cross the Sagehood barrier quickly, you need Victoria."

Victoria also looked at Alexander's back for a few seconds and then looked at the ground again..she didn't know how to feel about what was happening, but she knew she had no right to say a single word now

This is humiliating, to say the least. How did the situation turn around so quickly?!

An hour ago, the three of them were ready to fight to the end, and now two of them have submitted and are interceding for the third to submit like them?!

She planned for the Water continent to be the most prideful and look down at the Flame and Sacred Tree even in submission, to tell Robin that they will not break easily even in submission and that he should respect them the most... but the exact opposite happened!?

Thinking of this, she raised her face and looked at the person who did all this... Towards Robin.

And not only she, but every eye on the hill was gazing towards Robin to say his word that would determine the fate of the Water Continent.

tack tack tack

Robin tapped his finger on the table in front of him as he looked down at Victoria with a cold look that sent chills down her spine as if he was wondering if killing her or sparing her would be more beneficial.

Then Robin looked beside him and spoke, "Caesar, what do you think?"

Caesar kept his eye on Victoria for a few seconds as if he felt Robin was going to ask him this, then spoke softly, "I have no personal problem with her, she was defending her position and I defending ours, do whatever you want with her."

"Hmm, it's true, but she still tried to kill you. My adopted son and one of my senior generals, You know your life is more precious to me than everyone on the hill put together, I can't just ignore that, hmmm... What do I do with her... What do I do with her.." Robin nodded twice when Caesar heard, then went back to click his chair again, " Ah, found it!"

bam bam bam

The hearts of the Elders of the Water Empire were beating like war drums with every word that came out of Robin's mouth

As for the concerned himself, he looked into Victoria's eyes with a smile, "As you know, I don't need to accept you now, taking your lands and raising a new generation from scratch would be better for me than dealing with such arrogance every time, but... I will accept the declaration of allegiance from the Water Empire on one condition.

Your oath will be different from that of the rest of the empires, your ruler Victoria must add a new clause in the oath, she will have to take Caesar's opinion on anything she does start from today, if he says prepare for war, she will prepare me the biggest army, if he tells her to commit suicide, she will happily cut her throat, If he told her not take a shit, she will hold it in! ..is this acceptable, everyone?"

silence...

Absolute silence...

Everyone just looked at each other, some in astonishment, some in stupefaction, and others gloating with hatred.

Even Caesar moved his eyes between Robin and Victoria like crazy when he heard this Does he have to become the guardian of the Empress of the Water Empire?!

"Your Excellency... this... Doesn't this mean that our new emperor will be Mister Caesar?" One of the old men from the Water Empire bent his back and spoke with a feigned smile, " Don't you see that this is a bit unjust? I mean, even the Flame Empire currently has an emperor to manage its territory without consulting anyone, we know that Victoria was wrong but not to that extent, right? Can't we just change our ruler and get treated like other empires?"

"Father, I don't think this is...." Even Caesar took two steps and tried to say something to distance himself from this situation, but was interrupted by Robin's voice addressing the old man.

"Who the hell are you? Is it up to you to say to what extent is she wrong?! My problem with Flame Empire was not personal, but she tried to kill my adopted son knowing that he was close to me, while you lot stood to watch! ...I will not justify anymore, there is no room for arrogance in my new world, this is my judgment and I will not go back on it, accept it as it is, or please leave." Robin shook his head

"Ah.. ah..." That old sage from the Water Empire wanted to say something, but not a word came out of his mouth...

Even Victoria's eyes began to shine slightly with a thin film of tears as she looked at Robin's cold face. This is the first time in her life that she has faced this kind of rejection and indifference.

Either she or her Sages are well aware that they had nothing to back them in the situation!

The Empire of Wind, the Empire of the Sacred Tree, and the Empire of Flame have declared their eternal loyalty to Robin. If they left now, they would be outcasts in a world ruled by enemies. Robin is serious in his words because he really does not need them to declare their loyalty anymore!

They may enjoy peace for a day... for a year.. but their inevitable downfall, which will bring the annihilation of the ruling family of the Water Empire, will inevitably come.

CRAACKKK

That old sage from the Water Empire looked at Victoria angrily, and muttered one word in a low voice, "...Agree."

Victoria moved her bright eyes at last from Robin and towards that old sage in shock, then looked around to see the expressions on the faces of the rest of the sages, whether they agree to this or not, whether they wanted to fall into this abject humiliation or fight to the end.

But she found lowered heads and angry, spiteful features, all nodding towards her to accept as well, but it was clear that they all seemed as if they wanted to devour her alive.

Victoria was 100% sure that if Robin had told them to kill her, they wouldn't have hesitated for a moment.

Exhale..

Inhale..

"It's okay, it's just a few words that I don't really mean... just words..." Victoria calmed herself, just words said to appease Robin's vanity now and then forget them.

Without another word, she looked at Robin again and slowly raised her hand as if asking for something. Robin waved and one of the metal plates flew toward Victoria in return.

swoosh

"..Gulp~ ...I swear...to be...full loyalty...to His Excellency...Robin Burton...and not to harm...his interests and----" Victoria picked up the metal plate, passed her spiritual sense into it as her predecessors did without understanding the reason, then she began to say the hardest words she had to say in her life, "...and to take my orders... and ask for permissions from... Caesar Burton in everything I do... and if I break the oath, Then I deserve death."

ZNNNNNN

Before she could even pull her spiritual sense out of the tablet and throw it back towards Robin, Victoria suddenly felt a part of her soul being drawn into the tablet, "What the...?!"

"Hehe, Welcome on board, that was very close! you should hold yourself back and act more rationally in the future!" Elizabeth quickly stood up and went to hug Victoria, but in the meantime, she grabbed the metal tablet from Victoria's hand and threw it quickly toward Robin.

Robin smiled when he saw this, he knew that Elizabeth was trying to protect Victoria, now that she knew there was something tying her soul and that she might actually die if she broke the oath, she might destroy the board and choose to fight, so she took the tablet from her hands quickly before she took that decision

But he did not put the tablet away or hide it in his ring, as Elizabeth would have liked, but picked it up and put it before him completely exposed on the table, and then spoke, "It seems that today is going to end without spoiling a drop of blood. It's much better than I imagined. Please come and sit down."

"Come let's sit for now and leave the thinking for later. We are in a new era now, just accept it and move on." Elizabeth whispered absent-mindedly in Victoria's ear and began to pull her hand toward the chair next to her

Even with all the old differences between them, and even though Victoria almost attacked her a while ago while she was reciting the oath, they are now on the same side whether they like it or not, now they are really sisters in every sense of the word, the time for smiling in the face and stabbing in the back is over.

Victoria nodded slowly, still completely absent-minded, trying to think of how she was going to spend the rest of her life at someone else's behest, and almost took her first step without realizing it until she heard a shout, "HOLD YOUR STEPS IF YOU WANT TO LIVE!"

"What do you want, Alexander? Forget the past and let her sit with us, she is one of us now." Elizabeth put both her hands at her sides and looked with feigned anger at Wind Emperor Alexander who had just shouted, was he trying to gain favor with Robin this bad?!

"...It's Alright, I understand." Victoria patted Elizabeth on the shoulder and then looked at Caesar, "...May I sit with them?"

"Mm.. yeah you can... I guess..." Caesar scratched his head and replied awkwardly.

"Thank you." Victoria nodded and then continued with Elizabeth towards her old chair amidst the astonishment of everyone, even Elizabeth herself... The oath includes even asking for such a silly thing?!

Robin chuckled when he saw this and took out a few plates from his Void Ring as well. They fell in front of Victoria, "Even though I was planning to leave the Water Empire without any benefits, I quickly found how silly this is. now that you are my loyal subordinates, your remaining weak is my weakness too, so take these... This is The perfect technique for the Major Heavenly law of Water, now you have it up to the third stage, the foundation modification technique, and the Minor Condensation Heavenly Law technique that will enable you to transform water into its three states without much effort, I believe before you were using up most of your energy to convert water vapor into ice, right? well, that's over now... and this is a technique for---"

...Truth be told, even Victoria herself didn't think she would receive anything from Robin, she just opened her eyes wide as techniques were thrown in front of her one after another, even the rest of the Sages from Water Empire couldn't believe what was happening, especially when Robin mentioned the Minor Condensation Heavenly Law. This law alone, if used sideways, will multiply the strength of their army many times over!!

Robin laughed out loud seeing these reactions and declared, "Hahaha Alright Alright, you should get used to this as we are all on the same side now. Amon, Jabba, hunt us some beasts and have a proper Nihari-style feast!"

"Yes." Amon bowed and retreated, and the rest of the demon kings retreated with him, a feast of this size that needs all possible help!

"Oh, a feast from another world? That sounds fun! .. But Your Excellency, may I ask you something?" Elizabeth spoke in her usual angelic voice

"Today is a beautiful day, ask whatever you want!" Robin put his hand behind his head and replied with a smile, today really made what comes next much easier for him

" As far as I know, Your Excellency has no particular name to belong to other than the Burton family... I know the four of us have become your subordinates but we are not Emperors anymore and we are now part of the Burton Family, then what are we called now? ... What is the name of this new World?"

Chapter 385 Empire.

Tap... Tap...

It was quiet for a few seconds and everyone looked intently at Robin, who in return looked up at the sky and started tapping his finger on the table slowly, then spoke, "You are right, I think we need a name, now we are more than just the Burtons, and you are no longer independent emperors... "

"Ohh I got one! What do you think of The Six Continents united organization?" Elizabeth spoke quickly

Alexander shook his head, "This world has always had four major heavenly laws that represent the four major elements in nature, and now... His Excellency... has come and corrected them for us, so I suggest naming our union The Four Elements Empire."

"...Ahem~ If you allow this old man, today the whole world is united under one banner, why do we need a name now? There is no outside party that will need to know our name to deal with us... So I think it is better to find a name for the world first and leave the name of this union aside." Old Gu spoke in a weak voice

Alexander and Elizabeth slowly nodded when they heard Old Gu's words and seemed to agree, even Victoria, who was still sitting in her place embarrassed, seemed to agree with him as well.

Names exist to differentiate between different people and powers. If there is only one person or power, there is simply no need for him to have a name anymore. There is no other person who will call him by it or talk about it, finding a name for the world is much more appropriate now knowing that there are other worlds out there!

But they were surprised by Robin shaking his head, "This is not true. I do not plan to stop on this planet... I was just telling you about the possibility of invading our planet, remember? well, I forgot to inform you that we might also conquer other planets."

"We... are invading other planets?!" Victoria finally spoke in her shock and looked at the other three former emperors

Even conquering another continent was something that was so far-fetched and difficult, something that they had to first plan for and weaken the other continent internally for thousands of years before they even thought of seeking the next step and actually conquering that continent.

But now they are barely united and Robin is already talking of conquering other worlds?

That's other worlds completely different from theirs! Before the meeting today, they did not even know that other worlds existed!!

"Yeah, why not? Conquering other planets means getting to know different civilizations, finding more natural resources, recruiting alien races into our army, and even finding an opportunity to explore other laws and technologies. Any way you look at it, you will find it a good opportunity." Robin tilted himself towards the table slightly and spoke excitedly, "Actually, I was waiting until we finished the banquet to talk to you about it, but now is not a bad time either... I have the coordinates of a new planet near us.

All I know about that planet is that its size is similar to our planet, the history of martial arts has about two hundred thousand years, and the highest cultivation level there is still at the sage level, As you can see its condition is not much different from our planet and there is nothing much to fear... I intend to conquer it 3 years from today."

"Invading a planet in 3 years?! This..." Elizabeth's eyes narrowed slightly after hearing those words and her heart began to beat violently.

Not only she, but Old Gu, Alexander, and Victoria couldn't completely control their emotions when they heard Robin

Not only Elizabeth but Old Gu, Alexander, and Victoria couldn't completely control their emotions when they heard Robin's crazy words!

"Isn't that too close?" Alexander asked quickly, forgetting to even put on the cover of pride he used to speak with each time, "Secondly... Didn't you tell us that you wouldn't command us to do anything but defend this planet?!"

"Tsk~ Don't mention this to me again, Alexander! I did say I wouldn't because I can't of anything to find you of help with, but that doesn't mean I can't command you with anything, Nothing of the sort is mentioned in your oath and I can give you any order I want... And relax~ this is not an order anyway but an offer," Robin rested his back on the chair, "I will take the Burton family's forces to conquer that planet in three years, If any of you wants to come to benefit from this new experience and gather resources, and also strengthen relations with the rest of the forces of this newfound Entity, Then he is welcome to come, and does not want to leave this planet and want to lead a little peaceful life, I will not force him."

"I'm coming!!" Elizabeth quickly shouted

"This old man is ready right now if you ordered." Old Gu nodded, whether he managed to actually prepare for such a huge project or not he had decided that he would hand over the entire future of the empire to Robin.

"..Heh~ I and my men are also coming." The Wind Emperor announced after giving a short sigh

As for Victoria, she looked at Caesar, who in turn shrugged his shoulders and said, "Do as you will."

When Victoria turned back to look at Robin, "We are coming too."

"Haha, excellent, excellent, three years from today we will gather in Central Continent, that period will be enough to use the foundation modification technique to modify the energy foundations of most of your soldiers to use the perfect version of the law, bring all your men who are at the knighthood realm or above and bring any weapon and any resource that can be used For war or trade, it will be an epic that will be remembered in history, so do not skimp on anything." Robin clapped and announced

"Perfect! But... this brings us back to the question about the name of this entity..." Elizabeth spoke excitedly, then suddenly calmed down.

".....Sigh~" Robin let out a long snort, then looked up at the sky with a slight smile, "When I started my path, I never imagined that I would be sitting here as a world emperor one day, I only wanted to do something good for mankind that would eternalize my name in history, that's all... My only wish back then was that I didn't want to die like everyone else.

After that my eyes were opened to The Truth, I managed to take firm steps in the path that I chose for myself and decided to change people's lives for the better! ...But strange circumstances followed me since day one, Awful things that I never thought I would have to face... I faced a lot of physical and psychological torment because I wanted to change the world for the better, my dream of immortalizing my name in history turned To pursue strength, enough strength to protect my life until I achieve my dream.

But even that wasn't enough, no matter how strong I got, I always found a stronger few awaiting, everyone wanted what I created for themselves without a partner, and everyone wanted to bask in my creations without restraint... After all I had done, I was still under threat to be completely erased from this life and from People's memories.

I reached a point when I wanted to live an ordinary life, but even that I could not find... My path came to a full stop for a while with the murder of my wife, the torture of my son, and the backstabbing from those who were once close to me... But I guess this made my eyes open again to a new truth."

Old Gu lowered his head when he heard this, he knew for sure that the Flame Empire had played quite a role in what Robin said.

At that moment Robin turned his eyes away from the sky and began to look into the eyes of those sitting around him, "My experience has taught me that changing something must start from the roots, and that if I want to Build I first have to Destroy..."

I have decided. My first step towards implementing my vision will be to have my own empire, And this empire will be the true beginning of wherever I touch... The True Beginning Empire."

Chapter 386 Jura

"The True Beginning Empire? Hmmm, that is actually a better name than the one I thought of." Alexander nodded several times

"It is true, a good name and its meaning is also clear, It has my full support hehe~" Elizabeth gave a charming smile and spoke

Even Victoria nodded, "Not bad."

"The first time you choose a good name, Or I should say it's the first time you cared about such things." Billy agreed in his own way as well

"You have made a good choice, Your Excellency. You have started the true beginning on this planet all by yourself. May this meeting be the true beginning of thousands of worlds to come!" Old Gu stood up and spoke slowly, then added, "If you don't mind, this old man has a nomination regarding the name of the world we live in, after all, as long as there are other worlds, our world must have a name."

"Oh? And what is that name?" Robin smiled and asked

Old Gu stiffened his back and spoke with all the respect he could muster, "Jura... this world should be named Yura and nothing else."

"Jura... Yeah, let's name it Jura." Robin rested his back fully on the chair and muttered in a low voice, it seemed as if all the energy was suddenly sucked out of his body, even his countenance changed slightly.

Drop Drop

"A good name... a good name..." Billy spoke with difficulty trying to maintain his normal tone, but tears were slowly falling from the side of his eyes anyways.

After Robin's orders the day he revisited Nihari, Jura was surrounded by high walls and became a heavily guarded zone by the forces of the Burton family.

The entire city was sealed off and no one was allowed to enter or leave. It was doomed to turn into a forgotten cemetery, a place looked upon from afar with respect and longing.

But now that Robin's approval, it seems that Jura's name and tale are destined to live on for a very long time.

....After agreeing to the world's name, everyone spent about an hour deliberating on what would happen during the coming period and how to benefit from all the things that Robin could offer, and during that hour they knew that those metal tablets and what was in them were just the outer shell of a much deeper entity...

Especially after seeing the Energy Stones and Energy Pearls that Robin brought with him from Nihari, just the aura of one of those Energy Pearls knocked out every ounce of pride from their hearts, even Elizabeth blamed Robin that he should have shown those Pearls from the beginning and maybe the conversations would have resumed easier!

Then there is also the issue of who can benefit from what is inside those metal tablets and those mythical energy stones.

Just a few hours ago they only had their Four Major Heavenly Laws and they kept them as a monopoly of the Imperial family alone, no servant family can dream of having a glimpse of them, other than that they had The Divine Decree Incarnation Technique was the monopoly of the Ruling Emperor!

But now everything changed, Their new Emperor, Robin, already has a technique that is quite similar to The Divine Decree Incarnation Technique, and he gave them much more Cultivation Techniques to worry about, What will they do with all of that?

In the end, it was decided that they would spread the Four Major Heavenly Laws Perfect Techniques to all the people on their continents whether they were Royal Families or Servant Families

Not only that, when the subject opened, Robin brought out metal tablets of hundreds of Minor Heavenly Laws ready to be all the way to the third stage, and made it clear that they have to spread the Soul Cultivation Techniques and Energy Cultivation Techniques with them as well!

And Robin concluded his speech on this topic by saying, "Everyone should learn martial arts now. Our world should not be left in the hands of a handful of experts while the rest are like sheep waiting to be slaughtered. We are not alone in this universe, look at Nihari planet, for example, they are living their lives happily now and not realizing that they are a few steps away from an invasion that will eat everything green and dry, what if there is a planet lurking around us while we are talking now?"

...If this planet was invaded one day, every elder and every child must fight to the end, and I mean EVERYONE! Farmers must learn martial arts at night and then return to plowing their lands in the morning, what is wrong with that? It's better to be a warrior on a farm than a farmer at war."

Only higher-level techniques such as the Foundation Modification Technique, the Major Heavenly Law Technique of Life, The Energy Stones and Energy Pearls from Planet Nihari, and other extras of that level were decided to be reserved for the Special Forces of the United Imperial Army and those who reached Saint level, as well as a reward for those who did heroic deeds.

Some sages from the four empires objected to spreading the techniques of the major laws in this way and that it would cause chaos, but Robin told them that this world now all belonged to him, there was no longer any fear that someone would take the techniques and escape or leak them to an enemy, And no one can form a more powerful parallel entity than the True Beginning Empire Inside Jura Planet as long as Robin is alive and continually supplying more of his innovations to the Empire... there is simply no longer a danger of internal wars!

He even allowed the younger generation in their lands to use any Law Technique they wanted, if a young man was born in Flame Empire and wanted to use the Master Wind Law, now he can!

When Robin said this proverb, Old Gu and Alexander felt strange, but they nodded without saying a word more. What Robin said is correct. Whether or not the techniques leak is no longer a problem worth thinking about.

It was also decided to send most of the Flame Special Legion, led by one of Robin's uncles, David Burton, with Old Gu to train the Flame Continent forces on how to use the new laws and weapons and to speed up their completion of the use of the foundation modification.

With the same idea, Peon and most of the Wind Special Legion will move to the Wind Continent, and Zara will move with most of the Life Special Legion to the Sacred Tree Continent.

But the strange thing about these transfers is that Caesar had to go to the water continent!

Robin said that although Caesar knew nothing of the water law, he could teach them about everything else, and he had to go anyway, or Victoria might die unintentionally.

Caesar objected for a few moments, saying that he wanted to stay with Robin, but he was quickly rejected and surrendered to his fate.

He looked at both Victoria and his father with some anger, that woman took an oath to save her family and that is understandable, but why does this have to affect him!!

Chapter 387 The Shy Banquet

Not much time passed before Amon, Jabba, and the rest of the Demon kings finished preparing a huge banquet made up of all the unlucky beasts in the region, and a small celebration began shyly for what could be called the largest event in the history of this planet.

The celebration banquet wasn't taken too seriously though~ Even during eating, Robin and the four Emperors, who are now known as the Four Continental Rulers, did not stop talking even for a moment, figuring out the Roadmap for the incoming three years

For example, the most important thing they talked about during the banquet was sending a hundred Rune Masters and divine weapons blacksmiths to each of their continents!

Robin told them that those 100 would set up space gates in the capital of each continent to facilitate movement between the six continents in the future.

The cost of building a single portal is an enormous project that requires a lot of resources, but this was for him as someone from the Burton family of the Black Sun Kingdom, finding those resources now with the entire planet under his hand became very easy.

With the second stage of The Major Heavenly Law of Space, Robin had no problems discovering the exact coordinates of every spot on the planet he stands on, he found the Central Continent and the Flame Continent using this method in the first place, so the matter of building the Space Portal body and finding the coordinates between them was very easy to solve~

As for the cost of using portals in the same world, it wouldn't be a thing!

If he need a few million energy stones to go to another faraway planet, then a few energy stones would suffice to move around in the same world, even children and small merchants could use them freely!

When Robin presented his idea of a new system of Space Portal that would connect the world together, a state of enthusiasm and aspiration for the future filled everyone's hearts.

This will be true unity in everything! Whether it's culture, resources, experiences, and goods, it will slowly be the same anywhere you go on the planet

Just the free trading opportunities between all those continents sent chills down their spines!

Even Robin offered the rulers of the four continents to pay for those resources that would be used in the Space Portals, but they flatly refused, saying that they are the ones that would benefit from them the most.

Every minute they spent with Robin after Victoria recited the oath, they felt like a new door was opening, every technique he offered them and every word he said about the future possibilities awaiting them shocked them to the core...

Less than two hours have passed since they declared their allegiance to him by force, for fear that he would destroy their lands and kill their families, but now they are beginning to feel that this is really not too bad!

And not only the emperors, but even the sages who came with them were listening to every word Robin said, every technique he explained, and every item that showed its benefits...

Towards the end of the banquet, an old sage even took the initiative to recite an oath more severe than the one which was taken by his Emperor!

Then, one by one, all the remaining sages took the same oath of that old sage with the same satisfaction and without Robin even asking it! He was preoccupied with the major affairs with Alexander and the rest, and he forgot to ask for the oath from their followers as well, but to everyone's shock, they were the ones who moved and said it themselves...

They all accepted the new situation.

Whether they accept him as a leader or not, whether their standing is better before or now, their subordination to Robin has become a done deal, so why not take the oath in a way that wins his approval and makes him satisfied with them?

...The banquet and its additions lasted for about three hours, until the 400 Rune Masters and the Divine Weapons blacksmiths, who were requested by Robin, arrived on the backs of the Draco.

Robin then asked them to build the space portal and gave them the coordinates of each of the other continents, and he even asked them to build academies to teach Rune drawing and Divine Weapons creating on every continent and teaching as many talented youngsters as possible, which increased the joy of the Four Rulers even more!

By then all that could be said was said, all the continental rulers said their farewells and returned to their ship with their sages and the rest of the escorts that Robin had sent with them.

Everyone had looks full of optimism and aspiration for the future.. except for two...

Victoria, who is still absent-minded, trying to think of a way to get herself out of the awkward situation she has put herself in, and Caesar who was standing next to her still looking at his father as if he wants to cry, still asking himself what does he have to do with all this!

"Haha, take care of yourself!" This was Robin's only response to Caesar's angry looks as he disappeared over the horizon

After about ten minutes

"Master, what do you want us to do now?" Jabba came from behind Robin who was still looking towards the horizon and said

"...There is no danger left for us on Planet Jura, our forces have increased and there is nothing left for us to do except move forward, but... Sigh~ I guess we should all advance together without leaving anyone behind." Robin sighed and replied

"You mean..?" Jabba furrowed his eyebrows slightly

swoosh

A huge amount of what appeared to be pieces of yellow-colored animal skins appeared beside Robin, then he spoke, "Use the Draco Beasts now and place a talisman of these in every inhabited place in the Ancestral Continent, every village, and every city, any area where more than a hundred human must have on of these."

Jabba took two steps and grabbed one of the talismans, he didn't need to see it before to know that those Runes and this skin had something to do with the Minor Heavenly Law of Sound!

Then he looked again at Robin and nodded, "That would be a good idea, in a few hours everything will be arranged." Then he looked behind him and began to call Amun, Theo, and the rest of the senior officers and the king of the goblins, and distribute the new task to them.

Within a few minutes, dozens of Draco-winged beasts started flying in all directions, leaving Robin still looking at the horizon with a focused eye, but with intermittent breaths.

After another three hours...

Jabba took out his Spiritual Sense from his vocal ring and spoke, "Master, all the talismans have been distributed and all villages and cities are ready, do what you have to do."

Da-bum... Da-bum... Da-bum...

Deep Inhale

"Hoooh~" After a long exhale, Robin suddenly opened his eyes, inserted his soul sense into the talisman he was holding in his hand, and began to speak in a hearable voice, "People of the Ancestral Continent, I am Robin Burton speaking to you from Northern Green Hill to tell you that... I am not sorry for what I have done to you!"

Chapter 388 I'm A Human

"Eh? What was that voice?"

"Did you hear it too? I thought I was delirious."

"No, no, that is definitely a real voice. Does he say he's Robin Burton?... The Robin Burton we know?!"

"Yes, only that criminal can make his voice be heard while we are in the south of the continent while he is on the Northern Green hill..."

"Am I wrong or did he say he is not sorry for everything he did to us? Damn him... DAMN HIM!! I lost my family because of his personal revenge!!"

"GO TO HELL, YOU BURTON BASTARD!!"

Conversations like this suddenly broke out all over the continent after Robin's voice echoed, Some were talking among themselves and some just looked at the Sky and started shouting

Not one person kept quiet after hearing Robin's words, whether they were surprised at wondering how they heard it or his comment about his lack of regret, or even pure insults and curses

On top of the Northern Green Hill--

"This... I think you should change your tone a little bit?!" Jabba was horrified when he heard the last sentence said by Robin, all of Robin's followers on the hill or who are still flying above the Draco were stunned by his words as well, did he distribute all those talismans to provoke the Ancestral Continent residents even farther and increase the hatred against him?! If so, Hereallt

But Robin didn't seem to hear anything, as he continued while holding the talisman, "Although I can't hear you, I can imagine your reactions. You must be angry right now. You must be cursing me in the streets, but I understand... After all, I'm the man who ruined your lives, And I may have caused the death of your relatives, how can you forgive me? You must want to rip my flesh from my bones now, you must want to turn my skin into a bag to pee in! Tell me... Would you have accepted my apology, Would whatever I said now change your opinion about me? Would it have changed your desire to kill me if you had the strength to do it?"

"I will kill you, son of a Burton!"

Whatever you say today, the day of your death is inevitably coming!"

"We will not accept any apology or compensation, you are dead!!"

The state of the streets all over the continent turned from surprise and questioning to complete rage after hearing Robin's confession, even those who were still sitting in their homes came out and started cursing and shouting at Robin as well.

But the funny thing is that after every insult or death threat, everyone would look around to see if the Demons were coming.

"Again, I can't hear your voices, but let me guess... you all refused, right? You all want to kill me no matter how much I apologize and how much I try to make amends, right? Good." Robin inserted his Spiritual Sense into the talisman again and said, then paused for two seconds and continued, "This was also how I felt when I found Jura City destroyed."

"...The Burton family had some fame before this happened, I think most of you have heard of us at least once before the conquest of Jura City, I, Robin Burton, have produced many useful techniques, talismans, and other applications such as sound rings, and I facilitated the creation of high-quality armaments which have benefited you all in every way in Your daily life made things like mines digging much easier and decreased the number of worker's death in every land I controlled...

I am Robin Burton who declared war on Dolivar and seized a large piece of land by force! but still took its inhabitants from poverty to wealth and distributed Cultivation Techniques and Law Techniques among them... I am Robin Burton who spent my money to eliminate The phenomenon of hunger in all lands belonging to the Duchy of Burton... I am Robin Burton... who was seeking to change this world!

"But one day I returned from a faraway place and found the city of Jura in which I was raised, became ruins, I found my family killed, imprisoned, and chased, I knew that my wife had been killed and my son had been tortured for ten years...and who did all this? The Armies of the Eight Kingdoms! The children of my continent whom I used to work day and night to serve them!!"

"...I had my own troops and used them to take my revenge. I declared war on the Eight Kingdoms and I won. After I won, I applied the well-known punishment of killing the loser's experts, but I didn't take your weak ones as slaves as I should have and left you all free, that's all that happened... and If one of you had the strength now he would come to kill me, the Demons and the entire Burton family, Whoever has such strength would not leave even my distant relatives a chance to live, isn't that right?

...That's why I'm not sorry, I just acted with my human nature. I'm not an angel to pardon the kingdoms that destroyed my family, nor am I stupid to let their experts try to take revenge on me while I'm at a possible war against the four empires on this planet and mightier enemies abroad. I did what I had to do. Let me get this straight, even if I could go back in time I will still do it again!

Don't get me wrong, I don't want to gain your sympathy or tell you to magically love me, I just want you to understand and put yourselves in my shoes, hate me but understand my situation, at least you will be sure of the reason you hate me for."

"Master..." Jabba didn't take his eyes off Robin's back for a moment, he could feel his breathing turbulent and his heart racing at every word, he didn't know if it was anger or anxiety, but he knew one thing, everything Robin said was coming out of the depths of his heart crack

A young man sitting on top of one of the buildings clenched his fist so much that it started to make cracking sounds, but he didn't say a word

Yeah...

The gang that killed his family is dead now, how? he went and cultivated until he got stronger and then got back to his hometown and killed them all, there was no need to ask apology nor did he have mercy on one of them, he just started a random massacre until none of them left breathing... so he definitely understands what Robin is saying.

The problem is that Robin was the biggest factor in the killing of his family, as he was the one that started all this mess!

But... it was also he who saved his life when he has already started looking for someone to bury him alive...

The boy, Piers, raised both his hands and put them around his head, no longer knowing how to view the man who had saved him against his will in that little tavern.

A cold-hearted devil? or a man that did what he has to do...

Chapter 389 Do What You Have To Do.

"People of the Ancestral Continent, I, Robin Burton, Will not apologize for taking my revenge, whether you think it's too much or not, It's done! I do not regret destroying your government or killing your family members, BUT... I do regret leaving you half way without giving you an alternative, I thought that I was making you a favor by not subjecting you to slavery and letting you do whatever you want, but the chaos that came after that had damaged you more than my revenge did... It is not too late to fix that mistake of mine, Whoever."

Robin raised his head and continued his speech with a confident voice, "Starting today, Billy Burton will begin his ministry as ruler of the Ancestral Continent, He will divide the Ancestral Continent into provinces each will be ruled by one of the Burton family's sons. He will supervise the reopening of factories and the plowing of agricultural lands again.

Within one year from now, you will have your new full-time government! You will no longer be under some Orange Sun Kingdom, or the Rotten Water Kingdom, You will all be under the same rule of the True Beginning Empire. just like the people of the Flame Continent and the people of the Sacred Tree, Wind, and Water Continents! There will be no more wars, no more suffering, just eternal peace under one Empire that rules the entire world!"

Billy opened his eyes at the last of them and looked at the few saints from the Burton family around him, and asked in a low voice, "...I'm going to do all that?!"

"Everyone, listen to my words carefully, do not think that you will be inferior subjects, second-class citizens, or slaves. In every area where the law is restored, I will spread all the Cultivation techniques and Law techniques for free, up to the second stage! I will normalize the usage of talismans and divine weapons, Whoever wants one will have one! I will spread the cultivation academies, and research centers, and build you more advanced factories, I will make you all -my citizens- equal without distinction of noble or commoner, that kind of discrimination is over.

I will provide you with what your ancestors could not provide... an opportunity to choose your own future! Everyone in my world will have the same opportunities from birth, what you will become in the future will only depend on your choices...But I will also compel everyone who wants the third stage of any law to swear allegiance to me. sorry to ruin your fantasies, but I will not raise dogs to bite me in the ass at the first chance.

People of the Ancestral Continent, help the Burton family to restore the law and exterminate the bandits as soon as possible. Do not stand in the way of the development of your continent and do not stand in the way of the future of your children, leave what you feel about me aside and choose your future.

He who helps us to spread the law in the Ancestral Continent again will only help himself, and he who is blinded by hatred and wants to go against me no matter what, It's ok, I understand your hatred, but do not blame my forces for killing you. I will not go to ask for forgiveness for this and that. I have said what I have and made my judgment, no more words need to be said... Do what you have to do." At that moment, Robin withdrew his Soul Sense from the talisman in his hand and let out a long sigh

Then he stood and looked behind him at Billy, "I have made myself clear to them and cleared my conscience by these arrangements. The rest I will leave to you. I do not know what their reaction is now or to what extent my words have affected them, they might be raging even more now, who knows~ Just be careful in your dealings with them... Move the Demon army as you wish, but you must restore Order on the continent, and physical and food security must be restored as soon as possible. Use Theo and the Dark Legion as well. They will be your strongest weapon at this stage... But remember that you must surrender the entire Demon army to me three years from now, after which you must rely on The troops from the Burton family or the police you hire from the Ancestral Continent, Are we clear?"

"Y-- Yes! This is the best order you have given me since I knew you haha!!" Billy shouted with a burst of loud laughter, Regret was eating his heart for the state of the continent had reached, holding the reins of affairs in it and trying his best to restore it to be better than before might ease his conscience somewhat.

He would also finally be able to get rid of those Demons that were colonizing the continent like locusts!!

They are a really good weapon in Robin's hands and loyal followers and all, but they are not the kind of people you can live with on friendly terms!

Those damned Demons make excuses to hunt down civilians and eat them, so getting rid of them in three years would be like killing two birds with one stone!!

"Theo, no empire uses darkness or anything close to it. You are still one of a kind, my little friend, and I will keep you that way... The law of Darkness will remain at your sole disposal. After you have finished helping Billy, I want you to open an academy to teach Darkness to whoever wants to, but they should be loyal to me first and to you second, and none to third, understood?"

"Yes, Theo will make you an army of Darkness." Theo bent slightly and spoke, his tongue no longer as slurred as before

Robin smiled and then looked at Jabba, "We have about 3,500 Rune Masters and Divine Weapon Blacksmiths left From those who came with us from Nihari to build the ships, right?"

"Yes, there are also quite a few of those who were held captives at the Flame Empire." Jabba nodded with furrowed eyebrows, trying to anticipate what would be asked of him

Robin nodded, "Good. I want two huge Space Portals. Choose a good, comfortable and spacious spot to set up the first Portal and pave broad avenues to and from it, and divide wide yards and storehouses around it so as to receive the incoming armies and future merchants... As for the second gate, it must be out of sight, but it must be in a wide place as well, I believe the inner region of any major forest in the Central Continent would do the trick."

"This..." Jabba's frown increased, the first portal's use and reason are clear, but that second one...

"After they finish, they should build this pyramid." Robin took out a metal plate from his ring and handed it to Jabba, "This is a blueprint of how it will be built and the Runes that will be on it. It is an edifice that is several times larger than the pyramid in the city of Jura. Whoever among the people of the ancestral continent wants to reach Sagehood will have to swear an oath on that pyramid. It would be better to build it in the imperial city."

"Which imperial city?!" Jabba was surprised and asked

"What? I wouldn't be an Emperor without an imperial city, right? Haha." Robin approached Jabba and patted him on the elbow, then took out another sheet of metal, "This blueprint contains Runes for defensive arrays that fit an entire city, choose a good spot in the Central Continent and then have the Rune Masters lay the foundations, then hire a few thousand masons to finish the rest, This should be done as soon as possible, too."

"It seems to me that you hate your Rune Masters and Divine Weapon smiths a lot..." Jabba chuckled and gently shook his head, that was really too much for them.

"Haha, just tell them That I will reward them properly later." Robin laughed and walked beside Jabba

" Where are you going?" Jabba looked behind him at Robin's back, which was shrinking with every step he took, and shouted

With a slight smile, Robin replied, "I'll go for a walk until you are done!"

Chapter 390 The Great Green Hill Declaration

After two days of sailing, Caesar sent a request to Jabba to send him a number of Draco Beasts, so that he could reach the Water Continent faster, Because he wanted to speed up the implementation of his father's orders - according to him -

Jabba knew that Caesar wanted to escape from the narrow space of the ship and the suffocating atmosphere that was imposed on him, but he had no choice but to listen to this simple request of Robin's Adopted son and send The Dracos in his direction

'If they can reach their destination faster, why not the rest?' Jabba liked the idea and sent some Dracos towards Elizabeth, Alexander and Gu as well.

The decision to ride these Beasts was not easy for any of the previous emperors and their collaborators, but eventually they decided to do it and accept Jabba's gift... In the end, saving a few months before preparing to invade the next planet will be in their favor

That is why the four emperors and their closest aides were able to reach their continents during the same week of the declaration, Caesar's selfish request turned into a great help for everyone ..

The weak after the Great Green Hill Declaration...

This is what the event was known for, The Event that changed everything on Planet Jura.

More than a billion humans living on the surface of the planet did not know what was happening on top of that small hill near that unknown shore in the forgotten Ancestral Continent, they did not know the threats, enticements, hardships, and psychological pressure that all parties went through to reach this final picture.

But when the details of the most controversial Declaration in history were published and everyone knew that it was a done deal, reactions varied greatly...

In the continents of wind, water, and the sacred tree...:

When Victoria, Alexander, and Elizabeth returned to their continents and announced the new world order, it led to massive anger in their continents, and thus great turmoil and immense protests occurred that were unprecedented during the past few thousand years.

The existence of Robin and his Demon army was known before the Great Green Hill Declaration thanks to the youngsters who returned from the Central Continent and spoke of what happened there.

Everyone knew that there was a guy named Robin who had a large army of crimson things and wanted revenge on the Flame Empire for some reason.

But they were also furious and demanded the saints and sages close to them pressure their emperor to hunt down and kill that Robin guy and destroy his army, for how could someone like him be allowed to touch their children and keep them imprisoned for months? How could someone like him tell them not to return to Central Continent again? Who does he think he is?!

And suddenly the guy they used to insult him day and night, despise him and urge the powerhouses to hunt him down, has become their new emperor? Just like that?!

Their leaders told them that this Robin subdued the entire planet and that it was not only their empire that surrendered, but who would believe that?

How can a person subjugate the entire planet without a fierce world war? There wasn't even a bar fight!!

And how can they be sure of this in the first place, when traveling to the central continent has been prohibited for months? It is clear that they lie to try to contain their anger!!

Weren't they always telling that they are the chosen elite and the bloodline of emperors? And that those who live in the Ancestral Continent are all rabble that is useless in everything other than farming the lands and catching fish? Now it has been announced that they have become affiliated with someone from the Ancestral Continent?!

Unacceptable!!

The protests that struck the three empires were aimed at empowering the opposition parties to seize power from the current emperor and nullify that humiliating decision.

Of course, in a ruling family, there are always a few opposing individuals who want to seize power.

This will be their chance, as all the people are with them, they were begging them to take over!!

But they were surprised that all the High-level Sages agreed with the Great Green Hill Declaration and all the level 40 Sages who head the various opposing parties, the ones that WILL become emperors immediately if they listened to the people, all strongly supported The Great Green Hill Declaration as if their lives depended on it!!

Well, their lives literally depended on it, not everyone knew that yet though...

When the people finally found that there was no hope of changing the situation, the protests subsided, and they no longer had anything to help them... They just lowered their heads crying in the streets from the severity of the insult they felt.

They were occupied without a drop of blood being spilled. Their cowardly so-called Emperors surrendered without trying to stand up for themselves!

How will they live their lives after this point? How will they ever raise their heads again?!

...In The Flame Continent

When Old Gu returned with the Flame Legion and announced the details of The Great Green Hill Declaration and the establishment of the True Beginning Empire, he was welcomed like a hero, and celebrations took place everywhere in the streets of the Flame Continent!

Among the clauses in The Great Green Hill Declaration was that everyone who remained alive was pardoned from the death penalty and that there would be no reason for the war to continue after today

And on the same day Old Gu and those with him returned, the Demons received orders to withdraw immediately towards the Central Continent... That was the happiest news they heard in their lives, that's all that matters now.

But after the overwhelming joy that hit them out of nowhere like a hammer, everyone returned to reality, they went back to look around them, and they saw a scorched and occupied land that they no longer had authority over... The nightmare ended, but at what cost?

The children of the Flame Continent wiped the tears from their eyes, they themselves did not know whether they were tears of joy or helplessness, and without a word, they started removing the rubble and rebuilding their homes with hunched backs and lifeless eyes...

....The Ancestral Continent

Although most of the people of the ancestral continent live in kingdoms other than the Black Sun and are considered to be under the occupation of Robin as well, the feeling that they are under occupation and that this is very humiliating and these thoughts did not disturb them even for a moment, simply what they saw during the past year and a half made them forget what the word homeland or belonging means.

Currently, their homeland is the rubble under which they live and their belonging is to the members of their families who are still alive, that's if they exist.

Their hatred for Robin was not an iota less than the people of the rest of the continents, for most of them Robin is the reason that will keep them alive, they feed on the idea that someday they will watch him die!

Robin knew this very well, yet his speech that resonated throughout the Ancestral Continent did not consider anyone's feelings, did not inspire anyone and certainly did not make them hate him any less.

But it was more than enough to deliver the message Robin wants.. hate me all you want but RESPECT ME

This, combined with the fact that they were all certain that the only person who could restore safety to the continent was Robin, made it possible for them to accept Billy and the Burtons who already started taking over the streets.

It wasn't all easy for Billy though, there was still a lot of hostility and resistance, but they did not represent 10% of the population of the continent who wanted to regain a sense of security even for one minute before death, and this resistance did not make a big difference.

Billy and the Demons killed or imprisoned anyone who resisted the implementation of the new system and continued with the plan to tighten security and restore the government on the continent.

... The week after The Great Green Hill Declaration the whole planet ignited in different ways

But the week that followed was nothing short of amazement and shock.
