

The Truth 685

Chapter 685 Life Fire

"AHHH! AAAHHHHH!! Arghghhhh!!!!" Salidar's screams almost tore his lungs apart. This was the first time he knew that the limits of pain could be pushed to this level.

In fact, he no longer knows what he is screaming about.

Is it the five metal bars that tear him apart from the inside? Or perhaps on his severed stomach and his entrails touching the ground? Or perhaps he was paying attention to the metal bars that were squeezing his neck until his eyes began to bleed?!

If he wasn't a mid-level Martial Emperor, he would have died a thousand times by now, and this was actually the most painful thing to him!

What is happening here? Isn't there a three-level Martial Emperor Realm difference between them? How is it possible that he has not touched the human boy since the beginning of the battle until now? Why is there such a huge difference between them?!

Rather, why does he feel that he is fighting the city itself, and not the human boy?!

"What satanic law... is this!! AARGHHH!!!" Salidar's mind almost stopped working

In addition to his enormous physical strength, he bears several attacking divine tattoos, one of which forms a powerful lightning bolt, and the other spreads poison in the place, etc., etc.~ But like all giants, he did not use them from the beginning and preferred pure physical strength to solve his problems, but his physical strength was of no use to him today, and he did not find Even the opportunity to activate any of his attacking divine tattoos

If the situation continues...

"..." Richard moved forward at a slow pace with an expression filled with cold anger, ignoring the sounds of fire explosions, the wind whistles, and the screams beside him

He just looked at Salidar coldly throughout his walk, as if he was thinking whether what was happening to him now was enough, or if he should think about something else for him.

During his slow walk, he was attacked a few times, but the city was alert enough to defend him. He did not even blink an eyelid as he walked into the most dangerous zone on the planet Nihari at the moment.

Finally, he reached inside the ruined palace and tilted his head to the side slightly, watching Salidar screaming as if he wanted to carve this scene in his memory, but...

This is not enough!

"...You know, when my mother taught me this green flame technique when I was young and she told me that my absent father had left this technique to us alone, I was very happy, but I soon became sad when I learned that my green flame does not hurt and that it is only intended for medical purposes and prolonging life. I know it's a noble thing and all that nonsense, but it's not great to have a flame and no one is afraid of it, do you understand me? The kids on the outskirts of Jura City used to bully me sometimes because they knew I couldn't hurt a fly, telling me that my father favored Caesar over me by giving him the Majestic Death Fire technique!" Richard put his hand under his chin and gave a pure smile

"AHH! ARGHHH!!"

"But with time and a lot of practice, I began to realize the extent of the possibilities in this technique, I was amazed... I don't like to admit this, but that man is truly a genius." Richard nodded a few times, "A while ago, you were wondering what satanic law led you to this suffering? Let me introduce you to it, it is the Life Fire! I know, I know, perhaps you have never heard of it, but I don't blame you, it does not exist in nature." Then Richard waved a few times with an awkward laugh

"ARGHHH.. AAHHHH... AAHHGHH " The metal bar that entered Salidar's right wrist reached his heart and started to coil around it

"The Life Fire is truly a wonderful innovation. Let me give you a quick definition of its capabilities... The Major Heavenly Law of Life can convert natural energy into new life energy and pump it into inanimate objects, It is also the only law that can recharge the Life Vien with NEW life energy, but the rate of converting natural energy into the dense and mysterious life energy is very slow. My sister Zara, for example, could control one flame monster at a time by continuously converting natural energy into life energy, this isn't practical at all!" Richard shook his head, "On the other hand, there is the Major Heavenly Law of Fire, which theoretically can burn anything in existence if it is cultivated to the point of perfection, but it is also a source of destruction and does not have many uses other than burning and torture, and it is the most widespread Law among the cultivators on all planets..."

"AHH, AKHAAAAA!!!!!!" Salidar's eyes had turned into a bloody mess by now due to the pressure on his neck, and holes began to appear in them spitting blood.

"Yeah yeah, that's right, you seem to understand! The Major Heavenly Law of Life is not the best when it comes to fighting, and the Major Heavenly Law of Fire is very ordinary, so what did that man do? He fuckin' merged them! Haha, he created the Life Fire, the only thing that can burn the conscious life energy, move it, and move it from one place to another! How genius is this, huh?" Richard laughed out loud, "With the Life Fire I cannot create new life energy, but I can tame the life energy within anything my fire touches and take that energy for myself or inject it into anything I want. This technique literally gives me an inexhaustible amount of life energy as long as there are people worthy of death!! And honestly, you guys were the best help in this, hehe."

"ARGHHHHH... YOU SICK BASTARD!! AAHHH!" Salidar regained some consciousness and shouted at Richard.

Richard continued as if he had not heard anything, "Can you imagine the life energy of 50 million giants? And all this energy is now at my disposal. I can move it whenever I want and however I want, and now this enormous energy has been pumped into the city and its surroundings to revive this entire area. Basically, your relatives are the ones suffocating you now, haha."

"Arrrghgggghhhh!" The metal bar around Salidar's neck succeeded in bursting a few more blood vessels.

Then Richard began to rub his chin with his eyebrows furrowed, "The only problem with this fighting style is that any inanimate object I pour life energy into will also need my soul to move. As you know, all creatures need a living body and a soul, otherwise the body is useless. Can you imagine the pressure on my soul when I'm supporting the entire city? This is exhausting, my friend. Let me tell you that.. but I have to admit, doing this daily during the kidnapping operations and increasing the extent of control step by step was enough to train my soul on this type of control and strengthen it. I do not think there is anyone someone else who can compete with me in terms of soul force right now! ...Well, My old man might, I can't read him at all anymore." Then he shook his head

"..." Even Peon couldn't help but send a look toward Richard in the middle of his battle. This is the first time he has seen Richard speak this much. What is he doing there?!

"Hmm, I have forgotten why I started speaking about the life fire, What did I want? ...Aha! I said that I was sad when I was young because my flame does not hurt." Richard clapped happily, "I know this is ridiculous for someone who controls an entire city now, but I really wanted to use the life fire itself to do something awesome sometimes, do you understand me? So I asked myself, since I add my soul force while controlling inanimate objects, why not add it as well and Make my life fire burning both the life and soul inside the target at the same time? Burning the life secrets at the same time like that should hurt a little... Right?"

"ARGHHH!!!!" Salidar raised his head and looked at Richard with extreme hatred and fear

"Oh no no, what are you doing? Why are you screaming now? There is still a lot to come, Save your screams for your real cleansing, you haven't felt pain yet!" A cruel smile appeared on Richard's face, then he raised his palm and a ball of his pale green flame appeared, but there was something about this ball, anyone who looked at it would feel a sting deep in their soul!

"Let me hear your cries now," Richard concluded his words with a smile and then gently threw the fireball towards Salidar's forehead

"AAAAHHHHHHHHH!!!!!!!"
