

THE VIRGIN'S REVENGE

Chapter 51 Stella's ire.

Though Leon forced the question at least she still felt good that he had asked, Roshan then said "I'm so sorry for what happened to Mr. Gonzalez."

Alberto was a big shark in the business world so the news of his death spread like wild fire, those who knew him were shaken by the news of his assassination well while some were saddened by it others like the Montenegro's especially Hank were glad that someone had actually managed to put an end to his worthless life because that's how they viewed it.

Roshan's question was serendipitous she would use this chance to create a helpless look and they would all buy it because it had been a month ever since her dad's death so she faked the tears and sorrow. Stella did love her dad but some part of her rejoiced when he died because atleast now she was free to pursue the love of her life- Leon.

"It hasn't been easy for me i feel so alone now..... she became incoherent choked up with the tears that were now streaming down her cheeks, now that dad left me."

No child would ever want to see the parent dead no matter how broke your relationship was with them so the act did manage to move their hearts to soften.

"We are so sorry that you feel that way but do feel free to call us if you need anything or your feeling down," Leon said.

Chapter 52 Travis is in a coma 1

Stella drove home in a haste and as soon as she got in the house she vented out her anger on all that her eyes could see from the tv screen, the vases, she literally turned the house upside down.

"Aaaah," she screamed her face as white as snow.

Her screams and rage got her assistant rushing over to her room to find out what the problem was.

"Miss Gonzalez what's the matter?"

"Leave me alone you bitch and get the hell out of my sight," she screamed and it sent a clear message to her and everyone that she was to be left undisturbed.

"Leon how could you do this to me," she cried out hysterically but she soon rubbed her tears with the back of her hands and said with gritted teeth "Leon is mine and no one absolutely no one has the right to be his woman besides me so brace yourself Bethany while it still lasts because soon you'll be out of his life."

She pulled out her laptop immediately and commenced her investigation on the woman Leon was in love with but what she found out wasn't so appealing and helpful to her as she expected.

There was nothing she could use against her and that outraged her the more imploring her to smash the laptop on the floor.

Bethany interrogated Leon over Stella because she knew first-hand by the look in her eyes that she felt something strong for Leon and she had to find out more about her before she proves to be a thorn and messing up all her plans.

"Who is she?"

"An old time friend," he lied.

Chapter 53 Travis loses his memory.

"I'll make them pay whoever did it i will make them regret causing you harm," she said with her fists clenched tightly on the sheets.

Bethany stayed close to him and she would occasionally wake up to check if he had awoke but the scene was still the same, he was still in the unconscious state.

The next day, she demanded Titano to compile the list of all the possible rivals of Travis in and out the business they had to make sure none of the stones were left unturned.

She started on with the investigations but all the leads were pointing to nothing and all that discouraged her the more.

Back at a ware house was a man dressed in black and he had a black patch on his left eye.

"Thought you had forgotten about me," he said with a grin spread across his face once the other guy passed the bag to him.

The man opened it up and the fresh scent of money made his eye gleam with joy.

"You should've known me by now that i always stay true and keep my end of the bargain Silento."

The guy's name was Silento.

"Well I'm glad to know that you're still honest."

"So did you finish him off," the guy asked galloping down the brandy.

"Let's just say with the bullet that hit his cereberum, he will be joining the heavens or should i say perdition any time soon," he said confidence evident in his tone.

The other man gave out a mirthful laugh, but then he replaced it with a serious look saying "you better make sure of it Silento or else you might lead the way before him because i paid you to end his life not send him to the hospital," he warned.

"Is that a threat?"

Bethany was surprised by Travis's reaction to the kiss but it made her heart leap with joy that maybe he had finally got a hold of her in his memory.

So she kissed him so deeply and by the time their lips parted the two were short of breath.

"I'm sorry," Travis apologised and the smile that had snarled at the corner of her lips faded in an instant.

"My love there is no need of apologising and

"I behaved inappropriately with you a few seconds ago and i believe i owe you an apology Miss Rivera," he said immediately cutting her short of words.

Did he just call me Miss Rivera, so it means he still doesn't remember me," her heart sank at the realisation.

Chapter 55 Kyle's worry.

Kyle couldn't seem to concentrate at work, it had been days since his eyes had seen the love of his life and though he tried reaching out to her by call he still wouldn't get a hold of her and he was starting to get frightful.

He called up her house but it was still the same words he got to hear "madam hasn't yet returned, sir."

"Where could you be Bethany?" He asked silently.

If there was one thing he knew about her it was the aura of mystery that always loomed around her nevertheless that didn't stop his heart from falling hard for her.

Suddenly a thought popped up in his mind -Leon, if there was any one who would know her location then Leon would be the right man for it, so he picked up his phone and dialed his number.

"Hey brother," he said sounding courteous.

Chapter 56 The tattoo.

Titano acceded Bethany and as much as Travis hated it the two had a point clearly laid out you definitely can't go trusting a snake that beat you once.

He held his waists and closed his eyes letting out a frustrated breath "okay."

Titano then said "he spoke about a drug lord in Morado but there are many drug Lord's so it's like he left us with nothing we are still on level one of the whole game."

Bethany smiled and said thoughtfully "not really he did mention a Silento so we just need to figure out who he is because that's the last piece needed to complete the puzzel."

Titano suddenly yelled out after seeming to have remembered something "the tattoo," he said aloud and made his footsteps close to where the dead body was checking it out.
