

The Weight On Skin by Marry T Chapter 15

Chapter 15

They reached the door and got out of the car.

Rose suddenly became a little timid and did not dare to step forward.

There were a lot of people getting married today, and the entrance of the hotel was full of people.

And because Rose and Nick were so good-looking, many people couldn't help but stare at them.

Rose, who was not used to being watched by others, became even more nervous. She even didn't know how to walk and almost fell down.

Nick couldn't help but want to laugh. He quickly coughed and comforted her, "Don't be nervous. You don't have to do anything today. Just keep smiling and wait for the show."

"I don't want to be nervous, but I just can't control myself." Rose said with a bitter expression.

Every time she thought of facing her family who wished she could die earlier, she felt extremely sad. She refused to have any more contact with them and wanted to completely retract into her shell as a tortoise to avoid being hurt again.

Sometimes she would rather not be the child of the Chaucer family. In that case she would feel much better now.

“What are you afraid of? With me around, they will never hurt you.” Nick sneered. “If you don’t want to continue to be so weak and live with regret for the rest of your life, you should cheer yourself up. Remember, we’re here to make a scene today.”

Rose’s mind suddenly flashed with the disgusted and fearful expressions of her parents, as well as the smug expressions of Hugo and Lena on the red wedding bed. Finally she thought of the scene where everyone was surrounding and showing their concerns for Lena.

“You’re right. I can’t be so weak anymore.” Taking a deep breath, Lena raised her head and took the initiative to hold his arm, saying with firm eyes, “Let’s go.”

She wanted those who hated her to know that she could live a better life without the support of her family!

“Very well.” Nick smiled and said, “That’s right. Relax. I’m sure no one will underestimate you today.”

The place where the Chaucer family held the wedding banquet was in the Rose Room on the third floor of the Golden Hotel. When Nick and Rose arrived at the door, everyone upstairs thought that they were the stars who had gone to the wrong place. They kept staring at them, and some people even took out their cell phones to take pictures. But when the bodyguards behind Nick stood forward and looked at them, they immediat ely broke out in a cold sweat, put away their phones and ran away dejectedly.

One of the people in charge of the registration was Rose's cousin, Joanna Louisa, who was neither too good nor too bad to Rose. She didn't bully Rose when Rose was a child, and she didn't talk to Rose either.

She first stared at Nick, who is tall and handsome, for a long time, and then reluctantly turned to Rose. She looked a little confused. She really couldn't remember when the Chaucer family and the Jasper family had such a decent relative. "May I ask who you are..."

"Cousin, it's me." Rose tried to force a smile.

Joanna stared at her for a long time, and then suddenly widened her eyes as if she had seen a ghost. "Are you... Rose? Rose Chaucer?!"

Rose nodded.

No wonder Joanna was so surprised. In the past, in order to save money to pay her tuition fees and to buy a house with Hugo, Rose didn't buy anything for herself. She wore T-shirts and jeans all year round, and she rarely had her hair done. When she walked, she would subconsciously lower her head, looking submissive and easy to bully.

Now she was wearing high heels, and her temperament changed in an instant when she became higher. Coupled with her expensive dress, jewelry, and her makeup, she completely looked like a dazzling star. Joanna couldn't recognize her anymore.

“How did you become so beautiful?” Joanna suppressed the jealousy in her heart and continued to look at her up and down.

Rose smiled, not intending to talk much to her. “Where are my parents?”

She was very calm, but Joanna became embarrassed.

The woman who was going to get married changed from her first cousin to her second cousin, and they married the same man, which was already absurd enough. Joanna didn't expect her first cousin, who had been away from home for a few days, to bring a more outstanding man to the wedding of her own sister and her ex-fiancé...

For the first time, Joanna realized that the plot of the absurd series would also happen to the people around her.

“Second uncle is with the uncle of Jasper family. Second aunt is in the bridal lounge with... Lena” Joanna suddenly sympathized with her first cousin.

Although she didn't know what had happened, judging from her second uncle and second aunt's personalities, she guessed that there was something fishy about it.

Rose felt that Joanna sympathized with her, but she didn't need it now. “Thank you.”

“By the way, who is he.” Seeing that they were leaving, Joanna quickly asked. She was quite curious about Nick's identity.

It was not easy to meet such a handsome and rich man. Judging from the bodyguards behind him, Joanna thought he must have an extraordinary identity.

“He...” Seeing that Nick was about to speak, Rose quickly said, “He’s my friend!”

“Friend?” Nick raised his eyebrows. It seemed that he was a little dissatisfied.

Rose quickly pulled his clothes and looked back at him pleadingly. He was softhearted and did not explain it.

Seeing that there were some other guests coming, Joanna couldn’t ask any more questions, so she said to Nick, “Then gentleman, please register first.”

“No need. I’m not here to congratulate them anyway,” Nick said indifferently.

What he said was so straightforward that Joanna didn’t know what to speak.

Since you were not here to congratulate them, were you here to make trouble?

Rose couldn’t help but want to laugh. She quickly pulled Nick to the wedding banquet. “Cousin, you continue your work. We’ll go in first!”

As soon as the two of them entered the hall, they created a disturbance again.

“Who are they? They look like stars.”

“Could it be that they were invited to perform?”

“Now stars bring so many bodyguards when they go out?”

“Of course. They are so good-looking. If they don't bring so many bodyguards when they go out, they will be harassed by others.”

“The man is indeed handsome, and the woman is also very beautiful. But I think the woman looks a little familiar. It seems that I have seen her somewhere.”

Everyone was talking, and the banquet hall was in a mess.

Rose took a deep breath and kept cheering herself up. As she held Nick's arm and walked forward confidently, she tried not to show timidity under the scrutiny of those familiar people.

When Hugo and Lena were invited to the stage by the emcee, they both looked a little disgruntled. Nick and Rose were like two dazzling lights. Compared with them, Hugo and Lena were just like the woodlice in the ground.

Lena, who was wearing a wedding dress, even gritted her teeth in hatred. Her eyes fell on Rose's face like a hook. She wished she could pounce on Rose, tear her clothes, and slap her.

Today was her wedding day, and this bitch dared to steal all the glory that belonged to her! It was unforgivable!

Martin, Selma, and the couple of the Jasper family were also very furious. Sierra and Selma looked at each other and walked forward at the same time. "You."

Before they could finish speaking, Rose had already taken a step forward and said calmly, "Mom."

Selma and Sierra froze at the same time.

"I remember!" In the dead silence, someone suddenly shouted. "Rose! She's Rose!"

"What?!"

The relatives and friends of the Chaucer family and the Jasper family immediately began to talk, and the hall was filled with a hubbub of voices.