

The World 471

Chapter 471 - 471 A Dragon Arrives at Solan City, The Bustling Scene [3/3]

Richard felt he was supremely tiny.

Alves's wingspan of 30 meters or more was like an ant in front of this city.

Exaggeratedly-shaped crossbows orderly arranged was on top of the black city walls.

A siege crossbow with an arrow three times thicker than an ordinary person's waist, let alone the usual person, was difficult to withstand, and even a dragon could not bear it.

There was a tall tower at a fixed distance from the city wall. Crystal balls surged magical energy at the top.

The crystal balls seemed to release a forbidden spell in the next second.

They looked over the city wall and saw neat arrow towers like trees.

The arrow towers gradually rose in the shape of "".

They formed a three-dimensional fire net.

It could instantly burst out with a storm of attacks at the siege of an enemy.

Shadows of horses that flew cast on the ground above Solan City.

One could see at least three brigades at a rough glance. They were all level 19.

Richard sighed.

He truly felt the foundation and strength of the natives.

These factions that had existed for hundreds, thousands, or even hundreds of thousands of years had power the players at the current stage one could not compare.

Players couldn't catch up even if chance gave them another three to five years to develop.

However, Richard's heart was even more determined when magnificent sight shocked him.

He looked at the magnificent city of miracles with burning eyes.

Fighting spirit engulfed his heart.

Twilight City would be more soul-executing than this city one day!

A group of knights on flying horses approached them from the sky above Solan City after Richard stopped to observe.

There was only one squadron, but the orderly formation that looked from the same mold trembled people. Their momentum gave people a strong sense of oppression.

The elite of the elites!

The leader stepped out alone after the flying horse riders approached.

It glanced at the skeletal blood dragon and the stone statue of the dead with slight disdain.

The Holy Church Empire belonged to the kind and lawful. And they had always hated such evil troops.

It would have already taken action to eliminate them if it had not sensed they belonged to the desert camp.

They would not deliberately view the neutral faction with hostility.

The lead knight on the flying horse immediately noticed Richard after a quick scan while he rode on Alves's back and exuded an extraordinary aura.

It could feel the soul fire of the dragon hero that burned under him.

The displeased look in its eyes immediately softened and revealed a kind look.

Only a few had it in this kind of temperament, even among the heirs of the big family.

The troops that the undead rode on were all level 15, and they had the mark of a high noble.

The other party was ultimately no small fry...

One's eyesight was ultimately the most important as a guard.

"Honored guest, welcome to Solan City.

"But I'm sorry to inform you that Solan City's laws state that no one is allowed to bring a troop into the city apart from heroes.

"You can leave your troop in the caretaker's yard outside the city."

Richard nodded. Rebecca had already warned him about this, so he wasn't surprised.

All the cities in the "Shining Era" had similar rules. One could then obtain the privilege of bringing a portion of the troop unless one's contribution to a city reached a certain level.

Richard followed the knight's lead after he thanked it and arrived where they stored the troop.

Dozens of massive space gates stood on the ground.

Each spatial gate has an individual faction. And there would be no scenes of elves and demons mixed.

The other side of the spatial gate led to a half-plane.

The troops would enter a dormant state after they entered. The lord could wake them up with a token.

This scene once again showed Richard the depth of Solan City's power.

Using a half-plane as a parking lot was simply too overbearing.

Richard stored his troop inside after he paid for the 100 units of gemstones.

Rebecca was the same, but she had an extraordinary command medallion that allowed her to bring three small teams into the city.

Some carriages waited for guests after they left the storage area.

One could see from this that Solan City's trade had already developed very well.

It had all kinds of industries.

Richard and Rebecca slowly entered Solan Cit after they hired ten of the best carriages.

Richard looked out through the glass window after they passed through a more than 50 meters deep city gate.

The supremely grandiose scene of Solan City appeared before his eyes.

The architecture built dome-shaped buildings close to each other along the street and embossed exquisite patterns in each building.

Each roof building painted blue was the most striking.

It was unforgettable.

A dense crowd of pedestrians shuffled back and forth.

Black heads were all he could see.

It piqued Richard's curiosity as he looked around the crowd. He quickly spotted one player after another.

These guys dressed in a mess. They had randomly picked up the equipment. The combination looked out of place, but these guys didn't care and swaggered past.

He could hear a few sporadic f*cking words repeatedly. It made him feel a strong sense of affection.

As expected, the guys are still the guys...

The road for carriages and pedestrians in the center were separated, so they did not affect each other.

Countless goods-filled shops and taverns were on both sides of the street.

The carriage traveled more than a hundred meters wide, and the wheels creaked as they pressed against the stone slabs.

Rebecca and Richard were in the same carriage.

The erudite girl introduced him to some of the city's iconic buildings.

Angel embossed, bronze gryphon sculptures, flying horse sculptures... It was as if a fascinating story was behind every eye-catching pattern.

He fully displayed his noble upbringing at this moment.

Richard was so engrossed in the story that he lost interest in watching the other players.

The convoy crossed the busy street and drove straight to the city center.

“Lord Richard, let’s return to the manor.”

The scent of the opposite sex constantly wafted into her nose and caused Rebecca’s face to blush. She would subconsciously turn away whenever her eyes met Richard’s.

“Let’s rest for the night. We’ll visit the Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce. Onyx and Chairman Windsor still waited for the desert crown honey you brought.

“When the time comes, you can also listen to their suggestions for the chamber of commerce. The Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce is more familiar with this area than I am. With your relationship with them, I believe they will be more than happy to help.

“Solan City’s Black Market will open for three days on the 1st of every month. If you’re interested, we can go for a look after a visit to the Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce.

“Good things are always in the Black Market. Maybe some treasures can enslave vampires...”

“Black Market?”

Richard's eyes lit up.

The Black Market usually had a unique function under ordinary game settings... He did not know if the players destroyed the Black Market in Solan City.

Chapter 472 - 472 What the F*ck, That NPC Actually Brought Qingqiu Back?! Awesome! [1/3]

The long line of carriages stopped in front of a majestic manor.

Richard got out of the car. He looked at the ten-meter-tall statues of angels on both sides of the gate. The manor walls were as high as the city walls, and his expression was sparingly strange.

He turned to look at Rebecca, whose expression had not changed much.

“This is the ordinary manor you mentioned?”

“The manor was even bigger than Twilight City...”

Rich dog.

Common sense could not judge the heritage of the Grand Duke's family.

Rebecca was in a good mood as well.

She had finally returned after leaving for a month.

To travel in the extremely harsh desert environment was not something ordinary people could bear. It was too torturous.

Richard turned to look at the bold figure beside him with this mind, who wore a black and red crown. The corners of his mouth curled up.

They didn't waste the trip this time.

He gestured to the front.

"Welcome, Lord Richard."

He blinked his eyes as he said that.

"This manor is yours from now on. Welcome home, lord of the violet manor.

"In a big city like Solan, even an ordinary house was not something ordinary people could afford. One could consider this manor close to the center of the city expensive.

Countless nobles were around her, but none were worthy of her gift.

She felt like she'd profited by giving it to Richard.

She intuitively knew the city's potential when she saw the territory with her on their trip to Twilight City.

Onyx of the Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce did not lie to her. No, she even felt that he was being conservative.

A manor could not compare the value of Twilight City.

She could even offer a price that would move anyone if the other party was willing to rely on her.

But unfortunately, she could no longer have the chance to materialize this idea...

She hadn't known Richard for a long time, but she could sense that the man always had a faint smile. He looked peaceful, but he had unequaled pride and confidence.

No one could make him lower his head and submit to them, no matter who it was.

Some people were born to be kings that led their tribes. They were born to be superior.

As his thoughts wandered, the tightly shut gate of the manor slowly opened with the sound of slightly hurried footsteps.

Dozens of servants in uniform rushed in and stood at the door to welcome him.

An old snow-white-haired man dressed in a gentleman's suit walked forward with a straight waist.

He placed his right hand on his abdomen and bowed. He gestured a standard noble etiquette.

"Welcome back, Miss Rebecca."

"No need to be so polite, Butler Kent."

Rebecca elegantly nodded her head. She drew her tone out when she replied, and her pronunciation had a fixed rhythm, which was very different from a normal conversation.

He gestured to Richard.

"Please, welcome my guest into the manor, Butler Kent."

"As you wish, Miss Rebecca."

The old Butler walked up to Richard, bowed, and gestured.

“Distinguished guest, violet manor welcomes you!”

Richard found it admirable. He could tell that the etiquette wasn't just for show. The man had melded it into his bones.

‘Was this the culture of the nobles in this world?’

He still maintained his manners even though he wasn't interested in the thing.

He nodded slightly.

“It's my honor.”

Rebecca led Richard through the angel statues on both sides of the gate and into the enormous manor.

Enormous patches of violet flowers bloomed on both sides of the main road when they entered.

The gorgeous colors gave people a strong visual impact.

They were used to the deathly silence in the desert. This scene made people feel like the hosts gave them life again.

It lifted Richard's mood.

Following the direction in front of him, he walked towards the main hall ...

Behind the violet manor, two players wore a mix of equipment and stood in a corner. They tiptoed as they observed what was happening in front of them through the dense vegetation.

"Boss, did you see clearly? What kind of big shot caused such a massive commotion?"

"I didn't see clearly, but Butler Kent went to receive him. He can't be an ordinary person ...There's a high chance that the high-level Rebecca has returned?"

"F*ck! That eldest daughter of the Grand Duke? Can we finally take on a mission from the other party?"

"I saw her face. It's Rebecca, hahaha!"

"Third brother, we have to seize the opportunity this time. With the other party's identity, even if they let something slip from their hands, we could eat a lot... No, Rebecca has actually accompanied someone? What level could walk alongside her? Tsk, so many people, they blocked..."

"Boss, how are we going to get in touch with them? Butler Kent did not even allow us to the front hall..."

“Stupid! We’ve already done so many missions here. And our favorability is not low. We’ll find an opportunity to enter even if we’re serving tea...

“When the time comes, you’d better be careful, especially that one beside Rebecca. He seemed to have a very high status... The eldest daughter of the Grand Duke only accompanied, so he must be extremely high.

“It takes a lot of work to encounter such a high level. If we can trigger a mission from him, we’ll be rich.

“Alright, I’ll go to the kitchen later and see if you can let us go up when it’s time to refill the tea. I just invited the footmen to Jasmine Street yesterday. Hehehe... We should be able to do this...

Chapter 473 - 473 What the F*ck, That NPC Actually Brought Qing Qiu Back?! Awesome! [3/3]

Rebecca laughed.

“Butler Kent, Father gave it to me, so I’ll naturally decide... As for the other matters, I have my arrangements.”

“Grandpa Klei, I’ll trouble you to go with Butler Kent.”

“Yes...”

Butler Kent wanted to say something. But he couldn't because of Richard's presence, so he just nodded.

He could not hold back the doubts in his heart not long after he left the living room.

"Klei, why didn't you stop him? What have you been through in the desert for the past month? Why is the lady so generous to Lord Richard?"

"This was the Violet Manor. Who would give it away just like that? Moreover, the other party was a grace mainland overlord. How could he not know what a grace mainland overlord was like?"

"Just look at those two guys dressed in a mess..."

"If I'm not mistaken, the other party is the grace mainland overlord, right? Although he isn't weak, was the grace mainland worthy of the lady's attention?"

Klein looked at the confused Butler Kent and smiled.

"Kent, if you were to give Violet Manor to someone else, I would disagree, even if it were the Grand Duke's son. But it's different if you're giving it to Lord Richard."

"I can only tell you the reason. It's because the guest is Lord Richard, the ruler of Twilight City."

"This, is enough!"

“You haven’t seen the wonders of the city. And you haven’t seen how unfathomable Lord Richard is. You wouldn’t understand why the young lady is so generous.”

“If you were there, trust me, you would have delivered the title deed to Lord Richard yourself.”

“As for whether I’m worthy of it... I’m sorry. Lord Richard is more than qualified to accept this gift... Even if the Grand Duke denies it, I will not change my stance!”

Klei’s disposition stunned Butler Kent when he heard the firm tone in his voice.

He couldn’t imagine what they had encountered in the desert this month. What has changed their attitude so dramatically...

He would have suspected they were under a mental spell if it weren’t for their ingenious attitude.

Butler Kent let out a long breath.

“I’ll follow the Lady’s decision regardless of whether it’s reasonable. However, as a Butler, it’s also within my duty to make suggestions.”

Butler Kent said expressionlessly and walked towards the secret chamber.

Klei laughed. This old, stubborn man... He shook his head and didn’t argue.

Who would believe the happenings in Twilight City if one had not seen it with their eyes?

Butler Kent walked a few when he suddenly stopped and gazed in a direction.

He frowned.

“Who let you two into the main hall? Look at what you’re wearing. The servants of the Frostwolf clan are not so insensible!”

The smile on the players’ faces who had rushed up to talk to him froze when they saw Butler Kent.

‘F*ck! this old fellow, can’t he say something nice?’

They had already demoted them to serving tea to akin player Qingqiu, yet they still complained about their odd dress... ‘Do you have any humanity?’

They wanted to refute him. But they didn’t dare to say anything when they glanced at his serious expression. They couldn’t let the hard-won relationship they built go to waste.

Boss squeezed out a smile and praised.

“Butler Kent, we also want to contribute to the manor. Also, we’re full of respect for Lady Rebecca, and we definitely won’t offend her... Even in our dreams, we wish to serve Lady Rebecca.”

Third Brother nodded repeatedly.

“Yes, that’s it... Lady Rebecca has brought Qingqiu back with her, so I’m sure she will need the help of our grace mainland overlord.”

Their flattery did not move Butler Kent, but the last word widened his eyes.

“Qingqiu?!”

He immediately asked after he cried out in shock.

“Are you saying that the grace mainland overlord that Lady Rebecca brought back is Qingqiu? The one who fought against 100 people? The strongest existence among the 20 billion grace mainland overlords?”

The two players looked at the excited Butler Kent in confusion.

“Wait, you didn’t know the identity of the guests you brought back?”

“Lady Rebecca didn’t tell you?”

“Cut the crap! How did you guys recognize him as Qingqiu?”

“Butler Kent, did you forget? Do I not have the Origin Tracing skill? A talent for tracing the source of a person’s origin? I will have an impression of them as long as I have seen them in the past.

Butler Kent finally came to his senses. He turned to look at Klein and snorted deep breaths.

He sighed.

“Lady is clever!”

“I’ll go to the secret room and get the title deed... Lord Richard is worthy to receive it!”

Klei was a little confused when he looked at Butler Kent’s 180-degree change in stance.

“What Qingqiu? What one against a hundred...? What does this have to do with Lord Richard?”

The death gladiator had not started yet when he went to the desert. The players had just entered the dungeon and did not know about the news.

He had returned hurriedly and had no time to pay attention to other things.

He asked in confusion.

“Who is that Qingqiu? What does it have to do with Lord Richard?”

Butler Kent laughed as he described everything that happened in the Qingqiu instance dungeon and finally exclaimed.

“To stand out from the 20 billion grace mainland overlord and become the king, this Lord Richard’s potential is shocking!”

“And the lady brought him back without knowing his identity. It is the goddess’s blessing.”

Klein was both surprised and delighted.

Although he knew that the potential of the Twilight City was limitless, he did not expect it to be so powerful that it could emerge from the 20 billion grace mainland overlords and ranked first!

His impressive battle record of defeating 30,000 enemies with only 300 troops dazzled him, who witnessed spectacular scenes.

They had not misjudged him!

“Hahahahaha!”

The two players looked at the NPC, who smiled brightly and was sparingly confused.

“No, it has been almost a month since the incident in Qingqiu, and you NPCs with such a massive force still do not know about it?”

“What’s even more ridiculous is that she brought him back and didn’t even know his true identity?”

“What are you guys doing?”

They wanted to say something, but Butler Kent and the level 19 hero left in high spirits. They did not even look at them...

The two looked at each other’s disappearing figures and wanted to cry but had no tears.

“What a sin! Do you have any humanity?”

Chapter 474 - 474 What the F*ck, That NPC Actually Brought Qingqiu Back?! Awesome! [2/3]

“Hey, I wondered why I couldn’t find you yesterday. So you went to such a dirty place... Why didn’t you f*cking ask me to come along?”

The words of reprimand continued.

Violet Manor, in the largest living room.

One could see a long wooden table in the center.

Rebecca sat at the head of the table while Richard sat on the left.

Xina and the dark valkyrie stood not far behind him.

Renee returned to the ancient god statue.

Butler Karu stood behind Rebecca while Butler Kent arranged for the maids to be busy...

Only two people sat in the large living room, and the others could stand to the side.

However, no one dared to have any objections.

Rebecca suddenly thought of something after they chatted for about ten minutes. She turned to neatly-combed-haired Butler Kent in a black suit. It did not have a single crease on it.

“Butler Kent, could you please bring me the title deed of Violet Manor and the relevant transaction documents?”

It confused Butler Kent.

“Miss Rebecca, the title deed is in the secret room. We need to activate the magic array to retrieve it... Why do you need the land deed? I’ll get it done immediately.”

Rebecca looked at Richard with a smile.

“I will hand the title deed over to Lord Richard for safekeeping.”

“I already gave him the Violet Manor.”

Two players that carried tea entered the hall.

They couldn't help but gasp when they heard this.

They looked at each other and saw the surprise and excitement in each other's eyes.

She gave away the extremely valuable Violet Manor in Solan City just like that... That NPC that had returned with Rebecca, the eldest daughter of the Ice Empire's Grand Duke of Frostwolf, just how ghastly was he?

The higher the level of a character, the harder it was to come into contact with them. It was a publicly acknowledged fact.

At the current stage, they were not even qualified to come into contact with the eldest daughter of the Grand Duke. They could only build a relationship with the servants.

If they could get closer to these two NPCs with ridiculous status, take on two missions from them, and get some benefits... Just a ponder on that scene made them excited.

They quickened their pace and came to the long table.

They poured the tea obediently, and neither spoke in such an environment.

They could not ask outrightly if they wanted to take on a mission. They were too familiar with the ways of the nobles. They would annoy the Ice Empire Grand Duke's eldest daughter if they interrupted now and could even kick them out directly.

How could a servant have the right to speak in front of the lords' distinguished guests?

The purpose of pouring tea was to get familiar with the two so that it wouldn't abruptly bother the other party when they were alone.

Rebecca looked at the two strangely dressed men and raised an eyebrow. However, she didn't want to say anything while Richard was there. So she pretended not to notice them.

She would ask Butler Kent. When did the grace mainland lord come into her manor to serve as a servant...

These guys weren't people who would do things with peace of mind.

Fortunately, the two players behaved well and did not make any mistakes. They turned and left after they poured the tea.

Only then did Rebecca's expression ease slightly.

Richard recognized them as soon as they entered the room. It was a little funny. These guys were all-pervasive.

However, he didn't pay any more attention when he saw that the two were only level 8.

The difference was supremely vast. Richard didn't mind.

The two players who finished pouring the tea left the living room and walked to an empty place. They looked at each other and spoke in unison.

"Boss..."

"Third Brother..."

The boss waved his hand and spoke.

"I'll say it first. Did you check the NPC's attributes?"

“No, the system prompted that the other party’s magic power has covered up his aura one cannot detect.”

The third brother said with a look of disbelief.

“That’s not what I meant to say. Boss, did you notice the NPC looks? A little familiar...”

“Familiar? Did it trigger your Origin Tracing skill? That can’t be. This NPC’s status is so high. Why don’t I have any impression if we have met him before?”

“That’s right. My skill is in effect... After I saw that NPC, I suddenly thought of Qingqiu.”

The boss’s heart trembled as he looked at him in disbelief.

“Qingqiu?!”

“You’re saying that the NPC, and Rebecca, the eldest daughter of the Grand Duke Frostwolf’s esteemed guest, is... Qingqiu?”

“Third brother, you’re not mistaken, are you? How could it be Qingqiu?!”

“The effect of the Origin Tracing skill can not be wrong. His figure and aura were the like the NPC, although Qingqiu covered his face while we watched the live broadcast. No, he is even more charming now...”

The boss's face turned red when he received an affirmative answer.

“That NPC brought Qingqiu back. Is she trying to fly into the sky? No wonder Butler Kent said Rebecca would go to the desert for a while. Isn't that perverted Qingqiu, the Lord of the Desert?”

“That's right, and Rebecca seems to be giving him this manor...”

At this point, the two players looked at each other and saw the envy, jealousy, and hatred in each other's eyes.

They did not even have the right to interact with Rebecca, the top-tier NPC, and yet, Qingqiu, this perverted freak, was already treated as a guest of honor.

What's more, how much was the Violet Manor worth? Did she give it away just like that?

Were there still any!! f*cking justice in this world?

In the living room, he heard Rebecca would send the manor out.

Butler Kent was stunned, then looked at the girl in confusion.

“Miss, the Grand Duke gave you the Violet Manor. Do you need to ask him if you want to give it to someone else? Besides, this is our base in Solan City. How will we settle down the next time we come if we give it away?”

Chapter 475 - 475 The Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce Is Not Qualified to Make Him Submit? [1/3]

“Lord Richard, I apologize for my rudeness. Please, forgive my ignorance.

“This is the title deed for the Violet Manor. Please, keep it safe.

“Later, you can send someone with me to Solan City’s City Hall to change the new owner.

“From today on, you’re the official owner of Violet Manor.

Richard looked at Kent, who had changed his attitude, with a hint of amusement.

‘How could he change so quickly?’

The quick change puzzled Rebecca as she looked at the respectful Butler Kent.

‘He had been so reluctant just now. Why had his attitude so good now?’ She looked at Klei and seemed to have an answer in his heart.

Grandpa Klei must have told Butler Kent about the various things that happened in Twilight City and their cooperation.

Butler Kent turned to Rebecca and apologized just as she was about to speak.

“Lady Rebecca, your foresight is truly unparalleled. It must have been the guidance of the snow goddess to find Lord Qingqiu.”

It stunned Rebecca for a moment. Then, she asked in confusion.

“Qingqiu?”

“Who is he?”

She looked at Richard with confusion. ‘What was the connection?’

Seeing this, Klei took two steps forward excitedly when he saw this and lowered his head to whisper into her ear.

A moment later, Rebecca’s expression was one of surprise and joy. When Cree stood up, She immediately turned her head when Klei stood up and looked at Richard with a burning gaze.

He fought against 100 enemies and ascended the throne from 20 billion grace mainland overlords.

The mightiest existence acknowledged by all the grace mainland overlords...

This sudden news made her heart sway.

She knew Richard was extraordinary, but she didn't expect him to have already achieved such a stunning result.

The current grace mainland overlord isn't substantial.

However, the other party had also come to the primary plane simultaneously as the other grace mainland overlords.

To kill his way out of 20 billion people and subdue all the grace mainland overlords, this was enough to explain everything!

At that moment, she believed that going to Twilight City was the guidance of fate.

If not, how could there be such a coincidence?

"Lord Richard, I didn't expect you to be the Qingqiu that the grace mainland overlords respect..."

Richard immediately thought of the two players who had brought tea into the room.

He didn't know whether to laugh or cry. These guys weren't blind.

He had used the power of the yellow sand to cover himself, yet they still recognized him.

But he didn't take it seriously.

The primary plane was so vast, and the players were scattered everywhere. No one would come from far away to seek death with his fearsome power, even if everyone knew where he was.

The players could naturally let loose since they wouldn't die in the instance dungeon.

But, they would die on the primary plane.

Who had nothing better to do than to come and give their heads away?

The two players didn't plan to make it public. They even planned to suck up to him after they pondered for a moment.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if Richard would speak a few words and ask Rebecca to give them a few missions?

"It's just an opportunity."

Richard chuckled.

“Grace mainland’s current overlord is not strong enough...”

Rebecca blinked.

“You’re being too humble.”

The girl didn’t continue on the topic after a few more teasing.

She was confident they would cooperate in the future now that the two sides would establish loyal friendships.

Investing in a person with unlimited potential was like buying a stock that knew it would rise. It made one happy.

The atmosphere got increasingly harmonious.

Rebecca gave Richard some information about Solan City after that and only stopped when it was almost dinner time.

At night, Rebecca’s hospitality brought Richard to a sumptuous dinner.

In contrast, the food used to entertain the guests in Twilight City was unattractive.

Richard didn't go out at night after dinner but returned to his room.

Richard looked at Hina and the dark valkyrie in the living room outside.

He said thoughtfully, "Fay, can you sense the aura of the glorious master in Solan City?"

The dark valkyrie turned her head and looked in a direction.

"I roughly sense there's an intensely soul-grinding existence in the east, that's... It's a power beyond the transcendent.

"And after I stepped into this city, a special aura targeted me. Although that aura can't get close, it would discover me if I do anything out of line.

Richard nodded but didn't dwell on it.

One could not compare the current Twilight City to Solan City.

He slowly said after he pondered.

"In this city, do not attack without my order."

“Yes, Lord!”

Richard turned to the valiant Xina after he gave instructions.

“It’s not easy to come to Solan City. Is there anything you want to buy? We’ll go to the black market tomorrow...”

It brightened Xina’s eyes as she said softly.

“I would like to buy a set of fitting armor if possible”

This brave warrior had always been at the front line on the battlefield.

She could recover quickly even if an enemy injured her with the strength of a Beyond A-rank.

However, having a set of sturdy armor that fit her would mostly help her.

Not only could it reduce his stamina consumption, but it also allowed him to attack freely.

Richard nodded and kept that in mind.

Then, she seemed to have thought of something and continued.

“I’ll go with you to the Kreiners when we return.”

Xina had asked the Kreiners for help last time at the attack of the god of kobolds, but she had not received a response.

The young lady had been worried about the Kreiners.

She had left them to find a way to break the seal.

Chapter 476 - 476 The Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce is Not Qualified to Make Him Submit? [2/3]

Now, she had found a way through the operation of the alchemy blood-changing technique.

But the problem was that she couldn’t contact her tribesmen...

It made her feel sparingly uneasy.

Although she was starkly loyal to Twilight City, she was not a mechanical puppet.

Her attitude towards his tribesmen was still the same.

Xina's eyes immediately softened, and her heart warmed when she heard Richard's words.

So many things ran through her mind, but the other party remembered her worries. It made her feel that her efforts were not in vain.

His cold face revealed a sweet smile for the first time.

He nodded vigorously.

"Yes."

Richard smiled and rubbed her head when he looked at Xina. Her youthful appearance had returned.

This warrior who was always at the forefront of battle was only in her early twenties.

On Planet Blue, she would have just graduated from university.

Although the heads she had chopped off could pile into a mountain, she still needed to care.

At this moment, a maid knocked on the door and reported that two grace mainland overlords wanted to see him.

Richard immediately thought of the two players who had recognized him. He had wanted to ignore them, but then he remembered Rebecca's words about the Black Market opening the following morning.

The Black Market in the eyes of the natives and the players was different.

Richard pondered for a moment and called the two in as he thought of the purpose of the trip.

Envy engulfed the two players when they entered and looked at the luxurious room.

They had been here for so long. But they had always stayed in a two-person servant's room. One could not simply mention them in the same breath.

Then, they thought about how this manor would belong to the other party from now on, and he had nothing to say in his heart.

Comparisons are odious.

"Boss Qingqiu..."

They looked at the top player. He had an extremely high status on the forum and a slightly nervous expression after they greeted him.

The difference between them and the other party was already like the difference between heaven and earth.

A single word from him could change their fate ...

“Don’t be nervous. I don’t eat people. Sit down.”

Richard waved them off. The two were weak to pique his interest, but he didn’t want to brag about it on air in front of the players.

Moreover, he always had a sense of familiarity with the players, which made him quite relaxed and not put on the air.

“How did you recognize me?”

Third Brother quickly said, “Boss Qingqiu, I have this skill called Origin Tracing the source... It can find very subtle traces to find the reason... Your disguise only covered your face, figure, and temperament. Everything is like a bright light.”

Richard finally understood. So it was talent. There was no reason for that.

The other party quickly added.

“Don’t worry. I won’t tell anyone.”

Richard chuckled but didn’t say anything. He changed the subject.

“Why are you here at the Violet Manor? Do you have a mission?”

The two felt assured and quickly responded when Richard didn't pursue the matter.

Previously... They accidentally discovered that the origin of this manor is not simple. They found out later that the owner Lady Rebecca is the eldest daughter of the Grand Duke Frostwolf. “So I have been doing missions here. I thought to get more treasures...”

Richard couldn't help but laugh.

“Where's your territory? Why do you have so much time to waste here?”

“Boss” said with a bitter smile.

“Boss Qingqiu, not everyone can manage a territory.

“We've been running our territories for two months. We couldn't hold on any longer and went bankrupt.

“Furthermore, those unruly people wanted to rebel against us. So, we sold our territory to come to Solan City.”

Richard recalled the players who had abandoned their territories in the forums and felt sparingly emotional.

Managing a territory wasn't easy. The leader one wakes up, and hundreds and thousands of people wait for someone to feed them. He still had to be on guard against unknown enemies that attacked the territory after he solved the internal problems.

Countless players didn't make it after a month or two without leadership.

They couldn't imagine the difficulties in the real world by playing the lord game in front of the computer and clicking the mouse.

Only, the game had rules, and the world had not.

Some territories might have developed very well, but a giant dragon suddenly passed by and casually spat out dragon breath and destroyed it... There were all sorts of strange encounters.

"How long have you been in Solan City?"

"We have stayed in Solan City after we lost our territory."

Richard nodded and asked the most interesting question.

"Do you know about the Black Market?"

Third Brother hurriedly said.

“I do know, but the Black Market is a high-level map of Solan City. Only players who have contributed 1,000 points to Solan City can enter.

“We only have 100 contribution points now. We’re still far from it.

“I heard from other players that high-grade treasures often appear in the Black Market. Last week, there was even a glorious item, but the price... Tsk, tsk, tsk, we can’t even afford it even if we sell ourselves a hundred times.”

“Boss Qingqiu, what do you plan to buy from the Black Market? We can help you find out some information. I know a lot of friends who have been to the Black Market.”

Richard said.

“I want to buy a treasure that can enslave evil faction heroes...

“A unique item like a Contract Scroll.

“If you have the means, you can help me find out. I will heavily reward you if I get what I want.”

The two looked at each other and became excited.

The words that came from this person's mouth carried a different weight.

Chapter 477 - 477 The Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce is Not Qualified to Make Him Submit? [3/3]

That was Qingqiu.

"You're welcome. We'll do our best... Can you be more detailed with your request?"

Richard said after some thought.

"The higher the level of the treasure, the better. It must also be effective against evil faction heroes.

"The target I want to enslave is most likely above level 15... If the treasure is too weak, it won't achieve the effect."

He didn't go into too much detail, but it was enough for the two to search for it.

The two players gasped. Level 15?

'F*ck, is this what a big shot is?'

They were only ten levels away, and the enemy would enslave a level 15 hero!

Richard added.

“I still have two 3-stars treasures in my hands. If the information you find is helpful to me, I will give you two as a reward.

“You can also tell this news to your friends. I will reward you also if you can get accurate information.”

‘A 3-stars treasure?’

The two recovered from their shock and looked at each other. They immediately became excited.

The best treasure they had was only 2-stars. And they had spent half a month completing missions to get it.

His moves were extraordinary, as expected of a big shot.

“Boss Qingqiu, are there any additional requirements?”

“If you can, help me find out if there are any treasures in the Black Market, especially armor and the like.

“Alright...”

The two players left in high spirits after a short conversation.

Boss suddenly thought of something and turned to look at Third Brother when they left Violet Manor.

“Have you noticed the person that stood next to Boss Qingqiu boss was like a boss in the sky arena?”

“I didn’t watch the live broadcast. How would I know... You could be wrong. How could a boss stand behind a player? Who told you one can tame bosses?”

“You’re right. Maybe, I was seeing things... Let’s go to Jasmine Street, and let those guys come with us tonight. It’s arduous to meet the Big Boss of Qingqiu. We can’t embarrass ourselves!”

“We could hug onto his thigh in the future if we handled this matter well!”

“The Qingqiu bosses are so generous. Two 3-stars treasures, just thinking about it makes me excited...”

There would be brave men with such a high reward. To the top players, even 3-star treasures were very rare, let alone ordinary players like them who had lost their territories.

Richard wasn’t lying. He’d gotten a few treasures from the gray-colored dwarves that he didn’t need. And he wouldn’t be stingy if they could give him the information he wanted.

Enslaving the Grand Duke vampire was too tempting.

Once he successfully captured the other party, the power of Twilight City would soar.

That was an extraordinary level of power, a nuclear weapon!

The uniqueness of players allowed them to have a tremendous vision and different ways of thinking.

Although he was not strong, his quick-witted mind could make up for it, and it could surprise him.

He would not lose anything even if he failed.

It could be a drawing of a big picture for them.

The following morning, after a night's rest.

A fleet of carriages with the coat of arms of the Frostwolf family slowly drove out of Violet Manor.

The Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce.

Chairman Windsor looked at the excited Onyx with interest.

The influential person in charge of the Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce wore a rose-embroidered red noble dress. The close-fitting design accentuated her figure and was full of feminine charm.

It made her even nobler, coupled with the luxurious temperament of a superior.

But no one in the room dared to take another look.

One man in the earlier years killed the enemies of the Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce... Its status today was inseparable from its tough tactics.

“Are you saying that the owner of Twilight City, the mysterious grace mainland overlord Richard, has arrived at Solan City?”

Onyx’s smile was bright.

“Yes, Chairman Windsor. Lady Rebecca brought Sir Richard back to Solan City yesterday.

“The maid just came to report that they will visit this morning.”

Chairman Windsor revealed a playful expression when she heard this.

Onyx had talked a lot about the magic of Twilight City, especially their two unique special products, the Desert Crown Honey and the Desert Crown Robe, which had piqued her curiosity.

She wanted to see if the grace mainland overlord was that extraordinary.

She looked at Onyx with a faint smile after she pondered.

“Onyx, can one compare Richard to the most powerful grace mainland overlord Qingqiu?”

With that, she waved his hand and interrupted Onyx, who was about to speak.

“Forget it. You can’t come up with anything new. I’ll find out myself later.

“A lord of grace in the desert, and he’s developing so well. Interesting.

“But what I’m most curious about is whether or not this Lord Richard is as special as you say, that not even the Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce has the right to make him submit...”

Chapter 478 - 478 Has Lord Richard Heard of Qing Qiu, Who is the Strongest of the Grace Mainland Overlords?

“Lord Richard, this is the Poenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce.”

Rebecca indicated for Richard to look to the side through the glass window.

Richard turned his head and followed the lady's hand signal. He saw the dense cluster of buildings ahead.

Unlike the Violet Manor, the Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce was not in the form of a manor but a vast building community.

A few wide roads in the middle extended into the buildings. Several carriages went in and out and were supremely busy.

The people who came and went all wore the same uniform. And some managers even wore special medals on their chests.

This scene reminded Richard of the offices of the big companies on Planet Blue. It was very different from the Violet Manor, which was more of a residential area.

The only thing they had in common was the area they occupied.

The carriage followed the middle road and slowly entered the core area.

Then, he followed the carriages of the Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce and stopped in an enormous open space.

Richard alighted from the carriage and had dark valkyrie and Xina wait.

He didn't want to expose his power starkly.

The dark valkyrie was a great weapon of mass destruction. The fewer people who knew about her, the better.

He also wondered if he should let her change her equipment next time. Many players in the live stream had seen the dark valkyrie before...

Richard saw Onyx just as he finished giving his instructions.

“Lord Richard!”

The big-bellied-merchant hero walked over quickly. He wanted to hug him.

“You have finally come to Solan City!”

Richard looked at his old acquaintance and smiled.

“Onyx, long time no see.”

The other party was the earliest batch of natives he knew in the “Shining Era”. At that time, Twilight City had more than a dozen troops and 200 residents, And they were so weak that it was unsightly.

“Lord Richard, Twilight City is too far away from Solan City. A round trip would take almost two months. I can’t go there often...”

Onyx laughed bitterly.

Sometimes, he honestly admired Richard for developing Twilight City to such an extent in the harsh environment of the desert of death.

He would probably be back in less than a month if it were him.

The hot and dry desert was not a place for ordinary people.

Onyx then remembered Rebecca and hurriedly bowed with his hand on his chest after they exchanged a few pleasantries.

“Lady Rebecca, please forgive my rudeness. It’s been a long time since I last saw Lord Richard...”

Rebecca smiled and nodded.

“There’s no need to apologize. It’s reasonable... I have to thank you. If you didn’t establish a connection with Twilight City, I might not even know Lord Richard.”

Onyx said in surprise.

It was like Lady Rebecca already got what she wanted in Twilight City.

“I wish you well. May you become the heir of the Frostwolf family soon.”

Rebecca did not hide her desire to control the Frostwolf clan. And she did not care what others would think. Her goal had always been firm.

Onyx excitedly welcomed Richard through the main door in front of him into the inner core building of the Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce after a brief exchange of pleasantries.

It was a blooming phoenix-tail flower.

It marked the unique paint on the surface of the building, which made it very bright.

A blooming phoenix-tail flower came into view from afar.

“This phoenix-tail flower bloomed when it founded the Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce. It is also the symbol of the Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce.”

Onyx proudly introduced everything to Richard.

They entered the building from the bottom of the flower.

A comfortable and cool air hit them in the face.

“Each of our buildings has been enchanted with a constant temperature spell. So we can keep cool all year round.”

Richard turned to look at Rebecca. He thought of the ice spirit statue in Twilight City.

He smiled and didn't say anything.

He turned around and looked at his surroundings. The style was quite exquisite, unlike the rough desert.

One could see oil paintings, antiques, and embosses everywhere. They were elegant and luxurious, without the slightest bit of the impetuous aura of a businessman.

It gave off heaviness as if it had passed down for hundreds of years.

Some things needed time to settle, and one could not obtain it shortly.

Along the way, the staff members hurriedly performed their duties and did not encounter any blind people to stop them.

Along the way, quite a few players passed by, but they did not dare to get close, only dared to watch from a distance.

Onyx stood in front of an alchemy elevator with Richard and the others after they passed through the hall.

Richard looked at the strange elevator version and found it very interesting.

It was still unique, although the development was different from Planet Blue.

Onyx pulled the elevator door open with pride and gestured to the front.

“This is the alchemy technology of the Fortress City. Please, go ahead!”

It was like he showed off his toy.

Richard laughed as he entered.

However, it seemed understandable as he thought about it. The division between the upper and lower classes in the “Shining Era” was supremely exaggerated.

The commoners at the bottom of the world did not have enough to eat. And the overall level of development was still intensely in a low state.

It was indeed something to be proud of for having alchemy technology beyond the imagination of ordinary people.

'Hualala!'

A slight sound of chains that stirred after Onyx closed the door came from above him. Then, a centrifugal force rose quickly.

Ninth floor.

'Crack!'

They heard the sound of the buckle that tightened.

Onyx tidied his clothes and elegantly opened the elevator door.

"Inside is the Office of Chairman Windsor."

Richard nodded and stepped forward.

The two guards immediately looked over with knife-like eyes.

However, Richard ignored them and followed Onyx to the door.

Richard's eyes glowed with a fiery red the moment he entered.

A beautiful figure in a red-noble suit stared at him, her eyes scrutinized him.

The other party's skin was white and soft, and her face was exquisite and perfect. It was like she was a gift from the gods. One could not find a single flaw. No matter how picky this one could be.

Light purple eyes seemed to have stars that twinkled and exuded a soul-stirring light.

The most admirable thing was the other party's temperament, which was graceful and elegant... It was as if one could use all the beautiful adjectives to describe her.

An ordinary noble lady would not even be able to raise her head.

Although Rebecca, the eldest daughter of the Grand Duke, was also stunningly beautiful, she appeared much more immature and young when compared to her unique aura.

Richard's eyes didn't change much.

Instead, he opened the attribute panel with some curiosity.

He was more interested in her strength than her stunning beauty.

However, he only took a glance before his eyes turned serious.

[Lady Windsor]

[Boss Unit]

[Level: ???]

[???

[???

'Boss unit...'

The owner of the Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce appeared to be around 27 or 28 years old, was the boss.

It reminded him of the President of the Scarlet Council in the first instance dungeon, the top boss who rubbed the plane with his bare hands.

The Chairman of the Phoenix-tail Flower Chamber of Commerce was ultimately arduous.

She revealed a smile on her face and held her chest. She slightly turned while she suppressed emotions in her heart.

“Good morning, Honorable Chairman Windsor.

“I’m Richard, the Lord of Twilight City– I’m here to greet you.”

His tone was polite, neither haughty nor humble.

Now, he was here to visit on behalf of Twilight City.

Even if the other party were a legend, he would treat him as an equal.

Moreover, it was just a boss unit... There were three Twilight Cities.

The strength in his hands was his uttermost confidence.

Windsor’s eyes brightened as she looked at Richard’s extraordinary bearing.

Only a few people could compare this temperament in Solan City.

Crown of the King of Darkness, leadership, glorious points... These characteristics made his temperament and charm reach an astonishing level.

“Good day, Chairman Windsor. Thank you for your help.”

Before Windsor could respond, Rebecca also stepped forward to greet her.

Windsor glanced at Rebecca and Richard’s positions with interest.

To make the eldest daughter of the Grand Duke fall behind, this grace mainland overlord... It did seem extraordinary.

She nodded slightly.

“No need to be so polite. I hope you can take control of the Frostwolf clan soon.”

She turned to Richard and bowed back to him.

“Welcome, Lord Richard. Nice to meet you.”

She gestured to the white tea table beside him as she spoke.

“Please, take a seat.”

Richard nodded slightly and sat down with Rebecca.

After the maidservant filled the cup with tea.

Windsor glanced at big-bellied Onyx and smiled at Richard.

“Lord Richard, Onyx holds you in high regard... None of the grace mainland’s overlords can compare to you.”

Richard couldn’t help but laugh.

He glanced at Onyx while he sparingly blushed. He did not expect Twilight City to hold such a high position in his heart.

He suspected that the few jars of Desert Crown Honey had softened the other party’s mouth...

He said softly.

“You’re too kind, President Windsor. Although Twilight City has accumulated some power, it’s still far from enough.”

“Grace mainland overlord has many hidden talents. No one can say that one can compare to him.”

It wasn’t a lie. Who knew what kind of fortuitous encounters the idiotic players would have? They might have obtained some treasure like a forbidden spell.

“You said you’re invincible, right? Come and taste my big baby...”

Windsor laughed.

“Not necessarily. Has Lord Richard heard of Qingqiu? In the competition between the 20 billion grace mainland overlords, the other party had swept through everything and ascended to the throne with an invincible attitude.”

“Can’t one say such a person is unparalleled?”

“Furthermore, I have also heard that Qingqiu has also taken the crown in the last mission the deity assigned...”

“I heard that the commotion was even more colossal that time...”

“He fled with the princess of an empire, faced the siege of the evil and good camps, and fought the world alone.

“During the crisis, the other party even designed and created a terrifying rift valley collapse which buried millions of enemies with his own hands.

“Finally, retreat in one piece.”

As she said this, admiration engulfed her eyes.

He was worthy of her respect, even if he was the grace mainland overlord.

Onyx stood at the side and felt sparingly uncomfortable. It was like another city outdone Twilight City.

He was a firm supporter of Twilight City.

However, the other party's battle record was exaggerated, and he couldn't criticize it.

He could only whisper.

The primary plane is vast, and the 20 billion grace mainland overlords are scattered. The chances of meeting Qingqiu Lord were so slim that it was almost negligible.

"President, Twilight City has its strengths... Perhaps, I don't need to compete with Qingqiu."

The other party was the first among the 20 billion people, but the grace mainland had completed two god missions, and the other party was first in both. There was no way to compare.

Rebecca's expression became rather subtle when she heard the discussion between the two.

She turned to look at the calm Richard, and her mood lifted.

It was the first time she had heard of such a shocking incident... 'Lord Richard, you're amazing.'

Her eyes sparkled.

She looked at the two while they lamented Qingqiu's admirable battle results and smiled.

She was like a child, and another child stole her candy.

Chapter 479 - 479 If Lord Richard is Already So Outstanding, I Wonder How Qing Qiu is Doing? [1/2]

Richard's expression was sparingly strange as he listened to Chairman Windsor and Onyx's conversation.

He suddenly thought of something and opened his attribute panel. His eyes stopped on the column above him for a moment.

[Status: Three glorious points (fame spread, additional five glorious points upon entry to the underground world)]

[Additional Feature: Intimidation—intimidate enemies with lower mythos than you, causing them to be in awe. Personal charm increases, and there is a chance to attract heroes to join you. The entry to the underground city will automatically upgrade the relationship in awe.]

[The system activated the glorious status attribute when he became the Vice President of the Bloodhoof City Council.]

He had received two points, which were only effective in the underground world.

He had gained another three points when he flattened the gray-colored dwarves. Now his glorious status in the underworld had reached five points.

However, he could only use them in the underground world.

The universal three glorious points were the reward he received for becoming the King of Gladiator in the death corner fighting arena.

At that time, he was still curious about how the system would display this glorious status.

Now, he knew.

The ten billion players were the best advertising staff.

The players spread the name 'Qingqiu' throughout the primary plane.

To take first place out of tens of billions of people was already glorious, although the players' overall strength was low.

Even his first dungeon experience dugged three glorious points. The record of killing millions in the spatial rift valley reached the glorious-level. So they unsurprisingly spread.

These three glorious points had an enormous impact.

“I wonder how many glorious points I’ll need to raise my level to attract high-level heroes to come and join me...”

He had gained the support of many orc warriors when he captured the orcs last time. Although he gave them all to [Steamed Bun Lover], he had also tasted the sweetness of it.

It made him look forward to the day when he could get a large group of followers to join him just by showing his ID...

Richard looked at the two after he recollected his thoughts and said softly.

“There will be a chance to meet that Qingqiu... Chairman Windsor. I’m here to deepen the partnership between Twilight City and the Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce. Also, to seek some advice.”

Windsor didn’t dwell on the comparison between Qingqiu and Richard. She still had to take care of Onyx’s face.

The other party’s bearing gave her a striking first impression, although they had just met and had yet to have a deep conversation.

Even if Richard was not as powerful as Qingqiu, one of the most powerful among the grace mainland overlords, he was still worthy of respect.

She looked straight into those deep eyes.

“You’re welcome, Lord Richard. Just get straight to the point. The Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce has always been friendly to our business partners.”

Richard took a moment to organize his thoughts.

“Twilight City is in the depths of the desert. It is arduous to contact the outside world.

“To better carry out transactions, we have would set up a Chamber of Commerce in Solan City.

“Twilight City doesn’t have much experience in this area, so...”

He didn’t finish his words, but his meaning was obvious.

Windsor laughed.

“This is a good thing. In the future, I won’t have to spend two months deep into the desert to buy the Desert Crown Honey.”

“Onyx, help Lord Richard with this.”

Then, she seemed to have thought of something and added.

“Lord Richard, to build a chamber of commerce needs a fixed office address. The Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce can provide you with a house for free as your suitable location for the time being. It’s not too late to move out when you find a suitable location.”

Richard chuckled.

It was rare for the other party to take the initiative to offer help when they met for the first time.

The Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce could be considered a behemoth in Twilight City.

Although the things provided were nothing much, the other party’s good intentions were honest.

However, with Rebecca in front of him, there was no need for the other party’s good intentions.

Just as he was about to decline, Rebecca spoke first.

“There’s no need to worry, Chairman Windsor. I gave the Violet Manor to Lord Richard.

“The Twilight City Chamber of Commerce already has a place to stay.”

Windsor's eyes narrowed.

It sparingly surprised her as she looked at the smiling Rebecca.

The Violet Manor was the Frostwolf family's only residence in Solan City. Although it was not worth much to a Grand Duke's family, it was not cheap.

Now, she gave it away to Richard, and it was a grace mainland overlord.

More importantly, she had never met this lord before. She had only gone to the desert once...

She glanced at the calm Richard, and her opinion of him rose again.

She did not think that the eldest daughter of the Grand Duke would be an idiot.

Rebecca had just come into contact with the ruler of Twilight City, and she already gave him the manor.

There must be something special about the other party that she valued.

'Was it the fur of the fire dragon rabbit?

‘Although it was precious, it was not worth giving away a manor, right?’

She gathered her thoughts and gave Richard a meaningful look.

“Looks like I’m overthinking things. Lord Richard is extraordinary.”

Richard smiled.

“I’ll remember your kind intentions, Chairman Windsor. In the future, Twilight City will have a better partnership with the Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce.”

Richard took out two glass bottles of honey from the system space as he spoke.

It was as thick as amber. It glowed faint golden light.

It was ultimately eye-catching.

“This is the latest high-grade honey produced from the desert crown bee. There are only two jars.”

Chapter 480 - 480 If Lord Richard is Already So Outstanding, I Wonder How Qing Qiu is Doing? [2/2]

“Twilight City is not wealthy as the Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce. It can bring out too many treasures. I can only express my gratitude with this.”

The Desert Crown Honey worked with the Phoenix-Tail Chamber of Commerce for a long time.

Richard upgraded the rare-level desert bees to special when he conquered the underground world and plundered vast resources.

It has upgraded the honey it produced to special.

It improved the taste and effect by more than one level.

The current Desert Crown Honey could be called the top food.

Twilight City sold the rabbit fur of the fire dragon rabbit for a reasonable price.

The Desert Crown Honey was the first treasure Richard had obtained. So they could not leave him behind.

Windsor's eyes lit up.

She immediately picked up one of the bottles and pondered.

Even though sealed glass bottles separated them, the fragrance that penetrated the heart and mind was still faintly discernible.

Windsor couldn't help but look at Richard. She received a signal from him that he didn't mind after a few exchanges of glances. She didn't call for a maid but personally opened the bottle.

At that moment.

A fragrance several times richer than the rare-level Desert Crown Honey from before assailed her nose.

The rare-level Desert Crown Honey was already soul-captivating enough, and the special level was simply a gift from the gods.

Everyone's saliva started to drool when she smelled the fragrance.

"This is the super honey?"

It has surprised Windsor.

She picked up the spoon used for eating snacks and scooped a spoonful with a bit of eagerness.

Richard saw the woman's eyes curve into crescents when she put it in her mouth, like a little girl who had just found her favorite snack.

There was an inexplicable contrast of cuteness.

Richard's expression was a little strange. He suddenly remembered what Onyx had said before, that his chairman was fond of the Desert Crown Honey.

So it wasn't just a courtesy.

The look into Windsor's eyes suddenly changed after she savored it for a moment.

She felt a wave of majestic energy enter her body after she swallowed the honey. In an instant, her entire person became alert.

She looked at the honey with surprise and joy.

Not only did it taste better. It enormously improved the original recovery effect!

She carefully closed the bottle and looked at Richard with a burning gaze.

How's the production of the special Desert Crown Honey?"

"No less than 300 units per month."

She was indeed satisfied with this number.

"Lord Richard, we should update our trading price."

“The advanced Desert Crown Honey costs 200 rare resources per unit. The Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce hopes to purchase one unit of 1,000 rare resources for the special-level.

The price was five times higher.

It was more than Richard had expected.

He opened his attribute panel and glanced.

Desert Bee Nest

[Level: Special]

[Queen Bee]: Special (after being promoted to an extraordinary Queen Bee, the hive will produce better quality honey)

[Special Characteristics: It can produce special quality desert honey with a special fragrance. After eating it, it can immediately recover 30% of stamina, injuries, and 30% mana. In the next hour, it can enormously speed up the recovery of stamina, injuries, and mana.

[Number of Bees: Vast

[Secondary Beehive: Fourteen (can have two advanced, four elite, 8 ordinary Secondary Queen Bees)

[Production: A minimum of 30 units of special honey per week (Current Available Reserves: 20 units), Rare-level Queen Bees can produce 15 units of special honey (30) every week, elite-level Queen Bees 10 units (40), ordinary-level Queen Bee 5 units (40).

[Description: A rare bee in the desert. Extremely rare.]

The number of honeycombs increased to 15 when it upgraded the desert bees to special-level

All the beehives added together could produce 130 units of special honey every week, which was 520 units a month.

One thousand rare resources per unit. That would be... Five hundred twenty thousand.

It was even more ridiculous than the fire dragon rabbit at the current stage.

Eleven dead stone statues only required 200,000 rare resources per month, which could cover the recruitment needs of more military lairs.

He wouldn't worry about having enough resources to recruit when expanding the troop in the future.

It pleased Richard.

Farming was a project with low returns in the early stages and high returns in the later stages.

Of course, the most important thing was the Black Gold System could upgrade the level of the troop lairs. It was the eternal god.

She slowly spoke when Richard didn't respond.

"Lord Richard, this price isn't low... The Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce will not mistreat our business partners."

Richard returned to his senses and smiled.

"I naturally believe in Chairman Windsor."

As he spoke, he suddenly thought of something and deeply said it.

"I came to Solan City because I have a favor to ask of the Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce."

"I can give three to five years' worth of the Desert Crown Honey to the Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce for free if you can help me."

These words surprised Windsor.

It was a massive fortune.

“Tell me, if you can help, the Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce will not disappoint you.”

Richard said.

“I accidentally obtained a sleeping evil faction hero. His strength is above level-15.”

“I need a Contract Scroll that can enslave him...” He said.

He had three main goals in coming here this time. He wanted to find the treasure that could enslave the Grand Duke vampire, set up a Chamber of Commerce, and find a way to use the dimension stone.

The construction Chamber of Commerce was the simplest, but the latter two weren't. He could only use all the power he could.

It was the same for players to search for information, and it was the same for using the Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce.

Windsor looked at him, deep in thought.

She slowly shook his head after a moment of silence.

“I'm sorry, the Phoenix-Tail Flower Chamber of Commerce can't help you with this... Such a treasure is scarce, and one won't even circulate it in the market.

“A treasure that could enslave a hero must be precious.

“It would be difficult to obtain it.

“However, Solan City’s Black Market is open today. You can go and try your luck. You could find something.”

She said with some deep meaning.

“In the Black Market, there’s a shop called the Red Dragon General Store. They sell all kinds of strange items. You can go and ask... Maybe you’ll get what you want.

“You can mention my name if you can’t get into the shop.”

Richard’s eyes lit up.

The Red Dragon General Store must be expensive if he specifically told them about his status.

Furthermore, the other party had told him to mention her name... She showed distinct goodwill.

As expected, the martial world was not about fighting and killing. It was about the ways of the world.

“Thank you, Chairman Windsor...”

The atmosphere became more harmonious after both sides got what they wanted.

Twenty minutes later, Richard said his goodbyes and left for the Black Market.

As for the plane stone and the seed of the world tree, he did not intend to inquire about the news on the bright side.

This thing was too precious, and there had never been a good outcome for a child to cross the market with gold...

Windsor didn't try to keep him. She had Onyx send him out of the Chamber of Commerce.

Onyx, the powerful boss, asked with interest after he returned.

“The Lord of Twilight city did not disappoint me.”

“Although the conversation was not in-depth, his temperament, style of speech, and knowledge are all top-notch. Even the heirs of the vast families in Solan City might not have a bearing.

“Rebecca, the eldest daughter of the Ice Empire's Grand Duke Frostwolf, gave away the manor so easily. The other party must have seen something in her...”

Onyx was a little hesitant.

“Chairman Windsor, you’ve asked Lord Richard to go to the Red Dragon General Store, is it...”

Onyx still couldn’t think of any words to describe it after he pondered.

Windsor laughed.

“Didn’t you notice? The crown on his head and the cape on his back were all glorious treasures... A lord in the primary plane for less than half a year could obtain a legendary treasure. How extraordinary is this?”

“Besides, the Red Dragon General Store doesn’t eat people. My teacher is an honest man from the good camp. He’s very curious about the grace mainland overlord...”

“Richard could get the Contract Scroll from our teacher with Lord Richard’s ability.”

She looked at the Desert Crown Honey on the table as he said that.

“He made me think more highly of the grace mainland overlord... If Lord Richard, who is not famous, is so outstanding, I wonder what kind of demeanor the strongest of the grace mainland overlord, Qingqiu, has?”