

The World 981

Chapter 981 - 981 Bring it Back and Tie it Up Like a Dog [2/3]

“This bastard has a part of the Chaos Divine Sin’s body beside it!! It wanted to revive that monster!”

“Chaos Divine Sin?”

The name alone made Richard uneasy.

Moreover, it was something that even the Creation God could not kill. No wonder Windsor wasn’t able to execute the Kobold God.

This fellow had most likely entrusted a part of its soul to the Chaos Divine Sin’s body to escape.

No wonder the Black Gold system had notified him an infection had corrupted the Kobold God and had fallen into madness.

“Lord Richard, we have to act as soon as possible. We don’t know what will happen when that part recovers. I said that this space is so strange. One has sealed the land that suppressed the Chaos Divine Sin’s body.”

Tai Long’s tone sounded anxious.

Richard narrowed his eyes.

“Loreinna, try it.”

The silver-haired, silver-eyed vampire archduchess’ body immediately emitted a dazzling light.

She slowly extended her right hand, and the front part disappeared into thin air.

Countless blood-red lines surrounded the Kobold God. A hole suddenly appeared in its chest, and an arm passed through it.

But in the next second.

The blood-red lines around it suddenly trembled. A meat grinder must have severed the arm and instantly turned into minced meat.

The Kobold God’s body instantly returned to its original state without damage.

Loreinna’s face turned pale as she subconsciously stepped back.

She left her original spot, and her right hand had already disappeared.

She took a deep breath, and energy surged from her body. The blood-red line severed the arm and instantly grew back at a speed visible to the naked eye.

It returned to its initial state in a moment.

However, only Loreinna knew a terrifying energy still wrapped around her upper arm. The enemy still corroded her power.

That power had no source. It would take at least three to five days to remove it. Loreinna's right hand would be even weaker than ordinary humans, and she could no longer use the legendary skill, the Pale Hand.

Loreinna's probing hand ignited the already deranged Kobold God.

Everyone could incessantly hear vicious curses. The blood-red lines spread rapidly.

The surrounding void collapsed bit by bit.

The sound of their heartbeat grew increasingly mighty.

The Krina warriors could no longer hold their weapons. They used their hands to cover their ears.

Heartbeats were like heavy hammers that struck their souls. They wanted to block. But they could not, no matter how hard they tried.

The giant worms trembled as they prostrated on the ground. Some of the weaker worms spat out mucus, and their life force fainted. It was like they could die at any time.

The great terror revived.

Tai Long couldn't take it anymore.

His body suddenly disappeared from Richard's side. A terrifying shockwave exploded in the air in the next second.

The space instantly blurred.

It created a twisted path in the air as if it wanted to crush all the blood-red lines.

However, something must have directly annihilated the powerful energy that could destroy city walls and collapse mountains when it reached that area. It did not cause any ripples.

Richard saw Tai Long. He incessantly surged despite futile results. Instead, he attacked even more crazily.

He consumed the power he had gathered with intense difficulty.

It still couldn't shake or destroy the blood-red region.

The speed of its expansion became even faster.

The strong heartbeat was so loud that even the Twilight City troops could barely bear it.

Chapter 982 - 982 Bring it Back and Tie it Up Like a Dog [3/3]

“Lord Richard, please help me attack! We absolutely can’t let the Kobold God succeed, or we won’t be able to survive. It would be useless even if it escaped!!”

“Chaos Divine Sin holds the power of fate!!”

Richard narrowed his eyes.

However, he still hadn’t ordered his subordinates to cooperate with the attack.

Instead, he touched the long fur of the golden lion under its buttocks.

A dangerous light flashed in his eyes.

“Barbosa... Let your power devour everything.

“Release the devil in the Kobold God’s heart. It should follow its heart and get more...”

The golden lion growled.

The golden fur emitted a faint light.

That was simultaneously.

An invisible wave instantly spread out. Everyone on the battlefield felt the same emotion.

How could they be so miserable?

They would not have fallen to such a state if they had treasures and great power.

The greed in their hearts rose like crazy. Richard even felt a sense of possessiveness when he saw the weapons and equipment of his companions.

He looked at the sky, and he had even more crazy thoughts.

That god, that lowly dog-headed man, was not worthy of being a god. They should replace it! The power of the gods was what they deserved!

Commander Karen was severely injured, and her thoughts were slow. She did not feel much of the power. Her heart sank when she saw the blood-red lines that covered the sky.

Her initial excitement turned into despair. The Kobold God must have prepared to lure the overlord with the Krina.

She was right!

However, how should one deal with a god's backup plan?

Then, she saw an even soaring power than a transcendent attack. That tried to destroy those blood-red lines.

However, the final result sank her heart.

She couldn't cause any damage!

Would this last hope be destroyed?

She raised her head and stared blankly at the figure behind the golden Llon. Her emotions became unprecedentedly complicated.

The Kobold God felt the boundless power around it and suddenly had a crazy thought.

This power should belong to it!

It should master it also!

Not to be the slave of this damned Chaos Divine Sin!!

It was the true master!

As long as it grasped the other party's power, those bastards who had once hurt it, those enemies who disdained it, and those gods who looked down on it would all prostrate at its feet!!

Endless greed filled the corrupted soul.

It turned around and looked in the direction of the blood-red lines.

Madness filled its expression.

Then, it didn't stay where it was, and walked in that direction step by step.

The Kobold God left the spot. The terrifying heartbeat suddenly slowed down.

Its posture gradually weakened as it moved.

Chapter 983 - 983 Reaping the Profits, A Huge Harvest

The powerful and terrifying heartbeat was like a heavy hammer that smashed the ground. The surroundings turned chaotic as the Kobold God moved.

The scarlet blood vessels of the chaos of divine sin could block the explosions from the outside world. But they could not do it with the desires of the human heart.

The Kobold God quickly headed toward the area covered by the scarlet blood vessels under everyone's gaze.

A moment later, it completely deviated from its original direction.

It strode to the edge of the area and stopped abruptly.

Greed filled its red eyes.

"Mine, all mine.

"I alone is worthy of controlling this power!

"All of you will become my slaves, slaves!"

It reached out its right hand and grabbed a blood vessel.

It pulled it back.

“Thud!”

It was as if it pulled the thread that had fallen off its clothes. It instantly pulled out an even longer blood coffin.

‘Bang! Bang!’

‘Bang! Bang!’

Its heart suddenly intensified. The trembling giant worm crawled on the ground. It incessantly released miserable roars as if it endured extreme pain.

Twilight City in the sky was in chaos. The souls in the heads of the mummies fluctuated crazily like candles one could extinguish at any time.

‘Ah!’

The Kobold God let out an excited roar. It pulled force in its hands again.

‘Thud!’

It smashed countless scarlet blood vessels.

It pulled a bloody heart the size of a head from the end of the scarlet blood vessels.

An endless sense of oppression instantly erupted.

It was as if the stars above the endless void crashed down. The world has overturned, and the seawater flew.

The world suddenly dimmed, and all one could see was the beating heart.

It even blurred the thoughts of the Krina warriors on the ground.

One must have muted the giant worms. They all pressed their heads against the ground and even stopped breathing. It was like they feared the god to notice them.

Tai Long also stopped attacking at this moment. He looked at this scene in a daze, and his body could not help but tremble.

Richard's heart beat wildly. He felt the approach of a great sense of danger. Every cell in his body reminded him to leave.

It was like a giant hand strangled his soul. And the power of the yellow sand that circulated in his body had slowed down.

That indescribable pressure was countless times stronger than when he faced the Spider Goddess Lolita, the ultimate boss who had provoked the war of gods.

It was a pressure that came from the instinct of life and soul. It was an irresistible pressure from a higher level.

“Chaos of divine sin!”

A terrifying existence that even the god of creation could not kill.

It was just a heart that had been sealed and suppressed for thousands of years. At this moment, it still had unimaginable power! No one knew what kind of power these creatures possessed when they were alive.

At this moment, the Kobold God got increasingly crazier.

Its gaze was like a guru that had obtained the power of Lord of the Rings in the movie. Its thoughts were endless possessiveness and greed.

“Mine, only mine...”

It muttered, and a hand tore the black armor on its chest. That revealed its skin. Then, a dagger appeared out of thin air and slashed fiercely at its chest.

It cut the flesh open, but no blood flowed out. That was a translucent heart.

Head-sized chaos of divine sin's heart looked like one couldn't place it.

However, the Kobold God did not care and forcefully pressed it against its chest.

It had contact with the flesh, and the heart shrunk and fused into its chest.

The Kobold God's face revealed greediness. It was like a greedy slave who had obtained a dragon's treasure.

"Strength! Power!"

A crazed voice resounded through the sky.

The scarlet blood vessels that eroded the void stopped for a moment.

Then, they danced like the tentacles of an octopus.

Long, thin, wriggling scarlet blood vessels covered the sky.

The strange and crazy scene made the Krina warriors on the ground feel a chill down their spines. They were not afraid of death.

Two figures appeared still in the bottomless abyss.

The two transcendent kobolds turned excited when they saw this scene.

Their lord was about to rise again!

However, they suddenly realized that the scarlet blood vessels that had been very friendly to them earlier had wrapped them up.

A sharp pain entered their minds.

Their consciousness fell into darkness.

The two transcendentals disappeared without a sound. They left behind only the scent of blood.

'Bang!'

'Bang! Bang!'

The Kobold God placed the heart in its chest. It started beating again.

At this moment, the terrifying mental impact was even stronger than before.

Twilight City in the sky jumped a few times and even looked like it was on the verge of collapse.

The weak ones on the ground even had their souls shattered and lost their vitality.

It was not the beat of the heart. It was the whisper of the Grim Reaper, the terrifying curse of the world!

The Kobold God's open chest had yet to heal. It displayed the beat of its heart to everyone.

The aura on the other party's body rose rapidly with the fluctuation.

A brilliant divine might spread out.

It mixed with the pressure of the chaos of divine sin. The space became even more terrifying.

Only Xina of the Krina Tribe on the ground stood still. The rest already clutched their heads as they lay. They tried to reduce the pain caused by the impact on their souls.

The armor on the Kobold God's body couldn't withstand the power and cracked rapidly. It shattered eventually.

It revealed a hair-covered body.

At this moment, the blood vessels on its skin bulged like small snakes as if something tried to crawl out of them.

Its appearance became ferocious.

One has not devoured the god's mind. It didn't care about this. It glared at Richard while it felt endless power in its body.

"Worm!

"You deserve to die!!

"I will imprison your soul and let the abyssal worms devour it for a million years!

"And the bastards around you, all of you must die!!"

It was an unimaginable pain for a mighty god if a mortal would trample on it.

That was something that even the Soul Devouring Beasts could not compare to.

This power made it unprecedentedly powerful!

It could trample all its enemies under its feet. It should be the lord of the entire multiverse, the second god of creation!

It spoke. It waved its arm fiercely and wanted to cast a skill.

The madness on the Kobold God's face turned into panic.

The boundless energy in its body was like a galaxy. It could not mobilize it.

"Why?"

It focused energy again to mobilize it out of intense fear. But it was still like a clay ox that entered the sea.

The power in its body did not respond to its command at all.

"No!"

"This is impossible!!"

"Impossible!"

Countless wriggling scarlet blood vessels in the sky waved wildly. The dog-headed man statue was like a clown.

However, a terrifying pressure surrounded it. It could not do anything.

The Kobold God miraculously regained a trace of rationality in its despair. It looked at Richard and cursed hysterically.

“Bastard, worm, what did you do to me? What did you do?”

“How could I possibly place the chaos of divine sin’s heart in my chest?”

It didn’t finish its sentence.

‘Bang! Bang! Bang!’

Its blood-red heart palpitated faster in its open chest.

The Kobold God felt enormous energy that surged into its body.

It was like one stuffed a one-meter-wide pipe into a hundred-meter-wide giant.

'Puchi!'

The scarlet blood vessels that bulged on the surface exploded. A scarlet energy gushed out like blood.

Then, a gorgeous bloody firework exploded under everyone's gaze.

'Bang!'

The crazed Kobold God turned into minced meat.

But Richard sensed a light flash in the explosion, and then a weak spiritual energy slipped.

"The backup plan of the Kobold God!"

A shock wave pushed the energy and smashed into the ground before he could give the order.

No one knew if it were a coincidence or not. But something pushed the soul power into the body of an unknown bug that had just died and looked like a dog.

'Awooh!'

The dog bug's corpse trembled and lowly growled. It opened its eyes for a moment and then closed them heavily. It fell into a coma.

The Kobold God's exploded corpse in the sky did not fall to the ground. Instead, the scarlet blood vessels in the sky devoured.

It lost the carrier.

The strong beating sound gradually weakened.

The scarlet blood vessels that had spread hundreds of meters around contracted toward the heart.

The heart devoured all the blood vessels after a dozen breaths disappeared.

The blurry void returned to ordinary.

Only a fist-sized heart floated in the air.

One would notice one had carved faint golden inscriptions on the heart. The bloody aura was so thick and undetectable but finally became visible.

The heartbeats that almost made everyone's souls collapse disappeared like a breeze.

The tortured warriors of the Krina Tribe remained paralyzed on the ground. Even their breathing gradually weakened.

Those hideous giant worms seemed to be dead. They did not move at all.

“Is it over?”

Commander Karen’s consciousness had already fallen into a hazy state. She felt an indescribable emotion awakened when she saw the Kobold God shattered. The heart stopped beating.

“Could it even break a god’s trump card so easily?”

“That Grace Mainland Overlord! It was powerful to such an extent!!

The fluctuations followed, and that exhausted the mind of the Kobold God. It finally fainted.

Molly lay on the ground. She barely held her breath. She looked up at the sky and stared blankly at the spatial rift.

The blurry figure riding on the golden lion was remarkable.

All the dissatisfaction she had toward Twilight City disappeared like bubbles. A strong sense of shame arose.

She tossed all her doubts against the ruler of Twilight City.

What right did she have to question an existence that could even kill a god?

What right did she have? With her identity as a genius in the Krina Tribe?

That was just a joke!

Xina once said the entire Krina Tribe did not have the right to fight against him!

It was not the loss of Twilight City that the Krina did not join them, but them!

She turned slightly and looked at the figure who stood stubbornly.

Her heart was a little complicated.

In the end, she was no match for this veteran. Not only was she no match for her in terms of martial arts, but even the lord she was loyal to was more remarkable than she had imagined.

She slowly closed her eyes as she pondered.

She knew that the ruler of Twilight City had arrived with soldiers. The Kobold God fell. The Krina people had a new identity—Servants of Twilight City.

The Krina Tribe was allowed to go independent. It would be difficult for them to continue to survive.

They could only reproduce by relying on mighty soldiers.

From now on, she would be like Xina. She fought for the lord who had saved the Krina Tribe and preserved their last hope.

She would stop until death.

Richard ignored the others.

Everyone was delighted.

He stroked the long fur of the golden lion full of praise.

A life born from the power of greed was indeed remarkable.

The most dangerous thing in the world was often the desire of intelligent life.

That was why the god's ancient tree was famous and was related to this.

Richard retracted his thoughts. He looked straight at the heart that had returned to its ordinary appearance.

Anticipation filled his eyes.

Chapter 984 - 984 The Madness of the Dwarf God! [1/3]

One must have engraved pale golden runes in the heart. That gave Richard an enchanting aura.

It was no longer beating but made people's hearts skip a beat. It was as if a great horror could revive at any time.

That was not a power that mortals could imagine.

Richard sighed and rode the golden lion in the void. His huge eyes stared at the heart.

His eyes couldn't hide the fear and dread.

He carefully approached and stopped more than ten meters away. He did not dare to take another step forward.

Richard could feel the golden lion's body tremble and the endless fear in its soul. He took a deep breath.

He flipped over and walked to the front of the heart.

Richard stood for a moment. He no longer sensed that fatal aura. The yellow sand on his body surged and transformed into an arm that grabbed the heart.

It grabbed the heart.

An indescribable feeling surged into his heart.

It was powerful, mysterious, vast, and endless.

Richard grabbed a world, not a heart.

That gave a vast and boundless chaotic world.

It made people unable to help but want to explore, delve into it, and even try to control that vast power.

Richard suddenly felt a sense of vigilance.

He abruptly cut off the magic power that controlled the yellow sand.

The yellow sand hand appeared the next moment.

It shattered.

The strong aura disappeared without a trace.

Cold sweat had already appeared on his forehead.

That was close!

He nearly lost the right path, although he had religiously prepared.

The process must have contaminated the Kobold God.

The power temptation from the deepest part of the bloodline almost made people feel intoxicated from the depths of their souls.

That was the instinct of intelligent life to become mightier.

The golden lion could easily magnify greediness.

No matter who was in control of this source of temptation at all times, it was impossible for them to be indifferent.

Richard pondered and took out the ancient god statue afterward.

A dark light enveloped his body. It condensed into a yellow sand hand that grabbed the heart.

This time, although he could still feel the majestic energy from his heart, he no longer desired to take it for himself.

The power of the stone of the ancient ones did not have any restraining effect against the chaos of divine sin. They were the same level, and the latter could not suppress the former.

That relieved Richard.

The yellow sand hand took the heart in front of him.

Richard looked closer and felt that the heart was extraordinary.

He opened the attribute panel. The heart displayed a simple attribute only.

It didn't even have a level or status.

Richard opened the Black Gold System without hesitation.

More detailed attributes immediately appeared.

[The chaos of divine sin's heart is an evil life form that lives in the endless void and chaos. The god of creation slaughtered it and sealed its body in the Mortal Plane of the "Shining Era," It could still use its heart. It's the source of the chaos of divine sin's endless power.]

[Note: The willpower of the chaos of divine sin is not firm enough, and it will infect and devour if you come into contact with it.]

Richard looked at the attributes and turned to look at Tai Long.

The attributes of the chaos of divine sin's heart were similar to what this god had described.

The things that gods knew were indeed not simple.

Richard was about to put the heart away.

Suddenly, a wave of heat emanated from his chest.

Richard's heart skipped a beat. The next moment, the Dwarf God statue appeared in his hand.

He had awakened the god that fell into a deep slumber to seal the corrupted ruler's crack.

His spirit sank into it.

On the familiar throne, the Dwarf God wore a crown and a gorgeous feathered cape. He looked at Richard wide-eyed.

Madness filled its expression.

“Goddess above!

“The heart of a chaos of divine sin. How could that thing appear in this world?

“The god of creation had killed that batch of chaos of divine sins!

“He threw all the hearts into the depths of the Mortal Plane and destroyed them with the power of the entire plane!

“Tens of millions of years have passed!

“The gods had once gone to investigate those hearts, and one had already obliterated half or more!

“Where did you get such a mighty chaos of divine sin’s heart?!”

A string of words had stopped Richard before he could speak.

Richard looked at the god who grabbed at him with amusement.

“Your Excellency Fam, as a god who has peeped into the river of fate, you shouldn’t be so shocked, right?”

The Dwarf God laughed angrily.

“As a Grace Mainland OverLord, how do you know what chaos of divine sin represents?”

“Those lives are terrifying existences that can compete with the world’s gods!

“This heart is the source of their power. That sovereign could obtain it and use this opportunity to improve!

“Otherwise, why would the gods deliberately open the seal of the Mortal Plane to check if the chaos of divine sin existed?! They wanted to use this to spy on a higher power!

“And now, the heart of the chaos of divine sin. That could make gods start a war of gods. You still don’t think so?”

The Dwarf God expressed envy.

It was like a blind man had obtained gold and used it as a stone.

“That heart could cause a war between gods?!”

Richard’s eyes lit up.

The god of deception told the origin of the heart. There was no direct comparison.

In that case, the value of this thing was shocking.

“Your Excellency Fam, the chaos of divine sin’s heart has a powerful corruption. How can I use it safely?”

Chapter 985 - 985 The Madness of the Dwarf God! [2/3]

Richard held it. He felt the greed in his heart. He wanted to use it. This thing was the same as the dimension stone Richard had previously obtained. It was clearly beyond what he could come into contact with now.

The Dwarf God said with some envy.

“You should be content. The one had wiped out the contamination of this heart. The remaining ones are already worlds apart from the initial state.

“Just a mere sight of this heart could make a god crazy if one has dug this heart out.

“How could you hold it so easily?”

Dwarf God looked to the side, and his tone sounded more stern.

“Should I say that Grace Mainland Overlord is worthy of being the pioneer of the “Shining Era?”

“You already have a ready-made subordinate that you can use. What are you worried about?”

“Oh,” Richard said softly, immediately interested.

“You mean... god’s ancient tree?”

The Dwarf God nodded. He must have thought of something. He carefully sized Richard up a few times and said solemnly, “Are you sure you’re not a descendant of the god of creation?”

Richard didn’t know whether to laugh or cry.

The Dwarf God looked indignant.

“Otherwise, why would you get all the good things?”

“The ancient statue, my statue, the dimension stone from before, the seed of the world tree, and the god of deception...”

“Why do I feel the descendants of the god of creation are that easy?”

He laughed again and did not wait for Richard to answer.

“I wouldn’t have to spend so much effort if you were a descendant of the god of creation.”

Richard shrugged and said nothing.

The Dwarf God waved his hand.

“Alright, go out... Let me remind you. Don’t tell anyone about the chaos of divine sin’s heart. One must have generous power to hold a treasure.

“Don’t even think about trying to control the power of this heart. It’s not something that mortals can pry into. Not even gods are qualified.

“That tree of yours was born from devouring the body of a divine sin. It has the right to inherit the power of chaos of divine sin...”

Richard raised an eyebrow before the Dwarf God could finish. He sensed something was wrong.

“The divine sins of the Mortal Plane are related to the chaos of divine sins?”

“The Mortal Plane unsuccessfully suppressed the energies due to their immense power when the god of creation sealed them. That caused a portion to leak out.

“Those strange, unremovable energies wandered in the world. Some gods who died in an accident due to resentment became their home.

“Thus, it gave birth to an evil existence that everyone is familiar with—divine sin.

“Although the sins that were born later weren’t as terrifying as the chaos of divine sins, they still inherited a part of their power. They wouldn’t die. That was their characteristic before a god wiped their divinity out.

“That was why everyone’s expression changes when they hear about the divine sin.”

Richard heard the ancient secret for the first time.

He just thought that the two existences were the same. He didn’t expect them to have such a relationship.

Richard was in a good mood.

The god's ancient tree was the trump card in his hands. The abomination tree could reinforce to an astonishing degree if he could devour the heart from the chaos of divine sin.

This wave of blood was worth it.

At that moment, Richard no longer wanted to talk. He asked a few questions about the status of the Dwarf God and responded he was fine. He left the statue and returned to his thoughts.

Richard grabbed the heart and subconsciously wanted to put it into the system space.

However, the system space did not respond.

The power it contained exceeded the limits of its capacity.

Richard did not hesitate when he saw this. He could nurture the god's ancient tree afterward and temporarily wrap it in yellow sand.

He was done and had the time to look at the battlefield.

The scene shocked the giant worms. The bugs had yet to recover.

They trembled and crawled on the ground. They dared not to move.

The warriors of the Krina Tribe recovered into a good state. The war had injured all. They breathed out more than they breathed in.

Richard gazed around and finally stopped at the dog-headed soldier the Kobold God's soul had fused with.

His expression was a little strange.

The Kobold God had become his mortal enemy ever since he unintentionally removed the curse of the Krina Tribe!

The other party was like a mad dog whose bones one had snatched away. It was like a dog that incessantly bit and climbed.

In particular, he had suffered unprecedented losses during the battle to attack Twilight City with the Dune Lord. He had accumulated troops for half a year, only for Richard to bury 70% of them.

Fortunately, the Kobold God's foundation was mighty enough, and he withstood the other party's attack.

Otherwise, Twilight City would become history.

However, it was intentional that the Kobold God could make up for the losses he caused to him every time.

The Kobold God had not only failed to reduce his strength, but he had also improved every time.

He had the demeanor of a wealthy existence.

“Loreinna, capture that dog-headed soldier. There is a part of the soul of the Kobold God inside.

“We’re still lacking a guard dog...”

Loreinna nodded happily.

She was very interested in enslaving gods.

She arrived on the ground with a flash. The energy in her body condensed into a dog chain and tied up the unconscious dog-headed soldier.

Then, the figure of the other party disappeared in the air with a wave of her hand.

Richard looked away and landed on the ground.

He stood firm. A beautiful figure with red eyes appeared before him. Grief and delight engulfed her exquisite face.

“Lord Richard...”

Her voice sounded like she was about to cry.

Chapter 986 - 986 The Madness of the Dwarf God! [3/3]

Richard looked at the large pieces of broken armor and the unhealed wounds on her body. The scene wounded his heart.

He reached out to help the young lady. He gently tucked her long hair behind her ear and said, "I'm here, Xina. You'll be alright. Don't cry."

The gentle voice made the young lady's emotions collapse. Tears incessantly poured out of the corners of her eyes, and she could not stop them.

This fearless warrior who could independently fight against transcendents appeared like a child at this moment.

Finally, she let go of herself and threw herself into Richard's arms. She sobbed.

"They're all dead, my lord. Our tribe people are all dead. Only us were left."

One to two hundred soul-crushing people of the Krina Tribe remained.

Her former playmates and close friends now had become cold corpses.

The giant worms even trampled some of the corpses to pieces.

Less than one in a hundred survived.

The Kobold God sealed this region to lose connection with the outside world. They could not find a way out. The despair was unimaginable, maddening, and soul-wrenching. They had to endure the attacks of a group of ferocious worms day and night. They could only see each fall until the city gradually collapsed.

But the young lady warrior prudently waited.

At some point, Richard suddenly reckoned that the young lady in his arms had stopped sobbing. He gently held her shoulders. He pushed her away slightly. Xina had fallen unconscious.

The lady warrior, who had persevered until the last moment, put down all her defenses in front of the person she relied on.

Richard sighed.

He waved his hand. He called the young centaur over.

Emily stepped forward and held Xina in her arms. Heartache filled her emotions. She carried her.

“Sister Xina... You’ll be alright.”

“I just fainted from exhaustion. I’ll be fine after resting for a while.”

Xina seemed to have thought of something and walked up to Commander Karen. The leader was still in a coma.

Richard didn’t know Karen, but the information on the attribute panel was accurate.

Since the other party was once a transcendent, she must be a vital figure in the Krina Tribe.

He bent down slightly, and a bottle of Desert Crown Honey mixed with water appeared in his hand. He controlled the Yellow Sand Hand and gently fed it to the other party.

‘Gulp, gulp, gulp.’ Karen’s life force gradually returned to a better state after a swallow of a few mouthfuls.

“You, you are Lord Richard? Thank you for your support. The Krina Tribe will forever remember you...”

A faint voice beside her caught Richard’s attention.

He turned around and saw a female warrior on the ground with scars all over her body.

He took two steps forward and fed the Desert Crown honey to the other party with the Desert Hand.

The female warrior obediently drank a few mouthfuls, and then her complexion improved at a visible speed.

Her aura stabilized, and she spoke.

“This is the best honey water I’ve ever drunk...”

Richard couldn’t help but laugh.

The warrior realized it as well. Her face was slightly red as he coughed lightly and said slowly, “Molly Krina, I send you my most noble greetings.”

She raised her hand and placed it on her chest.

Richard waved his hand. That was an indication there was no need for formalities.

He spoke calmly.

“You’re safe now. I’ll bring you back to Twilight City later.”

“Are there still your clansmen here?”

Molly nodded.

“There is a basement in the city center. The children of the Krina Tribe are all in there.”

“I’ll arrange for someone to pick them up immediately.”

Molly immediately heaved a sigh of relief when she heard the help. Then, as if she had thought of something, her tone was hesitant.

“Lord Richard, your subordinates... In the previous battle, Dark Valkyrie had caused great trouble to the Kobold God. That despicable false god had set up a scheme to banish her into the void.”

At this point, she felt embarrassed.

“We don’t know where Dark Valkyrie is either.”

Richard raised an eyebrow.

He expected an explanation for this. He couldn’t detect Dark Valkyrie.

However, he was not worried about the warrior’s safety with his thoughts of the Hero Altar. He would mostly spend some resources to revive her if anything happened.

This information that Molly mentioned piqued Richard’s interest.

“It should be difficult for Fay to deal with the Kobold God with her power, especially when there are several transcendents on the other side...”

Molly said with admiration.

“Lord, Dark Valkyrie almost single-handedly killed a transcendent from the Giant Worm Tribe a month ago!

“She advanced to transcendent after the battle!

“It’s also because of her that Krina City could hold on for so long...”

Richard was pleasantly surprised.

‘Dark Valkyrie had also advanced!’

Anticipation shrouded his being.

This boss was an ultimate existence that could compete with the god’s ancient tree for the number one battle power in Twilight City.

He wondered how much her attributes had increased after the advance.

Unfortunately, the system panel could not show current information. One needed to see the hero to know its attributes.

Chapter 987 - 987 Dark Valkyrie in the Void [1/2]

Richard no longer lingered on it. He would let Loreina investigate it later.

This transcendent who could enter the hidden plane had extraordinary scouting methods.

He looked at Molly on the ground, but he didn't help her up.

The Krina warriors could recover quickly. There was no need to worry.

He took out the note that asked for help after some thought.

“Is this the message you sent? What was with the symbol of the obelisk?”

Molly looked at the note with a subtle expression.

They did not have the slightest hope for this. They did not expect this note to be of such great help.

“Yes, Lord.”

“This obelisk is a strange building that we discovered before. The guards inside were mighty.

“Back then, Dark Valkyrie specially instructed us to mark it...”

‘Dark Valkyrie warned me?’

‘Did she discover something?’

“Then why didn’t you explain it?”

“That’s because we haven’t explored it either. Dark Valkyrie sensed a unique power. But she was unsure. With your intelligence, you’ll study it in depth and search for relevant information. You already have an answer before we explore it.”

Richard could not help but laugh.

Dark Valkyrie understood him.

There must be a message on a life-saving piece of paper and a small space, even if he didn’t know the information about the obelisk.

Following this line of thought, he would also take action.

“Where is the obelisk?”

“The area originally occupied by the Kobold God!”

When Molly mentioned the Kobold God, her expression was still sparingly dazed.

It would be difficult to deal with a god. His help wouldn't change anything. That was their greatest worry, even if Richard came.

The other party's current level was only transcendent.

But she hadn't expected Richard to appear domineeringly. He hadn't even spent much effort killing the Kobold God and snatching the terrifying heart.

“The Kobold God has fallen. That area shouldn't be a big threat to you. You can send troops to occupy it at any time.”

Richard nodded. “There's no rush.”

He turned and looked around. The troop had fed all the surviving Krina's with the Desert Crown Honey.

At this moment, the giant worms crawled on the ground and stirred again.

These hill-sized monsters still gave off a strong sense of oppression even though they crawled on the ground.

To outsiders, these giant worms were monsters they wouldn't want to face.

Richard was in high spirits.

"How many of these giant worms are there in this plane?"

"Countless..."

Molly slowly propped herself up on the ground and sat up. Her aura had much recovered, although her face was still pale.

"Her Excellency Dark Valkyrie once went deep into the area and discovered an even larger swarm of worms hundreds of kilometers away."

"Scarlet moss grew there, and the giant worms fed on it.

"Only a small portion launched an attack on Krina City."

Richard's eyes lit up.

They were countless.

The amount of flesh and blood energy required to upgrade the rotten swamp to level 5 was ridiculous.

The quality of the troops that those planes could send out would gradually decrease as time went on. By then, it might not even be enough to suck the lives of those 20 or so planes dry. That was according to the god of deception.

He was worried about how to expand the fishing field. Wasn't this plane ready-made?

One of these giant worms was equivalent to ten of them.

He would first transfer these Klina warriors back so that he would not have to worry about anything else.

He would make arrangements afterward.

The stone statues of the dead carried the weak Krina warriors on their backs and left through the spatial rift.

They brought all the children they had hidden in the city back under the guidance of Molly.

Soon, only Molly and Xina remained, aside from the Twilight City troop.

Richard suddenly thought of something.

“Molly, is there any treasure that the Krina Tribe hasn’t brought out?”

“This space is not stable...”

Molly shook her head with a bitter smile.

“We would indeed have a lot of rare resources if it were two months ago. But we have used them all in the past two months when we fought against the Zergs.”

Richard raised an eyebrow.

“My subordinates didn’t find any lairs in your city... Why?”

Molly’s tone carried a hint of pride.

“The warriors of the Krina Tribe are not something the troop recruited from the troop lair can compare to!”

“One can inherit inheritance with the bloodline of the Krina Tribe, so...we didn’t store those things.”

Richard was surprised.

“Then where did you use your rare resources?”

Molly spoke proudly.

“The inheritance of the Krina Tribe has a special characteristic... We can use rare resources to tattoo special inscriptions on our bodies to increase our strength!”

Richard understood.

The space around him rippled slightly, and Loreinna quietly appeared beside him.

“Lord, we’ve already searched the surroundings.”

“Is there anything unusual in this space?”

“The spatial energy here is extremely chaotic, like some sealing power. Rather than calling this a plane, it would be better to say this is a sealed land that has collapsed after time mostly wiped out the energy.”

Chapter 988 - 988 Dark Valkyrie in the Void [2/2]

“Sealed land?”

Richard thought of the chaos of divine sin's heart and nodded thoughtfully.

"One of the Twilight City heroes, Dark Valkyrie, was exiled to the void during a battle with the Kobold God."

"Continue to investigate and try your best to find her."

One had sealed Loreinna in the blood coffin when Dark Valkyrie left Twilight City. The two had never met.

"As you wish, Lord."

Loreinna's figure disappeared again afterward.

Molly saw this, and passion shrouded her eyes.

'Transcendent!

'That was a level that possessed supreme power!'

Their thirst for power had seeped into their bones after they experienced a war that almost wiped out their entire tribe.

Richard didn't care about Molly's gaze. He turned around and walked to the front of the spatial rift after he made arrangements for Loreinna.

The god of deception stared at him with a complicated gaze.

Richard couldn't help but laugh at the strange look on his face.

"Your Excellency Tai Long, you don't recognize me?"

The god of deception looked at the chaos of divine sin's heart wrapped in layers of yellow sand behind him and smiled bitterly.

"I didn't expect you to obtain the chaos of the divine sin's heart so easily."

He took a deep breath.

"Lord Richard, perhaps my future lies in Twilight City."

Richard looked at the guy's incoherent words and waved his hand.

"Alright, stop sighing here. It's not the time yet."

“Go to the rotten swamp and fix the crack in that plane.”

Richard gestured to the giant worms on the ground that had returned to the usual and gradually retreated.

“These giant worms are the best nourishment.

“We need them in this plane.”

The god of deception smiled.

“Leave it to me.”

He spoke and turned around happily. He left while he hummed a tune. His look was like he would receive a remarkable reward after a mission.

Richard looked at the god’s back and smiled meaningfully. He no longer said anything.

A moment later.

‘Rumble!

A loud noise came from the sky.

Molly raised her head. She saw a giant hand and countless mummies.

They spread from the sky to the ground.

Then, the ground split open. It formed a 30-meter-wide and 50-meter-high irregular crack.

She curiously looked at the crack. A blood-colored mist surged behind it that blocked her vision.

However, she could smell the scent of blood.

Along with this, an aura made her feel an inexplicable desire.

That was the desire in the depths of her bloodline.

It was like the thirst for water of an exhausted person in the desert for a few days. Or the hunger of a person who had not eaten for ten days or more.

It came from the deepest part of her heart.

“What was this?”

Molly looked at Richard blankly, not understanding what he meant.

She was puzzled. She suddenly realized the giant worms that had yet to retreat suddenly stopped.

Then, they all turned to look at the spatial rift. Possessiveness filled their cruel eyes.

However, the giant worms feared mummy troops near the spatial rift. They hesitated and did not move.

She sensed a unique energy that surged through the golden lion’s body.

However, when the energy reached her side, it quietly bypassed her.

She looked at this scene in astonishment. Her mind became even more muddled.

The golden lion joined, and those restless giant worms could no longer hold back.

A giant mucus worm wriggled its body and rushed into the space crack where the blood mist rose.

That was like a signal. The giant worms also rushed into the spatial rift like crazy when they realized the mummy troop did not stop them.

The blood mist engulfed each.

Miserable and angry roars came from inside a moment later.

The scene sent chills down one's spine.

Richard floated the spatial rift exit. He could sense the giant worms caused chaos when they entered the rotten swamp.

The soldiers who fought for the golden fruits suddenly felt crisis when they saw these giant worms.

They immediately joined forces to fight against the giant worm.

Their vast bodies gave these worms unimaginable strength. In a short time, this caused them to retreat in front of the enemy. They were in a hurry to deal with them.

The level of blood immediately soared.

Joy filled the rotten swamp. This wave of corpses had made the living land feel good.

Richard smiled.

That was the match.

War was never the goal. It was for the rewards of victory from the war.

The chaos of divine sin's heart that made the Dwarf God crazy was already a vast profit in this sudden battle.

Richard also discovered a plane with endless giant worms.

This wave was so comfortable.

Next, the Krina Tribe would also integrate into Twilight City. He had just taken the time to look at this all-female-warrior tribe. They were all f*cking hero units!!

There were more than 200 of them, although most were low-level heroes like D and F ranks.

The city could use the warriors of the Krina Tribe as the backbone and raise a mighty troop when they recovered.

Finally, he learned that Dark Valkyrie had broken through to transcendence. In that case, he would have five transcedents in his hands.

Another could appear when the god's ancient tree obtained the chaos of divine sin's heart.

The god's ancient tree had grasped a wisp of rotten authority. Richard wondered if it would complete its transformation and become a true Abomination God after it obtained the chaos of divine sin's heart!

He was excited about this thought.

"Abomination!"

In the historical legends of the Glorious Era, he had been the life of an ultimate boss countless times!!

He wondered how the enemies of Twilight City would react when they saw that he was about to face an abomination.

"Hahahahahaha, this is awesome!"

Richard, who was in a good mood, returned to his senses and planned to ask Molly to take him to the obelisk. This time, he had come to support them and had gained more than that.

He was determined to get that obelisk.

Chapter 989 - 989 The Second Obelisk [1/2]

"Dark Valkyrie?!"

Molly and the little centaur below subconsciously exclaimed.

No one had expected Loreinna to clash with Dark Valkyrie.

Loreinna was actually at an absolute disadvantage!

That was especially true for Emily, who knew how powerful Loreinna was.

The Raging Blood Duke, Transcendent Naga, she alone hunted them.

These enemies used transcendents to prove their strength!

But now, Dark Valkyrie, whom Richard hadn't seen for a few months, suppressed Loreinna!

That was a level 23 transcendent!

Richard saw how Dark Valkyrie was about to wave her longsword, but he immediately halted her.

"Fay! Loreinna is one of us!"

Dark Valkyrie held a sharp longsword and suddenly stopped. She subconsciously looked in the direction of the sound.

She saw that extremely familiar figure. Her eyes instantly curved into a crescent moon.

She could still sense the joy from the other party, even if a golden mask would cover his face.

Dark Valkyrie no longer paid attention to Loreina, who had already adjusted her body and was ready to counterattack.

She flew over to Richard.

This top-notch existence broke through the void and made the level 23 Raging Blood Duke vomit blood, retreat, and knelt on one knee most humbly under everyone's gaze.

Dark Valkyrie's left hand held a knife in her mouth, and the right hand on her chest. Rare excitement filled her tone.

"Lord, Fay salutes you!"

Richard smiled.

He took two steps forward and helped her up.

Dark Valkyrie was a top-tier boss he had subdued in the segment of the large-scale dungeon, the Death Arena.

She had been by his side ever since she came to Twilight City.

She had made countless vital contributions.

She left because she suffered a blow when she entered the dungeon alone in Solan City.

Fay thought she wasn't strong enough that Richard didn't bring her along, so she hoped to come out alone and become transcendent as soon as possible.

Richard did not expect she would be gone for a few months. He had experienced countless major events when she was not by his side.

He did not expect he would meet her again in such a state.

Dark Valkyrie went out for a few short months, and she suppressed Loreinna already!

This power surprised him.

"Very good. Your journey paid off!"

Delight tinged Richard's voice.

Twilight City bosses were strong in terms of battle strength.

Dark Valkyrie broke through transcendent, and her power rose to another level.

Only the god's ancient tree could rival with her at this level. Dark Soul Eater Kratos has enormous potential but still needed some time to develop.

The golden lion had extraordinary functions, and direct combat was not its forte.

The little centaur Emily was still a child, and her combat power was far from reaching its peak, although she had already found her soul shard and even obtained a part of the wilderness priesthood.

Loreinna's battle power was severely mighty, but the opponent was a hero model, and there was a natural and irreparable gap between the boss and the hero model.

Dark Valkyrie looked apologetically at Loreinna, who had returned to Richard's side.

"Lord, I can only sense powerful transcendent approach the void... I can't tell its exact appearance.

"I didn't know that this lady was my comrade."

Loreinna's friendly aura revived at this time. It had healed her wounds and scars. She stared at Fay with admiration.

“Your Excellency, Dark Valkyrie, your power is remarkable.

“It’s hard to imagine that you’ve just stepped into the transcendent realm...”

One needs to maintain respect when dealing with the strong.

Dark Valkyrie had just suppressed Loreinna, and she had earned the vampire archduchess’s respect.

Richard smiled when he saw there was no rift between them.

“In the future, you’ll fight together. It’s a good thing to familiarize yourself with each other’s power. You could also spar with each other when you have time. Just learn to control your strength.”

Richard spoke, and the two warriors looked at each other again. Each saw the soar of battle intent from each other’s eyes.

Battling with experts of the same level was highly precious to transcendents.

Richard smiled and said nothing more.

He looked at Dark Valkyrie again.

He opened the other party's attribute panel with anticipation.

'What kind of improvement did this ultimate boss obtain after she advanced transcendence?'

However, the attributes were simple. That was surprising.

[Fay (Dark Valkyrie)]

[Boss Template]

[Level: 20 (Transcendence)]

[Status: Transformation]

'Dark Valkyrie hadn't finished the transformation.'

Richard's expression was odd.

'Good heavens, didn't Molly say she had broken through to the extraordinary state last month? Why hadn't she finished her transformation this month?'

He opened the Black Gold System and found the same information on it. He wondered.

Dark Valkyrie spoke hesitantly.

“Lord, the transcendent I killed had a strange crystal that grew in its flesh. I only advanced to transcendence after devouring that crystal.

“That crystal contains an extremely vast and unique power. I still have two-thirds of its energy that I haven’t absorbed until now.”

‘Crystal? Inside the body of the transcendent giant worm?’

Richard suddenly thought of the chaos of divine sin’s heart.

This area was most likely the sealed land where one had concealed the chaos of divine sins. That was according to the information he had obtained so far.

‘Could it be related to the chaos of divine sins?’

Chapter 990 - 990 The Second Obelisk [2/2]

However, Dark Valkyrie had devoured the crystal. Richard couldn’t see her attributes now, so he couldn’t determine it even if he wanted to.

He immediately asked about the crystal in detail. At the same time, he also asked if she felt anything strange when she absorbed the energy. However, he received positive responses to it.

It could have contaminated the status of Dark Valkyrie if it were related to the chaos of divine sin.

Richard ensured she wasn't infected. That generously relieved him.

He could wait in pursuit of the obelisk. He returned to the rotten swamp with the yellow-sand-wrapped chaos of divine sin.

Dark Valkyrie tacitly stood beside Richard. She would always stand there.

She and Loreinna guarded him from both sides.

They were transcendent guards. It could make the great nobles among the natives envious.

Envy would engulf the players' eyes if they knew about this.

Dark Valkyrie was quite curious about the rotten swamp. She looked around in the bloody mist.

Richard led the two to the central area and saw the battlefield. That instantly moved her.

It had only been a short while since she left Twilight City, yet so many unfamiliar things had already happened.

Fortunately, she would always catch up!

The yellow-sand-wrapped chaos of divine sin dispersed. That revealed the golden-inscription-engraved heart.

The god's ancient tree devoured the Greed Lord's corpse. That suddenly opened the seal on its trunk.

Its gloomy eyes burst with golden light.

It said in a crazy tone.

"Lord..."

"The heart in your hand seems to be the source of my bloodline.

"My soul is trembling, I'm yearning..."

The god's ancient tree was a life form born from the body of the Abomination God.

The chaos of divine sin was the source of abomination.

The origin of this immediately made the god's ancient tree restless.

Richard's eyes darkened.

"Your senses are correct. That is the source of your bloodline. That was the ultimate existence that came from the endless void and primal chaos-chaos of divine sin.

"The god of creation couldn't slay this directly. One needs the power of the entire world to obliterate them.

"Devour the power of this heart. It could transform into a true abomination.

"Treebeard, let me see a mightier version of you.

"One was born from flesh and darkness...

"It belongs to Twilight City...Abomination!"

The dried branches of the god's ancient tree with the golden fruits swayed.

Excitement and madness shrouded the twisted human-faced tree trunk.

"Lord...Your humble servant is grateful for your gift.

“I swear on my soul that I will use everything to repay your favor...”

“May the darkness bless you...”

Richard gave the ancient tree he had conquered a meaningful look.

He quickly threw the chaos of divine sin’s heart into the ground.

‘Puchi!’

A twisted root emerged from the depths of the swamp that wrapped the heart. It smashed heavily into the swamp. Blood splattered everywhere.

Endless anticipation filled Richard’s eyes.

It had the rotten authority. It activated a portion of the abomination and devoured the corpse of the lord of greed. Now, it had obtained the heart of the Chaos Abomination.

Unknowingly, the god’s ancient tree had already accumulated enough foundation to make everyone go crazy.

He did not know when all the dust would fall.

What level could this boss reach?!

Richard felt relieved after the god's ancient tree closed its eyes again.

It turned around and stepped into the spatial rift again.

Next was the second obelisk.
