“Emily?” How can that be? She was Ben’s mate” I say in surprise.

“I am her second chance mate and I will take revenge for her sake” Alpha Patrick said.

“How are you going to do that then?” I ask him and seek an opening.

I have a bad feeling about this fight. My lycan is quiet but she is watching and is on high alert.

Alpha Patrick takes a hold of my braid and pulls on it making me fall backwards and he makes an attempt of stomping on my face but I quickly move out of the way.

“This isn’t logical, what will you accomplish by hurting me?” I ask and look at him.

“I promised Emily that I would destroy your pride” Alpha Patrick said

Is he crazy? What pride?

“If you say so” I answer back and attack him.

kicked his leg out and he fell down on his back but before I could move away his grip on my hair tightened and he rose from the ground.

I glanced at him and noticed that he fisted my hair tightly and with a cruel smile he grabbed my hair with the other hand and pulled downwards and kicked me in my stomach when I tripped over to him.

He kicked and hit me with his knee in my stomach multiple times and when he released me I fell down on my knees and threw up. Blood.

*Nora, are you okay? What is he doing?* Helios worried voice came through the mindlink.

*He is taking revenge, he is Emily's second chance mate* I say weakly.

Alpha Patrick takes a hold of my hair again and before I can defend myself I see a flash in the air and then I hear a sound that I have never heard before.

"Stop!" This fight is over. Nora wins! Weapons aren't allowed, you should know that Alpha Patrick" Beta Jessica shouts.

I raise my head and notice that my braid has come undone but as I feel it I notice it's shorter than usual, he cuts it off. I turn my head and see the small knife in his hand and see how much hair he cut off from me. I wonder if Tristan can make it nicer.

“Miss Nora.” You win and will face the last one in the final battle in an hour, is that fine with you?” Beta Jessica says and helps me up from the ground.

“Yes that will be fine” I say and cough up some more blood.

I stagger towards my mate and my parents when suddenly I see Daríiel sprint towards me and everyone screams my namé. My lycan roars in my mind and I turn around but way too late and I feel a sting in the side as I look down I see a knife handle.

“I got my revenge now” Alpha Patrick says and twists the knife and then pulls it out.

I look at him and stagger backwards and just before I fall I see alpha Patrick attack again but he isn't that fast as he suddenly has an arm inside of his chest. I just stare at him shock as he falls backwards and the arm rips out alpha Patrick's heart and I look up and see my mate holding it.

My eyes get blurry from tears and I can smell Daniel's scent around me as he caught me before I touched the ground. I look at Helios and he has a furious expression on his face. "Beta Jessica, I think I will withdraw from the tournaments" I say and she laughs at me as I can see her bend down.

"Yes, sweet Nora. I understand and take care now, we will probably see each other again some day."

Beta Jessica kisses my forehead and I sigh.

I snuggle against Daniel and let the pain and darkness take me as I hear Helios tell me to sleep.

Helios Pov

watched Nora's fight with Linus, Ben and Daniel and she took down all three of them, even if I can take them on they are still strong and I was really surprised as Ben said she hurt him.

But Daniel said something that made me think, he thinks that he and Nora are twin souls. It would be possible and it would explain why they feel attracted to each other. A mate bond is between the beasts inside of us but a twin soul they are even simpler. There is a bond between the humansides and they are very rarely mates.

But the male will be very protective of the female, almost possessive but as Daniel is the gamma it will be good and if Daniel makes the knight's vow, a bond will be forged that is unbreakable.

I look up in time to see alpha Patrick take hold of Nora's hair and kick her relentlessly, then the smell of blood in the air makes me growl as I know who it belongs to, Nora.

All of us watch intently at the fight and I mindlink her asking what his problems are, of course he would be Emily's second chance mate. They fit each other, he who killed his first mate and she who couldn't keep her first mate. Perfect.

I see Daniel growl and jump up and I look down at the pathetic alpha that holds up Nora's braid in his hand. He has cut it off.

*Beta Jessica, pardon the intrusion but Alpha Patrick of the silver stone pack has a knife in the fight against Nora* I mindlink Beta Jessica and she nods and then shouts that the fight is over and Nora is the winner.

nod at Daniel to go meet Nora and he jumps down onto the grass and walks about 20 meters when I see the stupid alpha attack

Nora from behind. My lycan takes over and within a few seconds I feel his beating heart in my hand, I glance down and see the surprise in Nora's eyes as I rip out his heart and he falls down on the ground.

I look at my hand in disgust and my lycan growls in my mind, he is still furious. I see that Beta Jessica wants to check on Nora and I nod for her to come forward. She smiles at Nora in Daniel's arms and I see the way Daniel looks at her, it would make perfect sense if they are twin souls indeed.

Nora says that she will stand down from the tournaments and everyone chuckles and I can see that the knife hit in a very painful spot so I told my mate to sleep and she smiled at me and closed her eyes.

Her breathing even out and I told Daniel to carry her away as I needed to speak with Beta Jessica and the beta of Alpha Patrick that was on his way over to us now. Ben came to stand beside me and I felt grateful toward him, he always knows what I want and need without telling him it.

The alpha of this pack also comes over, he doesn't look very pleased though.

“Hi I am the beta to the former alpha of the silver stone pack. My name is Isaac.” The beta introduces himself and bows to me and Ben.

“What the hell do you mean by killing another alpha? Even if you are a lycan and a prince doesn’t mean you have the right to just kill an alpha out of the blue” Alpha Mark wheezed out and I just glared at him

“Alpha Patrick attacked my mate behind her back with a silver knife and when she turned around to try to defend herself he dr ove the knife inside of her and twisted it before he took it out of her body” I snarl at the insolent alpha.

“Oh.” So that’s what happened. With your permission then your highness, can I take his body home with us and try to find a new alpha?” Isaac asks and I raise an eyebrow at him.

“You don’t seem so sad as you could have been,” Ben says and crosses his arms in front of him.

“Sadly, no. Not many in our pack will miss him. He put his dick into everything and killed everything with it. We don’t have many females left and those that are left are either too young or too old for him anyway. And since he haven’t got any pups, we don’t have any new alpha to take over” Isaac say and shrug

“Hm then who ran the pack if he was this busy dipping his dick everywhere?” Ben asked

“I did. I have run the pack for the last seven years now, why?” Isaac says and Ben looks at me.

“Then, I, Helios, prince of the lycan kingdoms, appoint you Isaac, current beta of the silver stone pack, to be the alpha of the silver stone pack. Until you either find a new alpha or get beaten in a challenge” I say and with a gasp Isaac fell down on his knees and I put my clean hand on his shoulder.

A small electrical current passes through us both and Isaac looks up at me and I smile and help him up.

“Thank you, your majesty,” Isaac said with a wide smile.

“What about my daughter then? First she gets rejected and her wolf is taken from her and her second chance mate is killed, now what? Will she be alone forever?” Alpha Mark whines like a pup that doesn’t know his place.

“Nah, she and a few other unmated females can come with us to the silver stone pack. Perhaps she will like it there and find a chosen mate, we have a lot of great guys you know.” Isaac says with a wink.

“Sounds perfect” Ben answers and alpha Mark mutters under his breath but agrees and then we go towards my mate.

“Now then?” Ben asks and I smile at him

“We go home now” I say and Ben answers “Finally”

Nora Pov

I woke up to my surroundings moving me along, I sniffed but couldn't smell Daniel. Instead I was surrounded by Helios scent and I slowly blinked my eyes trying once again to wake up.

“Lay still, princess. Your wound hasn't closed up yet and you are forbidden to move until it closes, grunt at the answer and the tone in his voice, like I am a child and don't know any better, like I would get up and run a marathon after being stabbed by a silver knife.

“I know.” I just wanted to ask where we are?” I say sleepily.

“We are in a car on the way home, to the lycan kingdom but lay still or you will rip the wound open.” Helios says and warns me at the same time.

I nod slowly and look up and see that we are in a car or more like a limousine. I have seen those on the outside but, I have never been in one, they seem nice and comfy. I feel for my lycan and I feel that she is agitated over something but I can't place my finger on what exactly

I slowly and gently lay my hand over my wound and feel with my fingers over it, I don't feel any pain or discomfort so I look at Helios and he smiles at me. A silly smile that tells me that he tricked me, my wound is closed so I sit up slowly.

I look around and tilt my head as I do, I see water bottles as I feel myself parched. I reach out to grab one when Helios take them away from me and I lift an eyebrow at him as I turn to look at him.

"Please can I have a bottle? "I am thirsty." I say but he shakes his head at me.

"The very first thing you do when you wake up is asking for water. Then what about me? Are you forgetting about me?"

I stare at him dumbfounded, the high and mighty lycan. prince is pouting because I wanted water before greeting him.

I crawl over to him and sit on his lap before I nestle my fingers in his hair and kiss him on the mouth, I gently lick on his lips and he opens his mouth and I help myself.

My kiss might be sloppy and so but Helios doesn't make fun of me or pulls away, he helps me instead. Guiding me and the kiss becomes more passionate but I break free as I forgot to breathe and I start to gasp for air. Helios chuckles at me but holds me steady as he takes off the cap on the water bottle for me.

I drink slowly so I don't choke and when I am done I give the bottle back and Helios winks at me as he drinks from it, an indirect kiss and I roll my eyes.

He grabs my butt and I look at him.

"Don't roll your eyes at me princess" he warns but I can see the hunger in his eyes and I am tempted to roll my eyes again but I don't. I don't want a punishment in a car.

"Look out the window, princess. We are here, the lycan kingdom, we are finally home" Helios say I look out of the window and gasp at the sight. There is a castle on a hill protected by a wall that goes around it and below is a village or perhaps an entity city. It looks like it's from a fairy tale and I almost expect to see unicorns and fairies.

"It's beautiful!" I say and look in awe.

"It is" Helios answers but before I can answer the car is attacked.

“Hold on prince Helios and Princess Nora. There are some Outsiders attacking the car, there are four on the roof” I can hear Ben say from the front, he must be driving the car.

“It will be fine Nora, we have guards and they will help” Helios says and I nod but scream as my hand goes through the roof and I can feel claws in my hair.

Helios roars and I can feel blood running down my head.

“A woman.” She is mine”

Chapter 12

We were under attack from rogues I believe but they weren't savage, just desperate. The one that had punched a hole through the car roof and clawed at my hair got his arm ripped off by Helios and then he jumped out after he told me to stay put.

My lycan was still sleeping after the silver knife wound and I couldn't just sit here, I wanted to help but I didn't know what to do.

The one who scratched my head seemed surprised that I am a woman and he wanted me.

I wonder what will happen if I open the car door and step out, if I make a run for the forest, will they chase me?

*Nora, don't you dare open that door, it's dangerous. They aren't regular rogues, they are lycans that have been driven mad after their loss of their mates. Stay still and wait for us.* Helios mindlink me.

I pouted but the thoughts of helping them still came and I got an idea even if I didn't have any clue of what I was doing I still wanted to help. I climbed through the car to the driver's seat and the keys were still in so I started the car. I honked a few times and then I drove off, sliding the window down and letting some blood out from the window.

First I thought I was crazy and the idea was even crazier but it worked and they started running after me. But I didn't know that they were even stronger and faster than the average lycan. They must be driven with sadness, I stop the car when my lycan wakes up and wants out.

I opened the door and climbed out while Helios, Ben and Daniel yelled for me to stay in the car or run but I didn't. I walked slowly toward the closest lycan and I felt all of his sadness for his lost mate. I touched his cheek and he sighed and fell down on his knees, he reached for me but just as he was about to touch me Helios ripped me away and Ben tackled the other lycan to the ground.

I thrashed against Helios and screamed "Let me go I calmed down eventually and Helios turned me and stared at me angrily in the eyes.

"What in all seven hells are you doing?" He screamed at me.

"I can help him." I don't know how or why but I am certain that I can help them all, trust me" I say and look at him.

"Fine but we are staying right beside you and if he hurts you, I will kill him" Helios threatens and I nod. Ben is still holding the lycan down but lets him up when I approaches and as I crouch down in front of him he speaks

"Please help"

"I will try" I say and give him a small smile.

I take his hand in mine and look him in the eyes when I hear my lycan speak *Nora, lean your forehead against his and think about releasing his lycan from all pain of the world*

It is not the first time she has spoken but this was the longest she has ever said-

I do as she said and I wave off Helios that takes a step forward. When I lean my forehead against the lycan I gasp, I can see how his mate died and how, with time he started to lose his grip on reality.

I entered his mind and woke his lycan up and said *It's enough now. Come back, release all of your pain and come back to us. I can't bring your mate back but you are hurting your human and others around you. Release your anger and come back to us*

When I moved back and opened my eyes I noticed he was crying his eyes out.

"Thank you so much. It's the first time I am in control since my lycan took over. It has been years. Thank you. My name is Dave, may I ask what your name is miss?"

"My name is Nora and I am Prince Helios mate" I say and smile and he thanks Helios as well.

"You healed him, Miss Nora" Ben said with a voice that I could only decipher like he was in awe.

"I don't know what happened but it was like I could feel all his sadness and I took it away. Helios, can I try it again on one of the others?" I ask and look at my mate that just stares at Dave.

"Yes on one I choose, okay?" Helios answers and I nod, curiosity over who he will choose.

Helios wanders off while Daniel comes closer while Dave just keeps on thanking me. Helios comes back and tells me to follow him and we do. When we arrive at the place I see three lycans being held down by guards,

“This one in the middle, can you heal him, for me Nora?” Helios asks and I nod

“I can try.” I say and approach the one in the middle. I gasp as he looks up, his eyes glowing purple.

*I don't know if I can heal him, he's a royal* I say to my lycan while crouching down in front of him.

*Yes you can just trust yourself and trust me

I lean forward and put my hands on each side of his face and then lean forward to touch his forehead with mine. I opened my mind and sought his but it was strange, there was no feeling at all, only darkness so I tried his lycan instead.

At first I felt nothing but then a light glimmered and I was filled with despair, it wasn't mine but it was theirs. I was sucked inside the memory and the first I saw was the sun.

There was a bright day, the sun was shining and the birds were chirping and everything felt happy. I was looking through his eyes and I took in the scenery, smell and what I heard, I could tell he was happy.

“Daddy, daddy” a young voice said and he turned his head and saw a little blonde girl coming towards him. She could be around four or five years old and she was carrying flowers in her small hands. She was wearing a pink dress and she was barefoot, behind her came an adult woman with the same blonde hair and purple eyes just like the little girl.

“Daddy, here, I picked these for you, happy birthday” the young girl said.

“Happy birthday darling” the woman said and bent down and kissed him.

The kiss was sweet and tender.

Then the day kept on going, sunny and bright. They ate a birthday cake that was sweet and tasty and then as a birthday present, the girl had made a drawing of all three of them playing in the garden.

But as the day started to turn into evening they all just stopped and looked up towards the castle, at first I didn’t know why then I heard it. A voice in the air and above them there were thunderclouds and the wind was picking up.

“From this day forth... a bond forged... your redemption... ”

Was all the words I could pick up and then it became quiet and the weather calmed down. He shook his head and looked down on his daughter that held his hand. She coughed and then looked up at him and he felt scared for a second. He looked up at his mate and she too was coughing, then I saw blood. Both females were coughing up blood, then it ran blood from their noses, ears and eyes. He caught his mate as she fell down and she started to throw up blood. The girl fell down next to them and he pulled her body closer but she was already dead when her mother kissed her on the head. "I love you" she whispered and then the light in her eyes went out and she breathed her final breath. The feelings were swirling in his mind and heart like a storm, sadness, anger and confusion. When he finally got it, it was pure devastation and he howled, heartbroken he howled out his anguish. But he wasn't the only one, all over the city and even in the castle you could hear howling and roars of devastation, anger and sadness. It was overwhelming and then I heard him. *Out of my head*

I was thrown backwards and I fell on Helios and he looked really worried at me but I looked at the lycan again. He looked furious but I have never been one to back down when I need to do something.

I crawled forward again and my lycan lent her strength to me and I pushed out my aura making them whimper under the pressure and then I put my hands on his face again and stared him in the eyes.

*I know what happened, I saw it and felt it but it's time to let the past go and move forward to heal yourself. Give it to me and will help you, your family is waiting for you. Do you think your mate and daughter wanted to see you like this so please help me, them and yourself by letting them. go* I say in an attempt

His lycan are struggling against me, sure I could just command him but it would be easier for him to do it willingly instead. And after a few minutes he slumped forward and I could feel that he was relieved.

Relieved to be out of his prison of devastation, when he looked up he smiled and I noticed that he and Helios looked similar so when I looked at Helios I saw tears in his eyes.

“Uncle? Do you remember me?” Helios asked in a shaky voice.

“Of course, my brave Helios, I remember everything. Everything that you have done. I am so grateful that you didn’t lose your hope in me. I just hope that you will do the right thing by her because she is a keeper but you need to be careful.”

“Yes I know uncle. You and one other lycan will accompany us to the castle, okay.” Helios says and his uncle nods.

“Can I ask your name, princess?” he asked me and smiled.

I opened my mouth to give him my name but nothing came out except a scream. All of his and Dave’s emotions wrecked through my body at the same time, memories flashes about his mate and daughter dying in his arms.

I tried to explain what was going on but could barely hear my own thoughts when she suddenly spoke again.

*I am so sorry Nora. I tried to hold it away from you but his lycan were so strong and his grieving was stronger so I couldn’t hold both his and Dave’s at the same time. But give me a second to gather myself but be prepared of fainting, I need to restore my energy*

It all stopped and I took a deep breath before telling Helios that my lycan is taking on everything and I will faint soon. But as I tell him my heart and brain starts to hurt and I feel like I will explode any second and I let out a roar and everything is going black as I finally faints. I remember my last thought though, I hope that someone else can break the curse because I don't want to see everyone's pain like, Helios' family. I don't want to see how his mother dies and his little sister who was so young when the curse came into power. "Your redemption" I wonder what that meant, is that me then? Or something or someone else? "A bond forged" That really disturbs me, what bond is forged, is her spell forged to a person then it will be even harder to break. I really need to hear the entire spell; perhaps it's a clue in it somewhere.

*Hello Nora. I am looking forward to meet you* A foreign voice enter my mind before the darkness takes me over completely.

Helios Pov

When Nora healed Dave I didn't really believe her or him but I just needed to see if she could do whatever she did again. I mindlinked the guards to find my uncle and when they did I ordered them to make sure he couldn't run away and then I brought Nora to him.

She was surprised by his purple eyes but kneeled in front of him and touched him and a matter of seconds she was forced back but that didn't stop her as she grabbed him again. This time her aura rushed out so forcefully that even I sweated a bit.

When she finally let him go she was crying and my uncle's aura came back, weak but it was back. I couldn't believe it but I recognized my uncle after 100 years of despair. I went to hug him when Nora suddenly fainted and I caught her. She must be exhausted after all of that and there are still about 500 or more lycans that have gone mad.

My mate must become stronger than she already is and I think that I can't keep her presence hidden for so long. I watch her peaceful face as I carry her in my arms as we walk back to the car. I slide in with her in my arms and set her gently on the seat while my uncle takes the opposite seat and looks at her in awe.

"How are you feeling?" I ask him.

“I don’t know. I have been screaming for so many years and no one could hear me so it’s refreshing to finally be out and be talking to someone again. I am grateful for her and for you, but you must understand that I will do anything in my power to protect her from now on”

I nod at him and watch Nora sleep, she makes a very cute noise in her sleep and I chuckle at her.

“You know, she entered my mind and she saw the day when the curse came into power. She saw my mate and my daughter, your cousin. She saw what happened to them, how they died. It was gruesome, I hope she doesn’t pity me, I don’t need anyone’s pity.” my uncle explains.

“She won’t, if you knew her childhood, you would never even think that thought” I say and smile sadly while looking at Nora.

The car ride to the castle didn’t take too long as not many were outside; they probably went inside when they heard about the attack. I look up at the front yard and I see her, sigh.

My brothers crazy witch girlfriend, Mia, is standing there. Acting like she is the future queen along with my father.

As I step out of the car with Nora in my arms my father claps his hand in joy but his face falls completely when he sees his brother coming out next.

“What is the meaning of this?” Mia asks with a loud voice.

“What do you think?” I ask back.

“Son, finally you are home. Can I take it that you have found your mate then?” my father asks and nods at Nora.

I smile brightly and nod my head.

“Yes, this is Nora. Can we talk later? I want her to rest and wake up in my room, undisturbed” I answer and glare at Mia.

“Sure, sure. We will leave her be. Don’t forget to say “hi” to your brother” my father answers and lets us pass.

I walk up to my room without bumping into my brother which I am eternally grateful for right now.

Even if we happen to be twins we would never share a mate since it’s impossible and unheard of but that bitch Mia wants to be queen and I won’t let that happen at all.

I lay my mate on my bed and leave her a note telling her where she is and to just call me when she wakes up.

NORA POV

My dreams were invaded by the curse, I tried so hard to figure out how it all began but it stood still in my brain. As- the nightdream played out I could feel Helios heartbeat and I knew that I was safe until I felt a certain aura. It promised evil and death, I wonder who it belongs to.

I blink my eyes slowly, trying to wake up as the warmth of my mate has disappeared and his scent isn't as strong anymore making my lycan wake up and is on high alert. I sit up slowly and see that I am in a bed in a room that I have no idea who it belongs to. It's nice though, it goes in colors. of dark purple and dark green.

I get up from the bed and look around just to notice that the room is empty. Helios could have left a note, I thought for myself. I walked slowly towards the door and opened it, there was nobody outside so I sneaked out. I try to sniff out Helios scent and I find it but it is very faint and as I round a corner I bump into someone, a guard I believe.

"Hello Miss. Who are you looking for?" the guard asks.

"My mate, he is the prince here" I say and look past him.

“Ah um, well, The prince is downstairs with his girlfriend’ the guard surprises me with his answer. “Girlfriend?” I think out loud. Of course. Helios is the lycan prince, he must have a girlfriend. Why didn’t I think of that before.

“Shall I show you the way so you can confront him and perhaps give him a slap?” the guard asks and looks excited.

“I guess that you don’t like the prince then?” I ask and raise an eyebrow.

“What, of course I do but that witch needs to learn her place and now would be a good time.” the guard explains and I tilt my head but he just smiles and guides the way -down the stairs.

The castle is quite impressive and I would love to explore but right now I need to see Helios and perhaps reject him. I wonder if Daniel would like to be with me afterwards or if I am forced out of the kingdom.

I stop as the guard does and show the way with his hand and I follow it and see a black haired girl sitting in Helios lap. His hands are on her hips and she laughs at something he said and he smiles and gives her a wink before one of his hands slides down to her butt. He squeezes it gently and she moans, he kisses her and squeezes her breast with the other hand and she gasps and bends her head backwards and she looks me straight in the eyes.

Helios licks at her throat while the girl just smiles at me and licks her lips in temptation, and my lycan wakes up and releases a growl. Helios jerks his head up and I stare into his eyes, the surprise in them makes him drop the girl in his lap onto the floor.

He stands up and stalks towards me and as he just can reach out and touch me the guard moves in between us.

“Your highness shouldn’t harm his mate just because of his girlfriend” the guard says and I tilt my head looking at the guard.

“He isn’t my mate” I say confused.

“But you said your mate is the prince and he IS the prince.” the guard says confused.

“Perhaps but he doesn’t smell like my mate and my lycan hasn’t said anything” I say even more confused.

“You are a lycan?” The guard gasps in surprise.

Oh sh it, that was supposed to be a secret since I don’t smell like one. I look at the guard and notice that his lycan is out and that he grabs my arm and leans in. His fangs are out and he tries to mark me but he doesn't get very far as the prince breaks his neck with his bare hands.

"You are my MATE. You will not deny that!" the prince says and I just stare at him like he is stupid. "Nope." Helios is my mate. Do you know where he is?" I say and refuse to look down at the now dead guard.

"My brother is your mate? That is impossible, there is no way that we can share a mate, even if he is my twin brother I will challenge him for you" Helios brother growled slowly. "Ares! You are scaring her, think about what you are doing. What about me then? Will you just cast me aside then?" The black haired girl said and I looked past the prince to see her standing a few meters away with her arms crossed.

"Not now Mia." I will deal with you later" the prince said without looking at her. His eyes were glued to mine and I stared back when I suddenly smelled Helios scent and I glanced behind me.

But Helios' brother demanded my attention as he gripped my arm and pulled me down hard from the two last steps on the stairs.

I tripped over the dead guard's body and the prince caught me and took me in his arms.

But it lasted a few seconds because the prince was ripped away from me like Daniel once was. But this time it was Daniel that ripped him off of me and a pair of strong arms hugged me from behind, Helios. I leaned back and sighed as I smelled my mate's scent, Helios chuckled and then he growled possessively.

Helios' brother hit Daniel and got himself free and turned to us while looking on the verge of shifting but right before that, the black haired girl took a hold of his arm and my lycan growled at her.

"Don't do this Ares, she is my mate and my lycan is not happy that you try to take her away from us"

Helios warns him. So I guess his name truly is Ares then.

"She is my mate too, brother" Ares growls and Helios holds tightens around me.

"That's impossible," Helios says.

Helios put his nose in the crook of my neck and I sigh as I feel safe but in that split second Ares lycan feels jealous and betrayed and he forces Ares to shift. Daniel throws himself at him but Ares throws him into the wall and I let out a shriek. Helios pulls me behind him and he jumps and shifts midair. Then the brothers start to fight while the black haired girl just stands there with a bored expression.

“ENOUGH!” a man comes out through a door shouting.

Both brothers freeze and their lycans whine at the older man. Helios and Ares share some wounds on their bodies but they don't seem bothered by them.

“Both of you. It's enough, you are scaring her, she doesn't understand and if this is how you are treating your mate and the future queen, I will take her for myself, understood? Helios? Ares?” the older man says with an authority in his voice.

Both Helios and Ares shifted back and now I noticed it, both of them have identical wounds, perhaps because they are twins? Or is it something else?

“But father, even if she is Helios mate, she is also mine and my lycan wants her” Ares says.

“Your lycan but what about you, do you want her or do you want to take your chosen one as your mate?”

Their father asks and I look at him in confusion.

“My lycan won't allow that, you know that father” Ares whispers and looks down.

“Well then, shall we hear from the young lady in question then?” Their father says and walks slowly towards me. When he stands in front of me he reaches out his hand which I take and walks slowly down the step Helios pushed me up on.

“I am Helios’ mate and my lycan hasn’t reacted to Prince Ares but she growls when the girl there is touching him. It’s like she is confused or something.” I say and look at their father.

“Hmm well have you touched him then? Perhaps you need to touch his skin for your lycan to recognize her mate?” he says and walks me over to Ares and Helios.

Ares reaches out his hand almost eagerly while he shakes his head in frustration. I look at Helios and he hesitantly nods his head, I slowly reach for Ares’ hand and just as I am about to touch him the black haired girl yells.

“What about me then? Did you all forget about me?”

“Oh Mia, I didn’t notice you there. Of course we didn’t forget about you but we must test this don’t you agree? And then Ares and the young lady can make a decision to be with each other or not” The king glares at the girl, Mia.

Ares takes my hand before I can take it back completely and I feel my wolf howl in my head. Ares kisses the back of my hand and then looks me in the eyes and gasps.

“Mate” I say with both mine and my lycans voice.

“Your eyes, they are purple” the girl, Mia says and I turn to look at her and the king.

“Yes, is it so strange then?” I ask in confusion.

“No it isn’t but we need to talk inside our father’s office about this. It is unheard of for someone to have two mates and especially siblings with royal blood. We need to talk undisturbed” Helios explains and his father agrees.

“Mia, dear can you wait in Ares’ room in the meantime?” the king asks her but she shakes her head.

“No, I will go home and talk to my mother about this impossible thing, perhaps they will have some answers,” she says and stares at me.

None of the men say anything until Daniel groans and I am reminded that Ares threw him into the wall and I take my hand from Ares and run over to Daniel. As I touch him, Ares growl vibrates through the air but I don't care about that at all.

"Don't brother, they are twin souls' Helios says and both Ares and their father gasps.

"It's fine, I'm okay. The prince didn't use all of his strength, thank god." Daniel says and smiles.

"You should go with them and I will clean this mess up" Daniel says and points at the guard.

The king looks in that direction and then looks pissed off. I guess he didn't notice the guard from the start.

"What in heaven's he II? "Who did this?" the king says and looks around.

"I did, he tried to force a mark on her when he learned that she is a lycan so I snapped his neck" Ares shrugs.

"Daniel, please, take care of that and notify his family, if he has any. Thank you" Helios' say and smiles sadly.

"Always the perfect brother and prince," Ares mutters.

Daniel stands up and smiles at me and nods for me to go, that he is fine so I go over to Helios and take his hand earning a growl from Ares.

“Perhaps the young lady will go with me then. By the way may I ask your name, young lady?” The king asks.

“My name is Nora” I say and smile while I take his hand.

The king guided me through the door he came out of and into a corridor with a lot of paintings and I really wanted to see them more but perhaps another day. We walked to a bigger staircase that we walked up and then we took a left and then a right and down a flight of stairs and then a right and then up a flight of stairs and I am really lost now.

“Oh my I am so sorry, you have totally lost your way now, Nora dear. Am I right? I noticed that you were looking at the paintings so I thought of showing you where there are more but now you just seem lost.” The king says and I nod in confusion.

“But thankfully we have arrived now, this is the door to my office” the king says and I look at the door. It’s a dark brown door with a little sign on it “The king’s office”.

The king opens the door and nods for me to go inside and I do and almost scream my lungs out as a huge lycan greets me. It’s not just any lycan, it's huge and its body is littered with scars and the eyes are white and from its mouth it drops blood.

I turn and run out from his office and bump right into Ares, I hug him hard and he hugs me back.

"Nora, what happened, are you okay?" Helios asks and I feel his worry and concern for me.

"A huge lycan with white eyes and blood ran down its mouth" I whisper, still shaking a bit.

"There is nothing in my office, take a look." the king says. and I peek as Helios looks in and then shakes his head.

I slowly walk back and peek inside but it's still there and I shake my head and turn away. Helios takes my hand and I look up at him and he nods for me to look inside the office again but it's still there but now it has a symbol on its chest that I didn't see there before.

"It's still there but now it's a symbol on its chest." I say and look at the king and he nods and closes the door.

"What does the symbol look like?" he asks and I tell them.

"It's a six point star with a sun in the middle" I explain.

"Mia" Ares growls.

“That symbol is Mia’s witch coven’s symbol, they are sending you visions, probably to test you if you are indeed the last female lycan” Helios explains and sighs.

I stare at him and then at Ares. What have I done for her to hate me? I didn’t mean to be friends with her boyfriend, doesn’t she know that it is painful for me to?

“Is it because of my blood then?” ask Helios and he looks at me.

“It could be,” he answers.

“What about her blood?” the king asks and Ares moves closer and touches my hand. I guess he misses the body contact.

“My parents told me before I left that their bloodlines come from two different lycan kingdoms and that I am the last royal female warrior as my bloodlines come from the Blaze kingdom and the knight kingdom” I finish and both Ares and the king look stunned.

I was about to say something when Ares pulled me towards him and kissed me before he abruptly left us. I turn confused toward Helios and the king when he suddenly growls.

“You will reject her or I will banish you and kill her!”
He growls out with a furious aura.

NORA POV

What? The king wants me dead? Why? What have I done now? Just as I am about to ask him why a loud hoarse voice is protesting.

“Stop. Don’t you dare touch her! If you hurt her I will not hesitate to take you down”

I turn my head and see the very same man that I brought out of his own misery in his lycans mind.

“Dave? How is that possible? Are you sane?” The king asked and looked surprised at him.

“Yes brother, I am sane now. Thanks to the young miss over here” Dave answered and smiled warmly to me.

“Father, she healed uncle and another lycan. So what about her bloodline, I love her and I wont lose her” Helios stands up to his father.

“Is this true? Did you really bring back my brother?” The king turns to me and I silently nod.

“Perhaps we should go into your office and talk instead of standing out here?” Ares’ voice says while he walks up the steps again.

“No I don’t think so, we shall take the library, call William and Ben also” the king answered and took a hold of my arm in a tight grip.

No longer the gentle man he was in the beginning but now he shows that he is the brutal lycan king that has earned his title.

I glance back and see both Helios and Ares come rushing behind the man that I healed.

“Brother, you are hurting her” the man growled out and made the king stop.

He released me but glared at me and his brother.

His brother gently took my arm and guided me to the library.

Were

The doors were beautiful, on them there patterns that I didn’t know what they meant but they were still beautiful. Flowers and leaves and a sun on the door to the right but the door on the left were a moon and a tree and under the tree was a girl.

The king opened the door on the right and we followed him into the library. I gasped at the sight of all the books. I would love to spend some time here if the king decides to let me live of course.

“Nora, come sit here. Dave, you sit here next to her and my sons can sit over there.” The king said and pointed at a group of sofas and a pillow chair.

I was sitting next to Dave, the man I had saved. While Helios and Ares sat next to their father. I heard footsteps so I glanced to my left and saw Ben, Daniel and an unknown man which I guessed would be William.

“We are here, my king. Is there something urgent that needs to be done at this hour?” The man next to Ben asked.

“Yes. We might have a problem and a blessing. You see this young woman over here. She is called Nora and she is the mate of both my sons. But she is also a descendant of both the blaze kingdom and the knight kingdom. She is of royal blood and a lycan that has the ability to purify other mad lycans.” The king explains and the man gasps.

“Oh my this is a true blessing and a huge problem. I think we must tell them a bit of our history before we proceed with anything.

I do believe that your first thought was to kill the young lady.”

I bow down my head and study my hands as I haven't got anything to say.

“My young lady, my name is Willian and I am Benjamin's father and I am also one of the lycan elders. Perhaps I can give you some answers to your questions even so please don't hesitate to ask anything.” William said with a gentle smile and I smiled back.

“So let's start from the beginning with some history lessons. From the beginning there was only one kingdom with no king or queen, only the moon goddess or so they say. When she returned to the moon, the lycans and werewolves that lived in peace started to fight each other.

Believing it was the other one's fault the great war began and at the end of the war, eight lycans remained and when they were about to kill each other our moon goddess stopped them. She was deeply disappointed and disgusted by what she saw, what our ancestors had done to each other.

So she took some help from her brothers and they split the kingdom into 8 smaller ones. One for each lycan and with time their kingdoms began to flourish but every single one of the lycans were aggressive and uncontrollable so the goddess made a mate to each of them to reign in the lycan beast.

The kingdom's names were, the red kingdom or blaze kingdom, where the lycans have the ability to see past lies. The black kingdom or what you call the knight kingdom, where the lycans had it easy to learn how to fight. The blue kingdom or the sapphire kingdom, the lycans there were extra strong in swimming. Yes, I know it sounds ridiculous but it's true, they could swim longer and hold their breath longer than any normal lycan.

The green kingdom or the smaragd kingdom, that was something extra to see, it was like all of the lycans there had the ability to heal and so they healed the land and it was so beautiful. The purpur kingdom, where the lycans were stubborn and strong willed but they were also good at finding gemstones. The sun kingdom, where the sun never showed up and the land was filled by darkness but the lycans eyes glowed with the same power as the sun. The moon kingdom where the moon never showed and the lycans were stuck in their lycan form unless it was an lunareclipse.

The silver kingdom, where the moon goddess first lived. Here the lycans can't touch the ground so no lycan has ever lived there." William explained and took a break to breathe.

"Excuse me but what about the werewolves then?" I asked confused.

"Good question Miss Nora. Every lycans mate was a human girl, so every lycan would learn how to be gentle with their mates.

And so the werewolves were created, a less brutal species but once in a time the lycan gene would over power the human gene and create a fullblood lycan or a royal lycan since all of them had purple eyes.

Some say it's the moon goddess brothers that made them because they want to play games with their sister or simply interfere with her. That is also where you come in Miss Nora. To stop her brothers from creating more wild lycans she swore to create a loophole in their magic.

A mate to a royal that can heal anything and have all the traits from all the kingdoms, she will be able to step on the cursed land as she is untouchable from magic. That I believe is you, Miss Nora”

Chapter 15

Nora's POV

“Wait.” What do you mean by untouchable? Isn't the matebond a magic thing?” Ares interrupts and I tilt my head as I too am confused.

“Correct, my prince. The matebond is born from magic and I think that is why Miss Nora, have two mates, since you boys are twins.”

I nod my head slowly but still there is something fishy about this. So I hold up my hand and William nods at me to speak.

“You said that I am untouchable for magic and I can walk on cursed land, but what about the traits from all kingdoms, that can't be right. My parents came from two different kingdoms?” I say and look him in the eyes.

“You are correct, your parents are from the two most powerful kingdoms but at the same time all the kingdoms were once, one.

In some mystery way I believe you are the loophole to magic since you woke up two lycans from the curse that was placed upon us and I do believe and I hope that I am right.

Because in that case, we will have found our new queen but of course we need to test that theory out and perhaps you are wondering why the king here wanted you dead. The witch that cast the curse said that one day a born werewolf but shifted lycan will come with the inheritance from the Blaze and Knight kingdoms, and will destroy this kingdom and the king’s sons.” William explains which makes me look toward the king.

The king is glaring at me and I look down at my hands in shame. To think that when I finally get out of my home pack I will go to my mates pack and his father wants to kill me. So much bad luck.

“So what will you do to me now? Kill me? Or just use me first to break the curse and then kill me?” I shakily ask and dares to slowly raise my head and look directly at the king.

*Nora. He can't kill you sweetie. His lycan and me have been talking and he won't allow it. Oh and now I know why I cared so much for Daniel. His lycan and me are siblings, it took awhile to recognize each other. Mmmm and I need to tell you about Ares lycan. He has suggested so many fun things to do and did you know that Helios is into s&m? What is that by the way? Can I eat it?*

I blushed so hard that I felt the heat on my cheeks and I slapped myself on them a few times.

"Miss Nora?!" Please stop. What is the matter?" William asked and even Ben walked over to me. I shook my head so they wouldn't touch me, instead I mindlinked Helios.

*Helios. Why do my lycan think that she can eat s&m?*

Helios started coughing and everyone stared at him and me.

"What is going on? What did you do to my son?" The king demanded that I answer and I took a sneak peak at Helios but he didn't look at me.

"Uh my lycan said something and I asked Helios about it" I said quietly.

When I looked up at the men in the room, I noticed that all of them stared at me but the king himself was on the verge of shifting completely.

“Miss Nora.” What is your lycans name?” William asked and I raised my eyebrows at him.

“Aria, but I think that is a nickname for her. “Why?” I ask him.

“Well all of our lycans have names but not even a true royal lycan can actually speak to their lycan. We can feel their emotions since we are like one. But this comes from the moon goddess herself. Now I really believe that you are our true queen.” William smiles brightly.

“That’s good and all but I want to know what Nora asked Helios about?” Ares pouted and Helios slapped him over his head.

“Shut up”

I tilted my head.

“Sir William, you said that I can tell when someone is lying? What do you mean by that? My mother said something to me before, that it is no use to even try to lie to me, that I would see through it anyway.” I ask him.

“Yes.” That was one of the kingdoms’ powers, if you would like to call it that. But I think it would be easier to call for the coven tomorrow morning. Since they tested you already I guess they will be here tomorrow to see you. For the witches you are in high interest because the curse backlashes and for every female lycan that died so did the male witches.” William say and I feel an headache coming on strong now.

“Well I think we better go to bed and Miss Nora can sleep in one of the guestrooms tonight because I guess that she will have a lot to process after the library visit. “Ben say and clap his hands together.

I nod and rise from the seat and walk over to Ben that looks surprised at me and at first I don’t know the mistake I did until I turn my head and look at Helios and Ares that have shifted and are blocking me from the king.

“Wait. I’m sorry. I rose out of my seat without waiting for the king to speak. It’s my mistake.” I say tiredly and go between my mates and now I see the kings lycan and I gasp.

I expected a huge dark grey lycan but he is small, even smaller than his sons. His back was bent so he looked broken and the fur had started to fall off of him. His once glowing purple eyes were now tired and cloudy.

I touched both my mates and then I warily took a step forward toward the king and another but he didn't move at all. He just kept looking at me with curiosity, I stretched out my hand toward him and when I was close enough, I gently stroke his cheek and like he knew what I wanted he sat down onto the rug.

I took a hold of his face and closed my eyes.

*Hello Nora and Aria. My name is Nat. I am this stubborn old man's lycan and I will gently show you the most exciting and the very same day that we almost died*

It was the king's lycan and he willingly let me and Aria into his mind. And what a heaven we saw there and then there was hell.

Chapter 16

As we entered the king's mind I saw when he was a baby for so many hundreds of years ago and also when he and his brother were playing while growing up but what was actually shocking was her. The king's mate, Helios and Ares mom, Queen Adina.

She was beautiful with green eyes and honey blond hair and some freckles on her nose and cheeks, her laugh made everyone smile. Like she was way too good to be true and in some ways she was, she wasn't an awful person but there was something different about her.

She loved her family and when she met her mate, they fell in love and her eyes changed after they marked each other, her green eyes turned purple. But there was something that bothered me about her and I felt shocked and sad over the fact when I learned about it. She had another mate also, the king's brother.

I watched as they met in secret but they never touched each other as she was marked. the king's brother did the only right thing that he could come up with, he contacted a witch that helped break the bond with the help of all of their bloods.

I watched as queen Adina took the king's blood while he was sleeping and then met the witch and her other mate under the fullmoon. The witch made a ritual by binding queen Adinas blood with the kings and made sure that the king's brother's blood became toxic to the queen. But the witch was greedy and took a drop of her own blood and mixed it by mistake with queen Adina and the king's blood.

Tying the witch with the royal couple instead with the man that she had loved, the king's brother. After the ritual it went quiet, like nothing had happened, after about 6 months, the king's brother found his second chance mate.

I saw how happy they became through the king's eyes but I also felt his confusion as his attraction grew stronger toward one special witch. The witch in question was next in line to becoming a priestess. A priestess in our world is like a witch that has descended into the moon goddess realm, taken her blessing over and over so the witch's power blends with the light from the fullmoon.

The king kept his queen close to him and watched her play with their sons, keeping the kingdom humble, she did everything right, treated every packmember like they were her own siblings and friends. Everything was great and the king couldn't be more proud over his mate and queen but how much he spent thinking of her, his thoughts. began to drift to the young witch that was always watching over them.

She became more and more interesting by the minute that he watched her. One day the sun was burning hot and the queen and his sons took a walk down to the pool to swim and play with the other women and children. But the king had too much to do in his office so he stayed behind and perhaps that was not a very good decision as his lycan almost howled in excitement. The king thought it was his mate, the queen but no it was the young witch that came in. Dressed in a dark green robe that she took off when she had locked the door behind her. She was completely naked under the robe and she had no issue of showing herself naked to the king.

She moved gracefully over the floor and sat down on the couch sensually where she laid her body and spread her legs and looked the king in his eyes. She slowly started to touch herself over the nipples, squeezing her small breasts and pinching her nipples making small noises. Her hand sliding down over her navel and down to her pussy.

She played with herself making wet noises and I saw how the king reacted and before he knew what happened, his lycan had taken over and he practically ran to the sofa and ripped off his pants and in one swift moment he was inside of her. As he pounded into her hard he heard her pantings, her voice screaming out his name as he came violently inside of her. Then his lycan retreated and the king was devastated for what he had done. Because the young witch never said anything under the intimate time but it was his true mate that had screamed in his mind.

Queen Adina had screamed in the king's mind, begging him to stop. He tried to mindlink her but he couldn't reach her. He shifted and jumped out of the window just in time to see his beta, Sir William, carrying a very wet Adina in his arms.

She had almost drowned in the pool because of the pain and in one swift moment, queen Adina wished that it would stop, her heart, just so she wouldn't be in pain anymore.

I gasped as I released the king's head and slid down onto the floor. In my head echoed the curse and I felt their pain, all of their pain. I screamed in agony as I heard all of their screams in my head. Helios panicked and tried to grab me but his touch burned me and I screamed even louder.

I noticed Daniel moving but it was the king that caught me first.

"Rest now, Nora. Rest." And my eyes closed as I welcomed the darkness.

At first it was only darkness but then I saw it, the light. As I moved towards it I could hear soft laughter, and the sound of water. I shielded my eyes as the light was too bright at first. I blinked my eyes before I could look properly and at first I couldn't understand what it was that I was seeing.

Mermaids? No wait. Women in the water, laughing and having fun as they splashed the water around them but as I tried to get closer they stopped laughing and I stopped as well. I raised my hand and waved at them but they all bowed at me and I turned around just to see shadows.

Shadows came out from behind me with no faces gathering beside me and if I took a step so did they. I wonder what would happen if I touched the water, would they go away then? I slowly walk towards the water and when my toe touches it the shadows all vanish, all of them but one. I tried walking further out to the water but it still followed me and as I turned to look at it, I stumbled at something and I fell down in the water. My eyes opened as I heard someone calling my name in the water.

“Nora” a very soothing voice came from all directions and I wanted to stay there so I could listen to it some more.

The shadow touched me and when I saw the shape of it a scream slipped out of me and I almost choked but I took myself to the surface. I gasped as I tried to breathe normally and I felt a lot of hands on me that I tried to shake off.

“Stop. Don’t worry we are here to help you” a female voice said and I turned around and saw a woman. She has warm brown eyes and her smile is a welcoming sight right now. I nod and she and two other women are helping me ashore.

“What happened when I went under the water?” I ask and brush my very wet hair with my very sandy hands, sighing as I realize I just made a mess out of it.

“Sirens”

“Yeah it’s a common fact that if you wander too far out, the Sirens call will wash you away”

“So my dear girl, tell us why did you try to kill yourself?” the woman with brown eyes asked.

“It wasn’t my intention but I needed to get the shadow away from me. I thought it didn’t like water so I walked there and then I slipped on a rock I think and then I went underwater. And of course the rest you three know already” I explain and blush slightly.

“Well you are lucky to figure it out so fast that the shadows dislike water but you know. Your own shadow will follow you wherever you go”

I look down at my feet and I do notice that the shadow is stuck there and it follows my movements. I blush when the logic hits me.

“Okay, I admit I was a bit frightened but can anyone please tell me where I am?” I ask them and they laugh a bit at my silly question.

“Come and take a walk with us. You have done a great job with saving some of the lycans but now you need to rest and only one of royal blood can send you here”

“Well, the king sent me here after I saw how the curse was created and all the female lycans died” I say sadly

“Oh my, have you already saved the king’s lycan, then you definitely need to rest, come and you will have the chance to speak with the queen herself” the brown haired woman said.

I followed them away from the water and through a little forest where the shadows moved through the trees. I glared at them but I could only see their completely white eyes.

Somehow I knew what they were but I really hoped that it wasn’t so.

We walked on a path with little lanterns that lit up our path away, if we stayed on the path the shadows didn’t come near but I could have sworn that I heard my name through the bushes. Like they were calling for me, wanting me to come closer and in a weak moment I almost stepped away from the path but the other women took a hold of me and shook their heads.

The brown haired woman took a hold of my hand and guided me away from whatever that called out to me.

When we left the forest it was bright outside and I had to squint because of the bright light. When my eyes adjusted, I noticed how blue the sky was and the smell of wild flowers throughout the air. I look down and notice an entire field of pink and purple flowers.

“Welcome Nora.” a voice said and I could have sworn that I have heard it before.

Queen Adina stood there in the midst of pink flowers with a little girl in her arms that were a copy of her brothers, the very sight took my breath away. I bowed my head in respect for the former queen, Helios and Ares’ mother.

“Queen Adina, but how, I don’t understand...” I tried to make sense of everything but no, after how much my thoughts rumbled inside of my head I couldn’t understand.

“Please don’t try to understand everything at once. It’s too much at once and besides you will visit here more times. So is there something specific you want to know right now?” Queen Adina asks and smiles sadly.

“Yes there is one thing I want to know. Why did you break the matebond with your other mate?” I ask and Queen Adina looks even more sad.

“Oh that. Yes I broke the bond but not really out of my own will. I made myself a promise and that promise also destroyed me. I know that you have seen my husband’s side of the story. Now let me tell you mine”

Helios POV

I watched over and over just how amazing Nora truly are, she has taken on a lot of challenges and she has overcome them all and to think she hasn't even been in our kingdom for a day and my father has loved her, threatened to kill her, scared her and now put her to sleep.

No wonder she is sleeping softly, I am sitting on the edge of her bed and watching her sleep soundly as she is softly snoring and I give out a warning growl as I hear the door open and then close but the problem still remains. My brother.

"What do you want, brother?" I whisper.

"I wanted to see how she was doing and I felt your worry and anxiety throughout the west wing so I came here" he whispered back.

I turn my head to see him with a frown on his face as he watches Nora and I gently gets up from the bed to let him closer to her. I think this is what father must have felt when he knew about the bond between mother and uncle Dave.

"Come on, we can talk over here" I say and point outside. Ares nods and follows me out.

I choose this room for Nora since I believe that she will love it. It has one master bedroom, a huge walk-in closet, a very big bathroom and instead of a balcony it has a small garden instead.

I choose on purpose the west wing because of this room, it's on the ground level and the little garden would be considered small for us lycans that live in the castle but perhaps not for her.

As I walk outside and my brother follows me, I tilt my head as some of the garden is unkept and I think Nora will want to fix it up herself. But it still have it's own charm as I walk over to the lounge that I told the staff to fix up so she could at least sit there and have some tea or just enjoy the sunset.

"Is she really this type of person? She likes to sit still and drink tea with her friends then?" Ares snorts.

"No but I remember her mother telling me she loved this little outdoor place that was ruined by a storm a couple of years ago. So I thought this could be her new place where she can do whatever she wants." I explain and smile at the thought.

"Always the good and perfect brother" Ares mutters but I still hear him and glares at him because of it.

"Well I guess that's only natural since you are playing around with a witch and I am the only one left to deal with father then and do the boring things, you know" I say and huff “Yeah, you’re right. Oh shit. I totally forgot about Mia. What should I do now then? I can’t reject Nora, I don’t want to but I also promised Mia to take her as my chosen mate, dammit.” Ares swore and growled.

“Yeah, good luck with that one brother. I think it’s time to speak with father and uncle Dave about mother” I say and get up and “Wait we can’t leave Nora” Ares try to protest when I sigh and Ares jumps just to see Daniel move away from the wall.

“What the hell, Daniel. If you are there, say something” Ares looks surprised or perhaps scared but he masked it fast.

“I will stay by Nora’s side and I will mindlink both of you when she wakes up or if something or someone gets in here, even the king, himself” Daniel swore and bowed.

“Good, come now brother, we still have to talk with dad” I say and drag Ares away, playing deaf as he continues cursing along the way.

I raised my hand and knocked on our fathers bedroom door and opened the door when he answered. I dragged Ares inside when he tried to get away.

“Ares and Helios, come in here both of you, your uncle is here too.” Our father said as he and uncle Dave sat in the sofas around the fire place, drinking whiskey.

I push Ares inside before I lock the door behind me. I watch as Ares takes a seat beside our father and I take a seat beside uncle Dave and for a few minutes there is silent except for the noises that comes from the fire as it crackles.

“Father, we need to know more about mother because we want to do the right thing with Nora. Neither one of us want to reject her but we don’t want your destiny so please tell us what went wrong.” Ares asks before me and now our father sighs and gulp down the last of his whiskey before he refills the glass.

“Okay give me a second, my lycan has finally calmed down and my senses have finally returned to normal” our father looks pleadingly at

“Then I will begin and your father can tell his version when I am finished unless he is to drunk for that ” uncle Dave laughs and I frown and look at my father that glares at his brother.

“So I met your mother first actually, she was beautiful and I hated her actually, she looked at me like I was some sort of savior.

Like I would save a street rat from being killed but I saved her none the less and then I walked away. I tried to ignore the bond for a few weeks until I couldn't handle it anymore.

I ran back to where I had first set my eyes on her, in one of the outer villages of the kingdom, it was a poor village and some of the mateless lycans came there to kidnap the female and force their marks on them.

I saved Adina from one of their attacks and when I went back, she wasn't there but I let the bond lead me through the forest and I finally found her. She had climbed a tree and she sat there crying her eyes out. I thought it was my fault so I didn't say anything but just sat down on a rock close by the tree.

When she finally calmed down and jumped down she shrieked by the surprise when she saw me. I asked why she was so sad and she told me that her parents had sold her to another male lycan. I became so furious. that I kissed her and well it went on as she kissed me back and so..

Well let's say that your mother wasn't a virgin when she met your father"

Chapter 19

Helios POV

“Ugh uncle Dave, leave those parts out from the story thanks” I say and almost gag, I don’t want to hear sex bits between my mom and my uncle or my father for that matter.

“Haha come on now boys you are grown ups now and have had sex before” Our father said and looked a bit sad.

“To think that I missed so much of your growing up”

“Yeah yeah enough of the sentimental shit, the boys grew up to be fine young men and now they have found their mate, who happens to be the same female so we need to help them not do our mistake.

So to continue the story.

I actually kidnapped your mother and took her into our kingdom and I sent your father a message and he came for us but a threat came by first and I had to leave Adina for a little while in the cabin I owned. You know the one in the forest in the edge of the town.

Well the male that her parents sold her to came after her and we ended up in a fight and I almost lost the battle when I felt Adina’s sudden fear and the bond told me that she was going further away from me.

Then I heard my brother inside my head, telling me that he had Adina and was placing her farther away and that he was coming to help me. When I knew she was safe I killed off the other males it went easier then. I ripped off their heads and threw them over the wall of this kingdom to give the others a warning.

Man, those were good times hehe, I was so young back then and had more energy too.

Anyway when I caught up with Adina I was in so much relief to see her safe that I lifted her up in my arms and kissed her just to earn a punch from your father.

Your father said that she was his mate too and then we were at each other's throats, Adina stopped us at last when we both bathed in each other's blood of course.

Your grandfather took Adina with him to the castle but refused to let us in until we sorted out the whole thing which took us two whole weeks. So when we met your grandfather at the gate I told him that Adina wasn't my mate and your grandfather seemed sad but still he hugged your father and was happy for him and Adina.

Adina wanted to know why I had lied but I couldn't answer her honestly, I needed my brother to be happy, he was going to be the king one day and without his mate by his side, both he and his lycan would have gone mad and trust me a mad lycan king by the throne is not a sight anyone would want to see. So for a year I kept my distance and I watched my mate beside my brother and I felt jealous and angry until I couldn't sit still. I took a year out of the kingdom and went traveling around the place. But one day I felt it, a huge agonizing pain that made me collapse and scream my heart out. I followed the bond and found Adina and my brother having their wedding night and I fainted. When I woke up much later I found myself inside a cabin with a young and very cute girl, she was a witch. She told me what it was that I had felt and she looked so sad over it that I couldn't help but fall in love. I stayed with her for six months and we fell in love and every time Adina and my brother had sex I felt it and the last few times I tried to kill myself but she helped me by dampening the bond. Making it weaker so I could travel back to the kingdom.

When I came back home I noticed that Adina was pregnant, our new queen was blessed with child and the elder women said she was carrying twins. I was so happy and devastated by the fact that they weren't mine. I challenged my brother for Adina and well I won but I hurt Adina in the process and she went into labor. The birthing process was really long and hard and three days later you boys were born but ... You were born way to early and it almost took your lifes and I almost killed myself, Adina and your father for it when I tried to reject your mother. I looked away for help to break the bond and let the bond latch. on to her instead. But as you know that didn't happen, she bonded with your father instead and you know the rest of the story. Except that I found your aunt the very next day and I thought I was the most unluckiest lycan in the whole world, she was the younger sister of the lycan that your mother was sold off to. "Uncle Dave went quiet and stared into the fire. Then in one sweep he drank the rest of the whiskey in his glass in one go. I stared at him in disbelief before I turned my head toward Ares and our father. How in the world could our father do that to his brother?

“Now, now, boys, before you turn on your father, remember that I chose to stand down from the bond that connected me and Adina. I gave her a chance with your father instead since he would be the new king after our father. It was my choice even if it sounds like your father should take all the blame and trust me. I really wanted to kill him at one point, but I couldn't do that” uncle Dave said while he got up and refilled his glass.

“So I guess it's my turn to tell the story now. Nora have already seen it so I guess I should...” our father began to speak when suddenly a blast goes off and the entire castle rumbles.

A high pitched scream echoed among the walls and I knew it came from Nora.

Chapter 20

Nora POV

The dreams were relentless as the king's lycan forced me to sleep, I wasn't with the queen anymore. My lycan sensed something and pulled me away from there and now I hear strange words in the darkness. The few words I pick up sound strange

" Omnia... Perias... Midaes.."

I don't know what they mean but they feel familiar in some sense, strangely enough. A blinding light and a deafening sound can be heard when I suddenly open my eyes. The room I am laying in is destroyed but I can still see the outline of the room.

I sit up very slowly and notice that Daniel is standing upright in his lycan form, growling wildly but not moving at all. I stretch out my hand slowly and touch his fur on his back and he slowly turns his head my way and huffs.

"Is something wrong, Daniel?" I ask him and he gently lift me up from my bed and then walks out of the room. Through a couple of double doors to a little garden which is overgrown and I can feel my fingers twitch in anticipation of fixing it up.

I wonder if it was Helios that fixed me this room with a little garden to cheer me up from everything. But right now I am feeling very confused as I felt there is something off from Daniel. His steps are precise but I can feel him struggle with something so I gently place my hand over his heart and concentrate.

*Magic. The witches control him with the help of magic* Artemis growls.

I take away my hand and look up at Daniel and he looks down at me and then I see it, his eyes are clouded in a gray mist as they look down on mine.

“It’s okay, take me to them, and I promise you that I will make sure that they set you free from whatever spell they have used on you. It’s okay, I trust you Daniel.” I say and hug him. Daniel stops and I can feel him shake, probably trying to fight off the magic but I stop him, I don’t want him to get hurt because of me. So I jump down from his arms and start running toward the wall that surrounds the castle and I was right as I see Mia and three other witches.

I stretch up my hands to show them that I came out of my free will and Mia smiles.

“I am here now, please release Daniel from the spell before he hurt himself even more.” I say and look Mia in the eyes.

“Hmpf so you mean that this little girl is the last female lycan? Mia, are you sure of this?” one of the witches asks.

“Yep, this is Nora. She is the mate of both prince Helios and prince Ares and now we have things to talk about.” Mia glares at me

“So this is how it’s supposed to be Nora. I will take the place of Ares chosen mate and you will reject him other wise I will refuse to help the king with breaking the curse. Oh and by the way as I am the only living relative of the very same witch that casted the curse I know how to break it but I want a high position in the kingdom” Mia said and I just stupidly stared at her.

“So you want to be queen then?” I ask but Mia and the others laugh

“No, I want to be high priestess and crown princess. I was aiming for Helios at first but he is so damn boring but Ares he’s.. well lets just say I am not bored with him by my side.” Mia laughs and bats her eyes at

“So the only reason you’re staying with Ares is because of the titles, don’t you love him?” I ask stunned.

“Love? Yeah right. No way. Love is what made the curse to be casted. I don’t love anyone and Ares knows that. We are just friends with benefits if you know what that means?” Mia laughs but shut her mouth really quickly as she looks behind me.

But I don’t need to look behind me as I can feel them, rogue lycans, those that lost their mates that became insane from grief. I stood completely still as Mia raised her hands alongside the others and started to chant something. Red flames came out from their hands and flew right past me and hit the lycans instead and as I tried to tell them not to use their magic I was once again lifted into a lycans arm and this time it was an insane one.

He took me and put me over his shoulder and jumped over the wall while Mia screamed that she would send help. Yeah right like I would believe that. I kind of just layed there over his shoulder and waited for him to stop. He ran through the city while the guards tried to stop him but I screamed at them to let him be.

The guards were visibly shocked and confused and so was I as they obeyed my order without question, perhaps because I am a royal then? Anyway this lycan was determined to take me to the outskirts and into the forest.

*Artemis. Do you know where he is going? Or what he wants with me?* I ask her and she just whines. Let's wait and see then.

After running and jumping over various things this lycan started to slow down and finally what felt like hours he dropped me on the ground. Not very gently either, now that I look around, I noticed that I was in a little meadow with a creek, wildflowers and oh about six or seven more lycans.

I slowly rise and lose a bit of balance but I get some help from one of the lycans so I can steady myself and I can feel his intentions, he has not given up. He just wants to be free again, perhaps all of them wants help to get free.

"Uhm excuse me but am I wrong when I say that all of you wants my help to come into peace and be freed from this state that you are in right now?" I ask of them.

All of them nods and whines.

*Artemis, is there anyway to heal all of them at once? Are we strong enough for that?* I ask her and she answers

*Yes there is a way but we are not strong enough for that yet. Perhaps with Helios and Ares by our side or even Daniel then we could do it.*

I was trying to figure out how to do it when I suddenly was interrupted as the nearest lycan lifted me up and placed me in a tree as a handful of more savage lycans came running into our group.

*Daniel, help* I screamed through the mindlink.

*Coming* was all he answered.

I watched as the lycans started to fight against each other and I screamed as two of them barreled into the tree I was sitting in and the tree fell..

*Crack*
