

THEIR LYCAN QUEEN BY FOXTAIL

Chatper 181

Part 3 Chapter 11

Ares POV

I thought I was going to die when I felt a pain rippling right through me as I staggered and fell down to my knees and roared. Ben came to my side but when he touched me everything vanished.

Ben told me that I woke up after 10 minutes or so but he could have sworn that my heart had stopped beating. And I believed him, it felt like I was dead but at the same time I wasn't.

Then I had to wait but Helios contacted me and told me about

Ben's father and I didn't know if I should tell him or not. We continued to search for the missing children and our fears didn't come true. We found all of them alive without the mark on their necks but that cursed witch had made them shift too early. Damaging their wolves.

We took the children down to the village again and since I killed the stupid witch the vortex was gone and we could walk normally through the forest. As we came down to the village the first thing Andrei did was visit Amy and I had already told him to tell her who she was.

It took her a couple of hours to let it sink into her head that she was his mate and we had to explain about the mate thing. For a regular werewolf it is the wolves that are connected but for lycans it is the souls of the humans. The lycans will be satisfied no matter who the other lycan is. I hope anyway.

She agreed to come with us back to our kingdom as her family was already gone and she was hoping that her father was still alive somewhere. When I sniffed her briefly I could tell that I recognized her scent from somewhere even though the sniffing earned me a punch in the face.

Andrei wasn't at all happy that I sniffed his mate and I glared at him but he didn't stand down which made me truly believe that they are true mates. As happy as I could be, I tried to distract myself from knowing that Nora wasn't longer here in this realm and I could also feel elder William's death.

A sorrow filled howl came from the outskirts of the village and I knew that Ben had realized it as well. Andrei looked at his direction before looking at me. The other came to my side as well and wondered what had happened and I told them that elder William was dead.

Then we continued our path home again. Amy and two other children followed us as they had come from the silver stream pack. It took us half a day to get home as the time was against us and I just hoped that the ceremony was in full swing otherwise, Andrei would lose his mate.

Nora's POV

I watched as Ben's and Samantha's baby boy came to the world and grew up. He was really cute and then he found his mate and they had a family. I looked over at Mie and he seemed happy and nodded at the little boy in the reflection of the water in the fountain.

So I and the moon goddess did it together, placing Mie's soul inside Ben's son that was still in Samantha's womb.

"Seline, what about this dress?" I ask her.

"Oh, everytime that you come here you will wear it. You don't even need to put it on, it will just appear on your body when you arrive" she chuckles and I nod. I do like this dress.

I close my eyes and I feel the warmth from everyone before I transport myself back to my realm. Opening my eyes just to see the library's ceiling but this time elder William was not above me. As a matter of fact no one was here.

I sneaked out of the library and through the corridors and up in our room where I had laid out my dress on the bed. I took a quick shower and dried myself before getting dressed and walked downstairs.

To say that everyone was surprised to see me was an understatement. Helios jumped up and grabbed me and spun me around and I giggled because of it. I kissed him hard before releasing him again.

"Gosh, you scared me to death this time" he says and I look at him and say that I am sorry.

Melinda comes and steals me away from Helios crushing me in her arms and I hug her back.

"I thought we had lost you" she cries and I wipe her tears.

"No crying it is your turn no, your moment and we actually need to hurry up before it is too late" I say and look at the king and Mariah and both nods.

Daniel hugs me and Anna comes over and we hug and I turn to look at Samantha and I smile and open my arms and we hug and I can't help myself as I put my hand on her stomach.

"Oh, you already know. I haven't even told Ben yet" she whispers and I giggle.

"It's a boy" I whisper back and she looks at me and I smile when she suddenly starts crying.

I know that only girls inherit the vampire gene and she must have been so scared because of that fact.

"Thank you" she whispers and all of us walk out of the castle.

I look at the place where the ceremony will be held. It is the same spot where I broke the curse and I thought it was fitting since I know that she created the curse right here as well.

The king and Mariah stand in the middle and land Melinda walk up to them. Mariah is holding a bowl and a small knife. Helios stands by my side and takes the knife from Mariah.

"On this very day we will present to you another child of our king and she will be named and given the title of crown princess" Mariah says and everyone gasps except the king and Helios.

"I hereby declare Melinda as my daughter and I give her the name Isis. She is from my blood and with my own blood I accept thee, as my daughter and from this point onward your crown princess" The king says and Helios cuts his palm and he lets some drops down in the bowl.

Helios does the same as he cuts his palm.

"I, Helios accept thee, Melinda Isis as my sister and our crown princess"

Helios turns to me and I show him my palm and he cuts me.

Nora, accept thee, Melinda Isis as my sister and our crown princess"

Our blood mingled together in the bowl and Melinda sobbed while holding her palm up and Helios cut her palm as well.

"I, Melinda Isis, accept my name and my father and my brothers and my sister. I also accept my new title as the crown princess"

When all of our blood meddled together and Mariah held the bowl up high a lightning came from the sky and put the blood in the bowl to fire. The energy wave came from within us and I felt the entire curse to break.

“All wrongs has been into rights”

Chatper 182

Part 3 Chapter 12

Nora's POV

“All wrongs has been into rights”

The voice of the witch came thundering through the sky and I shivered by it.

Melinda suddenly gasped and fell down to her knees and I at once touched her and let my power flow out of me as I began. healing her. The bond that held her lycan dormant broke as the curse broke as well but as I thought:

Melinda's lycan was too weak to come to the surface but I healed her enough so she could speak with Melinda, after all she has been with Melinda all these years but not being able to do anything.

Melinda sighs and I let her go and I can see her eyes glaze off for a few seconds before she looks at me and smiles.

“Thank you, Nora. ” she says and I hug her.

The king helps Melinda to stand up and then he walks away with her towards the castle entrance.

“This is my daughter and she is also your crown princess. I ask all of you to treat her with the respect she deserves but because of the curse her lycan has been dormant unable to get out and is now too weak to do so. But she is still my daughter and she broke the final piece of the curse” the king says with a loud voice.

All that was there cheered and yelled Melinda's name and even my name could be heard and I smiled. I leaned at Helios and he hugged me when I suddenly felt Ares coming closer and so did Ben and I felt sad.

I looked towards the forest as they came out of it and Ares ran the last 100 meters and I walked towards him. He grabbed me and lifted me up so he could kiss me and I let him. When he placed me on my feet I looked around and noticed Ben on his knees directly by my feet.

"Please, tell me. What happened to my father?" he asks and I look up at Helios and he nods.

I crouch down in front of him and touch his face and let all my memories come forward and Ben just watches without saying very much. When I am done he starts to cry and I hug him hard. I thought he would shake me off but instead he hugged me as well and we stayed there for what felt like forever but it was about five minutes or so.

"Ben?" Samantha asks and I look over at her and smile.

Ares helped me up and Samantha took my place as Ben hugged her hard and then they kissed each other.

"I thought there would be this big feast going on" Ares says and I can feel that he is hungry.

"Oh you just wait." I say and smile.

I closed my eyes and concentrated on the mindlink and when I found everyone, even the king I pushed on him even more.

*Everyone in this kingdom. Listen up. We have finally succeeded in breaking this wretched curse and now I am asking for all your help. I ask those here to help me put together a grand celebration or feast in the training area beside the castle.

Everyone brings food and drinks and let us celebrate! I call out and feel a bit breathless like I had been yelling instead of mindlinking everyone.

At first I thought I had failed but then I got their replies

*Yes, my queen*

I smiled and sighed and I tried another approach and I made sure everyone moved as suddenly right out from the ground, grew a long table that split into two and long benches on each side of them.

Flowers and vines twisted around the tables and on the tables light orbs came floating and cups, plates, forks, knives and spoons just showed up.

“How in the hell did you do that?” Ares asked, stunned.

“That wasn’t me” I say and everyone looked at me but I shook my head.

“She is right it wasnt Nora, it was our coven” Mariah wanders over and says and I nod

I feel for my teether once again and this time I clasp my hands. together and.. voila

The sky becomes filled with what you would call it, stars but it’s more like blinking lights that surround us and I stretch up my hand and touch one of them and I feel I got something in my hand so I walk over to Melinda.

“Nora?” Did you do all of this?” Melinda asks and I shake my head.

“Bend your head slightly” I say and she does so and I release the little light orb that I caught on top of her head and at once it transforms into a crown fitting for a crown princess.

Melinda and the king gasps..

“This is a gift from the moon goddess” I say and bow my head to Melinda.

Then I walk back to Helios and Ares as I notice the people from this kingdom coming through the castle gates and are heading to the training areas.

Scents of food and drinks are filling the place along with laughter and warmth from everyone. I look at them as they fill the two large tables with food and their happiness rubs off on me. When I suddenly hear my name being called.

“Nora, help!” Andrei yells and I run over to him and a teenage girl.

“I don’t know what to do, she is shifting. She is part lycan” he says and I look at him and then at her.

“I thought female lycans shifted at 21?” I ask confused.

“So did I but she is clearly shifting” he says and I see her fur sprouting.

“Shift” I tell Andrei and he nods while taking off his clothes.

I touch the young girl and she stirs and look up at me and I smile

“It’s okay. we will help you” I assure her and she nods but she is clearly in pain.

Andrei’s lycan sits on the ground next to me and he reaches out to touch her.

“Do you trust me?” I ask him and he looks at me and then bows and nods.

“Good” I say and put my hand on his chest and feel for his energy and then I do the same thing to the girl.

“Nora, are you okay?” Helios and Ares come over and watch us. I nod at them but they stay here.

I let my power out and I feel this golden warmth that Seline. has used on me so many times now but now it is my time to use it to help this girl shift safely.

“I will connect you two now. I can feel that you are fated mates so it is okay” I say and I feel her lycan that has also been dormant.

I tug on her lycans soul and I feel andrei’s lycans soul and now I push them together.

“Abdrei, mark her now, don’t question me, just trust me” I say and he doesn’t even hesitate as he grabs her and marks her in his lycan form.

Helios and Ares helped him so he wouldn’t tear out her throat in the process. When he was done I watched the girl breathe easier and then she screamed and I flinched as one of her claws slashed my cheek open in the middle of the shift.

I felt it heal instantly and I watched how the first family lycan shifted after the curse was lifted.

“You are blessed”ab

Chatper 183

Part 3 Chapter 13

Helios POV

That was a miracle. Nora helped the young girl Amy to complete her shift into a lycan. But she was right, a female lycan can’t shift until they are 21 unless they have found their mates and been marked. But not many desire to try the marking as it has to be the male lycan form that marks them.

The feast was exactly what everyone needed, especially the townspeople and we had a really great time. Drinking, eating and telling stories that we laughed at, cried at and even swore at.

And by the time when the fullmoon rises in the sky with its red surface I felt something in me.

Nora squeezed my hand and I looked at her and at Ares and both of them had silly grins at their faces when suddenly dad stood up.

“So now we have had so much fun but there is one more thing we must do to celebrate this. And that is to shift into our lycans and run” dad said and to tell that everyone stood up at once even Amy, Andrei’s mate stood up and Andrei kissed her.

I shifted first and then Ares and then everyone else but not

Nora as she simply stood up and I noticed her eyes were white and so was her hair. She wandered away from the celebration and I wondered what she was about to do.

She suddenly stopped and raised her hands and a warmed golden light came from them and shot out into the sky and I gasped as I saw a gateway of sorts appear and a younger girl came out of it along with Artemis. The moon goddess.

“Well done my child” she says to Nora and I feel proud over my mate as she smiles.

“My name is Seline. I am your moon goddess and I am here to introduce my daughter. Nora. She is your deity and high priestess as she has my power running in her body and she will take care of all the lycans, werewolves and hybrids that are in this realm.

I hope everyone that is present will respect her as you do me. It is not common to have a blessed child of the moon here. Oh, and Amy dear, I am so happy that you shifted first after the curse. I will bless your bloodline to always find their mates.

Live for your queen” she shouts the last part and this white blinding light surrounds us and howls from the werewolves and lycans that are in the moon goddess realm.

The gateway disappeared and so did the light leaving Nora in Lillie’s form. Black at night she stands there when she suddenly howls and takes off running through the woods.

I and Ares look at each other before running after her as well. We catch up to her in the forest and then we all run as the other lycans catch up to us. We are out running and playing for the entire night until we are too exhausted and head back towards the castle.

But as we got out of the forest all of our people stood there in their lycan form and all of them including dad bent their knee to Nora. I can feel her embarrassment but she still stands proudly. She shifted back and I was about to curse her when I noticed that her fur left the important parts covered and I huffed in relief.

20.19%

*We all pledge our undying loyalty to our queen and high priestess, Nora Silver* the voices of them are heard through the mindlink.

All the lycans gave her a name and she actually became happy because of it. She stretched out her hands and began touching them on their heads and I walked closer to see the spot on their heads where she had touched them.

A small golden star was left there. Nora was now bonded to them in a way that can never be broken and I shook my head as the realization dawned on me.

Nora is way stronger than any of us and I don't want to have it another way either. I love her, she is mine and I am so damn happy that I followed the guys to go to that stupid mate ball. Otherwise I would never have met her or I would have been forced to kill Daniel over her so I could remark her.

"Stop with those useless thoughts of yours, brother. I would have killed Daniel because you are weaker than me" Ares chuckles at me and I tilt my head as I do recognize the truth in his words.

I look up ahead and notice Nora waiting for us and I walk to her and so does Ares but I catch her first and I lift her up in my arms and licks her cheek and she squeals.

"Helios, stop" she says but I just playfully growl at her and we make our way inside.

Nora's POV

46.97%

This would be the end of our journey. The curse is broken and I have both of my mates and we are happy. Right?

Fooled you all. But I do promise that we are happy.

Five years later...

I am chasing the kids throughout the castle. David helps me with them as they are fast little things, especially Hannes! David refused to go to another pack and wanted to live here and so we accepted that and actually adopted him.

But as he said:" I refuse to have to sleep in your quarters because I don't want to be brain damaged while you f**k all the bloody time"

I got so damn red in my face as his words left his mouth so he got his own room instead. But he does follow me everywhere he goes. Thank the goddess for that.

The king stepped down a year after the curse was broken and we had our ceremony then. Helios stepped up as king while Ares refused to so Helios told him he could have the title of queen consort and Ares actually accepted that which made me confused.

I wondered if he knew what that meant but when he said it I wished I could go away somewhere else at that moment.

“Sounds good, that means I am responsible for the baby making then”

He earned Helios growl and I just stood there and looked at my feet but I suppose that he was right as David came back to me with the twins in each arm.

“Girls, what have I told you about listening to David?” I scold them

“But mommy, David is boring”

Author note

I loved writing the story about Nora, Helios and Ares. I actually planned the story to be around 80 chapters but my characters live their on life.

The story might be finished but that doesn't mean that they are. I will keep on adding chapters. Since I need to write the endings of everyone else as well so please continue reading. Love and blessings to you all.

Chatper 184

Part 3 Chapter 14 extra

Anna and Dave

Anna's POV

Hannes has grown and is one quick little boy. He loves to play hide and seek and we spend almost every day trying to find him. He is curious and very funny and no matter how much he steps on Dave's toes we still love him.

He plays with the other children in the castle, especially David. We figured out that they are cousins. And since Nora adopted David they have been together everyday but if Nora needs to go somewhere you can always see David by her side.

Little Helios was adopted by another couple in a werewolf village, since he has alpha genes but his rank is that of a beta. Making us all wonder who his father is. Anyway Hannes lycan has started to show himself and he scared the living shit out of me the other day.

Hannes has just turned two years old and he was playing on the playground along with the other children when he suddenly fell down from the swing and I rushed over there just to see him quickly stand up and show me his very, very black eyes.

Nora giggled at my expression but she explained to me that everything was fine as she had handpicked Hannes lycan and they are a very good match.

But to make matters worse or better. Hannes is now six years old and is already training with Dave. Actually Linus' father took over the training of the ex-rogue lycans so Dave took it upon himself to train the younger ones.

He thought it would be more interesting since his small force has come to be so damn good that he doesn't need to oversee them anymore.

So instead I went on with my chores as the female delta. Yes, that is right Dave was granted the title Delta. Delta is the one to train the warriors and Nora made sure that Dave was the right lycan for the job.

They had a fight over it and she actually won over him but he was so damn close to taking her down but.. Whatever that is old news now. I take care of the castle and all the maids that the king hired before he retired and I also help Samntha in her beta duties since she has never been a beta female.

But then again everyone is calling me "ma" so I guess I am the mother of this castle as well. It's time for lunch soon so I make my way down the kitchen to tell the kitchen staff to start preparing and I am met by Yuki and her kittens on my way over there.

Yuki jumps up in my arms when she sees me and I am carrying her in my arms all the way down to the kitchen humming on a tune. Yuki has been really cuddly lately, she likes sleeping on my stomach and she even buffs me when I sleep for long in her eyes.

But thanks to her I don't forget to eat anymore. As I come into the kitchen the staff are already doing lunch. Lasagna wafts in the air and suddenly I feel sick. Strangely, I love lasagna. I put Yuki down and asked one of the kitchen staff.

"Hi Alli, who told you guys to start preparing for lunch?" I ask her and she freezes on the spot and so does everyone else.

"You did, Anna." But lunch has already been it's dinner time by now" she looks at me nervously

No, that can't be. I don't remember giving her orders about that and I only slept for ten minutes. I look up at the watch and gasp. I have been sleeping for about five hours.

I look around in the kitchen when suddenly someone takes the lasagna out of the oven and just the scent of it makes me rush to the sink. Am I coming down with something? I wash my mouth and the staff are looking worried at me but I smile and wave them off.

But I shouldn't have done that because I get to go three steps before the entire room spins and I feel myself falling towards the floor. I remember Alli's scream and that knock on my head as I hit the floor and the next thing I am gone...

Not gone forever though. I wake up later on a hospital bed with Dave in the room yelling at the doctor and a crying Hannes by my side. I cough a bit to let them know that I am awake and they become quiet and Dave comes to my side instantly.

"Are you okay, Anna?" he asks and I was about to nod when I am suddenly washed with vertigo and Hannes are very quick to find a bowl but actually it was a stupid bedpan.

We had a laugh over that one later on. A knock sounded on the door and the doctor opened it even though Dave growled.

"I called on our queen. I think she will be able to tell what it is much better than I can" he says and leaves the room.

Confused, I look at Nora but she just stands there smiling and not moving.

"Nora, please, dear. Can you examine Anna?" Dave pleads and she just shakes her head

"I don't need to I already know" she says and smile and I stare at her

"But I can't? Everyone has said that I can't" I stammer and try to tell her that but she just nods her head.

"Do you remember last year when you broke that arm of yours and burned yourself and I healed you? Well I didn't just heal your arm. I healed the damage there as well. So congratulations" she smiles and I start to cry.

“Nora, even if you are our queen that doesn’t mean you have the right to make Anna cry” Dave says and Hannes tilts his head and I know that he is listening.

I grab Dave’s arm and pull him down to me and he hugs me and when he finally lets me go he seems confused.

“It’s alright Dave. I am pregnant”