Chapter 21

Ares POV

Damn. Damn. Damn. The entire castle were in chaos and we were stuck inside fathers bedroom, I tried mindlinking Nora but it was like a blackhole, telling me she was still asleep. So I tried Ben instead but Helios was already talking to him and by some weird way I couldn't reach Daniel. So I tried my best friend instead, Tristan, who happens to be our cousin also.

Tristan. Can you reach Nora? She is asleep and Daniel is guarding her but I can't reach him I mindlink him and I can feel him moving.

Got it I am on my way over to her room but I have to tell you. The entire castle is in chaos and I think this is the doings of witches. Have you pissed off Mia recently? Tristan says and I am shocked for a moment. Mia?

Mia, where are you? Have you heard about the attack on the castle? Can you help us lift the spell on my fathers bedroom? I try to mindlink her.

Ares? What is this attack you are talking about? Oh no I see the castle from here, it's smoke every where, I will take some friends with me to isolate the damages. Your fathers bedroom? Yeah I will try that but it might take some time. See you soon Mia cut the mindlink and my first instinct was that she is lying.

I don't really have a reason for believing that she is lying, it's just a hunch but I shouldn't doubt her. After all I promised her that she would be my chosen mate, my princess to be, why did I ever promise her that.

I finally met my mate and I haven't even had the time to talk properly with her, our first meeting was urgh the worst ever. Damn. I want Nora, no I need her, my lycan needs her, what should I do now. I should try to talk to Mia and break it off with her and perhaps offer the title that she wants as a trade.

We have a problem, Ares. Nora's room is blocked but my lycan can't sense her at all, the same with Daniel. The room is empty but I can sense the faint trace of magic. I think you guys really have to get out of there and fast. And by the way what the hell is Mia doing? She and the other three is standing by the outer wall. Like they are waiting for something, like they knew this was going to happen Tristan mindlinked me.

I growled and got Helios attention just as I shifted and barreled against the door but the spell forced me back with such a great force that I crashed through the wall on the other side of the room. I raised up from the brick and realized I had crashed right through to another room, it looked like a maids quarter.

I growled and then rushed out of there. I could hear Helios, Dave and father coming behind me but I didn't stop as I tried to reach Nora's room. But I stopped by the entrance as the chaos was right there in the middle. Rogue lycans have gotten inside the castle and are fighting with our guards. I see Gray and Andrei fighting with three of them, but they are trained warriors and they can take on two of them alone.

Then I see Lukas and Anton but not Linus, he never walks away from those two unless...

Linus. Where are you? I mindlink him just as I hit a rogue lycan.

I am following the rogue lycan that kidnapped Nora. By the way all of this was Mia's fault, she felt like she was in need of putting Nora in her place. Under Mia's feet. They are heading toward the dark forest Linus answered.

I took a hit on my snout as I was stunned by his answer but I effectively took down that lycan. Helios came up beside me, now in his lycan form.

*Linus said that Nora has been kidnapped by a rogue lycan and he is taking her to the dark forest.

Linus is following them and you will probably laugh and say "I told you so" but this is Mia's doing*

Huff. I would say so but right now I just want to find Nora. But you need to find Mia so she can break the stupid spell on Daniel, he is like a damn puppet right now. She is outside somewhere, I will take Gray and Andrei with me to the forest along with Ben Helios answered and I could feel no ill will from him. No disappointment.

I released a howl to let Mia know that I was coming for her and then I started to make a path through the rogue wolves for Helios to make his way out of the castle so he could go find our mate and put her to safety.

But as I made it outside I sighed, there were about hundred of crazy ass rogue lycans, standing here waiting for something. I roared with all my power, signaling to our own army of warriors, wishing Nora could have seen me. I am after all the strongest lycan warrior in the kingdom and I lead our army.

It took about three minutes for the top elite of the warriors to gather and we attacked the crazy ones in one united, gathered, forceful formation. As we were fighting I noticed Mia and her “friends” being chased by three crazy lycans and .. Daniel?

I crouched down and jumped over the lycans that were near me, kicking and punching my way over to the girls. I stretched out my claws and showed me fangs and gave out a growl as I ran towards the girls but I ran past them and took down the lycans that chased them.

When that was done I turned around to where Mia and her friends.

were standing and waiting.

“Finally Ar es, where were you?” Mia started to say when I cut her off by lifting her from the ground with my paw around her neck.

“Lift the DAMN SPELL! I know it is your doing. Lift it or I will break your tiny sorry little neck of yours!”

Chapter 22

Helios POV

It didn't surprise me that Mia was the one that was behind this mess, but for some reason I don't think she invited the rogue lycans. And they are so many of them, perhaps all in this kingdom.

Gray, Andrei, come with me. A rogue lycan has kidnapped Nora and Linus is going after Nora. They are headed for the dark forest.

Both of them growled but followed me out of the chaos in the castle, Ben met us outside the kitchen.

"Ea sier to go out from here, Ares and the top warriors are well having a blast out front" Ben told us

"Damn are we missing the fun stuff?" Andrei complained and made me glance back at him.

Gray smacked him over the head and growled at him. I shook my head, Andrei will get plenty of action when we get to Nora.

We took a shortcut through the kitchen garden and through a gate at the wall but we stopped when we heard Ares roar. Now Mia is done for, I hope he nails her good this time. We were forced to fight some rogue lycans on the way over to the black forest but most was taken out by Andrei who was having “fun”.

As we got closer to the line of the forest I could hear some fightings inside but just as I took one step inside I felt this chilly feeling.

Like when you walk through a cold shower or drinking really cold water but this wasn't any of that, this was magic and damn I was right.

NYSON DENAad of the dark forest, the livingroom of Mia's grandmother, one of the priestess house Fecho Mamat sand and turned around to look at the older woman Hello mince Hohes I have something to say and something to ask. festwards will send you to the forest” Mariah says with a happy smile while giving me a towel.

smit back and put on the towel and lean on the wall while Mariah sits down on the sola.

This gr., Nora, I sensed her when you came back. She is a lycan born mom weerwoll parents, remarkable. Our coven hopes that she will break tims wrecked curse you know. But of course some of the younger ones akes joy in seeing some suffer but not all of us.

He can has a name, right? I want to know what it is.”

Mariah exrlamed

y does that matter? Ah forget it, her lycans name is Artemis, she is some sort of healer, she can heal the minds of the rogue lycans” I answer and watch Mariah as she nods and then goes up to fetch a old book from the wall. I guess it’s a cloaking spell or something because I can’t see any bookshelves.

“Give this to your mate, it has a lot of history that she and her lycan will find interest in. So do you have any questions for me?”

Mariah asks while giving me the book.

“Yes, but now is not the time for questions, I need to go back for Nora” I begin but Mariah glares at me so I sigh.

“Damel and Nora are twin souls but Nora has two mates, which is me and Ares and I know this will get a bit ... itchy” I say and Mariah tilts her head and I see her eyes go black.

Mariah isn’t just a witch or priestess, she is also a seer, she can see into the past and the future.

“Yes. Their lycans are siblings if you want to call it.

Or more likely, Daniel’s lycan has always been Artemis’ shadow and the bond between them is forged forever. If someone would try to break it both Artemis and Daniel's lycan could die" Maria confirms my suspicions.

I nod and takes the book, wondering how I am going to carry it while fighting.

"Silly prince it will appear in your bedroom, when you get back" Mariah chuckles and starts to wave her hand but right before she can send me off I tell her this.

"You do know this chaos is organized by your granddaughter Mia. She and some friends blew the castle and inevitable got the rogue lycans into the kingdom and even inside the castle walls"

Mariah looks stunned for a second and then furious before she nods and waves me out. I just happen to let go of the towel when I take a step inside the dark forest and into the creek. She dropped me off inside the middle of the fighting, sigh. Witches.

I stood there for a second, trying to organize the fight that I was looking at when my lycan finally got Nora's scent and we shifted.

I attacked a lycan near her and she screamed so I looked up and noticed that she was sitting in a tree. Tilting my head in confusion as to why she was sitting in a tree, I didn't notice that a rogue lycan behind me and he got the upper hand as I felt his claws raking down my back and I roared before swinging at him.

He flew into a tree that broke in the middle and fell down. Then I felt it, a pulse of some sorts, like the entire forest came to life in one go. The water in the creek started to float into the air and the ground rumbled, the trees were cracking and bending.

I took the opportunity to go to Nora and I found her in the same tree but now it was bent but she was holding on to it like it was her only life line.

Nora, let go of the tree I mindlinked her and I could see her shaking her head.

Trust me

I watch as she slowly lets go of the tree and really, really slowly moves so she can get off but something happens, the ground shakes a bit and then the very same tree that she is clinging on bends down towards me and I gasp.

Nora's eyes aren't just purple anymore, there is a golden ring around the irises, she is so beautiful.

The tree lets go of her and she slides down into my arms and then I watch the tree slowly stretching its way up again.

“Artemis called upon the forest but she isn’t strong enough to hold it” Nora whispers and I look down on her in awe. I don’t deserve her and neither does Ares.

Chapter 23

Noras POV

As I was sitting in the tree, I noticed something or rather someone, Linus had been following us into the forest but he was alone.

After the two rogue lycans barrelled into the tree and the tree broke off in the middle. I fainted for a minute or two I think.

But I was woken up by Artemis that was growling like hell inside my mind. A rogue lycan had gotten close to me and tried to drag me down the tree but instead I touched his hand and sent him backwards into another tree making him fall unconscious.

I thought you were going to help him? I tell Artemis but she only huffs.

Yeah I know but I couldn't do it, not to him and not right now she answers

*What do you mean? Not to him? Is there something wrong with him? * I try to ask her but she just responds with a hum.

Then I feel him, Helios, he is close, really close but.. what? Did he just disappear? Strange.

*Nora? It's me Ben, we don't know where Helios went but he was here a minute ago. I am with Gray and Andrei, do you know where you are? * Ben mindlink me and I look around to find Linus but he isn't in the place where I first saw him.

Ben? I am by a creek and there are lots of rogue lycans here. I think the first ones wanted me to help them but then another group came and now it's just chaos and Artemis has shut me out. I think she will try to do something but I don't know what. I answer and send him my memory of me coming into the forest and the creek and which tree I am clinging myself to.

Really Nora? A tree? What are you, a monkey? Gray laughs in my mind and I growl back.

I will kick your ass, you stupid overgrown wolf I sent back and I could literally hear him laughing his ass off.

A minute or two later Ben and the guys came rushing into the meadow and they didn't stop as they attacked the rogue lycans. I watched from the tree top how two of the other lycans tried to get to me by trying to either jump up or break the tree.

As one of them jumped up in another tree and jumped over to me I semi-shifted and my claws raked over the lycans face and he released a howl on his way down. The fighting stopped for like a second, a very long second, before the growls came and the other lycans turned. against me.

One of them jumped high enough to get to my foot and I screamed in pain when I felt his claws penetrate my skin but he was taken down by a light brown lycan that growled ferociously at him. Then all the guys, Ben, Andrei, Gray and the light brown lycan surrounded my tree, they fought to hold the other lycans back when I suddenly heard from Artemis. I am done now. Try to make it so all the guys are connected somehow.

Uhh what the hell does she mean by that?

Ben? Can you try to make it so you guys touch as many rogue lycans that you can? I think Artemis is prepared to do something strange again I could feel Ben's confusion but he nodded and told the other guys.

Then Ben and the guys rushed forward, dealing out punches and touching a lot of the rogues or making sure the rogues touch each other. Then I felt it, a warm, exploding sensation that came over me and everything went white. The raw power washed over me like several waves of water, all crashing through me and at last everything went still like when you hold your breath.

For a moment, everything and everyone was blinded by this powerful white light and everything was quiet and peaceful. Almost like I was dead and sent up to be in heaven, but then I felt it. A heartbeat, thump, and then another one, thump thump.

The world became normal again but I could still feel all of them literally. All their pain and devastation like how much it tortures them inside. Then I felt it; a very small flickering, glimmering ray of hope. At first I didn't understand who it belonged to until I felt more and more of them.

The little rays of hope came from the rogue lycans that have lost their other half of themselves. I reached out to them, answering that little ray of hope with kindness and a promise to light up their darkness.

But as I did I felt my own light drain out of me and I sighed as I hugged the tree even harder. I was so exhausted that I just wanted to fall asleep.

Nora, please try to stay awake because we have a huge problem down here Ben mindlinked me and I looked down.

As I was trying to figure out what this huge problem was supposed to be, the forest became eerily silent. Then they came, morerogue lycans, around 50 of them running in, growling like hell. And just like that, all hell broke out.

Therogue lycans that Artemis and I had helped rose from the ground and turned against the lycans that came into the clearing.

As I clinged to the tree trying not to fall down or fall asleep, I felt him. My mate, Helios, is here in the forest somewhere.

I tried searching for him but I was too tired and in pain. My foot was killing me and I did the thing I shouldn't have, I looked down on it. It was still bleeding pretty badly and now when I look again, I can see it's broken.

While I try to understand how, I feel an agonizing pain on my back and I stretch my hand back to feel why I am in pain but as I touch my back, it's nothing there. No blood and no wound.

While the confusion racks my brain and body when I feel the tree start to shake and I hear it crack.

It's Helios. He is wounded but Nora, both you and I are exhausted so I can't heal us and help our mate out. What do you think I should do? Artemis said and I could hear that she needed rest.

Help them My answer was strong in our mind and I could feel Artemis approval.

I felt even more exhaustion creeping over me but I closed my eyes and clung myself to the tree even harder now.

Then a pulse went through the forest and I felt the soul of the forest awakening, greeting me with respect and a whisper of an old promise. The forest will always be guarding me and keeping me safe.

The forest answered Artemis' call and I was helped down from the tree by Helios, rather I jumped but still I was safe. But the exhaustion was too great so after I breathed in Helios scent I fell asleep in his arms.

Chapter 24

Ares POV

I stared into Mia's eyes and I tried to understand how she was thinking by creating all of this chaos. Making Daniel a puppet, blowing up the castle, trying to put Nora in her place, letting rogue lycans into the castle grounds. At first I thought the rogue lycans just let them in by themselves but then I remembered that Mia's mother had cast a barrier around the castle ground to keep the rogue lycans out and only she or her daughter could break it.

The small problem we faced outside the doors was taken care of rather quickly and the rogue lycans are in the dungeons now.

Mia's grandmother and mother are both here, looking rather angry at their daughter.

"What in the entire world were you thinking, young lady?" Mia's mother asked, trying her hardest not to yell at her but Mia only rolled her eyes at her.

"Ah, I give up. This time you have done it and now your grandmother will take your powers from you.

No don't you dare to protest, you could have hurt the future queen! You will get your powers back when you have proven worthy of them" Mia's mother said and even I stared at her with wide eyes.

All young witches have a pendant in the form of a necklace that channels their power to and from nature and only a blood parent can take it away from them and give it back. Mia's grandmother stepped forward and said something in their language before taking the pendant off of Mia. It is a beautiful pendant, the form of a leaf with a green crystal in the middle.

Mia looked at me with tears in her eyes.

"I just wanted to be by your side, don't you get it Ares? Sura it may be that I don't love you but both you and I know that we belong together and you promised me. Remember?" Mia said and both her mother and grandmother looked at me but I just shrugged at them.

"Yeah I know Mia, but you agreed on one condition, that if I ever found my mate, you would let go without a fuss and what you have done now is more than just a fuss" I replied. Mia glared at me but before she could retort, my father and uncle came over to us.

"Maria, it was not yesterday that I saw you out and about" My father said and I just stared at him as he smiled sweetly at the old lady.

“Yes, yes I know. Perhaps I should tell you that I borrowed your other son earlier, for a little chat about your future daughter in law. Don’t throw her away just because of her heritage now” she laughed at him and winked.

“You mean Nora? No, at first I wanted to kill her but I really believe that she can break the curse now so you have my word that I won’t hurt her. But your granddaughter on the other hand...” my father answered and glared at Mia.

“Yes, I will personally take care of my stupid granddaughter. Me and her mother will take her to the coven for the time being because I believe you will have your hands full in the coming weeks.” she smiled sadly.

“What do you mean by that?” I ask confused.

“Well my young prince. Your dear princess’s existence is no longer a secret, now everyone knows about her. The last female lycan” Mia’s mother says and gives me a crooked smile.

My surprise could have been easily read on my face and just the thought that other male lycans now know of her and wanted to take her made my blood boil. Just as I was about to suggest a cloaking spell or something the doors opened and my two missing warriors came in. Andrei and Gray, followed by Helios with Nora in his arms and Linus behind them. Hmm I could have sworn that Ben was with them. How strange that he isn't anymore.

"Oh all of you are here already? Ben is out there and talking to Daniel that looks like he is still a bloody zombie." Helios said and looked at

"Oh her room is cleaned so you can put her in there if you want" I tell him and he nods before walking towards her room.

"And Daniel?" I ask Mia's grandmother.

"Oh right, the guardian" she mumbles.

She closes her eyes and snaps her fingers and sends off a little blue orb through the wall.

Just a few seconds later we could hear Daniel scream out in frustration. The door opened once again and my uncle went there to help Ben. Daniel was furious but also exhausted, Ben and uncle Dave helped him inside the castle.

"Oh my, you are a strong guardian, to try to withstand a witch's magic for so long. I shall give you a gift, guardian" Mias grandmother said.

She walked over to Daniel and touched his hand, I tilted my head when his hand glowed blue for a second. When she smiled and walked back to her granddaughter I noticed a crescent moon on Daniel's hand, almost like a tattoo.

"So we shall go now then?" Mia's grandmother said and all three of them disappeared in a red mist.

"So what shall we do now?" I asked my father.

"Rest. Rest a couple of hours before we take charge of this mess that your idiotic girlfriend created. And we need to know what the hell happened in the forest as to why Nora's feet were still bleeding. Can't she heal herself?" my father wondered.

What, was Nora hurt? I was so occupied with Mia that I didn't realize it. I could feel Helios' wound on his back as it was my own but why couldn't I feel Nora's? Something isn't right here, something I must look into.

"I will go to the library and rest there, Tristan will you join me?" I said, making everyone raise an eyebrow at me.

Tristan nodded and we walked up to the library and we met Helios in the stairs that was apparently waiting for us.

"I take it you couldn't feel her pain in the foot either?" Helios said and I nod. Helios sighed and walked ahead of us to the library.

Perhaps a book or two could give us our answers.
Hopefully.

Chapter 25

Nora's POV

I miss my old life, just a little bit. No witch is going to destroy my life. and I didn't ask for Ares to be my mate so she doesn't have to be jealous or angry enough to be hurting my friends. All I ever wanted was a friend in the first place. Sigh.

My whole body feels heavy as I try to move and then this sudden pain that radiates from my foot. Oh that's right a rogue lycan broke my foot. when he tried to pull me down from that tree. I try to open my eyes but the sudden light makes me blink at least a 100 times or more. I move my fingers slowly and stretch them, they crack a bit but it's a nice feeling actually.

"Are you awake, Nora?" Daniel asks and I huff at him in response.

I open my eyes slowly and I see Daniel as he gets up from a chair next to the bed. He helps me sit up in the bed by pulling the pillows up behind me. When I finally sit up I take a good look at Daniel and stretch out my arms for him.

Surprised Daniel hugs me and easily lifts me up from the bed and walks out to the small garden. He puts me down on a chair there and I am surprised by the look of the garden right now. When I saw it the first time it was a mess but now it's beautiful, with flowers everywhere and bushes.

"Who did all of this?" I ask Daniel.

"Well actually we are wondering the same. Helios thinks it's Maria, Mia's grandmother or perhaps Mia's mother. But I don't think so, this place feels more natural. Sure the power from a witch is natural too but this feels more real in some way. I can't really explain it."

Hmm he's right. This doesn't feel like witch magic, perhaps it's Artemis and the promise from the forest. I stretch out my hand and touch one of the bushes and feel an energy that is way purer than witch magic.

I sigh and look around, it has become very beautiful here now but I am not really satisfied with all of it. I wonder if the forest will be sad if I make some changes around here.

Daniel walked away, he said he would bring me some tea and something to eat. That's good. I am really hungry anyway and tea is always good. Right now I feel really cold and I could really drink some tea to warm myself up. A knock is heard and I call for who ever it is to come in, I hear footsteps and I am really surprised when I am greeted by the king himself and his brother Dave, that I helped when I came here.

“Hello, I would get up to greet you but my foot still hurts” I say shyly and look down and groan at the sight of my foot. It looks like a football now.

“It’s okay Nora, you should rest. We met Daniel on our way here and he told us that he was going to fetch tea and scones.” Dave laughed and I tilted my head.

“Yes it was a funny idea that Daniel would go and make tea” the king laughed.

“Why? He is just being nice since I am hurt, I am not forcing him, I promise” I say and both men laughs some more.

“I believe you Nora, it’s just that Daniel has always said that even if he finds his mate he would never make tea or get something for her since he isn’t a maid” the king say and I think about it and then I giggle.

It sure sounds like something Daniel would say so it must have been funny to see him in action.

“Now that is something I really would like to see everyday from now on” Dave says with a wink and the king agrees.

I smile and blush at the same time. They want me to smile everyday or Daniel fetching tea?

“It’s your beautiful smile that he wants to see everyday not Daniel fetching tea if he doesn’t have a fetish for him of course”

We look at the direction where the voice came from and there they were, both my mates. Helios and Ares.

I smile when I see both of them, they are almost identical but I can totally see the difference between them.

Helios comes over to me and kisses my cheek.

“How are you doing, princess?” he asks me and I blush slightly and say that I am fine.

Ares is leaning against the wall and I was just about to ask him to come here and sit when the door opens once again and Daniel comes in without the tea.

“Did you get enough of playing the maid now?” Ares asks and winks at

“Don’t hurt your self when you try to make a joke prince Ares” Daniel sneers and I look confused at Helios.

Helios gets up and stands in Daniel’s way and Ares is staring wide eyed at him.

Did Daniel really insult Ares right now? In front of the king? What is wrong with him?

It’s not Daniel Artemis yawns.

I try to get up but Daniel is faster as he lifts me up in his arms and I whelp from the sudden movement.

“You are Daniel’s lycan right?” I ask and he looks down at me and nods.

“What is your name?” I ask of him and he tilts his head.

“My name is Ari” he say with his deep voice and Artemis peeks out of my eyes.

“I have missed you Artemis Ari says.

“She have missed you too” I answer.

Daniel tilt his head and smiles happily.

“But Ari, can you give back control to Daniel now? I would like for him to come back now, I miss him” I say and he growls back.

“No. Daniel is stupid, he burned your tea instead of asking one of the maids” Ari answers.

“Please Ari, I need Daniel and all of his mistakes, you know.” I hopes that he will understand.

“Fine, but I warn you my human is really stupid, burning water, huff.” Ari say but gives Daniel control back.

“For the record I didn’t burn the water” Daniel say and I laugh while giving him a peck on his cheek.

“I believe you”

Chapter 26

Nora POV

“I believe you”

Daniel blushed and put me down on the chair again and turned to Ares and bowed down.

“I am sorry for what my lycan said to you”

“That’s okay. I get that I can be a pain in the ass sometimes.” Ares shrugs and I giggle.

“How can your lycan take control like that when ours can’t?” Helios asks.

“Artemis said before it’s because she and Ari is special, they have a united power source or something like that. I think it’s because they are twin souls, siblings in a way” I say and remember a conversation between us.

“Hmm interesting.” Dave say and nods.

“Very, shall we go to the blue room instead?” the king says and I tilt my head and look at him.

“The blue room?” I say and he nods.

“Yes that would be a good idea, father” Helios says and takes me in his arms and carries me outside.

Helios goes up the stairs and then takes a left and stops in front of a dark brown door that looks normal, nothing special about it.

But when he opens the door I gasp, the room is decorated with blue furniture and the walls are a light gray color, almost like silver but the most impressive thing would be the ceiling. It has paintings in blue, a wolf that is howling at the moon and a human that bows down at the wolf. I could stare at it all day so when Helios put me down on the couch I put my head back on the pillow and stared up at the ceiling.

“It’s beautiful right? I asked the maids to come up with tea and something light to eat” Dave said and I nodded but I couldn’t tear my eyes away from the paintings.

“So shall we talk now?” Helios ask and Ares took his seat right away.

Ares gently moves my legs so they are resting on his lap and I get painfully conscious about where my feet are.

Dave chuckles and I turn my head to see him sit in an armchair next to me. I glare a bit at him and he just laughs at my face.

“What? Did I miss something?” the king said as he walks in with a trail of maids behind him.

“No, Nora just became conscious about men” Daniel say and laughs a bit.

“Oh is that so then perhaps I will have a grandchild soon then” the king says and I blush hard and take a peek at Ares, I shouldn’t have done that.

Both Helios and Ares’ eyes have gone dark by lust.

Artemis, help I mindlink her and she just laughs.

“Nora, stop!” Helios says and I blush even more.

“Hmm someone smells nice” Ares says and I look petrified.

“Ok everyone stop before Daniel kills us all.” Dave says and points at him.

Daniel look rather murderous while looking at everyone.

“I would like to have tea now please” I whisper, trying to make the blushing stop.

“Of course princess, black or perhaps red tea?”

Helios asks and I glare at him.

I curse at my mom right now for telling Helios that red tea makes me horny sometimes.

“Black” I growl at him and he winks at me.

Helios comes over with a mug with hot tea in it and I sit up before I take it. While I take the mug I notice something that I didn’t do before. A painting on the wall.

“Did you see it now?” Dave says and I nod while looking at it.

“It’s supposed to be the moon goddess and her land before the war. She is pointing down to the lycans and the humans alike.”

Dave tells me.

I stare at it and I feel Artemis coming forward and she takes the control before I grasp the situation she spills out the tea and puts down my feet on the floor and tries to walk over there.

But I take over the control again when I feel the pain from my foot and I hear the crack when my bone breaks again. I scream as I topples over but the king catches me before I land on the floor.

The scream that comes from me is telling how much it hurts and I fight to not faint but it hurts so damn much.

“Why aren’t you healing?” The king asks and I explain the situation while he helps me sit on the couch again.

“Artemis didn’t have the energy or the power to heal me yesterday and now she is exhausted to help me”

“Helios and Ares, you will help your mate as I have explained before how to while the rest of us will take a walk and we will be back in half an hour okay” the king tells his sons while taking Dave and Daniel out with him.

“What did he mean by that?” I ask them but they just look at each other. Helios takes off his clothes but not his underwear and I blush. Despite the pain I can’t help but admire my mate’s body.

Ares laughs and bends forward and kisses me softly on the lips and I kiss him back, he tastes so damn good. I can feel warmth flowing toward my stomach and down between my legs, when I am reminded that I only have a dress on and no panties.

I feel Helios approach and I tear myself from Ares and look at Helios that have shifted and wondering what he is about to do when he suddenly sits on his knees and lick my wounded foot. It hurt so much and I was about to scream when Ares kissed me again.

I tried to concentrate on Ares even though it hurt so much from my foot. Ares slowly let his hands touch my neck and down to my breasts. He squeezes my breast and I gasp by the movement, totally forgetting about the pain in my foot as Ares is still exploring my body with his hands.

I feel Helios tongue licking up my leg and then in under my dress, I am panting like crazy and I can't be still as I feel an sensation off something that is getting nearer. It feels as I explode when I can feel Helios tongue touch my pussy at the same time as Ares is pinching my nipples.

"Let me guess it was your first orgasm?" Ares is teasing me.

I nod at him and he smiles.

"Good because I will make you have at least two more before dad and the rest comes back."

Chapter 27

Noras POV

Well let's just say that Ares didn't joke around about me getting two more org asms, they actually gave me three more before the rest came back. The tea had gone cold so the maids came up with new warm tea and I thought they would give me dirty looks but they didn't. It was like they didn't care, I wonder who they are.

"The maids are the second chance or chosen mates of the pack, so they know what is going around here. I can introduce you later on if you want?" Helios said and I nodded, curious about the girls.

"Yes perhaps that would be a good idea, and Nora will need a handmaiden so she should get to know the girls" Dave said and I looked at him

"A handmaiden?" I asked and looked at Helios and Ares

"Yes, uhm a friend sort of but she does everything you want to and she will accompany you wherever you go" Helios said and I stared at him.

"It's not a slave Nora. More like a personal assistant. She will help you with various things around the castle and the pack you know" Ares explains and I just nod. That makes more sense.

"Yeah that would be helpful" I say and look at the maids again. All three of them smile at me and I blush slightly.

“Yes and perhaps you will see how an actual birthday is celebrated” Daniel says and winks at me.

“Yeah I look forward to that actually”

“Wait, didn’t you celebrate your birthdays in your old pack? ” Dave asked

I shook my head and explained.

“No not really, we celebrated things like coming out of age, our first shift, a higher ranking, winning a competition and things like that. But the celebration wasn’t personal, it was with the whole pack and these gifts Ben mentioned, we never got any.” I shrug

Now it was a complete silence over the room and I wondered if I said anything wrong. A sharp intake of air snapped me out of the thoughts that had wandered into my mind.

“Excuse me my king, if I may speak” one of the maids took a step forward. She was pretty with brown eyes and dark blonde hair.

The king looked at her and smiled, waving her forward.

“Hello miss Nora, my name is Anna and I know what you are speaking of. The pack that I came from was like that also but if I don’t sound too rude I would like to invite you to a birthday party tomorrow actually. One of the maids’ birthday is tomorrow and I thought you wanted to see how we celebrate ours and also I wonder when your birthday is?" Anna say "Oh I would love that. My birthday is next year, on the day of the ball." I say and thinks

"What. Your birthday has already been? But then we need to celebrate it. We should set a date but we also need to celebrate that you guys have found your mate and our future queen." Dave said and I tilted my head at him. So what?

"Yes you are right, we have a lot to celebrate but first we need to discuss the recent happenings and problems that we have."

The king said and dismissed Anna and the two other maids.

I wonder how I will go to the birthday party tomorrow if I can't speak with Anna again.

"It's okay Nora, Anna will fetch you tomorrow when the party is ready" Ares winks at me.

Like he could read my mind but then again my dad used to say that you could read my thoughts on my face from time to time.

"Yes, well to address the current problem. Mia caused a lot of trouble this time when she blew up some parts of the castle, turned Daniel into a puppet and let in the rogue lycans into the castle grounds. I believe that her plan was to get Nora kidnapped and marked by one of them because now every lycan knows that Nora exists like the last female lycan.” the king said and looked at all of us.

I look down at my hands and think back, yes they wanted me for something more than just a healing. And what about that one lycan that Artemis knocked down from the tree, I wonder who he is.

“Ben told me that Nora and her lycan kind of linked everyone together and healed them a bit, enough to get them back to their senses anyway.” Helios said and I nodded.

“Yes I touched a bit of their souls and gave them what they needed, but I really need to heal them completely before you can trust them all out.” I say and think back when I felt their sadness and devastation.

“Hmm yes I would really like to see you in action by healing one of them. even if I felt it first hand but I think it would be really believable if I could see it with my own eyes. When do you think you have enough energy to try and heal one lycan?” the king asks

“Hmm well it will probably take a few days before Artemis can heal a rogue lycan that hasn’t been healed before hand.” I say and ponder over my words.

“What about one of the lycans that you helped in the forest then? Do you think you are strong enough for one of them?” Helios asks and I look at him.

What do you think Artemis, are you up to it? I ask of her and she huffs.

Sure if you eat something already, it will take your energy to, you know. Ask for pancakes with maple syrup, I want to know what that is.* She answers back and I am confused. What is maple syrup?

“Umm Artemis said she could probably heal one of them that we healed back in the forest but that I need to eat first. So I wonder if I could try out pancakes with maple syrup, but I don’t know what that is..” I explain.

Chapter 28

Noras POV

Well, let's just say that pancakes with maple syrup are one of my new favorites even though Dave told me they are usually served for breakfast. I don't care, they are delicious, the pancakes were so fluffy that they melted in my mouth and the maple syrup was sweet but not too sweet, yummy.

When I had eaten three portions I and my mates along with Daniel walked outside to the backyard of the castle where the others were waiting. Oh da mn I got an audience, now I'm nervous.

The king, Dave, William, Ben, Daniel, Andrei, Gray, Linus and Tristan were all waiting there with a rogue lycan on the ground. I recognized the lycan, it was the same that kidnapped me, I looked at Ares and Helios.

"We didn't choose him but I guess father did but Nora, just so you know this lycan is Linus' father" Helios said.

I looked at him with surprise and then I looked back to Linus and I could see that he was nervous and worried and I just nodded.

We walked over to them and I dropped to my knees in front of Linus' father's lycan. He looked at me but didn't do anything so I slowly reached my hands up and touched his head. I felt for Artemis and she came forward in a matter of seconds.

Let's heal him then

I was sucked into his memories without hesitation and the first thing I saw was a very small Linus. He could have been one year old and they celebrated his birthday, it was so different from what I was used to. Balloons and candles, presents and bright and colorful colors everywhere. I got a bit jealous by all of it and I hoped I would get the same one day.

I watched as Linus clapped his hands in joy when a woman came in suddenly and I smiled because I thought it was Linus' mother but the room got quiet and I wondered why. Linus' father seemed furious when the mother came in but she just smiled and hugged Linus before she did something that made me scream.

I jumped backwards and released Linus' father and I shook like a leaf when I looked at him and he looked down on the grass in shame. I stared at him, I couldn't believe what I just saw but I knew it was true. Linus' mother abused him from the very start, it didn't matter how old Linus was, she punched him and kicked him whenever she could and Linus' father couldn't stop her.

The law forbade him, the very same law that said never to hurt your mate or your children. If Linus' father had hurt his mate in an attempt to save Linus, they both would have been killed and Linus would have no one of his parents left. He would have grown up like an orphan. Stupid laws.

I collected myself again and this time I just touched Linus' father's hand and dived into his memories again. This time Linus was maybe five or six years old and his mother had just stabbed him with a knife in his leg. She watched as he healed and then she stabbed him again and again.

"I know I should have stopped her but she was my mate and the law forbade me from doing anything."

Linus' father said and I nodded with tears in my eyes.

"I will change that law someday" I whisper and he nods.

"Yes, please do that, you will help a lot of children that way"

Are there more children with abusive parents in this pack? I need to stop it some way.

"Are you ready to let this go now and come back with me?" I ask him and he looks down at me with a sad face.

"No" he said and I stared at him.

"But your son needs you" I say and he looks at me surprised.

"Linus is dead" he whispers and I tilt my head in confusion.

He grabs my hand and walks out the door and into another memory. Linus is perhaps 13 this time, his mother is choking him when the curse activates and kills his mother but her hands are still on Linus neck and chokes the life out of him.

Linus' father rushes up to them and rips her from him, he takes her into his arms and howls before running away with her.

"See he died because I was too weak to stop her" Linus' father blames himself and I try to tell him that Linus is still alive but this time he shoves me out of his memories.

The force is huge and I fly backwards and land on the grass about three meters away. I get up furious and so sad because he won't listen. I take Linus' hand and then I force my way into his father's head but this time I take Linus with me.

We travel into his lycans space and there it is pitch black like he isn't there and in some way he isn't. We find his human side instead.

"Go away girl. It does not matter what you say, my son is dead and there is not anything that will change it." he says and sniffles.

“Fine then if you want to dwell in self pity, do that but you will listen to me and do as I say You will look up at your son!” I say

“You will not say what I must do...” he says and looks up before he gasps

He stands up slowly and staggers towards us and touches Linus’ face before he hugs him

“Linus, is that you?” He asks and Linus nods

I feel his lycan coming back as there is a light and both Linus’ father and his lycan melts into one another, becoming one again.

Still hugging Linus like he is his lifeline and perhaps he is that to his father

This time when we got out of his mind, we weren’t thrown backwards this time. Linus’ father gets up and cries while he hugs

Linus again.

“Wow, you guys glowed” Dave said in awe and the king nodded.

“Cool but now I am hungry again” I say and all of them laugh.

“Pancakes again?” Ares asks and I blush and nods

Chapter 29

Noras POV

It has been three weeks by now and everything is peaceful or not.. Everyday I heal one rogue lycan and bring the human back to reality and we discover that those who I have healed are very, very loyal to me. And even protective of me.

Helios and Ares are in constant fights over me. A few days ago Helios took me out for a picnic in the garden but Ares knocked Helios unconscious and took his place and after that it has been a constant war between them. Sure it's nice to feel that I am loved but this is going overboard.

I went with Anna to her friend Laura's house since she was celebrating her birthday. I took some flowers with me from my garden and she loved them. I finally got to see how they properly celebrate birthdays here. It was so much fun that I can't wait for my own to come.

Daniel is staying by my side each day and we talk a lot, Artemis and Ari are happy to finally be together again.

But there is something strange going on with Artemis, she feels distant and it takes longer time to heal a rogue lycan now, perhaps I should go see Elder William to talk about it.

I also got a book from Helios, he said it was from Mia's grandmother, it holds a bunch of information about the moon goddess and even Artemis and her hidden abilities. I have read the book four times now and there is something that I can't make sense of

But right now I should go out and take some fresh air before the witch. comes back today, yep Mia is coming here today to talk to the king over something. No one is looking forward to her coming here.

But we can't have it all can we now. Sigh. I walk out of my room and down to the kitchen where the kitchen staff is making lunch.

One of the girls there gives me an apple and I nod my head at her before walking out. Linus spots me and comes jogging towards me.

Oh, right, after I healed his father Linus has become a closer friend than before and because of Mia, the entire kingdom knows of me and that I am the last female lycan so the king has assigned a smaller group of warriors to take turns to guard me.

Daniel is always by my side but he can't be with me now because Helios needed him to help with something. So Linus is going with me today. And the king said that I would have a handmaiden but I haven't found one that I get along with, yet.

So now, I and Linus are taking a walk in the big garden, talking about what is happening around the castle and Linus' training.

Linus was first in warrior training but now he wants to be one of my bodyguards so his training schedule has changed and he trains even harder.

Gray and Andrei have both signed up for the future queen's guard duty and a couple of other guys have as well. At first I told the king that I didn't need any but he wouldn't hear any of it. So I gave up and just accepted it and lucky me that I did it.

I took a trip with Anna to go to the town outside the castle walls and I had Andrei with me, even though I was grumpy about having someone following me around but just as I was about to leave a store I was hit on the head and dragged away.

I didn't come very far as Andrei got up with us in a matter of seconds and he, well, he saved me since he still refuses to tell me what he did to the other guy.

So now I have stopped with the protests, outloud anyway. Sigh.

As I and Linus walk through the garden I notice something, candles floating in the smaller fountain. They aren't supposed to be there.

"Haha someone is trying to get your attention today" Linus says and points up the tree.

As I look up I notice paper lanterns hanging in the tree, and of course Ares that is sitting on one of the branches.

"Hello Nora, hungry? I have some food and lemonade," Ares says casually.

I sigh but smile and nod, I feel Artemis perk up, feeling happy by Ares' attention.

"I thought you avoided me" I say and look at Ares as he jumps down and lands on his feet

"Yes well, Helios and I made a bet or more like we had a fight and Helios won so he made me avoid you. So what have you and Helios been doing this past week?" Ares pouts but stretches out his hand for me to take.

"So you guys fought over me and that is why you have been invisible and Helios has been the perfect boyfriend that has come to greet me every morning with a red rose in his hand?" I say and shrug but take his hand.

Ares laughs but guides me to a set up table with a loveseat next to it. I sit down and Ares pulls me up and sits down first before he pulls me down on his lap.

“So he stole my idea then, ba stard.” Ares says and I can feel that he is jealous.

“What was your idea to come by each morning with a red rose? How romantic of you.” I say and giggle a bit.

“Ares I have something serious to ask of you, can you please give me a straight answer?” I ask and turn in his lap which causes Ares to groan and I wondered if I have hurt him.

“Yes Nora I will answer honestly if you stop moving like that in my lap or I will take you here and now” he answers.

The answer is making me stop and think and when I finally get it I blush like hell.

“Your question, princess?” Ares asks me with a wink.

“What will you do about Mia? She said before that she wants the title of crown princess and high priestess and that can only work if you take her as your chosen mate since she doesn’t like Helios. “I say and look down at my hands.

After a few seconds Ares growls and I look up at him and notice that he is arguing with his lycan as his eyes go back and forth between purple and black.

When they finally go back to purple he takes a deep breath and kisses me on my lips.

“This problem with Mia is my problem but I promise you that I only want you and no one else. I will give Mia what she wants but I won’t take her as my chosen mate, not as long as I am alive. Yes I promised her that if I didn’t find my mate before my father stepped down I would take her as a chosen mate but then you came and my whole world changed. I am in love with you Nora, no one else and honestly I was never in love with Mia.” Ares answers and I just stare at him “Okay thank you then we should..” I begin to say but I stop as a loud noise is heard and the ground starts to shake.

“What the hell?”

Chapter 30

Ares POV

Sh it this week has been torturous, I and Helios had this huge fight and I was stupid enough to challenge him over Nora. Nora is totally worth it but Helios is stronger than me so I naturally lost. I have been avoiding Nora for a week now and I have been spending my time either training Nora's future bodyguards or in the library trying to read about her lycan and her abilities.

The witches have had a prophecy for over 500 years now, speaking of a female lycan born from two different kingdoms and that she will either help or destroy the future. But I don't know if this female is Nora or someone else.

Because the prophecy never tells if it's the last female lycan it only says a female lycan.

Mia's mother sent a message that Mia will come back in a week and that she wants Nora's forgiveness but she also reminded me of the promise I gave to her. And for a witch, a promise is not a child's play, I can't take it back. I explained to Mia's mother about the promise I gave to Mia and she was surprised that I actually had left a loophole in my promise and that she would explain to Mia.

Now it has been a week and today I will surprise Nora with a date in the garden. I said that Linus will guard Nora today and he will take her to the garden on a walk while I prepare everything.

I heard that Nora hasn't chosen a handmaiden yet which is good and bad for a couple of reasons. Sure it's good that she hasn't got anyone yet so I can make surprises for her but at the same time it isn't as if she had one then I could have got help from her by slowing Nora down.

But now I have set up a table and a loveseat, I have burning candles in the smaller fountain and I am hanging paper lanterns in the tree, trying to create some romantic atmosphere in the garden. Tomorrow I want to take her out in the town but I will have Gray with us. I like him, he is a great warrior and a good friend.

I also appointed Andrei, Luka, Henry and Mick as her guards, and that little runt Linus wants to pay his debt to her since she saved his dad. But as I understood it, Linus and Nora were friends before that.

I take a rest in the tree when I hear Nora's laughter and I can smell her, a flowery scent, sweet but not sickly sweet. It's a refreshing scent. I watch her as she stops and looks at the candles in the small fountain and then she looks up in the tree and it takes a few extra seconds before her eyes land on me and she gives off a small smile.

Relieved that she is a bit happy I jump down and land on my feet and reach out my hand for her to take which she does. I am surprised to learn that Helios stole my idea by giving her a red rose each morning. I wanted to do that.

Hmpf.

I pull Nora down in my lap and hug her, gosh what I have missed her all this time, I am sick of arguing and fighting with Helios all the time. All I want is some time with my mate, I know she is his mate too but I still want some alone time with her. He got to know her before me but now I want to know her too.

Then she asked me the one question I was sure I could answer, my feelings for Mia. I don't have any, and I never had. Mia was always following me and Helios around and one day I had enough so I grabbed her and kissed her.

It was like she was waiting for it and since then she hasn't let me go, sure it was nice to be free of the other girls that wanted my attention and since father said that Helios would take over after him I gave up. I focused on the training since I am more into fighting than doing politics and the boring stuff.

So naturally I played around with Mia. It was a convenience to have a witch by my side but I noticed that she was much more than an ordinary witch. I learned that she was the great great or something granddaughter of the witch that created the curse which took my mothers and my little sister's life. But I knew deep inside that Mia wasn't cruel like her, but still something inside whispered that something was different about her.

Her magic was stronger than that of her mother and grandmother. Her magic aura was dark green, almost black, while her mothers was light green and her grandmothers was blue.

A witch's magic aura color shows how pure the magic is, if it's white it's a sign of the purest magic, our moon goddess magic but if it is darker it can be shown of dark magic and that is forbidden.

But I have never voiced my suspicions if Mia goes against us we won't stand a chance at all against her.

I told Nora how I was feeling both for Mia and for her, she looked surprised and as she started to answer my confession we felt the ground shake and a loud noise traveled in the air and reached us.

“Oh shit, Linus take Nora back now! We are under attack” I yelled for Linus to come and he took Nora and ran inside while I shifted and called for my warriors to come.

I ran to the gates by the castle walls and was equally surprised as everyone else when there was nothing there.

“Ares what is happening? Is something wrong?”

Gray asks me and I look confused at him.

“Didn’t you feel that? The ground shook and the noise that sounds when we are under attack?” I say and feel extremely confused.

All of them shook their heads when my lycan started showing signs of distress, Nora!

I ran inside the castle but I was too late as Mia just stood there with a cruel smile on her face and she was holding Nora by her hair and her hand glowed dark green and as I took one step and I heard Helios roar. Mia put her hand on Nora’s head and she disappeared, both of them were gone.

I fell down on to my knees and roared in despair while Helios walked over and I looked up in time to see him pick up a note that was left on the floor. He swore before glaring at me and giving me the note. I read it and shifted back before crying out in frustration.

“She is mine now. Choose me or her?”
