

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband

Chapter 171 You Can't Read a Man's Heart from His Face

After dealing with Polaris, Viggo had almost recovered. The next day, he returned to his hometown with his cat.

When he was at the airport, he was interviewed. A reporter asked him why he took the cat away this time instead of handing it over to his girlfriend.

Viggo smiled gently and said, 'She still needs to work. I can't bear to make her so tired.'

When Julian saw the interview video, he was almost numb to death. He immediately threw the phone aside.

However, Julian finally heaved a sigh of relief. Since Viggo had left, he didn't need to worry about what might happen to Emelia and Viggo all day long. He didn't need to be jealous of them.

Julian and Ezra were having dinner together. Arthur was on night shift, so he didn't come to the appointment.

Ezra complained to Julian, 'Don't ask me out all day long. You can ask Emelia out once.'

Julian rolled his eyes at him unhappily. If he could make an appointment with Emelia, why would he have to spend so much time hanging out with Ezra?

If he managed to make an appointment with Emelia, his buddy Ezra would be abandoned by him. By then, he wouldn't even throw a glance at Ezra!

Ezra said casually, 'Oh, by the way, Emelia has gone to the Capital. Even if you want to make an appointment, I'm afraid you won't be able to make it in a few days.'

Julian was shocked. 'She went to the Capital?'

Regarding Emelia's trip to the Capital, Julian was completely unaware of it.

Ezra nodded his head. 'That's right. I saw her Instagram and entrusted the cat you sent to Nina. That's why I asked her. She's going back to the Capital.'

Ezra and Arthur both had Emelia's contact information, so they naturally knew about Emelia's movements. However, Julian, who had been blocked by Emelia, had no idea at all.

Chapter 172 I'm Worried About You

Because Vincent took Emelia out for a walk, it was almost 11 o'clock in the evening when Emelia returned to the hotel.

The moment she got out of the car, she saw Julian standing in front of the hotel gate. She was shocked and stared at him in disbelief. 'Why, why are you here?'

There was a disapproving look on Julian's face. Although he couldn't get in touch with Emelia, he could find the hotel and room she lived in.

Without any hesitation, he chose to stay here. The first thing he did after putting down his luggage was to knock on the door of her room, but no one answered for a long time.

So he had to wait outside the hotel. He didn't expect that she would not come back until 11 o'clock.

It could be imagined how bad Julian's mood was. He was worried. She was a young and beautiful girl. She went out with a man she had only met twice and came back in the middle of the night. Wasn't she afraid of being assaulted?

Vincent, who was in the car, also saw Julian. Vincent greeted him lightly, 'Mr. Hughes, what a coincidence!'

Ever since Vincent found out that Julian was the ex-husband of Emelia and that Caroline was his younger sister, he did not have a good impression of the Hughes Family.

However, he had a new book cooperation project with Julian, so he greeted him out of basic courtesy.

If Vincent had known before signing the contract that Julian's entire family treated Emelia like this, he definitely wouldn't have cooperated with him.

'What a coincidence.' I wonder what Mr. Longerich wants to do by sending a young girl back so late at night?'

Emelia stared angrily at Julian. What the hell was he talking about? Did he know that his words were very rude to Vincent?

In the car, Vincent laughed instead, ‘Mr. Hughes, you’re overthinking it. I just took her out for a meal and then showed her around the city, to let her get familiar with the environment here.’

Vincent turned to ask Julian, ‘But I wonder, why did you question me about this?’

He was implying that, as Emelia’s ex-husband, he was in no place to ask Vincent about such a matter.

Chapter 173 The Cunning Julian

After Emelia ran into the hotel lobby not far away, he looked up at the bush on the opposite side and shouted, ‘Get out!’

After a while, a man walked out of the grass, shivering. There was a camera hanging on his neck, and he looked a little embarrassed.

By this time, Julian no longer had the gentleness he had just displayed in front of Emelia. His aura was so cold that it was terrifying. He stood there, clutching his pants, without saying a single word. The man’s legs had already gone limp.

‘Well, well, I didn’t mean to squat here and shoot you. I was going to shoot a star...’ This man was a paparazzo who had been lurking here for a long time.

He didn’t expect that the celebrity he had been waiting for hadn’t showed up, and he had actually taken photos of a big shot like Julian.

Julian ordered in a deep voice, ‘Bring your camera here.’

The reporter didn't dare to resist and honestly handed his camera to Julian.

Julian took the camera and watched it carefully. Because he was facing the reporter just now, his face was taken very clearly. With Emelia back to this person, and the light was a little dim, he could only see a thin and blurred image of her.

As for the contents of the video, it had been recorded since he and Emelia came over and stood still.

Julian skillfully operated it, only keeping the image of how he couldn't help hugging Emelia and kissing her. Of course, he also kept his apology.

The reporter took back the camera and checked it. He asked Julian in surprise, 'Didn't you delete all of them?'

Julian said casually, 'These can be distributed.'

'Ah?' The reporter thought that he would delete all of them and warn him.

He had already made the worst plan in his heart. He just wanted to keep his camera. After all, Julian had power and influence, and he couldn't afford to offend him. He didn't expect that Julian would let him send it.

Chapter 174 Come to My Room

'This is too much!' Emelia gritted her teeth and said, 'I'll go to negotiate with him!'

Nina wanted to stop her, but Emelia hung up the phone out of fury.

Nina wanted to say, even if Emelia wanted to quarrel with him, she wasn't a match for him at all. In the first place, he wasn't on the same level as him in terms of scheming. Now that he had spent quite a bit of effort, how could he possibly be able to defeat ?

Emelia hung up Nina's phone and called Julian. However, before calling, she released his number from the blacklist.

The call was quickly connected. Emelia said angrily, 'Julian, did you deliberately ask someone to release the video last night ?'

The man's voice was lazy and low. On the phone, he asked knowingly, 'What do you mean ? I don't understand.'

This was the first time she had heard of Emelia's rage. This was the first time that she knew that Julian wasn't an ordinary shameless person.

Emelia was so angry that she didn't know what to say. 'Come to my room now.'

'What ?' Emelia had always been mild. At this moment, she couldn't help but be enraged by Julian's words.

How dare he let her go to his room ?

Wasn't he afraid that she would scratch his face ?

Julian said as if nothing had happened, 'Aren't you questioning me about what happened last night ? Come to my room and let's talk.'

Emelia suppressed her anger and said, 'Let's talk in the coffee shop downstairs.'

Julian refused her proposal without hesitation. 'No.'

After a pause, Julian added, ‘My room number is 1802.’

Emelia held her phone tightly and took a deep breath. After hanging up, she got out of bed and washed up first.

Chapter 175 Don't You Want to Touch Me?

After pressing his tongue against the back seat, Julian suppressed all the unhappiness in his heart and asked calmly, ‘How do you want to deal with it?’

Emelia looked straight into his eyes and said, ‘I don't know why someone took photos last night, but you should know when these media will be released, right?’

Julian pursed his lips and responded to her question in silence.

Seeing that he admitted it without any struggle, Emelia was furious.

‘Why did you do this? I'm Viggo's girlfriend now, and I've just been in trending news for a few days ago. If someone finds out that I have such an ambiguous relationship with you, how embarrassing will his position be?’

‘I hope you can find a way to get rid of this trending news as soon as possible. Don't let this matter continue to brew. His mother is sick now, and he is already uncomfortable enough. I don't want to add any more trouble to him.’

Hearing that she only cared about Viggo's feelings, Julian felt bitter and annoyed.

Why was she so hardhearted?

Even if he had done something wrong and hurt her before, was he not worthy of forgiveness at all?

She used to love him so much, but now she didn't care about his feelings at all?

Under the negative emotions, he said angrily, 'I can suppress these trending news, but I need to deal with all kinds of relationships and interests. I can't withdraw them in a short time.'

In order to keep the trending news going for a while longer, Julian's angry words changed the subject in Emelia's ears.

The corners of her lips curled into a sneer. She finally understood what was going on. It was only because he wanted her to pay the price that he was able to withdraw the search.

She had forgotten that he was a businessman. How could a businessman make a loss?

Just like when he sent her a cat before, he kept asking her to treat him to dinner. Now that she wanted him to withdraw the trending news, he must want her pay for it.

After having figured this out, Emelia looked at him and laughed coldly. 'Julian, you've been constantly pestering me lately. Do you want to have sex with me?'

Chapter 176 Everyone on the Internet Is Laughing at Julian

Vincent said angrily while driving, 'Yesterday you told me that you were fine. I knew he would bully you. I'll talk to him some other day.'

Although he didn't have a good time with Julian last night, in order not to let Vincent worry, Emelia still said that she was fine.

She didn't expect that Julian would press her against the corner and try to kiss her. She didn't expect to be exposed.

However, when she heard Vincent say that he wanted to talk to Julian, Emelia quickly said, 'No need, I'll ignore him in the future.'

Emelia was afraid that if Vincent and Julian couldn't reach an agreement, they would be at loggerheads again. After all, they still had to cooperate later. It would be bad if the situation became stiff.

Vincent seemed to have guessed what she was thinking. 'If it doesn't work, then we will break the contract. We give up his investment and find other investors ourselves. Otherwise, let me set up a new company for you and you'll be the boss.'

Emelia was completely stunned. 'Please no. No need, sir!'

First of all, he had signed a contract with Julian, if he had broken the contract because of private affairs, which would damage Vincent's reputation in the industry.

Secondly, Vincent said that he would set up a film and television company for her and let her be the boss. She couldn't do such a thing.

She couldn't do anything about being the boss, so she was very clear about her position. She just wanted to work on her script and write the story she had always wanted to tell. She had never thought about anything else.

'What are you afraid of? We have the money to set up our own company. I just don't like to worry about such things for so many years. In addition, your aunt is in poor health, so I don't have much energy to work.'

'But things are different now. I can do my best to cultivate you.' The more Vincent said, the more he felt that this plan was feasible.

However, Emelia continuously rejected his proposal. 'I really can't. I don't have the ability to control the entire situation.'

Vincent burst out laughing and said in a helpless and distressed tone, 'Alas, you are really taking a simple and tranquil life-style.'

Chapter 177 The One I Love

Emelia didn't expect have such a pleasant conversation with Naomi. As Vincent's wife, Naomi was naturally well-educated. Since childhood, Emelia's biggest hobby was to read. Although she couldn't say that she was well-read, she had read almost all the famous books at home and abroad.

The two of them started talking about their favorite books, and then they talked about different topics. Vincent, who was preparing lunch in the room, probably saw them chatting happily, so he also came out and sat for a while.

However, Vincent did not participate in their conversation. Instead, he sat quietly on the side and listened.

Vincent looked at Emelia with love in his eyes, so did Naomi.

Emelia could sense that the two of them truly treated her as their daughter.

Although she still could not accept the reality, it did not affect her feelings for Vincent and Naomi.

The autumn in the Capital was beautiful. In such a comfortable and quiet courtyard and such a warm and loving environment, Emelia felt unprecedented happiness.

When she was a child, she had never felt the warmth of her family. Although her mother was her adoptive mother who treated her well, Oliver and Taylor Jones were unreliable.

With such a husband and son, her adoptive mother actually had a hard time. There were endless quarrels every day.

But today, sitting with two strangers, she felt the warmth of home.

After lunch, Vincent helped Naomi back to her room for a nap, while Emelia went to Vincent's study to read.

Vincent and Naomi were upstairs in their bedroom.

Naomi held Vincent in her arms and could not stop crying. Vincent's eyes were also red, and he hugged Naomi and did not speak.

Chapter 178 Stay Away from Julian

The reporter added, 'No, Mr. Hughes. We just want to ask who that girl is. We are all very curious about which notable lady has won your heart.'

Julian was enraged by the reporter's words. 'If she's not a notable lady, can't he accept her?'

He instinctively defended Emelia, so he said with a gloomy face, 'What does her identity have to do with you?'

The reporters were speechless again. They looked at each other and broke out in cold sweat.

Everyone in the media circle in Riverside City knew that it was extremely difficult to interview Julian. This time, they also gathered their courage to ask questions, but they didn't expect that they were got these answers.

Julian had already sat in the car with a cold face and left.

After Nina finished sending the video, she called Emelia. 'Why did Julian come back? He followed you all the way to the Capital, he stayed only a night and a morning?'

Every time Nina mentioned Julian, she would have a gloating look on her face.

There was nothing she could do. Nina couldn't control herself. As long as she saw Julian suffer, she would feel extremely relieved.

In the past three years, when Emelia had married Julian, she hadn't thought much of it. However, as an observer, she was about to be angry to death. She wanted nothing more than to tear apart Julian, Caroline, and Yvonne.

In the first place, due to the incident with Julian in the morning, Emelia had been in a dilemma, so she talked to Nina.

After hearing this, Nina was about to die of laughter. 'I know why Julian didn't stay in the Capital.'

Emelia sighed and asked, 'Why?'

Nina immediately emphasized, 'Because you made him lose all of his male dignity. He was already prepared to do it, yet you said that you regretted it and ran away.'
