

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband

Chapter 191 Struggle to Get Their Lovers Back

Harry had originally wanted to toast to Emelia, but Julian had drunk hers. How could he not be embarrassed when he was left standing there?

Emelia was rather embarrassed as well. Julian was simply too detestable.

Fortunately, Jean stood up in time and said to Harry with a smile, 'I'll drink with you.'

Jean called herself 'sister' affectionately, causing Arthur almost spit out the wine in his mouth. When he looked unhappily at Jean, he saw that she had already clinked glasses with Harry and started drinking.

Harry took advantage of the steps that Jean had given him and looked gratefully at her. Jean returned a smile.

The interaction between the two made Arthur feel that they were flirting.

Emelia didn't drink any more, because she didn't want to touch the wine glass used by Julian. If it weren't for so many people, she would have really brought a glass of wine to pour on his face and punish him for being so rude.

Nina and Emelia sat together. She leaned over and whispered to Emelia, 'I have a hunch that Mr. Hughes and his friends are all destined to have a hard time pursuing their lovers.'

'Look at Arthur, he looks like he wants to tear Jean Hilgard into pieces. Obviously, he used the wrong way. Which girl would like to be treated like this? And I think even if he purses her with all his heart, Dr. Hilgard may not be with him.'

'As for Mr. Cantillo, the more cynical he is now, the more he will pay for it in the future.'

Chapter 192 Can I Reject That?

After the call, Emelia went to prepare breakfast and called Nina to get up for dinner.

While they were leisurely eating breakfast, someone rang the doorbell of Emelia.

Emelia opened the door in confusion. The person standing outside was the manager of a household brand, followed by several workers carrying boxes.

The salesgirl smiled and said to Emelia, 'Mr. Hughes ordered a few sets of tableware and pots here and asked us to send them here.'

What was Julian doing?

Was it because he had just seen Viggo give her a green plant, and then he also wanted to give her something?

Before Emelia could react, the worker ordered the workers to carry the two boxes into Emelia's living room.

Nina walked over curiously. When she bent down and opened the box, there were two sets of exquisite bowls and plates, as well as a few pots. They were all of the fashionable style.

Nina couldn't help but sigh, 'I have to admit that Julian was quite considerate this time. He knows that you like these things, so he has made them for you.'

Chapter 193 Fight for Emelia

'You are right.' Nina gently hugged her and said, 'God will take care of the bitches.'

Emelia's speculation was right. The reason why Oliver and Taylor went to harass her was indeed that they had taken money.

The father and son had a very poor life after being driven out of Riverside City by Julian. Unexpectedly, they received a call from Heather Duncan.

Heather said that as long as they kept harassing Emelia and making her unhappy, she would continue to give them money. So the father and son immediately agreed.

Taylor looked at the money he had just received from his bank card and couldn't help but sigh. 'Emelia blocked our way to make money, but she also brought us money.'

Because of Emelia, Julian drove them out of Riverside City, and also because of Emelia, Heather sent them money.

Oliver sneered and said, 'Julian fought against his parents for such an unknown woman and sent his sister to prison. What a fool.'

After Oliver's words, Taylor suddenly jumped up excitedly. 'Dad, I suddenly have a good idea.'

Oliver raised his eyes, indicating for him to continue. Taylor grinned, 'Julian cares so much about Emelia. If we were to abduct her and threaten him for a sum of money, Julian would have to save her with money, wouldn't he ?

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband

Chapter 194 Give Them a Taste of Their Own Medicine

Oliver immediately told him the time and place, and then Vincent knew where they were in the city.

Vincent replied gently, 'Okay, I'll buy a ticket right away. See you later.'

After hanging up the phone, Oliver was stunned for a long time.

Taylor came back from outside with a big bag of delicious food in his hand. 'What's wrong ?'

Oliver came back to his senses and said in disbelief, 'I just called Vincent to ask for money, and he agreed without hesitation. He also said that he would come to meet us and personally give us gifts.'

Taylor was astonished as well. 'Is there such a good thing ?'

Oliver nodded, but then he asked worriedly, 'He won't do us any harm, will he ?'

Taylor snorted. 'He's not familiar with this place. What else can he do to us ?'

'Besides, I've checked Vincent. Although he has a powerful family background, he is a writer himself. You know, most people like him are isolated from the world. They don't know the ways of the world and are easy to bully.'

Chapter 195 I Can't See Through You Indeed

In the hotel room, screams were heard all through the night.

After midnight, Oliver and Taylor were both sent to the hospital.

Oliver was too old to bear the torture, so they couldn't touch women again in this life. Taylor was not much better. He was covered with wounds all over, and his face was swollen.

In the coming days, he should have a shadow when he mentioned women.

Moreover, they could no longer do anything for the time being, because they had to recuperate in the hospital, the money they had just received from Heather was all spent in the hospital.

They didn't expect Vincent to be so cruel that he almost killed them as soon as he came.

After dealing with Oliver and Taylor, Vincent left for Riverside City.

After learning that Emelia had moved, he wanted to visit Emelia. Originally, he wanted to go with Naomi, but because he had to deal with Oliver and Taylor temporarily, he did not let Naomi follow him, so as not to ruin her vision.

Julian soon learned of the tragic situation of Oliver and Taylor. After learning that it was Vincent who did it, he slightly narrowed his eyes.

He didn't expect Vincent to have such a ruthless side. This method of returning a tooth with a tooth was much more ruthless than that of Oliver and Taylor.

Knowing about this, Julian naturally knew about the deal between his mother with Oliver and Taylor.

After listening to David Brennan's report, Julian's pen was snapped into two pieces by him, showing his indescribable anger.

Julian didn't expect that his mother would order Oliver and Taylor to harass Emelia. He thought that after Caroline's incident, his mother and Caroline would reflect on it.

He didn't expect them to like Emelia so much, but he didn't expect that his mother would never stop.

However, from what Caroline had done, he should know that if his mother was a reasonable person, Caroline would not have been educated like this.

Chapter 196 Unless It's Emelia

Julian looked at her and said coldly, 'It's not me who dealt with them, but Vincent.'

'You may not know that they are too greedy and are not satisfied with the money you gave them. They contacted Vincent without authorization.'

'Vincent sent them directly to the hospital.' Julian told Heather how Vincent dealt with Oliver and Taylor. Heather fell onto the sofa with a pale face.

Caroline was also shocked. No one would have thought that Vincent could be so ruthless.

After all, Vincent had always been an elegant and gentle image for so many years...

Julian stepped into the house and didn't even sit down.

He stood straight in the living room, looking distant and indifferent.

His feelings for Heather and Caroline slowly faded after their repeated unscrupulous actions.

'In the future, Emelia and I don't need your blessings, nor do we need you to like her and accept her. I only hope you can remember that you don't have any malicious intentions against her or provoke her.'

'You can't afford to provoke her.'

After saying these words, Julian turned around and left. Heather stopped him behind him and said, 'Julian!'

'What did you mean?' Heather got up from the sofa and rushed over to him, asking in disbelief, 'Are you saying that you must choose Emelia?'

Julian looked down at his mother. In fact, she was a beautiful and outstanding woman. Otherwise, she would not have given him and Caroline such outstanding appearances.

It was a pity that her personality made her look meaner.

Speaking of which, she was also a poor woman. Because of her husband's disloyalty, she had been trapped in the cage of marriage and became unrecognizable day by day.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband

Chapter 197 They're Not Dating, Right?

Julian met Vincent's annoyed eyes and said with a smile, 'Mr. Longerich, I still have to go to work. I'll go home and wash up first.'

Julian deliberately stressed the words 'go home' to emphasize that he really lived next door, which pissed Vincent off again.

Julian strode back home. Emelia hurriedly greeted Vincent, 'Uncle Longerich, come in and have a seat first.'

Vincent stormed into Emelia's house. Emelia poured him a cup of warm water to let him drink and calm down.

After drinking the water, Vincent said to Emelia with great guilt, 'I'm sorry. I didn't expect that I would do such a bad thing out of kindness and send you to his next door.'

'Please don't say that. It's not your fault. We are just neighbors. It doesn't matter.' Emelia knew that Vincent would feel guilty and blame himself. That was why she had talked to Julian before and hoped that he would keep it a secret.

Vincent said with pity, 'I just know that you have liked him for so many years. He doesn't take you seriously at all. You must be suffering, right?'

Emelia shook her head gently. 'That's all in the past. I forgot what it feels like.'

There was a good saying, 'there was nothing wrong with the pain that she used to think she couldn't endure.'

That was how she felt right now. Perhaps she had suffered a lot in that marriage, but now she was relieved from that.

Emelia was relieved, but Vincent was not.

He said firmly to Emelia, 'I plan to terminate the contract with him. Don't work with him anymore. You'd better stay away from him.'

Vincent had mentioned the last time he terminated the contract with Julian. This time, he mentioned it again. Emelia felt his seriousness and determination.

However, she still tried to persuade him, 'It's okay.'

She knew that Vincent didn't want her to have any relationship with Julian, so that she wouldn't be bullied by him again, or she wouldn't be moved by him again.

Emelia said to Vincent seriously, 'Because I'm over it already, I don't have to avoid working with him. If I keep avoiding him, doesn't that mean that I'm still obsessed with the matter?'

Chapter 198 Priceless Emerald

Thinking of this, Julian was in a bad mood.

With a gloomy face, he took out his mobile phone and asked David to arrange someone to follow Emelia and Vincent.

Although he believed that the relationship between Emelia and Vincent was not like what he thought, he just couldn't bear to see Emelia alone with Vincent.

Emelia took Vincent to have breakfast first, at the old city district where she lived when she was a child.

While eating breakfast, Emelia said, 'When I was a child, I lived nearby. At that time, my family was ordinary. After I went to primary school, Oliver made a lot of money, and we moved into the villa. But in a few years, he was infected with gambling and other bad habits. His company got worse and worse until he finally went bankrupt.'

Oliver was doing construction business, and he earned a lot of money from each project.

He was also a little famous in Riverside City in his heyday, but fame and fortune brought him not only enjoyment but also endless temptation.

Obviously, Oliver failed to resist the temptation and gambled away a family fortune.

However, after the failure, he did not learn his lesson. Instead, he became hateful and unscrupulous because he had gotten used to life in luxury.

He said that he sent her to Julian's bed to fulfill her wish, but in fact, it was because Julian had power and money, and he could use her to blackmail him a lot of money.

Vincent pursed his lips and remained silent for a long time. Then he asked her with distress, 'Did he ever beat you?'

'No, He didn't.' Emelia said honestly, 'When I was a child, he didn't dare to beat me because of my mother's protection. He would just scold me, saying that it was useless to raise me and spend money on me.'

'Later, I grew up, and he couldn't beat me anymore.'

Through the brief description of Emelia, Vincent could already imagine what kind of life she had lived when she was a child.

Chapter 199 You're Beautiful Tonight

Emelia gave Nina a smile. 'Do you think I can still be bullied by her?'

'Yvonne would bully me from these aspects.'

'First of all, she thinks that Julian doesn't love me. But now, it's obvious that she is wrong.'

'Second, she has always liked to laugh at my family background. Now that I have the Longerich family as my back, she has to apologize to me honestly.'

'Third, she'll probably laugh at me for my shabby accessories. But no matter the dress or the necklace tonight, it's enough to crush her, isn't it?'

Hearing Emelia's analysis, Nina was stunned.

She murmured to Emelia, 'Emelia, how do you become so rational and confident now?'

Emelia gave such an answer. 'Achieving a certain level of success in the career can really make a world of difference to a woman.'

Now Emelia was still gentle and kind, but without losing her sharpness.

In the face of Yvonne's unfriendly attitude towards her, she could fight back and protect her dignity and pride. This was the best state she could be in.

After they arrived at the banquet hall, Nina was surrounded by reporters as soon as she got out of the car. They were trying their best to take photos and interviews.

Emelia, as the mastermind behind the scene, quietly slipped away during Nina's interview and waited for Nina at the banquet.

Sure enough, Yvonne came to the banquet with Polaris.

When Emelia stepped into the banquet hall, Yvonne and Polaris were chatting happily.

Chapter 200 Taking the Humiliation

The man suddenly understood. 'Oh, you're a student of Miss Salkowski. You must be very capable.'

As the man spoke, he looked at Emelia up and down. And he found that the young screenwriter was very beautiful. She stood there gracefully.

He couldn't help but take one more glance at her, which made Julian and Vincent extremely disgusted.

Julian's face darkened as he said, 'Mr. Mendes, we need to talk about our work. Please come with me.'

Mr. Mendes naturally understood the meaning of Julian's words. He awkwardly laughed a few times before leaving. However, when he left, his gaze once again focused on Emelia's face.

It was inevitable for young and beautiful female screenwriters to make others think about something bad.

There were many screenwriters in this industry, and many of them were young, beautiful, and outstanding. However, it was quite rare to see such a temperament and charm woman like Wintry Frost.

After the man left, Vincent said to Julian rudely, 'Mr. Hughes, can you also leave?'

That Mr. Mendes wasn't a good person, and Julian was no better. In fact, he wasn't better than any other man. At least other men hadn't hurt Emelia, but Julian had made her heartbroken to the point where she decided to ask for a divorce.

One second ago, Vincent and he were on the same side. The next second, Vincent began to drive him away. Julian protested, 'Mr. Longerich, are you her escort? Don't you think you are a little bit old?'

Emelia was speechless.

After all, Vincent was an elder. Was it reasonable for Julian to say such words?

Vincent smiled faintly and said, 'It's not a problem with my age. It's not that Mr. Hughes doesn't know my means.'

His ruthlessness towards Oliver and his son was enough for him to protect Emelia.

Emelia didn't know why they started to argue with each other, so she asked in confusion, 'Uncle Longerich, Mr. Hughes, why did you two attend this banquet together tonight?'