

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 581 Not of the Same World

Randall persuaded her to take it easy. Colleen was furious, but she also knew that her husband did not intend to oppose this matter from the beginning.

She glared at him, gnashed her teeth and said, "I really don't understand. What's so good about Nina?" Randall asked with a smile, "Then tell me what's wrong with her? Why doesn't she deserve your son?" Colleen was speechless.

Randall continued, "Although her family background is unfavorable, I think she'll make a clean break with her family sooner or later, which won't affect us. As long as our son and Nina really love each other, it's not a big deal."

Colleen threw up her hands, "I don't think that her parents are willing to draw a line with her. They are not the kind of people who can avoid making trouble."

Randall continued to mediate gently, "Didn't our son say that he will handle this matter well." Colleen sneered, "I really don't know why he is so confident that he can handle it by himself."

In her opinion, her son had no job and no status, which meant that he was incompetent. How would he deal with those shameless people like Dominic Sanchez?

Why didn't she believe her son?

Randall led her to the sofa and comforted her with sincere words, "Honey, our son is about thirty years old. We shouldn't impose our will on him anymore."

Colleen wanted to defend herself, but Randall stopped her. Randall sighed, "We want him to marry Michelle. But it's our will, not his."

Colleen pursed her lips and acquiesced in his words.

“If you sent Nina away for the sake of our son’s future, I support you. But now he has achieved academic excellence, which’s all we can do. As for his emotional life, it’s up to him to decide.”

Randall had wanted to say these words to Colleen for a long time, but he was afraid that Colleen couldn’t accept it and would have a quarrel with his son again. Therefore, he didn’t say it.

Their son’s tough attitude today let them know his profound love to Nina. If Colleen insisted on her ideas, the three of them would fall apart sooner or later, which was not what Randall and Colleen wanted.

Colleen looked up at Randall. She was unwilling to accept his suggestions, but she knew in her heart that even if she didn’t accept it, there was nothing she could do. And she didn’t want to bring things to a deadlock.

Randall saw through her suffering and said in a relaxed tone with a smile, “Just let our son have freedom to choose his spouse. They have been separated for so many years, and maybe they really have many conflicts when they are together. At that time, you don’t have to force them to break up. They’ll break up by themselves.”

Colleen was amused by his self-consolation, “You seem relaxed.” But on second thought, she thought what Randall said was reasonable.

When their son was with Nina, he was still a young man. They knew what love was?

Not to mention that the two of them had been separated for many years, and the living environment and the people they had come into contact with were completely different. Their son was a well-known academic, while Nina had been working hard in the noisy and luxurious entertainment circle. The two of them might not be able to get together.

Thinking of this, Colleen looked at Randall and said, “You’re right. It’s better to let them get along with each other than I obstruct them and hurt the relationship between me and our son.”

Randall hugged her, “That’s right. Let the young people solve their own problems. We should enjoy our current life.”

Randall imagined the future for no reason, "Think about it. If they really get married, since our son has intelligence and Nina has beauty, they will give birth to a child who will inherit their advantages. When we take our grandson or granddaughter out, we'll be so proud of having such a wonderful grandchild."

At the thought of this, Randall felt that this scene was perfect. He even couldn't wait to have a grandson or granddaughter.

Now it was Colleen's turn to laugh at him. "How could we have grandchildren? Look at Nina's attitude just now. It's still a problem whether she will marry our son or not."

Colleen didn't know what was going on, but she was really worried after she said that. She couldn't help asking Randall in a low voice, "Do you think... will they really break up like this?" Randall smiled, pretending to be indifferent, "Isn't it exactly what you want?"

It seemed that his trick of imagining the future worked. Colleen was tempted. At their age, many are expecting to play with their grandchild.

Their son was not young anymore, so Colleen must have been anxious to have a grandson.

Colleen felt humiliated by Randall's words. She stood up angrily and walked away, not going to talk to Randall anymore.

Nina burst into tears the moment the elevator door was closed.

She hated herself and felt sorry for Cameron.

It was her who made him so miserable.

He had never been beaten by his parents since he was born, had he? He didn't even be scolded, nor had he a quarrel with his parents.

Since he had entangled with her, he had conflicts with his parents.

It was her appearance that broke his perfect and happy family life Nina kept blaming herself and crying.

They were really not from the same world. She shouldn't have refused him while pursuing tenderness and happiness he gave her. She was too selfish.

She should have let it go.

If she had let it go, he would have found new happiness, wouldn't he?

The first thing she did when she returned to her room was to prime Sylvie, "Stay at the door of my room later. Call the police if Cameron appears."

"No, you'd better go to the elevator and wait for him. Call the police as soon as he gets out of the elevator. Try not to let him come to our floor, so as not to cause trouble."

Unlike the top floor where there were no other people, there were several actors living here. It would be troublesome if anyone saw Cameron.

"Call the police? The police?" Sylvie said, surprised. She looked at Nina's red eyes and was frightened to death by her words.

What kind of major accident had happened that Nina asked her to call the police as soon as Cameron appeared? Wasn't she resting on the top floor?

Nina looked away and said, "Don't ask. Just do as I said."

Sylvie had no choice but to reply, "Okay, I see. I'll go out."

Sylvie's heart ached when she saw the tears that almost fell down from Nina's eyes. She had been working for Nina for several years, but she had never seen her cry.

She thought that it must be something painful that made Nina, who had always been strong, cry.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 582 There is Nothing to Miss

Sylvie went to the elevator and waited there. Then, Nina called Dominic. After the phone was connected, she asked sharply, "Who paid you to make trouble for Cameron's parents?"

Just like Cameron, Nina also believed that Dominic was incited by someone. She knew her parents very well. They were the typical people who bullied the weak and feared the strong.

That day Cameron had hit him hard and smashed his antiques. Dominic must have been scared. Therefore, even if he had suffered a great loss, he would never dare to make trouble for Cameron, let alone make trouble for Colleen and Randall.

And if he wanted to make a scene, he would do it on that day instead of waiting for two days.

What Nina knew more was that although Dominic bullied the weak and feared the strong, he loved money more.

Therefore, if someone gave him a large amount of money, he could take the risk to make trouble for Colleen. That was why Nina directly questioned him in a determined tone.

Dominic did not expect that Nina could guess what he was doing at once. He was stunned for a moment.

Of course, he wouldn't admit that he was really instigated, so he jutted his chin out stubbornly and retorted, "What did you mean by getting paid? Why can't I make trouble without taking money?"

"Cameron beat me and your brother like this, and destroyed so many valuable things of mine. Can't I ask his parents for an explanation?" said he.

"Then why didn't you look for them that day?" Nina sneered.

"Dominic stammered, trying to find an excuse. "It's because I was beaten by him all over and couldn't move." "According to your character, if you wanted to make a scene at that time, you would ask someone to carry you to his parents, wouldn't you?" Nina's logic was meticulous and aggressive, which made him unable to speak for a while.

It seemed that Nina was careless and didn't care about anything, but in fact, she was smart and shrewd. She just didn't want to care about something.

But once it came to her bottom line, she could be smarter than anyone else. At this moment, under her questioning, Dominic sweated on the other end of the phone.

“Dad,” Just when Dominic was silent, Nina suddenly called him in this way. A shiver ran down his spine, and a bad feeling arose in his heart.

He knew that Nina hadn’t called him father many times since she was a child. Especially after that summer, they almost became strangers, to be exact, enemies. He knew that she hated him to death.

That was why he got goose bumps when she suddenly called him Dad.

Sure enough, she said, “This should be the last time I call you. From now on, we are strangers. If you continue to make trouble, we will be enemies.”

Seeing that Dominic was about to scold her, Nina interrupted him directly without giving him a chance to speak, “Don’t say anything about giving birth to me and raising me. I’ve had enough of such moral kidnapping. I don’t know why you have the cheek to continue to morally kidnap me. You didn’t even do this to strangers, did you?”

“I forgot that it’s not the first time you want to destroy me. When you tried to send me to that old man’s bed that summer, I should have made a clean break with you,” sneered Nina. Dominic had nothing to say.

“During these years I have given you whatever you want due to the fact that you gave birth to me and raise me up. If you just play no tricks, I’ll let you live a comfortable life as long as I can. But what have you done to me?”

“This time, no matter who instigated you to do this, I will find out the truth. At that time, I will not let go of both you and the person behind you.”

Nina said these words in the calmest tone, without the slightest fear. “I’ve told you that I’m not instigated by others,” Dominic continued to defend for himself. Nina sneered, “You’d better pray that what you said is true.”

Dominic was pissed off by her fearless attitude. He had thought that she called to beg him not to make trouble for Cameron's parents, so that he could take the opportunity to ask for more money from her.

However, she threatened him instead. How could he bear this! He roared on the spot, "I've recorded the phone call today. Do you believe that I'll send it to the press? By then the public will know how you, the famous actress, have severed the relationship with your parents. Do you think that you can still stay in the entertainment circle in the future?"

"Whatever," Nina was sick of hearing these words.

"Since you want to keep making trouble, let me make it clear first. I'm even afraid of myself if I go crazy. If you want to hurt both of us, just send the recording to the public."

"You..." Seeing that he couldn't threaten Nina, Dominic was so angry that he gritted his teeth.

He didn't expect that she didn't care about her reputation at all. The entertainment circle was full of celebrities. She didn't miss it at all?

Nina didn't need to take pains to outrage him. She said slowly, "If you really destroy my reputation, I will take a bottle of sleeping pills. And I'll donate all my money to charity. I'd like to see how arrogant you can be in the rest of your lives. Oh, no, you can still be arrogant because you have a baby son. You can count on that useless son to support you."

Not knowing why, Nina said such negative words so easily. Perhaps she was influenced by Cameron's words of jumping off the building just now, and she was being desperate now.

But she had never been so helpless like now. For so many years, she had endured so many struggles in the entertainment circle, but now these trifles made her exhausted.

In fact, she knew that the reason why she was so depressed and powerless was that these things hurt Cameron.

In the past few years, Dominic had been making trouble for her, but she had been indifferent to him. It was just because their trouble was only aimed at her, and she could bear it.

“Nina!” Hearing that Nina was going to commit suicide, Dominic was so scared that his hand holding the phone trembled.

If Nina really died, they would lose all their hopes.

He knew what kind of person his son was. It would be good if his son didn't live off him.

How could he rely on his son to support him?

For so many years, he had never thought that Nina would commit suicide. In his opinion, his daughter was as tough and strong as weeds. But just now her tone...

He didn't dare to think about it anymore.

“There is nothing to miss in the world. If you want to see such a loss-loss result, you can choose to continue to make trouble.”

After saying that, Nina hung up the phone.

It seemed that now she really had nothing to miss after she had waited for Cameron and then she completely broke up with him. | |

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 583 Refusing to Break Up

After Nina hung up the phone call, Sylvie really saw Cameron at the elevator entrance.

Sylvie put her hands in front of Cameron and said in a low voice, “Mr. Dauster, Nina told me to wait for you here. She said she didn't want to see you and she didn't have anything to say to you. Considering that there are so many people here, I hope you won't go to see her.”

Cameron frowned, “I have to see her now.” Sylvie sighed, “Although I don't know what happened between you two, I think you'd better calm down now.”

Cameron took a look at Sylvie, and Sylvie continued, "Nina doesn't seem to be in a good mood. As far as I know, if you go to find her at this time, her resistance and rebellion will be stronger. And the result will be the opposite."

Cameron pressed his lips and fell silent. At this time, the elevator came up, and another person came out. It was none other than Andrew Sonfield. Sylvie felt more distressed after seeing him.

In the two days when Nina was recuperating, Andrew tried to visit her more than once, but Nina declined him. So Andrew came to her, asking her to send some medicine and some food to Nina every so often.

After getting the consent of Nina, Sylvie put the stuff away and didn't give it to Nina. She put away the medicine and ate food.

Nina was at the top floor. If the gift from Andrew appeared, Cameron would be very jealous.

However, although Nina had received the gift, Nina also told her to express her gratitude to Andrew in a clear and friendly manner. But the gratitude belongs to that from colleagues for helping and caring each other.

Sylvie felt that Andrew's flattering behavior was a little weird, as if he had an intention, and so did Nina. Therefore, the two of them became more cautious when it came to Andrew.

At this time, seeing Andrew suddenly appear on this floor, Sylvie was on the verge of collapse. Why was Andrew so persistent? Was he really going to pursue Nina?

Andrew was surprised to see Sylvie and asked, "Sylvie? Why are you here?"

The next second, he was attracted by Cameron, who was so outstanding that even he, as an actor who relied on his appearance in the entertainment circle, couldn't help but glance sideways at him.

He looked Cameron up and down and asked in confusion, "Who is he?"

"Oh, a friend of mine. He came to see me for something," Sylvie made an excuse.

Cameron was in a bad mood, and he became more irritable when he saw Andrew. Therefore, he looked at Andrew with hostility, as if he wanted to tear Andrew apart.

Andrew looked at Cameron in confusion and said to the Sylvie, "Is Nina here? I'll come over to..."

Before Andrew finished his words, he immediately felt the cruel sight of the man next to him. His back shivered and he immediately bit what he wanted to say back.

What's wrong with the man beside Sylvie?

Andrew thought he did not know the man and did not offend the man. Why did he feel like this man was going to punch him the next second?

Sylvie also sensed Cameron's hostility towards Andrew. She said to him in a hurry, "Nina just took some medicine and fell asleep."

Although the little girl looked a little dulled at ordinary times just like her boss, she didn't make a mistake at critical moments. Otherwise, she wouldn't have been kept by Sherlyn for so long.

Hearing what Sylvie said, Andrew couldn't go on visiting Nina. It was not appropriate for him to disturb her when she was sleeping.

Besides, there was a strange man next to him. He immediately gave up the idea of visiting Nina, and fallaw the excuse given by Sylvie. "In that case, I won't disturb her."

Sylvie smiled and said, "Well, Nina will return to the filming group tomorrow. If you have anything to say, you can talk to her later."

"Okay," Andrew said goodbye politely. "Bye."

After pressing the elevator button, he looked back at Cameron thoughtfully and said to Sylvie with a smile, "Your friend looks very handsome. Is he your boyfriend?"

Hearing that, Sylvie felt a little embarrassed and quickly replied, "No. No. Don't be joking." Andrew smiled at Sylvie in a way which he thought could show his charm, and then he stepped into the elevator and left.

“Ewww.” As soon as the elevator door closed, Sylvie showed an expression of agony as if she was about to vomit. “I can’t take it anymore. He thought he was so handsome that he flirted with people all day long.”

Cameron was amused by Sylvie’s reaction. She really had a lot in common with her boss. He could understand why Nina found such a assistant to be with her. This was the so-called “like-minded”.

Sylvie scratched her head with embarrassment and then persuaded him, “You can go back first.” Cameron thought for a while and said, “I need to borrow your phone. I’ll call her.”

“Okay,” Sylvie thought for a while and handed the phone to him. She thought that he only said a few words on the phone and should not quarrel with Nina anymore.

If he called her with his own phone, she would definitely not answer.

Cameron dialed the number of Nina with the phone from Sylvie, and Nina answered it soon. But her tone sounded very weak, “What’s wrong?”

Nina thought it was Sylvie who was looking for her, but she didn’t expect the man’s voice on the phone, “It’s me.” When she was about to hang up the phone, Cameron stopped her and said, “I just want to say a few words.”

“Go ahead,” said Nina indifferently.

She didn’t think there was anything to talk about between them. Could he leave her as soon as possible?

Cameron annaunced word by word, “I don’t want to break up with you. Don’t even think about it.”

Nina was so angry that she shouted, “Are you insane? Are you a masochism? Is it comfortable and honorable to be beaten by your mother?”

Cameron said calmly, “As long as I can be with you, I don’t care about anything.”

Nina was so annoyed that she said, "You can do whatever you like. I have my own principles."

Cameron restrained his emotions, "Nina, don't push me. I know you still love me."

"Don't push you?" Nina was amused by his words. "What? You want to destroy me if you are cornered?" Unexpectedly, Cameron really responded, "Yes. If I destroy you, you can only come to me, right?"

Sylvie, who was standing next to him, was scared to death by his words. Especially when she saw that he didn't seem to be joking, she quickly came over to grab her mobile phone.

"You are fucking sick!" Nina was so angry that she cursed and then hung up the phone.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 584 I Got What I Wanted

When Nina hung up the phone, Sylvie also took back her phone. Annoyed and depressed, she protested, "How can you do this? I lend you my phone out of kindness, but you said you were going to destroy Nina. You've gone too far."

Sylvie was about to turn around and leave, but she didn't feel relieved. She stopped, turned around and said angrily to Cameron, "Nina has been taking you as the apple of her eye for so many years. How could you do this to her? I backed the wrong the house."

Sylvie was about to cry out of anger.

She felt heartbroken to hear that.

She and Sherlyn knew how hard it had been for Nina to get through all these years, but these guys always said that they would destroy her. Wouldn't they feel guilty?

Cameron frowned, "You don't understand."

"Some people say that love is indulgence, while deep love is restraint. But if you really love someone, how can you restrain your emotions?"

“Deep love means possession. I want to take her for myself every minute and second. I can’t live without her every second.

“I will get her at all costs.

Sylvie was so angry that she stamped her feet. Didn’t he reflect on what he had just said?

She didn’t want to talk to him anymore. Then she turned around and ran back to Nina’s room.

Cameron stood there alone, with a deep look in his eyes. He murmured to himself, “I have endured for so many years before I came back. What I wanted is not to break up with her.”

Over the years, he had been working hard to complete his study in order to let his parents have nothing to say. He had perfectly followed the life path they had planned for him, and he would not allow them to interfere in his love life.

Sylvie went back to Nina’s room angrily. The first thing she did after entering the room was to apologize to her, “I’m sorry, Nina. I shouldn’t have lent my phone to him...”

If she had known that Cameron would say something about destroying Nina, she would never have given the phone to him.

However, Nina didn’t care about it at all. “Do you mean that he said he was going to destroy me?”

Nina spread out her hands and said, “Even if he wants to destroy me, he has to have enough money to fight against my current power. I guess the money in his hand is the one million I gave him. Which big capitalist behind me can he fight against?”

Now what she was collaborating with were all big brands and big-budget production. If Cameron wanted to change something, it depended on his ability.

Seeing that Sylvie was still blaming herself, Nina had to say, “Just take his words as lunatic ravings.”

“Even if those words can be regarded as something crazy, it’s still hurtful,” said Sylvie.

With a smile on her lips, Nina said, “It doesn’t matter. Most of the time, what hurts more than words is something beyond expression.”

For example, the gap between her and Cameron was like a natural moat. She couldn’t tell how painful it was, but it made her heart ache at the moment.

Sylvie didn’t understand what she meant. Nina had never told Sylvie or even Sherlyn about her inferiority complex in front of Cameron. They only knew that she loved him, but they didn’t know that at the same time it was more and more difficult for her to overcome the inferiority complex in her heart.

She loved him so much that she felt inferior and that she thought she didn’t deserve him.

“I’m going to have a rest,” Without saying anything more to Sylvie, Nina turned around and went back to her bedroom to have a rest.

She was really not feeling well. She didn’t know if intensely emotional fluctuation just now affected her stomach, or her spirit was somewhat destroyed. Anyway, she needed a rest urgently.

Perhaps nothing is more lamentable than a dead heart, which can be used to describe how she was now.

She was not interested in anything and didn’t want to think about anything. She just wanted to close her eyes and let everything go.

When she woke up, Sherlyn called her. Lying in bed, Nina answered the phone listlessly.

Sherlyn asked directly on the other end of the phone, “What happened to you? The director of the dating show came to me and said that the investor of their program had changed, and then the new investor asked you to quit the program.”

“Did you offend someone that someone targets you on purpose?” Sherlyn’s tone was a little annoyed. “At that time, the program group tried every possible way to contact us and wanted to invite you to take part in the program. Then we agreed.”

“You didn’t have time to take part in the first season, and we also allowed them to attract public attention by virtue of your popularity for the second season. Now you are sure to take part in the second season, but now they asked you to leave the program due to the force of capital. They are shameless. Can’t they speak for you as such a big director team?”

“You have brought popularity to the show and made enough money for them. And now they want to get rid of you,” The more Sherlyn said, the angrier she became. She wanted to tear the program group apart with her own hands.

For so many years, Sherlyn and Nina had encountered in the entertainment circle many cases where the program had been cancelled. But this time, it was quite excessive because before the program hadn’t been aired, Nina took part in, which had made the show more popular.

Unlike Sherlyn, Nina’s reaction was totally different. When she heard capital withdrawal, she was happy, “I happen to contact you. I want you to help me talk to the program group that I don’t want to participate in the program any more. In this way, we can just avoid bad names for breaking a contract.”

If she hadn’t quarreled with Cameron before, she should have mentioned it to Sherlyn. But she had a sleep because of her bad mood and didn’t expect that everything turned out exactly as she wished when she woke up.

If she didn’t offer to quit, she wouldn’t have to pay the liquidated damages, nor did she have to humble herself to talk to the program group, let alone gain a bad reputation in the entertainment circle because of her withdrawal.

“What? You want to leave?” Sherlyn felt that things seemed to get difficult.

“Yes, isn’t it because I have been entangled with Cameron these days? Although I don’t date him, I still think it’s unfair to the program, so I think I’d better leave,” replied Nina.

Knowing that Nina had wanted to leave a long time ago, Sherlyn was not so angry.

She snorted, "I didn't agree with you to take part in this love show either, but you insisted on it. Now everything is just the right. That's music to our ears"

However, Sherlyn gritted her teeth and snapped, "But I won't let go of the crew. They must give an explanation to the public, apologize to us, and make up for our financial loss, mental loss and reputation loss."

Sherlyn was well-known in the entertainment circle for her vengeful character. Nina comforted, "Forget it. It's not easy for them. They are all workers. Who can compete with capitalists?"

"I've been sick these days, haven't I? I think that we can just say I leave due to health reasons. We've got what we wished.
Let it go. Don't hassle them."

Sherlyn moaned, "But if we deal this matter in this way, there must be some anti-fans who will think you are unreasonable and scold you."

"Let them say what they want. I'm not money. How am I able to let everyone like me?"
Nina replied. In this kind of thing, Nina was very open-minded. The fans who really liked her would only worry about her health.

And those who scolded her were not real fans.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 585 What a Coincidence

Sherlyn didn't agree with Nina to take part in the program. And now Nina also happened to leave, so she calmed down.

Then she gossiped with Nina, "Do you have any clue about who's scheming against you? They rack their brains and control the whole program by virtue of capital."

At present, Sherlyn didn't know that Nina and Cameron had a quarrel. She only knew that Cameron had chased Nina to the crew.

At first, she was on the verge of breaking down, but there was nothing she could do. Although Nina ignored Cameron, she could also see that Nina didn't hate Cameron. Otherwise, according to Nina's personality, there is nothing Cameron could do with Nina.

It was definitely because Nina is willing to see Cameron.

But she, as an entertainment agent, felt a little embarrassed to talk to Nina about what happened between Nina and Cameron.

She just hoped that they would not be pictured together by the media.

"Is it Cameron?" Thinking of what Cameron said, and his tone of madness, Nina had such a guess.

"Cameron?" Sherlyn was about to stamp her feet. "Aren't you two having a good time? Why did he torture you like this?" "Just a few hours ago, we broke up," Nina admitted frankly.

Sherlyn was speechless. After a while, she said, "What the hell are you doing? On one second you love each other and the next second you hurt each other. I'm almost insane because of you."

Nina was silent for a while and muttered, "It's true this time. I won't connect with him anymore."

Sherlyn didn't say anything, perhaps because she sensed the determination and pain in Nina's voice.

But after a while, Sherlyn came to her senses and questioned, "Even if Cameron wants to torture you, does he have such economic strength? Didn't you say that he asked you for one million?"

It was hard for ordinary people to replace the original investor.

"You are right," Nina said with an ironic smile. "He is incapable financially."

Sherlyn said, "We can't just let this matter go. I have to find out the background of this new investor."

When Sherlyn had just received the call from the program, she was too angry to pay attention to the new investor. Now she wanted to see who dared to do this to a popular star like Nina.

After a short while, Sherlyn called her and reported, "I heard that the new investor is a biological technology company called Camcien Lifetech. Do you think this company is crazy? It is a company that has nothing to do with the entertainment circle. Why does this company get involved in these things?"

"Camcien Lifetech? And it is a biological technology company," Nina whispered and felt a sense of familiarity.

The word "Camcien" is similar to Cameron's name, and his major was biology. Nina couldn't help but doubt whether this company... had anything to do with Cameron.

However, before she could express her doubt, Sherlyn scolded angrily on the other end of the phone, "I see. It is extremely likely that the boss of this company has a love affair with some actress and that actress doesn't like you, so she instigates the boss to replace you."

"Wait a minute. I'll check who is in charge of this company," As Sherlyn spoke, she used the computer at hand to search for the company on the Internet.

When Sherlyn saw the person in charge of the company, her eyes widened in surprise. "Lucien Fowler? Isn't he the man we met in the elevator of our studio the other day?"

"Oh, I remember it. The floors below our studio seem to belong to Camcien Lifetech," Sherlyn added as if she just had a moment of enlightenment.

Nina was stunned again.

Is Camcien Lifetech downstairs from her studio?

Nina also remembered the man she met in the elevator when she went to her studio that day. Because he had been staring at her, so she and Sherlyn threatened him together.

“I see. This man must have felt that he had been targeted by us in the elevator that day, so he deliberately played tricks on you with resentment,” Sherlyn guessed.

Nina felt that this matter was not that simple. Although the way that man looked at her at that time was a little strange, his countenance had not revealed that he was a ruthless and vengeful man. He should not have attacked her for such a small thing.

“Sherlyn, my mind is in a mess now. I need to think it over,” said Nina who pressed her forehead.

Woman’s intuition told her that Cameron had something to do with Camcien Lifetech, but she had no clue now. After all, in her mind, Cameron appeared in the form of having no job or income these days.

“What kind of mess?” Sherlyn asked in confusion, but Nina didn’t know what to say.

Sherlyn continued, “Anyway, this matter has something to do with Lucien Fowler, I’ll meet him later. Anyway, I’m going to the studio later. I’ll go downstairs to meet him.”

“Don’t meet him in a hurry. Let me think about it,” Nina stopped her.

“Well, you can think about it first. I’ll deal with the withdrawal of the program first,” Sherlyn didn’t have much energy to care about it for the moment. Then the two hung up the phone.

Nina was not in the mood to continue to sleep. She sat up and leaned against the head of the bed, recalling everything that had happened after Cameron came back.

First of all, he didn’t look like a jobless vagabond. Which vagabond has the guts to pester his ex-girlfriend all day long? Besides, his ex-girlfriend was a beautiful and popular female star. Men with poor economic strength generally didn’t have such confidence.

Secondly, it was impossible for a vagrant to book the top floor. Nina knew something about Cameron. He was not the kind of person who would pretend to be rich even if he had no money. And he wouldn’t squander one million she gave him so casually.

The only explanation was that he had enough money to pay basic costs.

Although he said that he had gotten scholarships over the years, he didn't have to be so crazy to pursue women.

What's more, the name of Camcien Lifetech really caught her attention, especially after she heard the name of Lucien.

The name "Camcien" was very likely a combination of Cameron and Lucien, so it was very likely that Cameron had started a business with Lucien.

While suspecting, she was also quickly checking the information of the company with her mobile phone, but all the information she could find was about Lucien.

In a flash of inspiration, Nina began to investigate Lucien, but the information only showed that he had studied abroad, and which university or major was unknown. | |

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 586 Let's go mad

Nina became disillusioned and tossed the phone away. She couldn't find anything useful.

She could draw one conclusion: whether Cameron has anything to do with Camcien Lifetech or not, the company must have been involved in her being forced to quit the dating show.

Lucien Fowler seemed to be the boss of Camcien Lifetech. She could call him up and asked why he forced her to quit the show.

What she really wanted to know was Cameron's role in all of this.

Nina called Sherlyn. "Sherlyn, can you get me Lucien Fowler's number? I want to talk to him."

"OK, you should talk to him. I am fully occupied right now," Sherlyn said, "Wait for me. I'm going to the studio. I'll go to Camcien and asked for Lucien Fowler's number."

"Fine." Nina could wait.

Nina then called Manny Bowers.

“Who told you that Cameron was miserable right now?” Nina remembered that Manny told her that Cameron was unemployed, so she gave him 1 million.

Manny couldn't say that he heard it from Cameron himself. He lied, “A guy from our high school told me that, why?”

“Nothing, thanks.” Nina could not say that she was suspecting Camcien might belong to Cameron. Manny might think she was crazy.

Yes. When she was searching, she found out that Camcien had been established 6 years ago. It only took Camcien a few years to become one of the top biotech companies at home. Camcien had won several abroad and domestic tech awards. It even had been praised by the government.

It impressed her a lot.

Nina could have directly asked Cameron about his relationship with Camcien. But the two fell out not long ago, so she definitely wouldn't call him first, not to mention asking him about Camcien.

In Riverside city.

Lucien got out of the lift. With one hand in the pocket, he was talking to the phone annoyedly. “God, please, please come back. Why are you so brazen? She has tried so hard to keep a distance from you.”

“Are you masochistic? Come back and meet me in the boxing gym. I'll beat you up!” Cameron sneered. “Are you sure it's not the other way around?”

“Hey.” Lucien wanted to say something but fell silent. He spotted Sherlyn at the receptionist. He didn't want to expose that he knew Cameron.

Lucien lowered his voice. He said, “Nina's manager came to our company. I bet your cover is going to be blew.”

He just did what Cameron asked him to do, removing Nina from the dating show, and now Nina's manager came at the door. Lucien thought things were not going well.

Lucien hung up the phone. He readjusted his clothes and walked up to Sherlyn.

Sherlyn was talking to the receptionist. She was trying to make an appointment to meet Lucien or at least ask for his number.

“Hey.” Having heard a velvety voice, Sherlyn turned back and saw Lucien coming in.

Though Sherlyn thought Lucien’s smile was suspicious, she soon realized that she was supposed to flatter him. Sherlyn smiled and put out her hand. “Hello, Mr. Fowler?”

“Please call me Lucien.” They shook hands.

Having been threatened in the lift, Lucien now knew that Nina and Sherlyn were no softie at all. He was rather surprised at Sherlyn’s attitude.

“No, no. I should call you Mr. Fowler.” Sherlyn flattered. “Mr. Fowler, it’s hard to believe that you’ve already become the boss of a top company at such a young age.”

“It’s a sheer stroke of luck.” Lucien was also polite and humble. “What’s up? Should we talk at my office ?”

Sherlyn was several years older than Lucien, Cameron and Nina. Lucien was a young brother to her. But she simply disliked his frivolous manner.

Sherlyn smiled and declined his invitation. “No, thanks. I only have one small thing to ask.”

“Nina wants your number. She wants to talk to you. Would you mind?”

“Ahem...” Lucien was panicked. He almost choked on saliva. “THE Nina Sanchez wants my number?”

Sherlyn said, “Yes. And I think you know what she is going to talk about. Since it’s Camcien that made her quit the show.”

Since Sherlyn has called a spade a spade, there was no way that Lucien could turn her down. “Of course, I can give her my number.”

He took out a business card and gave it to Sherlyn.

“Thanks.” Sherlyn took it and left immediately.

Lucien hurriedly went back to the office and hastened to call Cameron. “Sherlyn just asked for my number. She said Nina wanted to talk to me.”

“What should I do?”

“Don’t tell her the truth. As for how long your lie can last, let’s wait and see.” Cameron answered him perfunctorily.

Lucien rolled his eyes.

“It’s you who’s going to be unmasked. Why are you still calm?” Lucien complained.

“Can’t I be upset? I hope she can call me.”

Lucien lost for words. He was jealous?

Cameron said, “She could directly ask me about Camcien. Why doesn’t she?”

“She is so cruel. She would rather beat around the bush rather than ask me.”

“Stop moping around. She has broken up with you. Why would she call you™”

“If you’ve decided to be the villain, be consistent. Don’t be a wimp. It’s you who kicked her out of the show.” “It’s because I didn’t want to her with someone else.” Cameron argued,

“I meant to join the show. But she fell out with me. I don’t want to argue with her in front of many people. As a result, neither of us will join the show.”

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 587 I Am Dubious

“I’m not petty nor villainous. Mind your words.” Cameron warned.

Lucien snorted. He believed Cameron must have become aberrant because he could not win Nina's heart.

"Don't be a nose parker. How's the thing I told you to keep an eye on?"

Lucien was glum. A nose parker?

Cameron was his partner and best buddy. He went mad for Nina and left the company behind. Shouldn't he care for him? Instead, Cameron called him a nose parker. So ungrateful.

But Lucien said, "I'm looking into it. Dominic Sanchez did take money from someone. The person behind a hater account paid him to do it. It seems that the haters schemed this."

"Probably it's because she is so popular right now. They want to smear her." Lucien thought it was simply some PR war between celebrities in the showbiz.

Cameron doubted it. "I don't think it's that simple. If they are haters, they could've had Dominic Sanchez expose me rather than make a scene before my parents. After all, it's me who sought troubles with them."

"Then they can spread the rumors that I have a special relationship with Nina or slander me. They can even criticize Nina for dating such a lame guy. That's their typical move."

"But the person behind this led Dominic to find my parents, deliberately reveal my whereabouts, and draw them all the way from Sanya to Jamelaton. That person wants my parents to be provoked and hate Nina. I think what that person is willing to see is a complete breakup between me and Nina."

"Is it that complicated?" Lucien was perplexed.

But he still believed in Cameron, for he hadn't made any mistake till now.

Lucien sighed, "if it's the case, that person is so insidious."

"Yes." Cameron agreed. He said calmly, "So you need to keep an eye on it. Maybe dig out the social relations of the hater account."

“All right, I got it.” Lucien complained, “I am a tech company entrepreneur, not a private detective.” “It’s too cringey to say thank you. Let’s be more pragmatic. I’ll find you a date after Nina and I get together.” Cameron said.

“You don’t need to,” Lucien was startled, “There’s no hurry. I don’t want to get married yet. If you really want to thank me, give me one year off after you are married.”

Lucien still clung to his cancelled world travel. He often complained that Cameron was supposed to shoulder more responsibility in the future, for he had burnt out.

Lucien was also traumatized by Cameron and Nina’s love story. Had anyone benefited from the love-hate relationship? Being single is the best.

“Cameron, please come back. Melanie keeps asking me where you at. She is so annoying.” Lucien said before hanging up the phone.

“You invited the trouble. Put up with it.” Cameron hung up. Lucien was pissed off.

But he had to admit that Cameron had a point. Lucien meant to get Cameron and Melanie Blanchard together, so he let Melanie work at Camcien. Now he had to put up with the mess.

Sherlyn sent Lucien’s number to Nina. Nina called him immediately.

Lucien took a deep breath and picked up.

Nina started the civilized conversation. “Hello, Mr. Fowler, I’m Nina Sanchez.” “Hi, big star.” Lucien replied briskly.

Nina cut to the chase. “I tried to recall every detail today. I’ve met you, Mr. Fowler, for several times. But I don’t think we know each other a lot. I really don’t know why you kick me out of the show. I don’t think I’ve offended you.”

Nina knew that she couldn’t directly ask Lucien if he knew Cameron. Lucien wouldn’t admit. So she decided to beat around the bush, then took him by surprise.

“I have never been offended by you.”

“But after I invested in the show, I heard that you were not single. I think it’s not fair if we still have you on the show.” Lucien came up with this excuse beforehand.

“Well?” Nina knew it was just an excuse. She kept on kicking the can down the road. “I wonder who told you that. After all, I don’t even know I am not single.”

Nina was sarcastic. “It’s their privacy. I don’t think it’s appropriate to reveal his or her name.” Lucien said.

“Right.” Nina suddenly asked, “Is that person Cameron?” Lucien was silent. Nina was good at this. She was arguing round and round. She aimed to caught him unprepared with the last question,

Well, Lucien was no idiot, especially after spending years in the business circle. He instantly played the fool. “Cameron? Who is that?” Lucien said.

As an experienced businessman, Lucien was good at telling lies. No one could spot a giveaway.

Nina remained poised and kept asking, “Can you please tell me why is your company name ‘Camcien’?” “Because it’s catchy.” Lucien said.

Because it’s the combination of their names. Because they are business partners.

“Isn’t it?” Nina sneered, “I had a friend called Cameron. The two names sound so similar. What a coincidence!” Lucien smiled and said, “It’s indeed coincidental. I think I should meet your friend someday.”

“You’d better not.”

“Why?” Lucien was curious.

“Because he was a psycho, maniac and dumbass!” Nina snapped and slammed the phone.

Lucien was stunned on the spot.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 588 Curse Equals Love

Having hung up the phone, Lucien realized he was fooled by Nina.

She said you should not meet Cameron on purpose. She was waiting for him to ask why, so she could curse.

In spite of Lucien's denial, Nina must have believed that he knew Cameron.

But when Lucien thought of Nina's curse, he grinned. He wanted to call Cameron and tell him Nina's words.

But Cameron called him first. "What did she tell you? Why it took you so long?"

"Are you jealous? We just talked for a few words."

"I haven't talked to her for ages." Cameron was irritated.

Lucien threw in the sponge. He briefed Cameron on their conversation, including Nina's final comment.

"A psycho, maniac and dumbass!" Lucien gloated.

Lucien thought Cameron would be irritated. Instead, he smiled. "That's exactly what I am right now. She knows me pretty well." What? Did he hear that right?

"Are you really out of your mind? You are happy being called a dumbass?" Lucien could not believe it.

"You know nothing. It means she cares for me."

"Fuck." Lucien got nothing to say besides the f word.

"Bye." Cameron hung up the phone.

Lucien's world view was challenged. He had known Cameron for year. For the first time, he realized his best buddy was a simp.

That science genius, straight A student, hardhearted smartass had become an complete idiot because of Nina.

No, no an idiot. A retard.

Nina was pissed off by the call. She tossed her phone away.

Thought Lucien insisted that he didn't know Cameron, she had an intuition that the Cam in Camcien was taken from "Cameron".

It was Cameron who kicked her out of the show.

Sylvie came in and said anxiously, "Nina, I just went downstairs and saw Cameron leaving with his parents." "Finally." Nina sighed,

"Oh..." Sylvie also sighed.

She felt so sorry. It almost broke her heart to see the perfect couple wind up in tragedy.

"Why do you sigh? He made me lose my job!" Nina threw her a look.

"Sherlyn didn't want you to go to that show. You didn't want to join it either. He helped us out."

Sylvie suggested she was quite grateful.

"Didn't you scold him before? Now you are on his side?"

Sylvie was silent.

Cameron must have turned his love to hatred. He still loved Nina secretly.

Collen Donovan and Randall Dauster were not in the mood for travel. Cameron decided to go back to Riverside city with them.

On the one hand, it was better for Nina and him to pull out of the mess and chill out for a bit. On the other hand, he also wanted to know who was behind all of this.

When Cameron and his parents were waiting for the cab, Nancy Baldwin sent all the pics to Michelle Byrd.

“Michelle, Cameron is leaving with his parents. Thanks to his parents, it seems that he and Nina have totally broken up.

“His parents were exasperated. Especially his mom, my colleague said she was in a frenzy. It must have been tough for Nina. ” Michelle smiled after seeing the messages.

This time she won the game.

Now without Nina, she could ask Cameron out.

“Nancy, thank you for telling me this. I’ll treat you to dinner tonight.” Michelle was in a good mood. Since Nancy was more or less an insider of the entertainment circle, she needed to build good relationship with her. Maybe she could exploit her to undermine Nina.

“Well, I hardly did anything. It’s so pity that I could not take a photo of Nina and Cameron together. Otherwise, I’d achieved my goal this month.”

If she could take a photo of them together in one room, Twitter would break down, “Don’t be upset. Let’s meet tonight.” Michelle comforted her.

Michelle felt guilty for taking advantage of Nancy. She casually told Nancy that Nina and Cameron had a special relationship. So Nancy asked her colleague to go there.

Thus, Michelle made sure that Cameron was in Jamelaton. She then led Colleen and Randall there.

Nancy wasn’t aware that she was a pawn in the chess game. “Michelle, you are my best friend. You are pretty and talented, but also very kind.” Nancy was moved.

“Come on, see you tonight.” Michelle was quite flattered.

Having hung up, Michelle resumed painting.

She appeared to be graceful. But deep down she knew, she would do whatever it took to get what she wanted.

She hated to lose out to Nina, for life had always been easy for her. Michelle would do anything to win. But she had to be cautious, people all thought she was a good girl.

Though it was exhausting, Michelle believed it would pay off. The official account of the dating show made an announcement that Nina is quitting the show due to health problems.

Nina and her agency also retweeted and commented: Sorry that I'm not able to join the show due to health problems. My health starts to fail in recent years. I'll suspend working to recuperate. Hope that we can meet soon.

Nina's quit immediately went on trend and sparked the discussion.

Some people supported Nina, while some criticize her for flip-flopping and sadfishing. Others said that Nina was so vulnerable. Were her stomach disorders so severe that she couldn't make it through the show?! I

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 589 We Aren't Meant to Be Together

Nina didn't even care. Having been a celebrity for years, she knew what to do. She would never pay heed to those mean tweets.

Nina went to shower after sending the tweet. She didn't expect that more comments cropped up.

"I heard it from the horse's mouth that Nina didn't quit the show voluntarily. She was replaced."

"Nina's finished. I heard that she had offended a bigwig. That person kicked her out of the show."

"What comes around goes around. It's pleasant to see her hit the skids. She used to be so arrogant. Did she see this coming?!" "Her sugar daddy must have been fed up with her. She's getting old and haggard, so he abandoned her."

Nina didn't turn a hair. People started to spread the rumor since her debut. She had had enough of it.

She didn't blame the haters. It was all because of her face. No wonder they thought she had a sugar daddy.

She hoped that there could be a sugar daddy who had paved way for her career. But there was none. In other words, though there were some old men who wanted to sponsor her, she turned up nose at them.

Rumors were so far-fetched. If she had a sugar daddy, she wouldn't spend years being a nobody. She only rose to fame in recent years.

Nina looked into the mirror. She thought those comments saying she was old and haggard were completely bullshit.

She had been strict with her skin and weight. Not one wrinkle could be found on her face. She also got a perfect body, neither too skinny nor plump.

Old and haggard?

They must be blind.

Nina didn't turn a hair against the hate comments. But having seen the comments, Emelia was indignant. She thought Nina quit the show simply because she didn't feel well.

Emetia agreed with Nina leaving the show. She cared for her health more than anyone else did.

Emelia was worried after hearing that Nina was kicked out of the show. She facetedimed Nina. "What's the matter with the show? I heard from Julian that you didn't voluntarily quit. You were replaced by someone else."

"That's true." Nina didn't hide this from her.

"What? Have you offended anyone?" Emelia was vexed.

Nina didn't answer her question directly. "Did Julian tell you who's the new sponsor of the show?" Emelia said, "No..."

"No?" Nina was stunned. "It's weird." she said thoughtfully.

"I suspect Julian is also on Cameron's side. He must know something about the relationship between Cameron and the new investor."

Julian was acting weird. If Cameron had nothing to do with Camcien, why didn't he tell Emelia about it? It was because he didn't want Emelia to associate Cameron with Camcien.

"What?" Emelia was confused.

"The investor is Camcien Lifetech."

"Camcien? Lifetech?" Emelia was smart enough to connect the dot. "it's unusual for a biotech company to invest in entertainment business. Does Cameron have anything to do with it?"

Cameron majored in biology. It was natural for Emelia to think of him.

"Yean. I'm doubtful. But I got no evidence."

"I'll ask Julian." Emelia said.

As a businessman, Julian had a lot of connections. He must have known about it. Or he could know it by simply asking around.

"Don't ask him. If he wanted to talk, he would have told you. He meant to hold out on you. You won't get anything useful from him." Nina said.

"If he doesn't tell me, I'm going to run away from home." "No way. Don't forget you are carrying two babies. I'll support you if you are not pregnant. But now? Forget it." Nina smiled

"You should let it go. I don't believe Cameron can cover it up forever." Nina wasn't so worried.

“I dan”t understand. If Cameron is the boss of Camcien, he should support you rather than kick you out.”

Then Nina told Emelia that Cameron’s parents confronted her and she broke with Cameron again. Nina didn’t want Emelia to know about this.

Though Nina spoke in an upbeat tone, Emelia could see in her eyes that she was upset. She felt sorry for her.

Nina pretended to be okay after receiving the check from Colleen Donovan. But she had been downhearted for quite a while.

“What’s wrang with Cameron? Last time he told me that he would convince his parents. They would no longer oppose your relationship. Why did they directly confront you?”

Last time Nina told her that it was a mess between her and Cameron. Then Cameron called Emelia in the middle of the night. He said he didn’t understand why Nina kept distancing herself. He knew she still loved him.

Emelia told him that the biggest obstacle was his parents.

Cameron promised that he would handle it properly. But it happened again.

Though Colleen gave Cameron a slap, Nina was humiliated indirectly. No wonder she was determined to break with him.

“Maybe we aren’t meant to be together.” Nina said ironically.

Having seen Emelia’s worried face, Nina said, “Don’t be worried. It means nothing to me. I can handle it.”

“And don’t worry about my health. I’m going to take a rest after filming this military drama.”

“For real?” Emelia didn’t believe it. Nina had long been a workaholic.

“Yes, I’ll take a rest. I always want to learn fashion design.” Nina smiled.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 590 Stew in His Own Juice

Nina knew she was a workaholic. Sometimes she felt exhausted and wanted to take a rest. But she knew that she couldn't stop, and she dared not to stop.

There was never a lack of pretty faces in entertainment business. If Nina took a rest, she would be eliminated from the industry.

There was no way that she could make a comeback.

So she needed to seize the opportunity and lay a solid foundation.

She planned to slow it down after 35 years old. Though she was under thirty now, she really wanted to take a rest.

Nina knew that deep down she was heart-broken.

Since she announced that she would totally break with Cameron, she felt distressed, even desperate.

The love for Cameron had been her spiritual handhold in the past years. Now she had been crushed by reality.

Though she kept on turning him down, she was happy at the bottom of her heart.

She loved him. She was just afraid to be with him due to her low self-esteem.

"I'll always support you. And I think you made a good decision. You got good sense. You can pull off all kinds of outfits. I think you can make a well-known designer in the future." Emelia said.

Nina smiled. "Wait, you lay it on thick. I start to walk on air." "Don't be humble. If you are not stylish, those big brands won't invite you to endorse them."

Nina always stood out when it comes to fashion and style. Because Nina had great fashion sense, she had already endorsed many brands before rising to fame.

She was invited by countless fashion brands after becoming famous. Nina would definitely cut a figure as a fashion designer.

Entertainment business was for young people. When Nina was older, her career wouldn't be as successful. It would be great if Nina could set out on a new career.

So Emelia supported Nina's decision.

Having hung up, Nina received the call from Sherlyn.

"Guess what I've seen." Sherlyn said mysteriously.

"What?" Nina was not intrigued. She thought nothing could arouse her curiosity.

"I just saw Lucien in the underground parking. He was with a cute girl. Guess what they were talking about?" Nina rolled her eyes. "Don't keep me guessing. Go on."

"That girl was asking about Cameron. She seemed to be very familiar with Cameron."

Nina raised an eyebrow.

Familiar?

Well.

Sherlyn sneered. "I didn't expect that he was quite popular. First Michelle, then this girl."

"Why did you tell me this? I've broke with him. Do you want me to feel bad?" Nina sounded upset.

"No. I just want to spill the tea. You know, I can't tell someone else. Besides, nobody knows him."

"Why me? You aren't afraid that I may regret and make up with him again?"

"Wait, my fault, I'm sorry. Stay calm." Sherlyn hastened to apologize.

"Plus, you also have a lot of admirers. I just received a call from Douglas Cleveland. He said he was blocked by you. He didn't know why." She added.

"But I ignored him. Well done, Nina. He can't badger you this time." Sherlyn said.

“What? But I didn’t.” Nina was confused.

“Douglas said you did. He didn’t seem to be joking.” Sherlyn was also puzzled.

Nina checked it out. She couldn’t find Douglas’s name in the contacts.

Nina soon realized it must have been Cameron. He probably took her phone when she was resting in his penthouse.

Nina didn’t know whether to laugh or cry. He was so childish.

“It might be Cameron who blocked him.” Sherlyn also lost for words.

“Since he was blocked, it’s just about time to part ways.”

Nina disagreed. “I want to invite him to the film set. We can have dinner together.”

“What?” Sherlyn was flustered.

Nina sneered. “Cameron won’t let me join the show, because he is afraid that I might fall in love with someone else. Yes, he can kick me out of the show. But he can’t stop me from seeing someone else in reality.”

Sherlyn wanted to kick her ass in person. “You are so childish. Cameron got on your nerves, so you are going to retaliate by dating someone else?”

“I’m not childish,” Nina said, “Douglas was my back-up.”

Sherlyn was on the edge of a heart attack. She took several deep breaths.
Bullshit. Nina just wanted to irritate Cameron.

Insane.

Both of them were insane.

They had gone crazy for the so-called love.

Cameron coughed up a fortune and became the new sponsor so as to prevent Nina from seeing someone else. Nina would rather become the tabloid's headline to piss Cameron off.

Nina found it funny. "Why are you so nervous? I'm not going to do anything outrageous. We are just having dinner. I thought I could have male friends."

"Everyone knows he has feelings for you. Those paparazzi will instantly make up a love story for you!" "Let it be." Nina didn't mind. Sherlyn freaked out. She didn't want to carry on the conversation anymore.
What was in Cameron's mind?

Did he know Nina at all?

Nina was the rebellious type. If you told her not to do something, she would definitely do it. Having been kicked out, Nina was determined to act against his wish.

If Cameron didn't bother, Nina would ask to quit the dating show. Now Cameron had to stew in his own juice.