

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 601 To Cause a Misunderstanding

“What’s the favor?” “As long as I can, I will help you.” Michelle was about to cry and Nancy felt extremely sympathetic to her, and immediately assured her without hesitation.

Michelle then told Nancy about her plan. After she finished speaking, Michelle murmured, “This time I really have to take the risk.”

“It’s okay, it’s just a piece of cake for me to operate this kind of thing, don’t forget what I do for a living.” Nancy comforted her like this.

Michelle nodded lightly, “Well, you can wait at the door of Cameron’s house later.”

“Okay,” Nancy responded.

Then Michelle closed her eyes and took a deep breath, calming herself down in this way, to think carefully about what to do next.

No matter whether they have broken up or were back together, she can’t sit still and wait. She has to take the initiative to attack.

From her point of view, Nina is so fiery and she must be incapable of tolerating this kind of thing. If something happened between Cameron and her, Nina would definitely go mad.

After thinking for a long time, Michelle finally got up and walked out with the car keys.

When Cameron returned from the airport, he saw Michelle standing at the door of his villa from afar and he immediately frowned impatiently.

Originally, only he and Lucien knew where he lived, but after returning from Jamelaton this time, his parents asked him where he lived outside, so he told them about this place, Michelle must know it from his mother.

After parking the car in the parking lot, Cameron got out of the car with a blank expression.

But this time, before he could speak, Michelle spoke first. She didn't pretend to be bitter or weak, but said directly to Cameron, "I know it's not suitable for me to come to this place, but I have something to ask you."

"Okay." Cameron suppressed the disgust in his heart and said bluntly, "Let's talk here."

Michelle's words were exactly what he wanted. He had long wanted to make it clear and draw the line clearly to avoid her approaching in the future, and this was the last decency he'd save for Michelle and her parents.

"Talk here?" Michelle's eyes glinted with a trace of hurt and she couldn't believe it. She thought that Cameron would invite her to sit at home.

In that case, Nancy, who was hiding in the distance, would take a picture of her entering his house. Then she would find another excuse to stay inside for a while and Cameron would not be able to explain it clearly to Nina.

She didn't expect Cameron to be so hardhearted, asking her to talk outside... This was the hottest time in the afternoon. Had he ever considered that she might get sunstroke?

Cameron looked at Michelle's watery eyes and felt extremely annoyed. Maybe there's a magnetic field between people. He didn't like her so-called fragility at all.

He liked Nina's being straightforward and candid, tenacious and vigorous, like the sunflower. She would never be as fragile as Michelle and cry in the next second.

Nina's fragility was always hidden under her strong appearance, and she never took the initiative to tell others about her pain, but her forbearance made him feel more and more distressed for her in his heart.

Of course, some men liked Michelle's temperament and attitude, but he didn't like it at all.

He looked down at his watch impatiently, and urged her to say, "I still have something to do, and you were saying?"

Michelle's eyes turned red all of a sudden, and her emotions rose. She choked and shouted and questioned him, "Why am I inferior to Nina? You have to keep me from thousands of miles away like this?"

Cameron was already extremely annoyed, but when he heard Michelle compare herself to Nina, she immediately responded mockingly, "How can you compare yourself to her?"

Michelle was stunned by his words.

She had been a God's favored one since childhood, no matter her looks, temperament, or academic talents, plus she had a pair of parents who are both university professors, she had received countless compliments wherever she went, and she was held in all kinds of admiration wherever she went.

But now what Cameron meant was... She was not qualified to compare with Nina. She was so angry that tears streamed down her cheeks.

Cameron was even more annoyed.

It was as if he was bullying her. It was her tone and attitude that looked down on Nina and disrespected Nina.

Nina is his wife, he has to protect her for sure.

Michelle was obviously the one who picks up the trouble, why did she cry first.

He continued with a gloomy face, "I love her, so she is the best in the world in my heart. I don't like others comparing with her."

The implication was that Michelle was the one who did wrong and she should stop crying.

Michelle cried even more fiercely. Cameron completely overturned her previous impression of him. She didn't expect him to be so mean.

"I pursue you just like she did. Why did you give her a chance back then, but now you refuse to give me a chance?" Michelle cried and asked unwillingly.

“I just want to explain this matter.” Cameron solemnly clarified word by word, “It wasn’t me who gave her a chance, but a mutual love between us. She liked me, and I happened to like her. She took the initiative to confess that and I simply accepted her.”

“It’s not that she chased me. I liked her from the beginning.” When Cameron’s last words fell, Michelle was stunned on the spot. She couldn’t believe what she heard, Cameron actually said that he also liked Nina back then?

But Nina back then had nothing but beauty and was even bad at studying. Cameron, a top student in his grade all year round, what did he like about her?

“You, she...” She opened her mouth, unable to complete a sentence for a long time.

“I’ve said everything I need to say. I used to love her, I love her now, and I will only love her in the future. Don’t put your time on me in the future.”

“That’s it. Good-bye!” Cameron turned around and planned to go home after he left those words. He had finally finished what he had to say. In the future, he didn’t want to have any interaction with Michelle anymore and he felt annoyed when he looked at her.

However, what he didn’t expect was that he had just turned around and Michelle suddenly plunged over and hugged him.

He froze for a moment, and in the next second he quickly raised his hand to try to pull her away, but Michelle hugged him tightly.

Cameron was completely infuriated, and he almost threw her out with his hands.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 602 Confuse Truth and Falsehood

Michelle fell heavily to the ground, crying even louder.

She cried and shouted, “No, I’ll not submit to such treatment!” “I’m not willing to lose to her!”

“She’s not good enough for you at all!”

“Get lost!” Cameron roared unbearably.

He is not someone who gets angry easily, but what Michelle did today was completely beyond his limit of tolerance. He just remembered that she had hugged his waist just now and he wanted to rush home to take a shower and wash his clothes.

Not to mention that Michelle was still there and said that Nina was not good enough for him, even if Michelle scolded him so ugly, he would not care, but he can’t bear anyone to say bad words about Nina.

So he couldn’t help but swear at her.

Cameron then turned around and went home. He made it clear that he didn’t want to have anything to do with Michelle. Michelle fell to the ground, covered her face with her hands, and burst into tears.

There were tears of sadness and despair, and jealousy and anger. Nancy, who was hiding not far away, didn’t dare to show up to help her and comfort her, for fear that Cameron would see it upstairs.

Nancy had no choice but to quickly take out her phone and call Michelle. Michelle was heartbroken and then she was brought back to reality by the ringing of her phone. After realizing the call was from Nancy, she showed a painful look.

What she asked Nancy to do was to help her take a video of her entering Cameron’s house and staying for a long time, and then publish the video.

Then bystanders would know that Cameron has a relationship with her. Besides, it could make Nina mad. That would kill two birds with one stone.

But she never expected that Cameron wouldn’t even let her in, so she had no choice but to hug him tightly when he turned around, hoping that Nancy could take a picture or a video of this scene. Whatever it was to cause Nina trouble was okay.

As for why she had a painful expression, it was because she was rejected by Cameron and was thrown to the ground., which was seen by Nancy and she felt embarrassed.

In the past, she always felt that she was superior to Nancy, so when she was with her, she was quite genteel, but now...

Michelle closed her eyes in pain and struggled to get up from the ground to answer the phone, she burst into tears as soon as she opened her mouth, "Nancy..."

Now Michelle can only go down the road of sadfishing, hoping to win some sympathy from her, so that she will not laugh at her too much.

"I saw it all, you should leave here first." Nancy comforted her, "Let's meet later, and then we will discuss how to deal with this matter in detail."

"Okay." Michelle cried and walked to the car that was parked beside her.

"Does it hurt?" Nancy was concerned about her on the phone, "It's not convenient for me to show up to help you right now.
That Cameron is too mean."

Nancy's words saddened her more, she turned and said, "Talk to you soon. I'll drive."

Michelle didn't like to hear her words about Cameron, because it made her more miserable, so she simply ended the call and drove away from Cameron's residence.

Twenty minutes later, they met in Michelle's studio.

When Nancy entered, Michelle was biting her lip and struggling to apply medicine to her elbow. When Cameron threw her out just now, she fell to the ground and the tender skin on her elbow was broken.

In order to draw Cameron's attention, she deliberately wore a very beautiful white dress. She heard that Cameron liked Nina to wear white dresses in the past, but Nina was perverse and arrogant, and she liked those avant-garde clothes the most. A white dress was definitely not her thing.

But she heard that Nina also changed her preferences for him, and obediently wore the white dress he liked. It was a surprise to know that Nina had compromised for him.

Nancy walked over with a sigh and said, "I'll help you." "Thank you." Michelle choked up as soon as she opened her mouth.

Nancy took the cotton swab to help her disinfect and asked, "Do you still want to carry out your original plan?"

She meant that they had already made troubles like this and they should stop making more trouble and she should stop chasing Cameron. Isn't that humiliating themselves?

Nancy thought a girl like Michelle has always been a God's favored one that ordinary girls like them look up to. She is very good. Why does she have to make herself so miserable for a man? There are so many young and great men waiting for her to choose, right?

Michelle pursed her lips and said, "I'll take a look at what you photographed later and then we'll talk about it."

Michelle didn't make it clear that she didn't want to give up. In fact, she was determined and she would continue to do it no matter what,

Their relationship had already been like this. If she didn't make it difficult for him and Nina, she won't be satisfied.

The indifference and even the humiliation that Cameron brought to her, she was gonna get back at him ruthlessly.

After dealing with the arm injury, they looked at the photos in the camera together.

In the end, Michelle made a decision, "This shot is very good. You can edit this and send it out, just before the opening of my art exhibition."

Michelle's art exhibition was about to start. The media company where Nancy works gave her an exclusive interview, in which she was introduced in detail about how outstanding she was from a young age and how she became a well-known painter.

When this exclusive interview was published before, Michelle attracted some fans with her outstanding temperament and appearance and her paintings. If the ambiguous relationship between her and Cameron was revealed at this moment, it would definitely create a hot topic among the public. At that time, she could watch how uncomfortable Cameron and Nina were.

Nancy's expression was a little serious, "Michelle, are you sure you really want to do this?"

She was unwilling to Michelle's decision. The photo that Michelle chose was a cut from the video she took. It was the scene where she hugged Cameron from behind.

Because Cameron's face was not photographed, naturally no one could see his angry expression, so from the point of view of a bystander who didn't know the details, this photo looked very ambiguous. A painter was hugging a handsome and elegant man from behind, which was very beautiful just by a glance.

While Nancy, as the person who knew the details, thought that it was rather unethical to confuse the truth and falsehood like this. | |

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 603 Why Should They Insist

As a good friend, although Nancy will support Michelle's decisions no matter what, she still felt that it was not worth it for her.

Michelle used to be a good girl but she became a girl who has no bottom line just for a man, which was too heartbreaking.

Just hearing her slightly dissenting words, Michelle's eyes were filled with tears immediately, she held Nancy's hand and said sadly, "Nancy, you don't want to help me now?"

Nancy denied quickly, " No, I just don't think it's worth it for you."

Michelle wiped away her tears and gritted her teeth and said, "I know it's not worth it, but I just can't let it go. He humiliated me so badly, shouldn't I fight back?"

As Michelle spoke, she showed the wound on her elbow. Nancy's attention was drawn to the fact that she was being humiliated and bullied and she completely forgot the reason why Michelle ended up like this was her own obsession.

So Nancy immediately said, "Since you have decided to do this, then I will support you. Don't worry, I will edit this news and send it out when I go back."

"Well, thank you." Michelle smiled.

She got up and walked to the side, took an exquisite packaging box, and handed it to her, "Didn't you send a Moment a few days ago that you liked this bag? I asked a friend to buy it from abroad and give it to you as a present."

Nancy smiled at the first sight of the bag and when she heard her words, she couldn't hide the smile and said, "Oh, this is too precious, I can't take it."

Michelle insisted on giving it to her, "You've been busy for me and I have always felt bad about it. Please take it."

"Well, thank you." Nancy took the bag from her hand.

This is the bag that she has been wanting for a long time, but she cannot afford it. To tell the truth, she was not willing to spend so much money to buy such a luxurious bag.

Nancy accepted the gift and she immediately became more motivated, "Since you have decided to do this, I'll go back and edit the photos quickly."

Michelle nodded, "Okay, thank you." After sending away the elated Nancy, the smile on her face disappeared instantly.

How could she feel nothing after giving such an expensive bag away?

But she also knew that Nancy as someone working for the media could help her a lot, so she had to maintain their friendship, and she knew that Nancy was especially fond of taking advantage. She could unabashedly say that Nancy wanted to be her friend because that she can give her some small benefits from time to time and satisfy her vanity.

Nancy is not from a wealthy family, and she and her boyfriend have just bought a house in Riverside City, and they have to pay a high mortgage every month, which makes them even more financially strapped. Some cosmetics and treats were enough for her.

This time, because she was going to use her to do such a big thing, she bought this bag for her at a great cost, and now it was all up to her.

But she didn't just have this single plan. Thinking of this, she took out another phone from the drawer, made a call, and asked in a cold voice, "Why is Dominic Sanchez not going to Randall and Colleen to make more trouble?"

The tone of the person on the other end was very embarrassed, "Dominic has been caught in a mess recently and he even couldn't manage himself. How could he still have the energy to make trouble with them?"

Michelle asked impatiently, "What happened to him?"

The man said, "He has a mistress, you know? Somehow, his wife knew about it and she made trouble with him every day, and then the mistress was even more troublesome.

She was forcing him to divorce and marry her. There was a time when two women fought in the street. So he simply hid for the past few days and no one saw him ever."

"I can't even get in touch with him!" The man was also very angry when he talked about it. "He took our money while didn't finish the work. I was also very anxious and angry."

"How could this happen?" Michelle was extremely annoyed, "Isn't that woman hiding well? How can she still cause such big trouble?"

The man said helplessly, "Who knows, after all, the truth will out in the end. And these scandals will be exposed sooner or later."

Michelle walked back and forth in her studio several times. How could this happen? The more she needed him and the others to make trouble, the more things went wrong.

But the person on the other side of the phone couldn't get in touch with Dominic and it was even more impossible for her to contact him, so she had to say, "You go and find out how his wife knew about this. I had a bad feeling. Why now?"

“Okay, I’ll check.” The man responded, but then said, “But the cost of checking these things, well...”

Michelle suppressed the disgust in her tone and said, “I’ll transfer the money to you later.”

The man on the other side hung up the phone with satisfaction. Michelle gritted her teeth and transferred the money to the man.

In order to maintain her reputation, she couldn’t come forward to do these things, she could only spend money to find someone to do it. That man held a grudge against Nina, so he was naturally willing to make trouble for Nina only if being paid well.

After Cameron went home, the first thing he did was toss his clothes into the washing machine. Then he went to the bathroom and take a shower completely, which made him feel less uncomfortable.

Maybe it was because they love each other, so he didn’t understand people like Melanie or Michelle who are obsessive to him. His attitude towards them was pretty obvious from the beginning.

Some people may say that he has been forcing Nina some time ago, which was because he knew that Nina still loves him, but she couldn’t accept him for some reason, so he tried to create conditions for them to be back together.

This is completely different from Melanie or Michelle’s forces, which annoyed Cameron so bad.

After coming out of the bathroom, he changed his clothes, and simply drove straight to the experimental factory in the suburbs. He knew that Melanie would stay in Camcien Lifetech and wait for him. He should just go to the factory, where he could concentrate on experiments and research.

However, Nina had not landed yet and he kept worrying.

He didn’t know what other people were thinking, he only knew that he was very insecure, especially because Nina was always flying around. Every time she took a plane, he was always worried, for fear of any aviation accident, although the chances of an accident were slim. II

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 604

Michelle's New Boyfriend

Cameron went to the laboratory directly after he got back to the factory in the suburb to dispel his anxiety. When he finished his work and got out, he received a message from Nina, "I've arrived."

Cameron finally heaved a sigh of relief and gave her a video call. Nina had just sat in the car prepared by Sylvia. She didn't expect he would call her.

She wanted to hang it up. But as she thought of how sad his face looked like when they parted with each other, she finally answered the call. She said lowly, "What's up?"

Cameron said instantly, "I miss you."

Then he heard a woman giggle on the other side. It was Sylvia's voice. It must be Sylvie who picked Nina up at the airport.

Nina rolled her eyes at him and said, "Noted. Bye"

Cameron didn't want to have a long talk with Nina. He just wanted to see her land safely. So he agreed to hang up as well.

But before he hung the phone up, he was stopped by Nina, "Wait a second."

Cameron was quite confused, "What?"

Nina looked at him closely and squinted, "Why are you in white coat?"

Nina tried her best to suppress her impulse to exclaim in delight right now. Cameron looked so handsome in his white coat. Nina just liked her man to be in uniform or white coat.

But she remained quite calm as how she appeared to be to Cameron these days. And she didn't want to show how obsessed she was with him in the presence of Sylvie and the driver.

Cameron answered honestly, "I have just finished my work in the lab."

He hadn't told Nina about his relationship with Camcien Lifetech and Nina hadn't known much about the nature of his work.

That's why she felt quite confused why he was in a white coat.

As a bioscience major, he needed to wear a white coat when doing research in his lab even though he was not a doctor.

Now Nina was already his wife so he didn't have to keep the truth from her. If she asked what kind of work he was doing in the lab, he would tell her.

But Nina didn't ask that question and raised her eyes to say, "You look good in your white coat."

Now she was totally enchanted by his handsomeness so she failed to realize what it meant for her husband to do some research in the lab at this moment.

Hearing this, Cameron smiled and said in a low voice, "Do you like it, Mrs. Dauster? I can wear it for you all the time." Before Nina could answer, her assistant coughed and asked loudly, "What? Mrs. Dauster?"

Her shout made Nina and Cameron come back to their real life. Nina said instantly, "What are you talking about? You must have misheard it. What Mrs. Dauster?"

Then Nina glared at the man on the screen and said, "Alright. Gotta go now." Then she hung up the phone quickly.

She hoped Sylvie didn't sense anything suspicious and report it to Sherlyn Lansdale. By no means did she want to let Sylvie or Sherlyn know she had secretly got married to Cameron.

Cameron rubbed his forehead embarrassedly as he was also charmed by the twinkling pretty eyes. He even said "Mrs. Dauster" in the presence of Sylvie!

He would lose his sanity the moment he saw Nina.

Sylvie asked immediately as Nina hung the phone up, "I misheard?"

Sylvie had just picked Nina up. She could tell from the expression on Nina's face that this time Nina must have contacted Cameron before she got back to Riverside City.

And the video call from Cameron proved that she was right.

But it had never occurred to Sylvie that Nina dared to get married with Cameron secretly. Now she thought she must have misheard it.

"Of course," Nina said with a calm face. As a famous actress, Nina was certainly a good liar.

Sylvie sighed, "Maybe that's because I didn't sleep well yesterday."

Nina patted her shoulder and said, "You can have a rest on the car."

Sylvie closed her eyes and was about to have a nap while Nina leaned back in the chair.

After a while, Sylvie suddenly heard Nina sneered beside her and she woke up and asked, "What happened? You're on twitter trend again?"

As the assistant of a famous actress, Sylvie was now very sensitive to any headlines in the entertainment circle.

Nina fixed her eyes on the screen and said, "Not me but someone else."

"Good," hearing this, Sylvie heaved a sigh of relief.

But she still moved closer to whisper to Nina, "Then who it is?"

She heard a sense of anger in her voice.

Nina snorted again and gave her phone to her.

Sylvie took Nina's phone and magnified the photo to look closer at the two in that photo. Then she asked confusedly, "Is that Michelle Byrd?"

Nina snorted, "Exactly."

Sylvie read out the headline word by word, "Famous artist Michelle Byrd exchanged hugs and kisses with her new boyfriend."

"How is that possible?" Sylvie couldn't believe it, "Mr. Dauster wouldn't have done that."

And there was a photo attached below the headline. In that photo Michelle held Cameron in arms from behind, which would make the public believe that they were in a relationship."

Nina repeated word by word, "Mr. Dauster wouldn't have done what?"

Sylvie said without hesitation, "He wouldn't have started another relationship. Remember how he wooed you? How is that possible that he would hug Michelle that way?"

He had just said he missed Nina on the phone.

"Maybe he is a good liar." Nina said while fixed her eyes beyond the window.

But she hadn't lost her sanity at this moment.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 605 Congratulations

Nina couldn't say that she didn't feel angry when she saw the photo because she did.

That was the man she had been deep in love with since she was a girl. No other woman could hug her boyfriend by his waist.

Now Nina even wanted to break Michelle's wrist.

And she could actually break her wrist, with her combat skills.

But then she quickly calmed down.

She would lose her sanity only when she was enchanted by Cameron. She was actually more sober and wiser than most people.

Firstly, she was pretty confident that Cameron would never betray her at this moment after they had secretly got married with each other. If he wasn't loyal to her, he could have cheated on her at any time during the past a few years.

Secondly, she knew it better than anyone else how Cameron detested those who made body contact with him unexpectedly.

When they were in high school, a girl had written a love letter to him. Cameron tried to refused her but the girl still wanted to stuff it into his hand. Inevitably, she had touched his hand. Later, he kept washing his hand for half an hour

After knowing this, Nina didn't dare to touch him. By then the physical contact between them was limited to taking a stroll together hand in hand or holding each other in arms. And she didn't know him much and was afraid that he would do the same to her if she touched him too often.

He then held her in arms tightly and whispered to her that she was the only girl that could touch him.

She was quite sure that if the expression on Cameron's face was captured, it must be a quite angry face.

And that's why the photo was taken from behind. Nina knew she must believe her husband.

Calm as she was, she still texted Cameron jealously, " It seemed to be very comfortable to hug you by the waist."

Then she put her phone back to her purse. But Sylvie looked still quite nervous and she defended Cameron, "Nina, are you really mad at him? I don't think Mr. Dauster would do that. He must have been used."

Nina looked back at her and raised her eyebrows, "Congratulations. You seem to be smarter. I also think he's been used." "Really?" Sylvie saw the seriousness on her face and heaved a sigh of relief in her mind.

Sylvie hoped Nina would become Mrs. Dauster in the end.

Nina said thoughtfully, "I thought Michelle is a decent girl. But now she seemed to be quite malicious."

Nina was quite sure that it was Michelle who was behind it. Otherwise, why would the paparazzi follow Cameron, who was not a celebrity, back to his home?

Michelle was indeed a famous artist now. It was natural for the paparazzi to follow her. It's definitely not a coincidence that she was caught hugging Cameron?

Michelle must have hired someone to take a photo of her hugging Cameron. As a famous actress, Nina knew it exactly that it was a common practice in the entertainment circle.

She knew that others in this circle would hire the paparazzi to take such misleading photos.

Sylvie said surprisedly, "So, it is all Michelle Byrd's plan?"

Nina nodded and Sylvie said contemptuously, "Cats hide their claws. I didn't expect the seemingly gentle and polite woman would play such a dirty trick."

Sylvie said smilingly, "It is because Mr. Dauster is too popular."

Nina sang out while shrugging, "He's beautiful, he's beautiful. It's true?"

Sylvie burst into laughter. Her boss was such a humorous and lovely woman that she felt she would fall in love with her if she were a man. Nina had a kind of charm that women like Michelle didn't have.

She didn't know why Michelle thought herself was a match for Nina.

Michelle couldn't be compared with Nina in terms of figure or looks and Nina was also of good personalities as she was so straight and outgoing. The only blemish in her life was her parents.

And her parents' issue could not affect Cameron's love for Nina. After all, he was gonna live with Nina, not with her parents.

It was stupid for Michelle to think she would be the winner in the end simply due to her prominent background.

When Cameron received the message, he felt quite confused.

He didn't check his twitter but he knew from Nina's words there was something wrong.

"It seemed to be very comfortable to hug you by the waist."

The word "waist" reminded Cameron of how Michelle hugged him from behind and he felt quite nervous.

Then he browsed through the news online, only to find that the photo of how Michelle hugged him had gone viral online.

Cameron felt quite disgusted as he saw the word "new boyfriend".

He knew what happened between Micheile and him. He was just wondering why how sick he felt when she hugged her wasn't captured by the paparazzi.

And now he received a call from his mother.

Cameron took a deep breath to calm down before he answered the call.

Colleen said happily on the phone, "You and Michelle have..."

Colleen wanted to ask whether they were in a relationship with each other. But she was interrupted by his son, "I won't forgive her!"

Colleen was scared a bit by the word he used.

She had just seen the photo online and thought they were now in a relationship with each other. So, she called them immediately.

And now why did he say he wouldn't forgive Michelle? Cameron continued, "I want you to know how malicious the woman is, the perfect and beautiful woman in your eyes."

"And please, mom, don't ever mentioned her name together with mine. And I still gat some work to do. Bye, mom," Cameron suppressed his impulse to curse Michelle in his mother's face. After all, he didn't want to make his mother disappointed.

He would say he wouldn't forgive Michelle because he knew instantly that it must be Michelle who was behind all these things.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 606 The Truth

It must be Michelle Byrd.

Apart from her, no other person knew the relationship between he and Nina so it couldn't be Nina's other enemies.

And his rivals in business or the academic fields wouldn't have bothered with Cameron's private life or have hired someone to take such a malicious photo.

The photo had caused some misunderstanding between he and Nina and Michelle was the only one who could benefit from it.

So, Cameron was quite sure that it was Michelle's plan and he was used by that woman. Now he knew why Michelle would hug him in such a sudden way.

He hated to be fooled or used. Now Michelle had finally provoked her. He must fight back, no matter how intimate her parents and his parents were.

But now he still needed to call Nina to explain.

Nina got back to her hotel and received a video call from Cameron. She raised her eyebrows and answered it.

Then she heard a low voice rising on the other side, "Don't believe that photo, Nina. I can explain."

Nina replied in a lazy voice, "I don't need your explanation."

Cameron fell into silence.

Nina then continued, "What? Did I scare you?"

Cameron fixed his eyes on her and said sadly, "Why? Why don't you need my explanation?"

She didn't trust him so she didn't need his explanation? Nina smiled as she saw the nervous expression on his face, "I don't need it because I trust you."

Cameron's deep eyes were lit up immediately. Now he felt much better. During the past a few minutes, he felt he had just taken an emotional roller-coaster.

But in the end, he still had no choice but to say, "You naughty girl."

He knew what she said were probably a joke but he still got deceived by her words as he was so nervous.

Despite the smile on her face, Cameron still said, "I know you trust me. But I still want to explain."

He must let his wife know what happened.

Nina said, "Well, then fire away."

Cameron then told Nina what Michelle had done. Nina was quite astonished as she knew the truth, "It's indeed a sinister trick."

Nina had suspect that it was all Michelle's plan. But when she heard what Michelle actually did, she still felt quite disgusted.

Cameron said with her eyebrows frowned, "Maybe my parents would get to Jamelaton also due to her plan."

Nina said quickly, "So, it was Michelle who urged my father to find your parents?"

Dominic Sanchez found Cameron's parents and said something terrible to them and that was why Cameron's parents would get to Jamelaton. Colleen even slapped her son.

Nina also felt it was quite weird by then. She knew there must be someone behind Dominic. But she didn't expect it was Michelle, the well-known gentlewoman.

Cameron nodded, "You're right."

“All those things have affected our relationship and also left a bad impression of you on my parents. If we break up in the end, she could benefit the most from it.” Cameron explained to Nina patiently.

Nina was stunned.

Then she murmured, “It’s really a big plan...”

What a malicious bitch Ms. Byrd was!

Cameron said with coldness written all over his face, “I’ll do some investigation on this. I will let Michelle Byrd pay for this!”

Cameron now felt quite angry as he mentioned Michelle’s name, so Nina chose to console him, “If she knew what she did had actually made us get married secretly, what would she feel?”

Cameron smiled as she said that and said, “So, you mean we should feel grateful for her?”

But he had to admit that Nina was right.

If Michelle didn’t get his parents to rush to Jamelaton and made Nina to say those cruel words to Cameron, he wouldn’t have got married with Nina secretly today.

Nina drunk a mouthful of water and said, “No, I didn’t mean it. I just want to tell her the truth to provoke her.”

Cameron said without hesitation, “Okay, I’ll handle this.”

Nina was adept at provoking other people. She hoped Michelle would be trickier than she appeared to be.

Then Nina continued, “Okay. I will have a rest now. So, goodbye, Cameron.”

Cameron also wanted to do his investigation on Michelle and hung up the phone.

Nina put her phone down and went to take a shower. She wanted to have a good rest.

She felt quite happy as she knew what Michelle did actually sort of drove her and Cameron to get married. She even thought that she would've missed her love forever.

Cameron then called Lucien Fowler and asked him to check the name of the company who reported the fake news. Lucien soon called him back and gave him Nancy Baldwin's name.

Lucien added, "It turns out that she is a friend of Michelle's. If you are right, she must have the whole video of how you refused Michelle."

Cameron was already on his way back to Riverside City. He said to Lucien, "I'll head to that company soon. You tell their manager that I'll have a talk with Nancy Baldwin. And don't let her know it."

Lucien replied, "Don't bother. I'll handle this. I didn't inform Nancy Baldwin. I'm afraid that she would have a talk with Michelle first."

"It is not a big company. I threatened the boss to purchase his company and he allowed me to do whatever I want. It was unlucky for the boss to have such a terrible employee. Her lie would ruin this company after the truth is revealed."

As a businessman, Lucien sighed as he felt the boss was such a pathetic man. I

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 607 Revenge

Cameron felt no sympathy for that media company. He also knew how those companies ran. They just attracted public attention for money with such sensational news.

As the boss, he employed a wrong person and he didn't make sure whether the article told the truth or not. He just asked for all those.

40 minutes later, Cameron arrived the company Nancy worked for and Nancy was called to her boss' office. Nancy had no idea why her boss would call her.

But as she entered the office and saw Cameron, who was sitting there with a sullen face, she almost lost her balance and fell onto the floor.

Cameron's thin lips were pursed lightly into a smirk and that made Nancy's face turn pale instantly.

How could Cameron find her so soon?

But now she had no choice but to face him.

But as she stopped before Cameron, her boss threw a cup full of hot coffee on her and shouted, "You bitch!" It was indeed a bad day for Nancy. The cup fell on her directly and she screamed as her skin was scalded.

Cameron fixed his cold eyes on Nancy. Lucien also followed Cameron here and he quickly stopped Nancy's boss, "Calm down, please. You're assaulting him with intent."

Her boss shouted with a sullen face, "She has ruined my company. I even want to have her killed! I want tear her apart even if I would be sent to jail due to this."

The boss had just been possessed by the joy that the news had brought much traffic for his company. But then Lucien found him and told him that the news was faked by Nancy and the photo had hurt Cameron's reputation. He might be brought to court soon by Cameron and Lucien.

The boss knew who Lucien was. He had made himself a successful businessman as the boss of Camcien Lifetech. The company was important for the country and its people. The company was on its way to become a new giant in Riverside City.

Though he had no idea who Cameron was, he knew he was also an important figure as he could find Lucien to help him.

Now he was quite worried that his company would be ruined by Nancy's problem.

Nancy couldn't say a word. She just stood there with her hand covering her scalded arm.

Cameron said directly, "I don't want to talk much with you. Hand me the camera."

Nancy pretended to be unsuspecting, "What camera? I don't know what you are talking about. I got that photo from someone anonymous."

Nancy had planned how she should do now. She could say someone else should be responsible for this.

She then continued, "Someone sent that photo to my e-mail and I wrote an article based on that photo. How could I know what happened next?"

"Last chance for you, tell me the truth." Cameron didn't want to bother with the "anonymous person".

Nancy still got something to say but Lucien said smilingly first, "I heard your boyfriend had just been promoted to sales manager? I can let his boss fire him by a mere phone call. If he knows it is his girlfriend who makes him lose his job, how would he feel about his girlfriend?"

Lucien loved to say something malicious in a gentle way.

Hearing his words, Nancy collapsed onto the ground.

She didn't expect Cameron would know everything. And her boyfriend was her soft underbelly.

Nancy knew who Lucien was. She knew he wasn't exaggerating. He was just much more powerful than she and her boyfriend were.

Her boyfriend had undergone a lot before he became the sales manager. If he was fired because of her, she would be a life-long enemy for him ...

Tears welled up in Nancy's eyes and she instantly flinched and planned to take out her camera.

But things didn't end here. Lucien continued, "And I heard Michelle gave you a fake purse?"

Nancy turned to him in shock. She didn't expect Lucien to know that. But then her face turned sullen as she thought she had become a joke. She thought she could fool Lucien and Cameron. But actually, they knew everything.

Lucien smirked and handed her a piece of paper, on which there was the chat record between Michelle and the seller of the purse, "Sorry to inform you that the purse is fake. Here is the evidence."

Nancy clenched the piece of paper in hand tightly and she couldn't believe it. "Fake? Why would she humiliate me like this?" Nancy felt quite disappointed and then went mad.

She felt much grateful to Michelle when she received the purse. She had even written a quite moving article to mislead the public.

But she...

Nancy now knew how hypocritic and malignant Michelle was. She tore the paper apart and then stood up with bloodshot eyes, "I will give the camera to you. I can also tell you how she trapped me and used me to fool the public."

Lucien turned back to have a glimpse at Cameron and raised his eyebrows. They were both satisfied with what Nancy said.

Then Nancy took out the camera and Michelle got all the videos in it. How he shook off Michelle was also recorded in the camera. And he also recorded all the words said by Nancy. He hoped he could let her parents know what kind of person their daughter really was through those videos.

But Cameron still thought that the best revenge was to invite Michelle and her parents to dinner and then show the video to them directly.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 608 Something to Show You

Then Lucien and Cameron left with the evidence.

In the car park, Lucien leaned on his sports car and lit a cigarette, "Where is Nina? I think she would like to witness what had just happened."

He knew Cameron had secretly got married with Nina this morning. But he didn't know Nina had got back to the shooting site. He thought the Nina would stay with him all day long.

Cameron gave a cold glimpse at him and said, "She got back to the shooting site."

Cameron didn't want to mention that. But he had to tell him the truth as Lucien had asked him that.

Lucien said surprisedly with his eyes wide open, "She got back to the shooting site and left you behind?"

Then he added, "On such a special day?"

Before Cameron could say anything, Lucien burst out laughing and his laughter kept echoing in this underground car park.

Cameron instantly got on his car with a sullen face. Then he drove his car away.

Lucien was still laughing.

It was exactly what Nina would do. She might be the only woman in this world who would get back to work right after secretly getting married with her boyfriend.

But it was just too funny for Lucien.

And Lucien loved to see how embarrassed Cameron when he mentioned this. Cameron was capable to get whatever he wanted easily. Maybe Nina was the only one who could create some trouble for him.

Cameron got back to his home and saved the video in Nancy's camera on his phone as evidence. Then he called his mother.

He told his mother to invite Michelle and her parents to dinner at his home. And he also said that he would come.

Now Michelle didn't know the talk between Cameron and Nancy. She thought he would invite her to dinner only to deal with the photo problem. But in fact, what Cameron would do at the dinner was to reveal what kind of person Michelle really was.

Colleen had no idea what Cameron was gonna do. But she knew Cameron had said that he wouldn't forgive Michelle. So, she said worriedly, "What will do at the dinner, Cameron?"

"Don't bother, mom," Cameron didn't tell her the truth, "I just want to have a talk with them." "Good," Colleen had known she couldn't let her son marry Michelle. Cameron had shown how he loathed Michelle.

Cameron didn't know what Michelle had done to irritate Cameron. She still considered Michelle as her daughter even if she couldn't win Cameron's heart.

Michelle and her parents arrived on time and Cameron was the last one who arrived. Michelle saw Cameron and said in an extremely soft voice, "Cameron..."

Cameron simply ignored her and walked into the dining room.

Michelle bit her lower lips and felt a bit hurt.

She had no idea why Cameron was so cold to her. She thought he would invite she and her parents to dinner because of the photo posted online and he just wanted to get along well with her.

Before they set about eating, Cameron said loudly, "Sorry, but before the dinner, I have something to show you." For Cameron, the dinner was only an excuse to gather those people here.

He didn't want Michelle to show up in front of him, let alone eating at the same table with her.

Hearing this, Michelle felt quite terrible.

She clenched her palms tightly below the table. She tried to remain calm. She didn't think Cameron had known the truth and Nancy didn't contact her for anything unusual today.

But she didn't know that Nancy was threatened by Cameron and Lucien. Nancy now even abominated Michelle as the purse Michelle gave her was fake.

It wasn't only about the purse. Nancy felt she was humiliated as she was fooled by Michelle with the fake purse. Now she only hoped Michelle to be ruined by Cameron.

Colleen Donovan and Randall Dauster remained silent but the parents of Michelle were quite confused.

But they chose to ask Cameron straightaway, "What do you want to show us? What happened?"

"You'll know it soon," Cameron said and took out his phone and connected it to the TV in the dining room.

Colleen and Randall installed a TV in their dining room so that the old couple could watch a movie or something as they had dinner together.

Then Nancy's face appeared on the screen.

Nancy said these words word by word, "Michelle Byrd asked me to do that. She knows Cameron hates her and she asked me to post the photo. She just wants to provoke Cameron Dauster and Nina Sanchez."

Cameron paused the video and all the people present had already felt quite astonished.

They looked at each other with their mouths wide open because they wouldn't believe what they had just heard, especially Colleen, in whose eyes Michelle was always a fair lady, a generous and gentle girl. But the girl on the screen told her that Michelle would take such a photo only to provoke Cameron and Nina...

Michelle's parents were also shocked by the video. They couldn't believe their daughter would do this. They couldn't help but get flushed as they saw the video.

"What are you doing, Cameron?" Michelle screamed and tried to seize his phone from him.

Cameron dodged her quickly. And before Michelle could get the phone, she was stopped by her father.

Her father held her in contral and said to Cameron, "Play it. I don't believe my daughter have done that. I want to see the whole video. If you cannot provide me with evidence, that would be slandering. And I won't allow you to do that to my daughter.": I I

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 609 The Hypocrite

It was natural for Mr. Byrd to say that. shocked as they were, they still chose to trust their daughter and try their best to defend their daughter.

But Michelle was getting more and more nervous. She knew she would be doomed if the video continued. What kind of person Soa, she quickly shouted, "No, don't play it anymore."

Then she turned to Cameron and exclaimed, "Why are you trying to slander me like this? How could you know that woman wasn't lying?"

Cameron ignored her and said in a lazy voice, "If you think I'm slandering you, then I will continue to play that video." Then he pressed the play button on his phone. Nancy disappeared and the whole recording of what Michelle did to Cameron before his house were shown on the screen.

Colleen now knew it clearly that Cameron was trying to refuse her but Michelle still ran over to him and hugged him. Then Cameron shook her off instantly.

As Cameron paused the video at where Cameron stormed back into his house angrily, Michelle's mother burst out crying.

Maybe she cried because her daughter was shaken off cruelly by Cameron or because she finally knew what her daughter had done.

Or, she cried because her daughter would lose her principle after she fell in love with Cameron.

Michelle also collapsed on her chair and she became depressed and angry.

How could Cameron do that to her?

Though she had played tricks on him, he can revenge on her in person. Why should he reveal the truth in her parents' face?

Colleen was unable to say anything. But she had understood what happened that night. Her son didn't show his love for Michelle. He even revealed the truth that it was Michelle who hired others to take that photo and gave it to the media.

Randall held Colleen in arms to comfort her before they both looked at Michelle.

Michelle's father trembled and then he stood up and pointed at his daughter, "Tell me, Michelle. What on earth is going on here? Why did you do this to Cameron?"

Tears trickled down Michelle's cheeks and she shouted while sobbing, "I also want to know what's going on. I haven't done anything. I did find Cameron and hug him. But I had no idea there was someone taking pictures of us. And I didn't know why this woman would tell lie to you."

"Nancy is a liar! She envies me. She has hired someone to take the picture and told you this terrible lie to ruin me." Now Michelle had no choice but to remain silent. She wouldn't confess. She must let them think Nancy was the culprit.

She wouldn't confess even if Nancy came here to testify.

Cameron sneered, "So, you mean Nancy wants to trap you? Then why did you give her a purse as gift? That's too ridiculous. You think she's gonna trap you and thus you send her a purse? Do you believe this story yourself?"

Michelle was stunned. She didn't expect Cameron to know the purse thing.

The change on her face proved that she did send a purse to Nancy.

Cameron then said slowly, "And I've known that the purse you gave Nancy was fake and I've made sure she learned about this as well."

In other words, now Nancy loathed Michelle so much that she told Cameron the whole story to ensure Michelle could be ruined.

Michelle almost felt into coma. She felt as if she were standing naked before her parents and Cameron's parents.

She knew Colleen preferred her so she thought she would win Nina, but now ...

Michelle thought today's nightmare had ended here. But Cameron still added, "It is also your plan to force my parents to come to Jamelaton from Sanya, right?"

Michelle trembled all over and looked at Cameron frightenedly.

Why could he know that in such a short period of time? She had ever expected Cameron to know her relationship with that private number.

"What?" Colleen stood up from her chair in shock and Randall's face also turned pale.

Randall could still remember how terrible he felt when he rushed to Jamelaton.

Firstly, Colleen and he were both in their declining years. They had spent a whole day in Sanya and then had to rush to Jamelaton. It was too physically demanding for them.

Secondly, Colleen slapped her son. It was the first time in her life. And his son even said he would commit suicide. It was a great mental shock to both Colleen and him.

If it was Michelle who was behind all those things, then she was indeed a cunning fox.

Randall shook his head disappointedly. He didn't expect such a decent parents would have such a malicious daughter.

They could also be considered as Michelle's parents. Now she had used them to break the relationship between Cameron and Nina. She didn't even care their feelings.

She just couldn't believe it.

Colleen couldn't stay calm anymore. She pounded the table and said to Cameron in rage, "Tell me, Cameron, what actually happened."

Colleen promised to herself that if it was Michelle who fooled Randall and her, she must tear Michelle apart right now.

For Colleen, she slapped her son during her trip to Jamelaton, and she regretted it so much. She had never slapped her son before. Now as she knew Michelle had indirectly caused her to slap Cameron, she hated Michelle so much.

Cameron said a telephone number and said to Michelle, "Could you please dial that number for me?" It was the number of the owner of the Facebook account. How dared Michelle call that number? Though she had never met that guy, they had talked on the phone for several times. He must recognize her voice instantly.

Cameron sneered, "Now what? If you dared not call that number, I will dial the number for you," Cameron said and took out his phone.

"No!" Michelle shouted subconsciously, which also proved Cameron was right. Hearing that, Michelle's parents almost fell into coma.

They had been friends with Colleen and Randall for decades. Their daughter even went as far as deceiving Colleen, how could they get along with the Dauster couple in the future?

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband - Chapter 610 Owing Nina an Apology

Cameron didn't call. But it didn't mean he had no evidence.

He took out a digital recorder, and said to Michelle, "You know well what kind of person Dominic is. Since he took your money to mess with my mother. He would also take someone else's money to speak the truth."

Certainly, Cameron didn't do it himself since Dominic knew him and would no doubt act against his wish.

It was Lucien. With a little bit of a bribe, Dominic told the truth. And according to the clues from Dominic, Lucien found that the account against Nina was supported by a woman.

Cameron didn't even need to think to know that it was Michelle.

Michelle stared at the digital recorder, trembling, and then she looked away. Making excuses wouldn't do now. Her pale and panicked face had given her away.

Cameron continued, "You knew that one of the reasons my parents don't like Nina was that his parents are disdainful people. So, you paid Dominic, asked him to provoke my parents."

"You gave him my mom's number, right?" Hearing this, Colleen was infuriated.

She was wondering who did Dominic get her number from. It turned out to be Michelle. "And you waited until my parents arrived at Sanya. And then they rushed to Jamelaton in fury. The exhaustion from the travel made things worse. My mom slapped me."

"If I were a less filial son, I would most likely resent my mother because of this slap. And then there would be grudges between us. Michelle, you are so vicious." Cameron's eyes were cold, "It would destroy not only my relationship with Nina but also the relationship between me and my parents. They have treated you very well since we were young, how can you hurt them like this?"

Cameron's tone was ice cold at the end of his words. Michelle slipped down from the chair weakly, hiding her face and crying bitterly. Colleen cried too, but out of anger.

Colleen pulled up the chair and walked over to Michelle, pointing at Michelle, her voice trembling, "You, you..." Perhaps because she was too desperate and angry, Colleen was speechless. Randall walked over and hugged her, gently comforting her, Colleen threw herself into Randall's arms and cried sadly, saying, "What a difference!"

"Nina never hurt Cameron. When we gave her the money and asked her to leave Cameron for his future, she agreed without hesitation."

"I thought she love money. But now it seems like she loves Cameron. She chose to sacrifice herself for Cameron to have a brighter future."

"She never dragged him down when they were together at school. In fact, she improved at study."

“She had been with Cameron after he came back from abroad this time yet she kept it a secret from cameras. She didn’t want people to bother Cameron, because he is not a celebrity.”

“That day in Jamelaton, when she saw me slap Cameron, she proposed to end the relationship. She didn’t want Cameron and me to argue. She always put Cameron’s feelings at priority.”

“What about you, Michelle?” Colleen became angrier as she spoke. “Cameron has nothing to do with you, yet you made up all these rumors. Now everybody is judging him. You knew he didn’t want attention. He just wanted to focus on his research.”

“You don’t love him. You love only yourself. You cared about only your desire. You are a selfish woman. You don’t deserve Cameron’s genuine love.”

In the end, Colleen roared at Michelle, accusing her of viciousness.

Then, Colleen said to Randall, sobbing, “I’m so regretful for having treated Nina unfairly. I should apologize to her.” “We will, but later. Now, don’t be angry for people who don’t worth it,” said Randall, holding Colleen in his arms.

Randall didn’t say anything mean to Michelle, but his words had fully displayed his contempt.

Upon hearing Randall’s words, Michelle’s father slapped Michelle, saying, “How did your mother and I teach you!”

He was furious and ashamed.

Michelle fell to the ground, covered her face with her hand, and cried in pain. Her mother burst into tears too, “Randall, Colleen, Cameron, we are so sorry. We didn’t teach our daughter well. We apologize. We promise that she would never show up in front of the Dauster family again.” Michelle’s father was a reasonable person. He apologized shamefully.

Cameron stood up, and said, “We accept your apology. But we have to make a clarification. I will release the full video and show people what happened after the hug, far my innocence and also for the respect for Nina.”

“Cameron.” Michelle’s father was anxious. “If you do that, Michelle’s reputation would be ruined. No one would marry her.” “And as her parents, how are we going to face people?” Thinking about the consequence once the truth was exposed, his voice trembled. They were already embarrassed to settle this thing in private. If it was exposed, they wouldn’t be able to stay in this city. Cameron was forcing them to leave.

“You guys cared only about your reputation. How about mine? Nina is the only woman I love. But now I am on the trending topic for such a rumor. I am described as a player, as a heartless person. Both my, and Nina’s reputation is affected.” Cameron said.

He then continued, “We’ll make our relationship public sooner or later. I won’t allow people to judge her by saying that his boyfriend was once messing around with another woman.”

“Yes, we have to make it public. Neither Nina nor Cameron should be judged for being irresponsible and immoral in a relationship.” Said Colleen, wiping her tears and nodding in agreement.

She didn’t know that Cameron and Nina had got married. But from now on, she accepted Nina as her daughter-in-law.

She was no longer opposed to Cameron and Nina’s relationship. Instead, she would help Cameron to make Nina his wife. 11 || 1d
