

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband

Chapter 61 An Emergency Meeting

‘Grandpa Hughes asked me to keep this a secret, but now I’m telling you. If you really didn’t pester her, she will have a very smooth blind date tomorrow. If you interfere, it means that you still love her.’ Ezra said seriously.

Julian looked disgusted. ‘What a ridiculous judgment!’

‘Ridiculous?’ Ezra spread out his hands. ‘I don’t think so. Look at me, I have no interest in Emelia at all, so I sincerely wish her a successful blind date tomorrow. What about you?’

Julian snorted, ‘The same, of course.’

Ezra gave him a thumbs-up and then proposed a toast.

Respect!

Respect for this man’s stubbornness.

The next morning, as soon as Emelia got up, he received a call from Grandpa Hughes.

He repeatedly reminded her on the phone that she must go to the appointment at noon.

Emelia didn’t have the heart to refuse his kindness and hurt his feelings, so she had to bite the bullet and agree.

When the time came, she would confess that she didn’t really want to fall in love.

At ten o'clock, Nina brought her personal make-up artist to the door. Emelia was busy writing her script and went to open the door in a slovenly look.

Nina sighed and pressed her back into the chair, 'My lady, aren't you going on a blind date at noon? It's already ten o'clock, slick up now! What are you waiting for?'

Emelia rubbed her sore neck and said, 'No need. Just show up clean and tidy, that's enough.'

And she did a light make-up.

Nina rested her hand on her forehead, speechless. She called the makeup artist over to do Amber's hair.

Emelia was a bit confused. 'Why are you so excited?'

Chapter 62 A Cringy Moment

'No! You don't want to!' Emelia pushed Nina's beautiful face away.

To her, Nina's face was the one which would drive many men crazy.

Nina giggled. After laughing, she began to complain about Julian, 'I really want to suggest Julian to check his eyes. Why refuse a woman like you who are both talented and gorgeous, but accept Yvonne, a downright scheming bitch.'

Emelia looked calm as she said, 'Tastes differ. Love can't be forced.'

Nina sighed, 'Yeah yeah you sage.'

Emelia smiled. 'After experiencing a heartbreaking, I had no other choice.'

It was too painful. Who would dare try that unreachable love again?

Nina propped up her chin with one hand and said in a dejected voice, 'But why do I still miss him after experienced my heartbreaking?'

Emelia comforted her softly, 'You and I are different. You two really love each other, but you had to separate because of reality. And you made the decision for his future.'

'Julian doesn't love me. So I'm done thinking about it now, because it's useless.'

'But you, you still have a chance.'

Her words delighted Nina very much.

Emelia took out her phone and called Grandpa Hughes. She was sorry to tell him that she suddenly had a meeting and really couldn't go on the blind date.

Although Grandpa was very unwilling, he had to give up because he knew that Emelia's mind was occupied with work.

When Emelia and Nina arrived at Tymers, they met two people in the hall. A female screenwriter of Tymers and her assistant.

The screenwriter's pen name was Polaris. She had several years more of experience than Emelia.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband

Chapter 63 Isn't It Ridiculous?

Emelia didn't pay any attention to the ever-changing look on Julian's face. She didn't want to talk too much with him, so after greeting, she said, 'I'm leaving.'

She only regarded Julian and Maisie as the most ordinary partners.

After Emelia left, Nina stared at Julian and said, 'Mr. Hughes, didn't you hand over this project to Ms. Brennan? Why do you have to show up again and again?'

Maisie answered on behalf of Julian, 'The director has been changed this time. It's a serious matter, so Mr. Hughes came here to host the meeting.'

Nina chuckled and said, 'I'm afraid there are some people who have ulterior motives. Be careful, without fate, two people cannot be a couple even face to face.'

After finished speaking, Nina walked away in her high heels. Julian laughed with anger at Nina's words.

He still remembered that on the first day Emelia returned from abroad, they had met at Tymers. Back then, he had challenged Nina by saying that they were fated to meet after a long departure. He never thought that Nina retort him back today.

Nina's personality was one that wouldn't let others off easily. He didn't know how she managed to become good friends with someone like Emelia who was gentle and calm.

When Emelia entered the conference room, Viggo was already inside, looking down at the documents.

As a former superstar, Viggo was indeed good-looking. His handsome face could handle any camera angle, even the weird ones.

However, perhaps it was because that he used to be an actor, he looked more refined and affable than Julian.

After all, Julian came from a business family. He had been influenced by the business world since he was a child, so he looked fierce and aloof all the time.

Now, Emelia felt that it was more comfortable to look at an elegant man like Viggo. She didn't know why she insisted on loving someone like Julian, who looked so cold.

But, who hadn't been blinded by love when they were young?

It was not too late for her to return.

Seeing her enter, Viggo was stunned at first, and then he praised her in amazement, 'You are so beautiful today.'

'Thank you.' Emelia was a little embarrassed. After sitting down beside Viggo, she asked, 'Mr. Johansen, why did you suddenly decide to be the director of this show?'

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband

Chapter 64 Julian's Partner

The following content of the meeting was to discuss about the supporting actress who would play the first love of the Lord.

Nina had been observing the secret competition between Julian and Viggo. Then, she finally spoke.

She looked at Julian with her beautiful eyes and sighed, 'Oh, what a pity. Yvonne has retired. Otherwise, she will be the best candidate for the second female lead.'

Nina's words were pungent. Those who knew what Yvonne had done to Emelia could understand her meaning.

Some of the participants echoed Nina's words. 'That's right. Miss Sullivan is gentle and graceful. She could indeed play the girl that the Lord loves dearly.'

The man praised Yvonne sincerely. After all, everyone knew that she was going to marry into Julian.

However, the praise was extremely ironic for those who knew the whole story, especially Julian.

He looked at Emelia again with his tense eyes and said, 'Let the screenwriter tell us whether Yvonne is suitable.'

Emelia felt that Julian was insane. How could he ask her to comment on Yvonne?

Did he do it on purpose? He deliberately wanted to use this to make things difficult for her.

She smiled politely and said, 'I don't know much about Miss Sullivan. Miss Sullivan is Mr. Hughe's partner and Mr. Hughes has the most say.'

She had thought that after she said that, Julian would just let it go.

Unexpectedly, he looked at her and said slowly, 'That's not true. I don't know much about my ex-partner.'

Everyone knew that Julian had a marriage before, but no one knew that his ex-wife was Emelia.

Emelia didn't expect that Julian would suddenly mention their marriage in public. Although no one else knew about it, she immediately got nervous.

Moreover, Julian's words were full of sarcasm. She was quite irritated by that.

Because of the anger in her heart, she looked into Julian's eyes and smiled gently. 'If you do care, you wouldn't be like a total stranger to her after three years of marriage. Mr. Hughes must have been longing for someone else, so he didn't care about that ex-partner.'

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband

Chapter 65 Grandpa's Psychological Fight with Julian

Although Emelia didn't understand why Julian put on that long face, after he left, she felt that the entire world was bright again.

'Mr. Hughes' temper is...' Viggo shook his head and sighed. He didn't finish his words.

'He is rich.' Emelia commented without hesitation.

Viggo laughed and said, 'You've got a sharp tongue.'

Because he had power, he could look down on everything.

However, Julian did have outstanding ability. The Hughes Group had been developing at a rapid rate under his leadership these years.

HGH was just established by Julian at whim, and it rose to the top of the entertainment industry in Riverside City.

Therefore, Julian had the pride to look down on others.

However, if he still acted in that way, he would fail in affection.

Of course, if the woman he loved did not care about his uppity, he could also be happy.

At dinner time, Grandpa Hughes was about to eat when he heard a sound of engine outside the door.

The housekeeper looked out and said, 'It seems to be Julian.'

The corners of Grandpa Hughes' lips curled slightly, and then he snorted, 'He can't keep his cool. It doesn't look like him at all.'

The housekeeper smiled and said, 'It's all because of your plan.'

Grandpa Hughes smiled smugly. And then sat upright and waited for Julian to come in.

Julian regarded it as his home after entering the house. He washed his hands and sat down opposite his grandpa.

His grandpa didn't welcome him and said, 'It's not a weekend, why do you come here?'

Chapter 66 Emelia Is An Outsider

Before Julian could finish his dinner, he got a phone call from Heather.

After he answered the phone, he heard a sobbing of a woman on the other end of the phone. He could tell that it was Yvonne crying.

His mother said earnestly, 'Julian, I know everything about you and Yvonne.'

'Yvonne knows that she was wrong and Emelia is fine now. Why can't you forgive her this time?'

Heather's words 'Emelia is fine' made Julian angry. If it weren't for his own mother, he would have shouted at her.

However, there was already anger in his tone. 'What if someone didn't stand up for her and beat up the deputy director? What if she was timid and was bullied by the deputy director?'

'Mom, you should have a bottom line.'

Heather didn't expect Julian to be so strict. She was stunned by him.

Then she quickly said, 'Yes. It was indeed Yvonne's fault. She realizes her mistake and cries so hard that she's running out of breath.'

'By the way, Yvonne is a girl. How can you say something so harsh to her?'

Julian sneered. What harsh words did he say?

He was just asking Yvonne not to make a fuss about their relationship anymore. Was that harsh?

On the other end of the phone, Yvonne's cry became louder. Julian frowned slightly and kept the phone away from his ear.

Grandpa Hughes on the opposite side deliberately snorted heavily, showing his dislike for Julian and Heather.

Heather sighed, 'I'll make the decision today. Let's forget about this matter. You can have a meal with Yvonne and make up.'

'You two have been in love for so many years. That Emelia is an outsider after all.'

Heather said a lot, but Julian didn't reply to her at all. He never let go of Yvonne.

Chapter 67 What Was Your Relationship?

Since Nina and Emelia had invited her to dinner last time, Maisie wanted to invite her back.

That day, she called Emelia. As soon as the phone was connected, Maisie heard a violent knock on the door, accompanied by a man's exasperated roar.

Maisie was shocked and hurriedly asked Emelia, 'What had happened?'

Emelia's voice sounded calm. 'It's nothing. Someone was drunk and making a scene outside the corridor. Why are you here?'

'Are you free tonight? I want to invite you to dinner with Nina...' As soon as Maisie finished speaking, there was a heavy kick on the door again, which startled her.

'I'm sorry, Maisie. I'm busy today. Let's meet another day.' Emelia's voice trembled slightly, but she still replied to Maisie politely.

Maisie had to say, 'Okay, but is there really nothing wrong with you?'

‘Don’t worry. I’ll hang up first.’ Emelia replied and hung up the phone.

While hanging up the phone, Maisie heard the man’s voice again. ‘Emelia, open the door!’

Maisie’s intuition told her that something must have happened to Emelia.

She sat in her office and thought for long with a frown. Suddenly, she stood up in shock.

That man’s voice... If she guessed it correctly, it should be Talyor Jones, Emelia’ brother.

Maisie knew about the past of Emelia and Julian, so she naturally knew how unreliable Taylor Jones was.

It was said that before Emelia went abroad, she transferred all the money in one of her account to her brother Taylor and her father Oliver Jones in order to make a clean cut with them.

In addition, she didn’t dare tell them after her return, but she seemed to have heard from the phone that Taylor had gone to find Emelia.

Thinking of this, Maisie got up and hurried to Julian’s office. After knocking on the door and entering, she said anxiously, ‘Mr. Hughes, something may have happened to Emelia.’

‘What’s wrong with her?’ Julian put down his work and asked her with a frown.

Maisie said, ‘I just called her and heard someone kicking her door. That person may be... Taylor Jones.’

Hearing the name Taylor Jones, Julian immediately stood up from his seat.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband

Chapter 68 Suddenly Fainted

‘What the hell are you excited about?’ Taylor said casually, ‘Although you have divorced, but he has come here today, it means that there is something fishy between you.’

‘Emelia, are you trying to get rid of me and my father and deliberately pretend to divorce Julian?’

Emelia trembled with anger at Taylor’s words. She wanted to say something several times, but she couldn’t because she was too angry.

One second ago, she was thinking about not letting outsiders know about these things, but the next second, Taylor blew up her own self-detonation.

Now, all the policemen present knew about all the things.

Julian walked over from behind her, raised his hand, and pulled her back a step, saying, ‘Why bother arguing with him?’

Originally, he had wanted to pull Emelia away from him, but as soon as he touched her arm, he immediately felt her trembling violently.

He pursed his lips and took the opportunity to slide down his slender fingers to grab hold of her cold and trembling hands directly.

Taylor immediately noticed his actions and laughed smugly.

He looked around at the two policemen and said arrogantly, ‘Did you see that? Mr. Hughes is my brother-in-law. Let me go, let me go.’

‘Taylor!’ Emelia was so angry that he roared out again.

She knew that her brother was shameless, but she didn’t expect him to be that way!

Now that things had turned out this way, he was still able to put on airs with Julian’ prestige.

Taylor signaled with his eyes that Julian was holding her hand. He said ambiguously, ‘Why don’t you admit that you faked a divorce. You two hold hands so intimately?’

Emelia hurriedly lowered his eyes. Only now did she realize that her hand was being held by Julian.

She struggled out with a pale face. Just now, she was about to faint from anger by Taylor, so she didn’t notice that Julian was holding her hand.

The two policemen did not compromise. They firmly held Taylor down and said in a business-like manner, ‘Sir, you are accused of trespassing. Please go to the police station with us.’

Taylor still wanted to say something, but Julian said directly to the two policemen, ‘Thanks for your help.’

Chapter 69 Words Could Make People Choke

After Emelia was sent to the hospital, the doctor gave her a series of examinations.

There was nothing serious about the final examination, but excessive fatigue.

In addition, she had low blood sugar, so she didn't drink water or eat anything for long, which caused her to faint.

Julian frowned and asked the doctor, 'What is low blood sugar? Is it serious?'

Last time, she was allergic to beef and mutton, but this time, she had low blood sugar. He had never known that there were so many things he didn't know about Emelia.

In the previous time, he only knew that his stomach was not good, so he naturally enjoyed her full care, but he didn't know that she actually needed to be taken care of.

Seeing that he was a little nervous, the doctor gave a relaxed answer. 'It's okay. Eat three meals a day on time. Obviously, she hasn't eaten well in her current situation.'

The doctor left after giving his instructions. Maisie took the initiative to say, 'Mr. Hughes, please stay here and wait for Emelia to wake up. I'll go buy her something to eat.'

Julian nodded, gently closed the ward door, and left.

Not long after Maisie left, Emelia woke up from the hospital bed.

As soon as she opened her eyes, she saw Julian sitting next to her bed.

Thinking back to the scene before he had fainted, and how she had been hugged at the waist by Julian, Emelia instinctively closed her eyes again.

Why was she still here?

She didn't want to face him at all.

Even if she fainted, and he sent her to the hospital, it was time for him to go after she was fine, wasn't it?

Seeing that Emelia had opened and closed her eyes again, Julian couldn't help but snort.

He had always felt that she was dull and boring, but he didn't expect her to be so cute.

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband

Chapter 70 Temporary Residence

'Why don't you stay with me for a few days and hide away first?' Maisie took the initiative to invite him.

'Maisie, thank you, but there's no need.' Emelia instinctively rejected Maisie's suggestion.

She was very grateful to Maisie, but Maisie was Julian's right-hand man. She didn't want to have anything to do with him.

Moreover, she also knew very well that she could not solve this problem easily.

Once Taylor and Oliver confirmed that she was back, they would definitely look for her endlessly.

Hearing that she had rejected Maisie, Julian turned around and looked at her unhappily.

Emelia avoided his gaze and lowered his head to continue eating.

However, Maisie asked her worriedly, 'What about you? Have you been harassed by them all the time?'

‘Do you want to go to Nina’s place?’ Maisie seemed to have seen through her thoughts. ‘Last time we ate together, didn’t Nina say that she was going out for filming recently?’

Emelia was speechless.

Maisie didn’t remind her. She had forgotten about it.

Nina had indeed gone out for filming. Before leaving, she sent her a WhatsApp message to inform her.

She had also warned Nina to take good care of herself, but because she had been in a daze from writing the script recently, she didn’t remember for a moment.

Since Nina wasn’t around, she couldn’t enter Nina’s home either.

Seeing that she didn’t speak, Julian ordered without hesitation, ‘Ask Maisie to go back with you to pack up later. You can stop her in a few days.’

Emelia was about to say something when he said with a gloomy face, ‘You don’t have to reject Maisie’s good intentions for me. She really treats you as a friend.’

After saying that, Julian walked away without looking back.

Maisie’s personality was extremely slow and warm, and she was also a little cold. She could not invite anyone to stay at home for a few days.