

There He Is Again, My Ex-Husband

Chapter 91 It's All Real

Everyone, including Taylor and Oliver, who knew their relation knew, knew that Julian wasn't good to Emelia, and he didn't love her.

But that didn't stop them from asking him for money. As long as he had the identity of Emelia's husband, they could do whatever they wanted.

They didn't care what they did would cause her to be embarrassed in front of Julian and even the Hughes Family. They didn't care what sort of life he had in the Hughes Family at all.

But they hadn't expected that this time, he would actually help Emelia.

Emelia's words made Oliver feel a little curious. He looked in front of him and said with a gloomy expression, 'Do you think that Julian... found that Emelia was pretty nice after the divorce?'

He paused for a moment and then burst out laughing unceremoniously. 'If that's the case, then Julian will become so regretted.'

When they were still together, he didn't like her at all. However, after they divorced, he felt that she was better. What a big slap in his face!

'Didn't he appear as well when we went to find Emelia last time we went to her house?' Taylor analyzed, 'He helped her again this time and invited Phil Henderson to show up. I don't believe that he doesn't like Taylor, his ex-wife.'

He felt that Oliver's analysis was very reasonable. He then excitedly stood up from the sofa and said, 'If that's the case, then let's send Taylor to his bed again. We'll definitely benefit from him.'

Oliver glared at him angrily. 'Why are you so short-sighted?'

Taylor asked eagerly, 'Then do you have any good ideas?'

Oliver said, 'If we really send her to Julian's bed, we'll definitely be able to profit from it this time. But we have to think of a way that can last for a long time.'

'First of all, we have to make sure that Julian has feelings for Emelia. If that's the case, then we have to be patient and mend their relationship. This way, in the future, when she gets along well with him, we'll be able to enjoy a happy life forever.'

Taylor clapped his hands. 'Dad, your idea is great!'

Emelia was just an episode. Even if they pestered her, how much money could she give them?

Chapter 92 Make Myself a Fool

Oliver and Taylor were finally carried out by two burly men. Even when Taylor told Julian a secret that he didn't know, they didn't get any good treatment at all.

The two burly men not only carried them out, but also followed them back to their residences, watching them pack up and send them away with their own eyes.

After Oliver and his son were taken away, Ezra then slowly walked into the box with his hands in the trousers pockets.

Sitting next to Julian, Ezra said cautiously, 'I really can't understand what you are thinking now. I heard that you asked Phil to send a lawyer's letter to the tweeter?'

Julian didn't speak. He sighed carefully and said, 'If you really like her, go after her.'

Ezra paused for a moment and added, 'No one around us ever wanted to get back with his ex-wife before, but you can be a precedent, right?'

Most of his words were like gloating over his misfortune, which made Julian roll his eyes at him.

However, Ezra's words were a bit too close to home for Julian. If he was really proactively chasing after Emelia, he would probably be laughed at bitterly by Ezra and the others, as well as those who knew about his past with her.

Back then, he didn't want Emelia to be his wife. When they divorced, he even felt more relieved...

Ezra asked again, 'Do you still think that she avoided you like this in order to play hard to get?'

Julian unceremoniously threw the pillow beside him onto his handsome face. He had to shut up!

Ezra was really touching the tender spot. When Emelia had just returned, he was sure that she still had feelings for him and that she was playing hard to get.

But now, there seemed to be something wrong with the judgment.

Ezra laughed so hard that he couldn't stand straight. After laughing, he said seriously, 'I feel that Emelia is really good. She was much better than that big star Yvonne in many ways.'

'And she is a talented little girl. She really has a way with words.'
Ezra said with a face full of envy, 'I saw the words she posted online. It's really captivating.'

Chapter 93 Keep Our Story in Your Heart

Maisie explained at the right time, 'Mr. Hughes, Emelia said that she wanted to avoid meeting you as much as possible because she didn't want to be targeted by Yvonne again.'

Hearing this, Julian looked even gloomier, but he had to admit that there was nothing wrong with herself.

He remembered what Taylor said last night that Emelia loved him and the words she had written on Facebook. Then a trace of annoyance flashed across his heart.

Where was her previous courage?

You used to be Mrs. Hughes, why were you afraid to meet with Yvonne now?

However, he only said, 'I see.'

When Maisie went out to work, Julian opened the box and saw the card that Emelia wrote to him.

He read the words and felt even unhappier and then threw the card into the trash can.

He was not interested in the pen and did not look at it at all. It was exactly the same pen as what he usually used.

However, he sent a message to Emelia: 'I got the pen, thank you.'

Emelia immediately replied: I hope you like it.

Julian snorted and continued to send a message, 'Do you know what a woman sends a man a pen means?'

Emelia was confused.

She just bought it casually.

Just as she was thinking, Julian sent another message: 'It means that we should keep our love stories in our hearts.'

Seeing these words, Emelia's hand trembled and her phone almost fell down.

No! She didn't think so!

She just wanted to express her gratitude.

Taking a deep breath, she quickly replied: 'Mr. Hughes, I really don't mean that. If I make you misunderstand, I apologize to you. Please don't take it seriously.'

Chapter 94 He Already Made up His Mind.

Julian had a meal with Randolph Sullivan in a high-end Japanese restaurant.

Randolph took a sip of sake and looked at Julian with a kind smile. He said, 'What have you been busy with recently? Yvonne tells me that you haven't seen each other for several days.'

Randolph didn't need to say all details, but he knew that Julian could understand him.

It was obvious that Randolph was very dissatisfied with Julian's indifferent attitude towards Yvonne. Otherwise, he would not meet with Julian today.

Julian understood what Randolph meant and hid his disgust.

'I'm busy every day.' He replied.

Randolph put down his cup and glanced at Julian. He said, 'That's good.'

'I will talk with Yvonne that you are a young man, and you should focus on your career at your age. Only when your career is successful can you have the ability to give your beloved woman a better life, right?'

Randolph sighed and said, 'But Yvonne is not young anymore. I only have one precious daughter. I hope she can get married earlier.'

Hearing that, Julian put down his fork and looked up at Randolph.

Randolph was a man of high reputation in Riverside City and worked in a foreign bank which was a leader in Riverside City's financial industry. He was regarded as the God of Wealth in many industries.

Moreover, Randolph had a significant meaning to the Hughes Family.

His father's extramarital affair once caused a huge stir. He heard that Randolph helped the Hughes Family to settle this matter.

But Julian didn't know the details.

At that time, he was seventeen or eighteen years old and studied abroad.

He only knew that his father wanted to divorce his mother for his lover. Later, his father had stayed abroad for a long time.

Chapter 95 How Audacious

It was Ezra who called him. In fact, it was he who asked Ezra to call him at the time they agreed in advance because he knew that he and Randolph would have an unpleasant conversation tonight.

Julian answered the phone, 'Thank you, Ezra.'

Ezra said lazily, 'It doesn't matter.'

Ezra continued to say, 'Randolph has a good relationship with Deputy Mayor Peterson, who is in charge of the cultural industry. I think that you will meet lots of difficulties in this industry in the future.'

After the production of all the film and television entertainment projects, they had to be approved. If Randolph wanted to make trouble to him, all the projects of HGH couldn't come into the market easily and timely.

Julian also thought of these things. While walking, he said with a cold face, 'The current Hughes Group is not the same as that of in charge of by my father, which needs to depend on some people and officials to survive.'

Grandpa Hughes, Gerhard and Julian were three-generation leaders of the Hughes Family, but Gerhard was the least competent.

Grandpa Hughes was clever and brave and had the ability to lead the Hughes Family, but Gerhard was weak in terms of leadership and decision-making ability.

Moreover, Gerhard was dissolute and had many lovers.

Because Gerhard wanted to divorce Heather, she couldn't stand it and made it public. In fact, Heather also knew that Gerhard had many lovers.

Therefore, when Gerhard took charge of the Hughes Group, he had to rope in some people in exchange for the Hughes Group's interests.

Julian was the most capable leader among them. He not only had his Grandpa Hughes' courage, but also had his own wisdom and strategy. In these years, the Hughes Group developed rapidly under his leadership.

So he said confidently, 'If Randolph wants to make trouble to me, I will destroy his backers and uproot them.'

Ezra exclaimed, 'Are you going to do something big?'

Julian said, 'I don't want to be manipulated by others.'

When Julian came out the restaurant, he glanced at Randolph's luxury car, and said, 'Riverside City should be the world of the young people.'

'You're right.' Ezra smiled happily, 'Those old guys should be eliminated.'

He hated those old guys very much who even wanted to intervene in others marriages.

Damn it!

Chapter 96 Marry to Julian

Julian didn't expect that Emelia wouldn't be at home. He thought that according to her personality, she would continue to write scripts at home after moving back.

Now that he had confirmed that she was not at home, he could only go downstairs and leave.

Emelia asked him 'What does he want her for'. He thought for a while and decided not to reply. Just pretend that he had not sent the previous message.

At this time, he also calmed down a little. He felt that he suddenly came to Emelia to eat a bowl of noodles she cooked. It was a little inappropriate, as if he missed her very much.

For a long time, Emelia hadn't received a reply from Julian. He let out a long sigh of relief in her heart.

Fortunately, he did not reply. Otherwise, she really did not know how to face him.

That night, Emelia, Nina and Maisie were having a good time gathering together, but Yvonne's situation had turned upside down.

Yvonne deliberately went back to her parents' house tonight just want to her parents give her an answer after they finished eating.

Yvonne was absent-minded throughout the whole process. Her mother, Rosalind Longman, persuaded her to eat something. 'You can't eat anything. You'll have to suffer in the end.'

Rosalind comforted her again, 'Your father will definitely be able to handle it.'

'Besides, no girl in Riverside City is more suitable for him than you.'

'There are deep relationships between you and our two families. Does he have any other choice?'

Although Rosalind's words comforted Yvonne, when she thought of Julian's indifference to her, she felt upset.

Also, she had never told anyone, including her mother, that there was no solid relationship between her and Julian.

In particular, in the past year, after Julian's divorce, they seemed to have had many scandals, but in fact, they had done nothing.

'Come on, drink some soup. I specially made it for beauty care.'
Rosalind handed her another bowl of soup, and Yvonne reluctantly took a sip.

Chapter 97 Stomachache

Yvonne made a scene in the living room. She fell to the ground powerlessly and continued to cry bitterly.

Her image and style of doing things had nothing to do with her dignity and generosity in the eyes of outsiders.

Rosalind also sat down on the ground and cried, 'Vonnie, isn't it just Julian? Don't say that! If anything happens to you, I can't live as well!'

Randolph was about to explode from the tears of the mother and daughter, so he had to compromise and said, 'Well, since you won't marry anyone except him, I will help you find a way.'

Only then did Yvonne slowly stop. Rosalind also wiped away her tears and got up to pull her daughter up from the floor.

Yvonne went back to her room in a daze. She covered her head and lay on the bed without saying a word.

The reason why she wanted to make such a scene was that she could feel that Randolph was really angry with Julian.

Randolph was not just saying that she was not allowed to marry Julian.

Yvonne knew her father very well. In most of the time, he would always insist on his word.

Therefore, she had no other way to make Randolph compromise except to make a fuss.

She was not willing to give up on Julian. Her mother was right. Looking around, no man in Riverside City could compare with him.

If it weren't for the fact that he was so glorious, she wouldn't have abandoned her foreign boyfriend and returned home to get close to him.

She had always known what she wanted. When she was young, she was in love. But after she was 25 years old, she began to plan for her marriage.

Marrying a man with power and wealth was her dream.

Especially a man like Julian, not only did he have wealth and power, but he also had an outstanding appearance, a perfect figure, and his unique charisma.

What made her even more unwilling was that she could never lose to Emelia.

Chapter 98 Ex-wife and Robbing the Cradle

Julian sneered and said, 'Stomachache?'

Her excuse was really poor.

Maisie explained on Emelia's behalf, 'Women really feel uncomfortable every few days. I don't think she's lying.'

Emelia's voice on the phone was indeed weak, and Maisie was also a woman. She knew very well how uncomfortable it was for a woman.

Emelia had a stomachache, while she had a headache.

Every time her period came on the first or second day, she would have a headache. She couldn't bear it without taking painkillers.

Julian frowned. Those days of a woman have every month?

Why didn't he know that Emelia had such a problem before?

Emelia had been with him for three years. Other than occasionally catching a cold, he had never heard of any discomfort from her.

Later, he thought that he had a lot of things he didn't know before, so he simply changed his words and said, 'Then ask Viggo to go with us.'

'Okay.' Maisie responded. When it came to Viggo, she quickly said, 'When we had dinner together last night, Emelia said... Mr. Johansen confessed to her.'

'What?' Julian thought that he had heard it wrong. 'A confession?'

Although he could see that Viggo's feelings for Emelia were not ordinary, he did not expect Viggo to really confess his love.

Maisie nodded. 'Emelia said that it was at the day when Oliver made trouble in Tymers.'

'Robbing the cradle. Doesn't he feel ashamed?' Julian gave Viggo a sharp tongue without hesitation.

Then he said with disgust, 'Don't call him. I'll go by myself.'

He was now annoyed when he thought of Viggo. Maybe he could still make a move after meeting him, so he'd better not meet him.

Chapter 99 A Bolt from the Blue

After Julian left, Marvin looked at Viggo in confusion and asked, 'Mr. Hughes, are you... denying your marriage with Yvonne?'

Viggo said with a sarcastic smile, 'Whether he admitted it or not, he missed the person he missed.'

How could Viggo not see that Julian had some residual feelings for Emelia, his ex-wife?

Back then, they divorced so resolved. Viggo had thought that he would never look at Emelia again for the rest of his life.

However, it was as if Julian was still holding on to his pride and arrogance, completely unaware that he was pestering Emelia.

In that case, he was willing...Julian would always be so stubborn.

Marvin laughed and said, 'Viggo, don't tell me you've fallen for the same woman as Mr. Hughes does?'

Obviously, the war between them was caused by a woman.

Viggo said with a smile, 'Let's have a good chat after I successfully catch up with him another day.'

Emelia had suffered enough recently, and Viggo didn't want to disturb her anymore.

Anyway, there would be a long way to go. Emelia was under his control, so he had plenty of opportunities to slowly approach her.

Viggo then chatted with Marvin about the script and contract. Marvin brought up his opinion of the script. Viggo wrote it down one by one, intending to convey it to Emelia.

Julian was in a bad mood all day. His father Gerhard called him two times abroad, and his mother Heather called him at least three times, but he didn't answer.

They must be looking for him because of Yvonne. He didn't want to talk to them.

In the evening, after a dinner party, he asked the driver to send him to Emelia's residence.

Didn't she say that she had a stomachache so that she couldn't get out of bed? As a partner, it was reasonable for him to visit a patient.

Chapter 100 Stumbled to Grow Up

Emelia and Viggo chatted about the script while eating. Emelia felt that Marvin's suggestion made sense.

As expected, he was someone at the level of the Best Actor. He was even more proficient in the creation of the plot and conflicts. Emelia felt that he had benefited greatly.

The content of script was almost finished, and the meal was about to be finished.

Viggo looked up at Emelia opposite him and suddenly said seriously, 'I want to ask you a question.'

Emelia didn't understand. 'What?'

Viggo said in a deep voice, 'Will you agree if Julian chases you again?'

'Impossible.' Emelia denied it without thinking. 'He can't pursue me.'

Julian hated her so much. Their divorce was a lifetime relief for him. Why would he still pursue her?

Emelia had never imagined that there would be such a possibility between her and Julian.

Viggo said, 'Then what do you think? He came to you tonight with a bunch of flowers?'

Emelia frowned and thought for a while, then gave an answer. 'Didn't you just say that Yvonne wants to play the role? I think he came to me to put in good words for Yvonne.'

Viggo was stunned, and then he laughed out loud again.

Based on Emelia's thoughts, even if he wanted to get her back, it definitely wouldn't be a simple matter.

This was because, at Emelia's side, it was completely impossible for her and Julian to be together.

Of course, this could only be blamed on Julian for hurting her too deeply in the past and she completely cutting off any possibility in her heart.

Emelia said word by word seriously, 'In the past, I was young and immature. I thought that love only needs to be sincere. Now I realize that a period of love needs two people to work hard.'
