

Once Rejected, Thrice Accepted

Read Chapter 93

Chapter 93

Playing chase with Huck was a treat after everything that had been happening in my life. Chance's wolf, Trigger, joined in with them teaming together to get me. Moonlight let them once or twice but most of the time made the work harder and harder each time. The men who were with us, including Duncan and Draco, almost busted a gut laughing at me kicking some a*s. It was only fair they had to chase us all the way back down to the pack. I just figured they needed some exercise.

Alpha Chance and Ryder went off to shift while I continued on to the pack house. I had a meeting with Britt, Sabine, and Dad to talk about the past and hopefully make a plan for the future. After that I scheduled in some alone time with Leo. He really wants to go camping and watched the stars together so I told the others it was happening. I am kinda of really excited.

"I thought you weren't going to make it." Britt whisper-shouted at me as she almost ran to me with a look of panic. "Sabine keeps giving me this intense stare and Dad doesn't know what to do with himself so he is making awkward conversation." I laughed. "Once I get me some food and the worlds biggest coffee I will join you over there, I promise."

She shook her head no. "I will get your coffee. Extra sweet with little coffee and lots of creamer. Got it." She turned and ran off before I could even answer. Well shit. I just had to hope she was going to remember what I wanted on my plate.

Dad was waving me over with a look of panic on his face that matched Britts just a minute earlier. I don't understand what is wrong with this family. I was the one with a rough childhood and had no reason to have social skills but these two take the cake. One old witch and they forgot how to make small conversation. Fine, I'll take the lead.

"Hey Sabine. Nice to see you away from a salt circle." I joked as I sat across from her patting my dad on the arm hoping it would work to calm his panic.

"I agree. I am glad you made it out of it ok." She bowed her head slightly. "How is your spirit wolf doing? Any issues between her and your physical wolf?"

"She is still sleeping and getting stronger. Moonlight has been watching over her." Britt returned with a tray overflowing with food and my coffee taking the seat on the other side of Jackson. "I think they will along fine, maybe too good. I argue with myself and Moonlight enough. Adding in a second opinion is gonna be rough."

"I agree. Sundance is very opinionated." She gave a nervous laugh and moved her hands into her lap. "Sorry if that is too much food. I couldn't remember what you like so I just got a bit of everything."

I laughed completely understanding how when your nerves take over you are practically useless on anything else. I had been there many times even recently. So I just pushed it to the middle of the table and told everyone to dig in. Dad didn't hesitate to try to take the loaded pizza but Sabine beat him to it. I liked her already.

"So... you want to hear some stories about your mother?" Sabine asked after demolishing the pizza slice in three bites.

"Yes!" Britt squeaked loudly before I could finish my food. I just had to nod in agreement.

"Brittany!" Jackson growled lowly giving her a warning to stop acting foolish. "Calm down, please."

Brittany rolled her eyes but nodded to please Dad. I was barely able to stop myself from saying something. It wasn't like she interrupted her or anything. She was just excited to hear about our mom since he doesn't tell us anything. I have barely heard one story from him about her and I had to force it out of him. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

"Well the first time I met her is when she saved my ass after a foolish decision." She shook her head with a small laugh. "My coven was right outside her packs property. My family told us the rules over and over about crossing the border and our immediate death but none of us really paid attention to anything they said. One night when I was about ten I was dared to cross the border and I never back down. One of the warriors, her brother, caught me and started to drag me up to the dungeons. I didn't have my full power then so my fighting and spells barely did anything but slow him down a bit. She came out of nowhere and knocked her brother in the back of the head with who knows what knocking him out. She then picked me up and carried me back to my side of the border. We never said anything even after she ran off but every night we started meeting at the border to talk and just hang out. I was the first to meet her wolf, Treasure, and she was magnificent."

I was in shock. My mother, who was already a hero for giving birth to two crazy girls, marrying my dad and moving to live with the royals, and putting up with crap parents, saved a girls booty after a shit dare and became besties with her. I couldn't wait to hear more about her.

"That is amazing." Britt exclaimed in excitement. "Did they ever figure out it was her?"

"Nope and that was a good thing." She shook her head. "She could beat him in human or wolf form anyways. This one time..."

She went on to tell us so many stories making me feel closer to her. Britts face showed me she had been wanting this for so long. Dad's tear covered face was the hardest to handle but he had grabbed my hand and squeezed. I knew then this was good for all of us.

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 94

Moonlight, it wouldn't kill you to let someone else win a race once. I sighed in annoyance. We don't know where we are going anyway! Fine but on the run home tomorrow the win is mine! She huffed as she slowed down putting us behind our special date for the night. 'Bonus look at those glutes, baby. Love that view but would prefer a view of his man meat instead. I rolled my eyes at her.

'How's Cinder doing? I can feel her presence but not a word from her. I pushed around trying my best to see if she would react to me poking around in her space within myself but nothing. She just laid there, asleep. She doesn't even snore. If you are not reading this book from the website: then you are reading a pirated version with incomplete content. Please visit and search the book title to read the entire book for free

Moonlight paused. I could feel her worry and concern.

Didn't help my stress level but nothing I could do about it.

Hopefully she would be better when the time came when we would need her to win or save that important someone's life.

'She is stronger than before. She is sleeping but her heartbeat is stronger and her breathing is more regular:' Moonlight almost ran into Leo's bt when he stopped suddenly. 'Doesn't he know we don't eat a*s?'

'Zip it, pervert. Geez, sometimes I wish I had a muzzle for her horny a*s.

Leo shifted back, turning toward us with a smirk. "I came earlier and set everything up. Tonight is a night to remember. I hope you're ready to scream," he stretched giving us a better view of mister happy. "Scream my name that is."

Moonlight shifted faster than I was ready for sending me stumbling into Leo once we were on two feet. "Damn, you said the right words for Moonlight. I am surprised she didn't shove you down and shift so I landed with you inside me."

He hugged me to him. "I wouldn't have minded that. Just feeling you against me, naked, soft... mmmm. If I didn't have things planned out to a T I would have you doggy style pounding into you hard and fast."

I dropped my head against his chest and groaned. "Teasing is not ok mister especially if we aren't fg first. So stop it and proceed with the telling of the plans."

He laughed turning us toward a big, open tent with a pallet of oversized blankets and tons of pillows. Beside it on one side was a bottle of wine with wine glasses and on another was a basket of goodies. From what I could tell it had handcuffs, flavored lube, and what looked like a vibrator.

"Someone has a side I never knew about." The blankets were even more comfortable as I crawled across them showing my a*s off to Leo. "Show me what you brought." SEARCH THE website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

"Someone is demanding tonight but I am in charge. So lay down and look up." Leo smacked my a*s plopping down beside me

I growled at him but listened. His surprise was a see through top to show us the stars. Holy st he was a sweet, dirty man and I was here for it.

"What do you think? I had a dream of you riding me with your head thrown back staring at the stars as you scream your release." He turned on his side staring down at me. "I even brought snacks to give us a bit more energy in between sessions."

"I am down. Let's go." I tried to turn toward him but he pushed me back down shaking his head no.

He kissed me soft and slow. He moved on to kiss my nose, forehead, and ear. "I am kissing every body part before! have my dessert. Your first and second orgasm are solo and for my mouth only. After that its free game."

He didn't let me speak before forcing his tongue in mine with a hand wondered down to pinch and pull my n*e changing between soft and hard pressure. I moaned as he threw his leg over mine rubbing his hard dk against my leg. The pressure of his leg against my slip had my humping his leg and my hands rubbing all over his body.

He kissed every body part as promised as he worked his way down putting my legs over his shoulders lifting my ass in the air with his hands as they squeezed my ass. He went full on caveman shoving his face into my slit searching for my clit. His arms braced against the bed kept me from trusting or moving around as the shock of pleasure rippled through me.

"Yes. Right there...Fuck..." I couldn't even complete sentences in my head.

He started making different noises in this throat sending even more vibrations throughout my body. That was the last straw that pushed me over the edge sending me flying into the stars above us. I screamed his name feeling his chuckle with my clit between his lips.

"Leo, I don't know where you learned to use your mouth like you do nor do I want to know but I am thankful for it."

He looked up at me with a smirk. "Good and it's all about practice." He went straight back to business sending my body into a tense spasm.

"I love you, Leo. I am so thankful for you, your love, your body, and right now your tongue." I shouted grabbing his hair and pulled him closer. "Now stay in the spot and send me to the stars. I need you inside me pronto."

I was serious. I needed him to fill me up with his dk before his come. I needed him to claim me. I needed to be his over and over tonight furthering our bond. I needed him more than I needed to breath in that moment. That is how I felt about all of them. I refused to lose any of them.

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Chapter 95

"Hey Sabine, I heard you and Dad were leaving tomorrow morning." I ran doing my best to catch up with her brisk jog.

Thad heard she was at training this morning and knew I had to ask for her help now rather than later. She had decided to take a jog in the woods after. I would rather be taking a dang nap.

"We are leaving at the same time but going different places. I repaid my debt." She stated matter of factly without even a hint of her being out of breath or working out. "Did you want to hear a few more stories about your mother?"

No...I mean yes but that wasn't why I came to find you." I was beginning to regret even thinking this would happen. "I came to ask a favor of you since you know more about magic and powers than anyone here."

She stopped dead in her tracks with me almost running her over. That was not the way to go if I wanted her to say yes to my favor. Good Job, Gemma. Already screwing it up.

"Bold of you to ask a favor after already having my help."

Her eyebrow lifted while crossing her arms already going on the defense. "Go ahead and ask. I make no promises to say yes." If you are not reading this book from the website: then you are reading a pirated version with incomplete content. Please visit and search the book title to read the entire book for free

Well that made me even more excited to speak. "I have learned I will have more than one power unlike all the Alpha females before me and I have found out a couple, but I don't know how to strengthen or even if I can. They just pop out when I need a miracle. I really to be able to use them when needed and I know you understand this stuff more than me. And-"

She held up a finger cutting me off. "That is something I can do." She pursed her lips looking around us. "Gather up about six members of the pack that you haven't interacted with very much or at all. Have them meet us here in about two hours. I have a few things I need to do to prep."

She turned and jogged away without even a glance backwards at me. I just stood there in shock not sure if I should follow here or question my life's decisions.

I think I might like her.' Moonlight smiled furthering making me question what the heck was going on. "Now let's find our mates and see who we haven't had much contact with. SEAR*ch the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

I nodded letting her take control and shifting. I carried my clothes in my mouth as we trotted back toward the pack house. The guys were in a meeting with my Dad and King Charles. He had called earlier this morning and wanted a chance to speak about the prisoners they had taken off our hands including the parents of the bh pack that jumped me and my sister in different bathrooms. I guess I should really call them the st*t pack or a*s pack but it didn't sound as good.

Think we have enough time to have a quickie with our mates?' Moonlight winked at me.

Just run faster horny bh. Let's focus on making us stronger that includes our powers and our concentration ability

She laughed but put more speed in our legs. I couldn't decide if it was because I told her too or because she wanted to try to hump our mates

'Hey sis. You gonna join us for training this afternoon?' Britt linked as we passed her and Cherry stretching with Olivia, Lindy, and Tiberius. 'We have missed you the past few days. Someone has been super busy with those annoying boy mates of yours!

I wish but I already trained this morning and now I am on the hunt for six unknown pack mates for a favor."

'What?' She sounded confused which I would be too if I had gotten that message from someone.

I will explain later. How about a girl's day tomorrow with the gang? Head into town and shop!

I cringed even thinking about it. Shopping? I have never been shopping. Even moving here, the guys got me clothes which worked for me.

That last part didn't sound too enthusiastic. I am down but not if you are only going to make us happy.

I explained my situation with the shopping thing which send her into a panic that she hadn't talked about my past and figured out what I needed to experience in life. She felt horrible and wouldn't listen to reason. I never had the urge to shop. The most I had done was buy books or oversized pillows

Britt, relax. We will go shopping with the girls and if I freak out and end up under a random table you can talk me out of it. I laughed.

'Don't joke about those things. And deal. I will tell the girls.

Have fun humping the trio.

'Zip it, wierdo!'

We made it back to the pack house shifting back behind a tree and getting dressed. Clothes were a little bit damp from our slobber but wasn't anything new.

"Mates of mine I have a favor." I shouted walking in the twins office and finding them taking turns playing basketball with their hoop on a door.

"You're lucky I love you. You made me miss my last shot I needed to beat these two punks." Lucas pouted slapping his lap for me to take a seat. "What is this favor, my beauty?"

I rolled my eyes taking his invitation for a seat. "Zip it. Now how about you find me six pack members who has some spare time today to help me out with some training."

"We are free." Leo smiled blowing me a kiss. "And I bet few of the girls would help out."

"I know and that means a lot. Sabine said I need six adult members I haven't interacted with much or at all. Got any ideas?"

Duncan smiled. "Actually, I do. We have some families who prefer to be left alone but still live on the edge of the pack lands. They help with guard duty and the gardens. I will ask a few for help. First tell us what all she said."

I nodded and went on to tell them the awkward conversation and the girls day tomorrow full of shopping and fatty food. I loved having their attention making me feel like I was the most important person in the world like they were to me.

Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.