

Thrive 16

Chapter 16 Irrigation

The rolling pin was as thick as a child's arm, and Widow Wang exerted all her strength. If she really hit it, even if Yun Chang was lucky, she would lose half her life.

Yunshang's pupils shrank suddenly, instead of retreating, she advanced, slammed into Widow Wang's arms, and avoided the stick. Before Widow Wang could react, she used all her strength to hug Widow Wang's leg. As soon as the ground was pushed, Widow Wang was thrown to the ground by her.

Probably did not expect that Yun Chang would suddenly counterattack, and Widow Wang was stunned, sitting on the ground for a while before she could react.

"You goddamn little bastard! You dare to fight back! You dare to throw me! Shameless star! Little bastard! I should have drowned you a long time ago! Let the fish eat your bones! Why don't you die outside, You black-hearted thing is trying to kill me?"

Widow Wang's voice was sharp and sharp, making Yun Chang's ears buzzing, so she couldn't help reaching out to cover her ears.

And her actions made Widow Wang's eyes red with anger.

Yi Gulu got up from the ground and closed the door, turned around, picked up the rolling pin and continued to rush towards Yun Chang.

Seeing this, Yun Chang didn't know that Widow Wang really wanted to kill her.

Although before returning, Yun Chang had already made up his mind to clean up the widow Wang, and in front of Gu Shinian, he said with certainty that he would cut off the widow Wang's tongue.

But when Yun Chang really faced Widow Wang, the deep-rooted education of the rule of law society in the previous life, as well as the softness in her bones, made Yun Chang's nervous hands and feet soften, and she couldn't stop thinking about attacking Widow Wang for a long time.

At this moment, the widow Wang was like closing the door and beating a dog. She closed the door and wanted to kill her in the room. Yun Chang had no way to retreat.

At this time, the rolling pin that Widow Wang lifted was about to fall, and Yun Chang didn't have time to think about it, and quickly put Widow Wang into the space.

Sometimes people's evil thoughts are like the seeds of weeds, which cannot sprout when thrown on dry land, but water them with water, and the weeds can take root and sprout with astonishing vitality, and take root firmly in people's minds. in desire.

Once bad things start, it's like opening Pandora's Box, and it's not so difficult to accept when you start again.

Yun Chang followed into the space and looked at the widow Wang who was holding the rolling pin high and stood there motionless. There was a faint feeling in her mind, as if she could completely command the widow Wang in the space.

With this idea, Yun Chang immediately gave an order to Widow Wang in his mind, only to see Widow Wang's eyes flickering, with a look of resistance and hesitation in her eyes, but in the end she couldn't control her body, and Chao Yunshang, who was stiff and stiff. go.

Yun Chang was also afraid in her heart.

Although she is the one who controls people, it is still too weird to see a big living person being controlled by her like a puppet.

She stared blankly at Widow Wang for a long time, clearly seeing the resistance and struggle in her eyes, the mad and stubborn hatred in her eyes, and the fear and daze in the face of a strange environment.

The space was silent and there was no wind, but the grass on the ground shook the tender buds and leaves slightly, as if it had spirituality and was greeting Yunshang.

The spring's eyes were silently spitting blisters, and the green dill beside it was a full circle bigger than before under the moisturization of the spring water.

Yun Chang suddenly took a few steps back, squatted down, picked up the spring water and poured it on his face a few times, forcing himself to calm down, then got up and gave Widow Wang a deep look, then turned and ran towards the pharmacy.

After a while, Yun Chang ran over dragging a big bag full of pills, and went out of the space again. She put in the large frozen water tank at home, smashed the thin ice ball with a water ladle, and pried open Widow Wang's mouth. He poured a spoonful of the pills into her mouth with ice water.

Widow Wang didn't know what Yun Chang gave her to eat. She couldn't ask, she couldn't move, she could only let the pills be poured into her stomach one by one.

"Wang Osmanthus, this is medicine for the nervous patient,

Do you know what will happen to normal people? "

After Yun Chang asked, she remembered that Widow Wang couldn't speak, she paused, and then continued:

"A normal person will become a lunatic after taking this medicine, that is, a fool! You will become like a fool in the village in the future, a fool who even eats cow dung!"

Widow Wang couldn't move or speak, but she still had normal thinking ability. After hearing Yun Chang's words, her face turned pale with fright.

Yun Chang didn't care what Widow Wang was thinking, raised her hand, hung the medicine bag on her hand, and threw the water ladle back into the water tank:

"You just stay here. When this bag of medicine is finished, you will almost become a fool. I will let you out when the time comes."

Widow Wang was really frightened. When she thought that she would become a fool, there was no more resentment in her heart, only boundless fear remained.

She wanted to beg Yunshang for mercy, she wanted to say that she would never dare to beat and scold Yunshang again, she wanted to beg Yunshang to let her go, but with all her strength, she couldn't open her mouth to say a word, she could only watch Yunshang helplessly. Enter the strange glass-covered building.

Yunshang first went to the eighth floor to take a hot bath, and then walked to the staff hall to prepare for dinner. Considering that the original owner had been hungry for a long time and his stomach was not very good, Yunshang endured his greed and did not look at the dishes in the meat and vegetable area, only drinking After a bowl of millet porridge, I put down my chopsticks after eating a few shrimp dumplings.

Having eaten and drank enough, Yun Chang rubbed her stomach with satisfaction, strolled slowly to the bedding area, chose a Simmons with moderate hardness and softness, and found a cashmere quilt. I pushed the half-finished padded jacket aside, put Simmons in the pit, and lay down comfortably on it.

The ratio of the space to the outside time is 5:1. After an hour, Yun Chang entered the space again to give the widow Wang medicine.

It was probably the first time it was born and the second time it was cooked. This time, Yun Chang no longer felt the same trembling feeling that she had before. Facing widow Wang's desperate and pleading eyes, Yun Chang didn't even shake her hands, she was so steady. poured down.

After repeatedly pouring the medicine on Widow Wang three times, the sky was completely dark. Yun Chang put on a down jacket for herself, and pulled out a widow Wang's cotton jacket from the closet, wrapped it around her body, and walked towards the entrance of the village with a flashlight.

In winter, it gets dark early, and there are no entertainment activities in this era. After dinner, in order to save lamp oil, the villagers basically stay in the Kangtou Maodong, and few people come out to walk around.

Yunshang stood at the entrance of the village, and the village behind her was lit with two or three pea-like lights. It was not bright, but it was reassuring.

The muddy road leading to the outside of the village soon heard the sound of light and hasty footsteps, Yun Chang side ear to distinguish it, brows suddenly raised, turned on the flashlight, and hurried forward:

"Second brother Gu! Second brother Gu! Why did you come here!"

"A Chang..."

Gu Shinian called Yun Chang and saw her stumbling over, he hurried to meet her, and opened his arms to take her into his arms.

"Run slowly, don't fall."