Chapter 37: I'm mad

Aunt Li had a guess in her heart, and looked at Yun Chang sympathetically.

Seeing that Widow Wang was facing her back, she stretched out her hand and tentatively grabbed the chicken trough in her arms. Unexpectedly, this completely angered Widow Wang, she turned her head and spat at Aunt Li's face.

"Bah! Sao fox! Bandits! Shameless! This is my man's chicken slot, don't try to take it away!"

Aunt Li was caught off guard, and was slapped by Widow Wang, and was scolded. Immediately, her face darkened with anger, she got up and stepped back, wiped her face with her sleeve and said:

"Girl Chang, your mother is insane, hurry up and inform your father that your milk will come."

Without waiting for Yun Chang to reply, Widow Wang turned around and said viciously:

"Don't call me Sang girl! Call me Sang 閹! Call it... a bastard! A little bastard! Wild bastard! Iron broom..."

Widow Wang yelled at Aunt Li in the face of Yunshang, and even raised the chicken trough to beat Aunt Li.

"Oh, why do you still want to beat people! Girl Chang, shut your mother in the house, and I'll help you inform Lao Yun's family!"

Aunt Li said as she walked out the door. When the words fell, people had already run out of the yard.

Widow Wang was still sitting on the ground, holding the chicken trough and yelling at Yun Chang, no matter how you look at it, she looks like a complete lunatic.

Yun Chang is also confused now.

It was only after she entered the space in the morning that she felt that something was wrong with Widow Wang.

In the space before, Yun Chang could feel the spiritual power of Widow Wang, and he could also control the spiritual power of Widow Wang. But after entering the space in the morning, Yun Chang noticed that Widow Wang's mental power was suddenly strong and weak, and it was very unstable.

Only then did Yun Chang realize that Widow Wang's spirit was probably abnormal.

After filling the medicine, Yun Chang tried to release Widow Wang out of the space, but as soon as she came out of the space, she rushed to the backyard like a gust of wind, lay in the chicken coop, pulled out the chicken trough and hugged her before letting go.

Yun Chang and Gu Shinian ran to the backyard, half coaxing and half coercing them to the front yard, but they didn't know which words irritated Widow Wang again, so they just sat on the snowdrift like a child Start playing tricks.

"Second Brother Gu..." Yun Chang looked back at Gu Shinian, her eyes still a little uncertain, "Is she really crazy? Isn't she pretending?"

Gu Shinian squatted in front of Widow Wang and carefully observed her eyes, and asked Yun Chang in his mouth:

"How many times did you take medicine last night?"

"Seven or eight times. There is a month's supply of medicine in the bag, and there are less than 10 days left. Are these medicines so serious?"

Gu Shinian breathed a sigh of relief, "It's almost done, fill up the rest of the medicine, and feed it every few days in the future."

Each time the two of them gave Widow Wang the maximum dose of medicine, and a large number of frequent injections in a short period of time would cause people to quickly experience excessive sleep or mental arousal, or depression, and could also cause people to stiffen their limbs and stay awake. Sitting in silence, or mania occurs, the human brain will also be damaged, the normal logical thinking ability will be lost, the memory will be scattered, and some people will even have hallucinations.

Widow Wang's current symptoms are that she is extremely sensitive and excited, and her memory is also scattered.

It was naive and ridiculous that she was holding the chicken trough, but Yun Chang felt sour and ironic at the same time.

Through the words of Widow Wang scolding Aunt Li, Yun Chang knew that this chicken trough was created by Yun Dachuan himself.

Even if Widow Wang was crazy, she still remembered that Yun Dachuan was her man, and she still instinctively did not allow other women to covet what Yun Dachuan personally created.

But what Yun Chang couldn't understand was that since Widow Wang liked Yun Dachuan so much, why did she recruit men one by one into the house?

In the yard, the loud and childish cry of Widow Wang continued, and the crowd gradually gathered outside the gate to watch the fun.

Yun Chang, with red eyes, sat down on the threshold of the gate, put her hands on her cheeks, and stared at the direction of Hou Village.

Waiting for the people from Lao Yun's family to come.

A curious neighbor asked Yunshang:

"Girl Chang, what's wrong with your mother? Wasn't it fine the first two days? Why did it suddenly change like this?"

"My mother made my aunt... make Xu Dalan angry." Yun Chang unceremoniously threw the pot on Xu Dalan's head, "My mother was sick and couldn't get off the kang two days ago, and Xu Dalan stood at the door and scolded my mother, She even scolded me, and my mother didn't say anything, and she passed out in anger. After that, she slept all the time and woke up like this. "

"What? Make Xu Dalan angry?"

"Oh, this old Wang's family is really a sinner, how can you let the little girl's family work hard to harm it?"

"Not bad! It's said that the old Wang family loves the little girl the most, but I really don't see where it hurts."

"Tsk tsk! The four children of the old Wang family who are not in pain are all alive and well, and the little girl's family who is in pain the most died, crazy crazy, it's really strange..."

"It's a matter of bullying honest people to death. No matter how bad the widow Wang is, she is also from Xinglin Village. This matter can't be left alone, and the village chief must talk to the old Wang family."

"Look, Uncle Yun, Aunt Yun is here!"

Yun Chang also looked sideways, only to see Yun Erchuan and Yun Shuilian walking towards this side with the old couple of the Yun family, and neither Li Hongmei nor Aunt Li who informed the old Yun family.

The old lady frowned and walked slowly, probably because she had just woken up and had not had time to wash her hair. A few strands of gray hair fluttered in the wind on top of her head, making the old lady look even more sullen.

"Milk!" Yun Chang pouted and trotted all the way to meet her, "Milk, they said my mother was mad, and Xu Dalan was so angry."

"Good boy, don't be in a hurry, grandma will go take a look." The old lady took Yun Chang's hand and walked home in a hurry.

Probably the reason for not caring enough, Yun Chang also felt the characteristics of 'shen' and 'steady' from the four members of the old Yun family for the first time.

From the old couple of the Yun family, to Yun Erchuan, and then to Yun Shuilian's face, Yun Chang didn't see a trace of anxiety, and even the worry in his eyes was a little superficial.

"Milk, my grandma's house will come to deliver cotton, feet, and shoe soles later. What should my mother do? Their family is mad at my mother. Do we want them to pay?"

The old lady didn't speak, the old man spoke first:

"Shangnan, you can't talk nonsense. If you can't make trouble, there will be a lot of lawsuits between the two families. I'd better send your mother to see the doctor first."

Yunshang: "..."

real meat!

Isn't this a louse on a bald head, an obvious thing?

A few days ago, Widow Wang was still fighting against Yun Erchuan at the entrance of the village.

Later, Xu Dalan scolded the door.

Widow Wang hated Xu Dalan because of Yun Dachuan's death, and she was bullied and scolded by Xu Dalan when she was too sick to go to the kang. Can she not be angry?

It's not normal to be angry and still not talk. With the temperament of the widow Wang, it's not normal to be mad?
