

Thrive 82

Chapter 82 Lifting martial law

Bai Yancheng first introduced Director Liu and Han Weijun to each other, and then told Han Weijun about the progress of the coal mine explosion.

"Commissioner Han, the enemy's request to lift the martial law in Nancheng District before 12 o'clock is just a pretense. Their purpose is to move the tiger away from the mountains, and continue to blow up the train station and power plant while we are all concentrated in Nancheng District. We deployed overnight last night. Arrange people to sneak around the power plant to investigate quietly, and as soon as the portrait comes out, we can conduct a blanket search for the enemy."

Han Weijun raised his wrist to check the time, and found that it was only five hours before 12 o'clock, and he couldn't help but feel anxious and anxious.

If the enemy cannot be caught before 12 o'clock and another accident happens at the power plant, Bai Yancheng's responsibility will be great.

The situation is so tense now that the enemy agent called Lin Wenlan before. If someone uses this as an excuse, Bai Yancheng will definitely be accused of colluding with the enemy agent...

Director Liu seemed to be aware of Han Weijun's concerns. He showed his white teeth and said with a smile, "Commissioner Han, don't worry, we and the public security have made arrangements to surround the power plant like an iron barrel, and inside the I checked it carefully several times, let alone bring explosives in, not even a raw-faced mosquito would fly in!"

Han Weijun looked at Bai Yancheng, and when he saw that he nodded slightly, he knew that Director Liu's words were true, but he felt a lot more relaxed.

A few people walked and chatted, the atmosphere was very harmonious, and there was no scene of swords drawn as Director Liu imagined.

.....

Yun Chang woke up from sleep, and the martial law outside had not been lifted. After having breakfast with Gu Shinian in the space, the two walked slowly in the field to check the growth of corn and beans.

The planted corn is already fifty centimeters tall, with thick roots and green leaves, and the growth is very gratifying. Thick forks have grown on the main stem of the soybean, and purple buds have emerged from the underside of the leaves, and it has reached the flowering stage.

The space is different from the time outside, and the growth cycle of crops is five times faster than outside. Beans that take four months to mature can be harvested in less than a month.

Yun Chang turned around in the field and felt that in addition to growing food, she could also try to grow some fruits and vegetables.

He took out several kinds of fruits from the supermarket, pulled Gu Shinian to nibble them one by one, and planted the leftover fruit stones in a row along the edge of the space.

After tinkering with planting the kernels, Yunshang started talking about her wheat seeds again, "Second Brother Gu, we made an appointment with Uncle He to trade military bags today, but martial law is still on the street, do you think Uncle He can pass?"

"It's okay, we have an appointment at two o'clock in the afternoon, and we'll come and see when martial law is lifted later."

The two tossed in the space for several hours, and when they returned to the room, it was less than eleven o'clock.

Yun Chang is a lively person who can't stay in the room. She put on a padded jacket and dragged Gu Shinian to go downstairs to find her aunt to chat to pass the time.

The martial law has not been lifted, and the aunt has not changed shifts. Seeing Gu Shinian and Yun Chang coming down, she smiled at them from a distance, "Yo, the two little heroes from our hostel have come down too! Come and sit down!"

Yun Chang didn't expect the aunt to praise her as a little hero, her eyes narrowed with joy, and she shook her head as if she was embarrassed, "Second brother is a little hero, I just watched the fun and didn't do anything, Don't dare to be called a little hero."

The aunt was amused by Yunshang's appearance as a little adult. This little girl's proud braids are about to be raised, and she still said modestly that she didn't dare to be. It was really fun.

Yun Chang threw off Gu Shinian's hand, ran a few steps to the counter, and asked Aunt in a low voice, "Aunt, when did you say martial law will end? My second brother and I still want to go out for a walk."

"It's hard to say, it's estimated that the end of the enemy special..."

As soon as the aunt's voice fell, Yun Chang heard two 'bang bang' gunshots in her ears, and quickly turned to look at Gu Shinian, nodding when she saw him,

Yun Chang knew that he heard correctly.

"Yo! Hearing this, it sounds like it's on the east side... oops! There's a power plant over there! Those goddamn enemy agents!"

The aunt also heard the gunshots, and hurried over to close the door of the guest house, and ran upstairs again.

Yun Chang subconsciously pulled Gu Shinian and followed.

The guest house has three floors. It is not the tallest building in the provincial capital of this era, but it is definitely not short either.

Several people stood on the roof, their eyes passed through the low and messy dark blue roof, and looked in the direction of the power plant.

It's just that there are a few high-rise buildings blocking the sight, and the distance is too far, and a few people can only see a crowd the size of ants flocking to the gate of the power plant, and after that, there is no movement.

About half an hour later, the red sleeve finally blew the whistle, and the news of the lifting of martial law was broadcast on the loudspeaker.

Almost in the blink of an eye, the solemn atmosphere of the martial law in the streets was diluted, and soon disappeared.

A few people came down from the roof. It was almost noon. Gu Shinian said hello to his aunt, took Yunshang out of the guest house, and took the tram to the city library.

In the tram, passengers whispered and shared various gossip about martial law in a low voice.

Relying on her outstanding mental strength and sensitive ears, Yun Chang lay in Gu Shinian's arms and listened to all kinds of gossip with relish.

Among these news, there are two that interest her the most. One is that Daxian haunts the coal mine rescue site, and many miners who were rescued claimed that Daxian saved their lives. Crushed stone chips and cinders, they have long been buried in the pit.

There is also a piece of news about the power plant. A young man whispered to his companion that the PLA was shooting and killing the enemy special. It was said that the enemy special wanted to blow up the power plant. killed.

Yun Chang thought that she was the great immortal in the mouth of the miners, and she was quite happy in her heart, but when she thought about the great immortals in general, she became a weasel, and she felt disgusted for a while.

She is obviously a sweet and tender and beautiful little girl, how could she become a weasel who is a miner and a stinky fart?

It's just too detrimental to her image!

As for the second piece of news, Yun Chang felt that the credibility was quite high.

The two enemy agents caught in the guest house last night had explosives on them. It is not unusual for the enemy agents at the power plant to have explosives on them. The reason why the PLA killed the enemy agents on the spot was probably because they were afraid that he would detonate the explosives. After the explosion came a power plant explosion.

If it hadn't caught the two enemy agents last night, there would have been a train station explosion.

