

Chapter 103 Truth

"Don't cry."

As soon as Leon saw Alyssa crying, he felt somewhat heartbroken.

"Honey, they're bullying me."

"Don't cry. No one dares to bully you when I am here."

Hearing her aggrieved voice, Leon just wanted to protect her.

Although she was really aggrieved and wanted to cry, she knew that it would be embarrassing to cry, so she didn't really plan to shed tears.

However, looking at Leon's nervous look, she just assumed she was going to cry!

She looked at Leon and felt Leon nervously holding her in his arms. She was suddenly nervous and whispered, "I want to go home."

"We'll be home later." Leon coaxed Alyssa.

Alyssa suddenly felt more aggrieved and just wanted to hurry home.

Leon hugged Alyssa and looked at Audrey. He didn't say anything. Audrey subconsciously stepped back when she looked into Leon's cold eyes.

George watched his mother step back and immediately stepped in front of her. He sensed Leon's displeasure and said in a cold voice, "Your wife started it. There is surveillance here. If you don't believe me, you can check the surveillance."

Alyssa stood behind Leon. Hearing George's words, she looked at Audrey.

George had indeed seen her put her hands on Audrey when he had just come in.

But things didn't start out that way.

George naturally didn't know the story from the beginning.

Alyssa was not nervous after hearing George's words.

When the surveillance was downloaded, they would be able to see what happened. Then the surveillance would prove her innocence.

It was clear that Audrey started it on her.

She was relieved to think that the truth would come out later.

Leon had already gone to get the surveillance video.

On the big screen, all the images were presented, including how Audrey embarrassed Alyssa while Leon was away, how Audrey took a glass of water and tried to throw it on Alyssa, but Alyssa dodged it.

The last important image showed that Audrey was not pushed by Alyssa, but slipped and fell due to the water stains on the ground.

At this time, George came in.

He then hit Alyssa.

It was clearly not Alyssa's fault.

Leon's face turned grim. He looked at Alyssa up and down, "Are you hurt?"

"No." Alyssa shook her head in aggravation.

Hearing Alyssa's words, Leon took her in his arms, "Mrs. Hunter, isn't it time for you to apologize?"

"I ..." Audrey didn't want to apologize. But the video had just been shown. It was clearly her fault. Now Leon asked her to apologize. If she didn't apologize, things would only get worse when Kevin arrived.

She was nervous and didn't know what to do, hiding behind her son.

"Mom, how could you do such a thing?"

"I ... George, trust me."

Audrey tried to get George to believe her.

But the video was played right in front of them. It was useless for her to say anything.

All Audrey saw was her son's disbelief in her.

She felt vaguely bad, but couldn't say a word. She pulled George, "George, I ..."

"You should apologize!" George looked at his mother and gestured to her with his eyes.

Audrey, however, didn't want to apologize, "I'm the elder. Besides, I was going to bring Miss Graham a glass of water. I'm too old to be useful, but I don't deserve to be treated so badly by Miss Graham."

Audrey began to cry.

Seeing Audrey crying, Alyssa understood why Leon's father was with Audrey. She had a pathetic look that men liked the most.

But she didn't care about that now. She fell into Leon's arms, "I want to go home."

Hearing Alyssa's soft voice, Leon felt his legs suddenly lose their strength. He looked down at Alyssa's red eyes, wanting both to comfort her and to bully her hard on the bed.

He looked at her with dark eyes. She must not know how attractive she looked right now.

He immediately picked up Alyssa and walked out of the villa.

Ten minutes later, Leon returned to his villa with Alyssa.

When he got back to the villa, Leon carried Alyssa to the bed. He pressed her directly on the bed.

Alyssa's little head came close to Leon's.

She looked into Leon's eyes and simply moved over and kissed his face. She took such an initiative that Leon felt like his body was on fire.

"You have to be responsible for what you did, you know?"

Leon whispered in her ear. His voice was obviously low, but it made her feel tingly all over like a deafening sound.

"I know."

She wrapped herself around his body like a little snake. Her white feet were painted with red nail polish, seductive.

He switched positions with Alyssa, whose small body was beneath his. As he looked into her big deer-like eyes, he wondered if it was just his illusion that her eyes were a little red.

He couldn't help but lower his head and kiss her.

Alyssa asked him to be gentle, but he had already ignored her words. After the lights were turned off, he was even more ecstatic.

The next few days.

During the day, Alyssa was at home preparing for her exams.

At night, she waited for Leon to return.

They each worked on their own and didn't seem to be in touch, but they had become dependent on each other in life.

"Leon, let's go to bed early today. I have an exam tomorrow and need to rest early." Alyssa's eyes were going blind after a day of reading.

At this moment, she just wanted to close her eyes and rest.

"So early?"

"Yes." Alyssa felt some pain in her eyes. She rolled over and came closer to Leon. Feeling the warmth of his body, she couldn't help but move closer to him again.

"What's wrong? I thought you wouldn't let me bother you."

"I've been reading too much today and my eyes hurt a little. I don't want to open my eyes."

"Hmm ..." Looking at Alyssa, Leon calmly took a velvet box out of his coat pocket. Then he put something on Alyssa's finger.

Alyssa felt a cold object on her finger. She opened her eyes and saw a diamond ring. The ring had no rules or shape. It was just a big diamond and looked very expensive.

"What a big diamond!"

"You don't like it?"

"I like it!"

All Leon's gifts were good.

However, this diamond was too big. It was a bit flashy for her to wear such a big diamond.
