

Chapter 107 Help Him

"Something happened. I have to go to the company."

"Why are you going to the company so late?"

"Check the accounts."

"Is the auditor coming?"

Leon said while changing his shirt, "The auditor is indeed coming, but not to check my accounts. The top management of the company wanted to check my accounts, so I asked the auditor to check the top management's accounts in the meantime. They probably found something wrong. Now they need me to come over."

"Will you be in danger?"

"What danger could I be in?"

Leon touched her face. Seeing her nervous look, he said, "You can sleep a little longer. I should be able to fix this tonight."

"So you're dealing with Derick now?"

"Yes."

"Wait a minute. I found out some useful information that can help you."

Alyssa hurriedly took out the information she had compiled a few days ago.

Leon opened the file and saw the information about Chloe.

"Chloe and the president of Bell Corporation are a couple. You must know about Bell Corporation."

"Bell and Hunter Group have been working together for almost ten years. I know Bell's situation."

"So you have to be careful. Derick not only has influence in Hunter Group, but he may also have power in the companies that are related to Hunter Group. They are working together, so I think it's a tough battle."

"I wondered before how Derick had so many guts! It turns out he and Bell colluded. This whole thing is more complicated than I thought."

"You didn't know that before?" Alyssa looked at Leon and felt joy. If Leon hadn't found out about this, then had she helped Leon?

The thought that she had played her light like a firefly made her even happier.

Her little face was red as she smiled at Leon.

Seeing Alyssa's smile, Leon suddenly felt that she was very cute. In fact, he had known about it for a long time. But he couldn't help lying to Alyssa because she was so cute, "Fortunately, you helped me find out such useful information. If I didn't have this information, I might know nothing."

Alyssa was even happier to hear that.

So she was useful after all. At least she helped Leon.

"I'll go first, then. Wait for me at home."

"Okay."

Alyssa was so happy now. She had done this before. But no matter how many projects she had completed at Hassan's company, it didn't feel as good as being complimented by Leon.

After watching Leon leave the room, she continued to sleep happily. She felt that she had done Leon a great favor.

With that in mind, she fell asleep soundly.

Hunter Group.

Leon sat at his desk and looked up at the accounts that the auditor had brought to him.

There was a problem with the accounts. They quickly found it.

Derick probably knew this would happen beforehand. After the auditor took the accounts and got the evidence, he immediately went into Leon's office.

The auditor had just taken the evidence by force, and he was still angry. Now that he had the opportunity to rush in, he immediately shouted at Leon, "What's going on? Are you insane?"

"You know best what's going on. You and Bell have a correspondence. You used your connections in Hunter Group to do something dirty with Bell. You tried to transfer money from Hunter Group to Bell, and then to your account. Do you think no one knows what you did?"

"Even if you know, what can you do? What can you do to me? I've already found the witness that you took bribes. Even if you destroy the evidence, I still have the witness."

"You'd better go talk to the authorities about this. I'll send you there now. When the time comes, you can say whatever you want to say."

After saying that, Leon picked up the phone and made a call. Soon several men in uniform walked up to Derick.

"Mr. Marley, we suspect you of leaking internal information about Hunter Group. There are several other economic cases that we need your assistance in handling. Please come with us."

"No, you have the wrong person. I won't go. The one you want to arrest is Leon, not me. Let me go, this has nothing to do with me. You guys let me go quickly."

Leon watched as Derick was taken away by the police. His office was instantly quiet.

Leon was not affected at all and began to work again.

At that moment, there was a knock at the door. Leon looked up to see George standing outside the door.

"Come in."

George walked in and put the papers in his hand, "I've gathered information about Derick, including evidence that he took money from Hunter Group through Bell. The police took one copy earlier and the other is here."

"You were the one who called the police?" Leon asked as he looked at the evidence.

"I called the police, but the truth is that grandpa asked me to do so."

"Good, then you can go back now! It's been a hard time for you."

"We're on holiday. There's nothing for me to do during this time. Can I intern at the company?"

"You enjoyed yourself every day during the period before New Year's Eve. Now there are a few days left before you start school. Why do you want to work at this time? Did grandpa put you up to this?"

"No, it's what I want to do."

"I was already running the company's affairs when I was your age."

Again, Leon thought he had said too much. So he waved his hand at George, "You go back to rest!"

George was a little disappointed. He just had a little interest in the management of the company, and he was rejected.

He turned around and left. When he reached the door, he heard Leon's voice.

"You can come to work in the company later when you graduate. Forget about this year."

"Okay."

Hearing Leon's words, George smiled and left.

Leon finished his work and started to pack his things to go home.

Half an hour later.

Leon returned home. Alyssa quickly hugged Leon.

"Are you done with your work? Why are you back so early?"

"Thanks to you, you helped me find information about Chloe and the head of Bell. Otherwise, how could I have handled this so quickly?"

"So it means that what I found earlier was helpful to you?"

"Of course."

Looking at Alyssa's serious look, Leon smiled. The fact that she was happy now was helpful to him.

"Then since you're all done, let's go to bed."

"Okay."

So the night of trying to have a baby began again.

Because she was so tired the day before, it was almost noon when Alyssa woke up.

She rolled over like a cat and squinted one eye.

Leon should already be at work. The bedroom still had the smell of last night.

She wasn't bored at all. Smelling it, she could think of what had happened last night.

She rolled over and felt her body stiffen.