

The Mysterious Wife-

Chapter 4 The Wedding Wrecker

In the hotel auditorium...

The wedding march was played in a lively and cheerful manner.

Leon and Alyssa entered the room, and the woman's pace was firm.

The auditorium was decorated with fresh roses, and the ceiling was covered by helium balloons, giving off a lovely vibe.

The host was standing in the front of the hall.

Looking around at the wedding that belonged to her and then the man who had been protecting her full-heartedly, Alyssa vowed in her heart to hold on to him.

She imagined her life with Leon in the future, and the smile on her face grew deeper and deeper.

Crack!

An ear-splitting noise sounded.

The wedding initially proceeding in a smooth, pleasant way abruptly halted.

A middle-aged woman in a black velvet dress with a golden trim entered the room, and her face was ashen.

Without saying anything, she threw a dozen photos in the direction of Alyssa.

The photos fell to the floor, and the intimate interaction between the man and woman in those pictures immediately drew the guests' attention.

‘Isn’t that Mrs. Hunter? I heard that she was sick and couldn’t make it to attend the wedding. But she looks just fine and doesn’t seem to be sick at all.’

‘You probably don’t know that Mrs. Hunter isn’t satisfied with Alyssa and has repeatedly asked the Hunter Family to stop the marriage with the Graham Family. But the young master was unwilling to follow her suggestion and even fell out with his mother.’

‘Nah, Mrs. Hunter is not Leon’s biological mother but stepmother. The woman wants Leon to marry her own niece to enhance her status in the family. Also, I heard that Miss Graham is not a virgin and has a boyfriend. I guess the man in those photos is her boyfriend.’

‘The fact that Miss Graham doesn’t like Mr. Hunter is not a secret at all. It’s said that the girl is forced to show up here. It seems that the wedding isn’t going to happen today. Look at Mrs. Hunter’s black outfit. It looks like she is not here for a wedding but a funeral.’

‘The woman in those photos is Alyssa? But the man is not Mr. Hunter. Look how intimate they are in those pictures. How did the Graham Family bring up such a libertine daughter?’

‘How could Mr. Hunter bear to be a cuckold and marry such a woman?’

Alyssa heard the harsh, mean words of those guests and felt Leon’s grip on her tightened. Then, she looked up at his frosty side face.

She took a step backward and heard someone off the stage shouting, ‘How could such a woman be allowed to marry into the Hunter Family?’

‘Alyssa, you bitch. You are not qualified to pass through the Hunter Family’s gate!’

‘Look at those horrible pictures. Miss Graham, give us an explanation! Otherwise, you don’t want to get married today.’

Alyssa lifted her head to glance at those relatives of the Hunter Family.

On the other hand, her family members all turned pale in silence, especially Grandpa, who was actually trembling.

Upon seeing the shivering, angry elder man, Alyssa's eyes reddened.

She was a muddleheaded woman in her previous life.

This time, she would not be that stupid.

She turned around to embrace Leon and whispered in his ear.

Leon loosened his grip on the woman, and she looked at him with a grateful smile.

Alyssa walked towards the wedding emcee and took the microphone from him. Then, she spoke into it, 'Mrs. Hunter, do you have any clear evidence to prove that I have had an inappropriate relationship with another guy?'

Alyssa's voice instantly drew everyone's attention to her.

People all thought that those photos were enough to indicate what had happened. Unexpectedly, Alyssa actually ignored those pictures and loudly declared war with Mrs. Hunter with a straight face.

Mrs. Hunter curled up the corner of her mouth with a cold, mocking look in her eyes, saying, 'Don't you think these photos are enough to reveal the truth? Do you hope me to bring that man here to disgrace the entire Hunter Family before you're willing to leave the Hunter Family alone?'

Alyssa's almond-shaped eyes fell upon Mrs. Hunter. She raised her head confidently and opened her reddish lips by saying, 'Do bring him here!'